10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ He sayd moreouer, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them sayd to his father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to mee. So hee diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, he took his iourney into a farre country, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout the land, and hee began to be in necessitie.

15 Then hee went and claued to a citizen of that country, and hee sent him to his farme, to feed swine.

16 And hee would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 ¶ Then he came to himselfe, and sayd, How many hired seruants at my fathers haue bread enough, and I die for hunger?

18 I wil rise and go to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against ¶ heauen, and before thee,

19 And am no more worthy to bee called thy sonne: make me as one of thine hired seruants.

20 So hee arose and came to his father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compulsion, and ran and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 ¶ And the sonne sayd vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the father sayd to his seruants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feet,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eat, and be mery:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be mery.

25 ¶ Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dancing,

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then hee was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out, and intreated him.

29 But he answered and said to his father, Lo, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest me a kid, that I might make mery with my friends,

30 But

Wide and broad quarters.

¶ Turne these afflictions, which are of themselves worthy of praise and commendation, and be ruled and ordered, that afflictions may be the upper hand and preeminence.

¶ Math. 10. 47. ¶ If the matter be betweene God and him, as Theophylus saith, therefore his seruants are not to be compared.

¶ 1. Cor. 9. 29. ¶ The true followers of Christ must at once build and fight, & therefore be ready and prepared to suffer all kinde of affliction.

¶ Math. 5. 13. ¶ The disciples of Christ must be salt both for themselves and for others: otherwise they become the saltiest of all.

¶ In these neere, ¶ We must not despise of them, which haue gone out of the way, but according to the example of Christ, we must take greater paines about them.

¶ Some Publicanes and sinners came to Christ from all quarters.

¶ Men by their voluntary falling from God, as being spoiled themselves of the benefits which they receiued of him, call themselves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatness of their miserie wherewith they were tamed, doth not onely gently receive them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest blisse.

¶ The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which is the first step to hope well.

¶ Against God, because he is sayd to dwell in heauen.

¶ In true repentance there is a leaving of our sinnes, joynd with sorrow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiveness.

30 But when this thy forme was come, which hath denoted thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art ever with me, and all that I haue is thine. It was meete that we should makemery, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serue two masters. 16 The Lawe and the Prophets. 19 Of Dives and Lazarus.

And hee sayd also vnto his disciples, There was a certain rich man, which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and sayd vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue mee into their houses.

5 Then called hee vnto him euery one of his masters debtors, & sayd vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oyle. And hee said to him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And hee said, An hundred measures of wheate. Then he said to him, Take thy writing and write fourecore.

8 And the Lorde commended the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euermlasting habitations.

10 He that is faithfull in the least, hee is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then yee haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours?

13 No seruaunt can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharises also, which were coueous, and they scoffed at him.

15 Then hee sayd vnto them, Yee are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 The Lawe and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preachteth into it.

17 Now it is more easie that heauen & earth should passe away, then that one tittle of the Law should fail.

18 Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marieth her, that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layed at his gate full of sores,

21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crumbes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosom. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torment, he lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham afarre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cryed, and sayd, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham sayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 Then he sayd, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house,

28 (For I haue five brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham sayd vnto him, They haue Moyses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he said, Nay father Abraham: but if one come vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then he sayd vnto him, If they heare not Moyses and the Prophets, neither wil they be perswaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offenders. 5 We must forgive him that trespasseth against vs. 10 Wee are unprofitable seruants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the coming of the kingdome of heauen. 33 False Christs. 35 After what manner Christs coming shall be.

Then said hee to his disciples, It cannot be auoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea, then that hee should offend one of these little ones.

3 Take heed to your selues: if thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him: and if hee repent, forgive him.

4 And though hee sinne against thee seven times

3 Seeing that men often times put their sinfull liues to themselves by office mens costs, it is a shame for vs if with a free and liberall bestowing of goods which the Lord hath giuen vs to that purpose, we doe not please him, nor procure the good wil of our neighbor, by making that by this only meanes, riches, which are often times occasions of sinne, are turned to another end and purpose. a This parable doth not approve the stewards unprofitable dealing, for it was very short, but parables are set forth to show a thing commonly, & as it were under a figure to represent the truth, though it agree not thoroughly with the matter it selfe: so that Christ meant by this parable to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedie in the affairs of this world, then the children of God are careful for euermlasting life. b Men that are giuen to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: as Paul calleth those spirituall, and the other carnall. c This is not spoken of goods that are euill gotten, for God will haue our thankfulness to the poore, proceed and come from a good fountain: but he calleth those riches of iniquitie, which men use nauigally. d To wit, the poore Christians: for they are the inheritors of these Tabernacles, Theophil. e Wee ought to take heed, that for abusing our earthly function and duties, we be not deprived of heavenly gifts: for how can they be spirituall gifts aright, who abuse worldly things? f Thus is heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fittling substance. g In worldly goods, which are called other mens because they are committed to our credit. h Mathe 6. 24. i No man can loue God and riches together. k Our times are not hidden to God although they be hidden to men, yea, although they be hidden to them whose sinnes they are,

4 Mathe 18. 6 The Pharisee despised the excellencie of the new Covenant, in respect of the old, seeing that of the present righteousnesse of the Law, and how false enuouers they were of the Law, Christ declared by the fourth Commandment. 4 Mathe 5. 18. 5 Mathe 5. 33 and 19. 9. 1 Cor. 7. 11. 6 They that goe by the place, where a man cannot be married againe after that he hath put away his wife, committing adultery, while he liueth, remain finally: for Christ speaketh of the seruants which the fathers reprobated, which forsooke the law that take the divorcement for a liberty for adultery: they were not to death by the Law. 6 The end of the poverty and misery of the godly, shall be euermlasting joy: as the end of the riotousnesse and cruell punishment of the rich shall be euermlasting misery, without all hope of mercy. b Very gorgeously and sumptuously for purple garments were costly, and the fine linnen which was a kind of flaxen that came out of Arabia, was as deare as gold. c Heauenly and spirituall things are expressed, and set forth under colour and resemblance for our ioy. 7 Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to live by, bid forth vnto vs in the word of God, rather and vainly that men seeke for another consolation.

8 Mathe 18. 7 Marke 9. 41. 1 The Church is not necessary to offend to offences, but the Law will not suffer them unpunished if any of the least offendeth. 2 Our reprehensions must be full, and proceed of loue and charity. 3 Mathe 18. 6 times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt forgieue him.

5 ¶ And the Apostles sayde vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, ¶ If ye had faith, as much as a graine of mustard seed, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the roots, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.

7 ¶ Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, would say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the field, Goe, and sit downe at table?

8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, & gird thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth hee thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commaunded vnto him? I trow not.

10 So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our dutie to doe.

11 ¶ And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that hee passed through the mids of Samaria, and Galilee.

12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there mette him ten men that were lepers, which stood a farre off,

13 And they lift vp their voyces and sayd, Iesus, Master, haue mercy on vs.

14 And when he saw them, he said vnto them, ¶ Goe, shewe your felues vnto the Priestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when hee saw that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loud voyce prayd God,

16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and said, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God prayse, saue this stranger.

19 And hee sayd vnto him, Arise, go thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with obseruation.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdom of God is within you.

22 And he said vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when yee shall desire to see one of the daies of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 ¶ Then they shal say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but go not thither, neither folow them.

24 For as the lightning that lightneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things and be reprooued of this generation.

¶ We oftentimes neglect those things when they be present, which wee afterward desire when they are gone, but in vaine. ¶ The time will come, that you shall seeke for the Sonne of man, with great sorrow of heart, and shall not finde him. ¶ Matt. 24. 23. ¶ Christ forwarneth vs that false Christs should come, and that his coming shal suddenly be piced ferre and wide through the world, as that the signification of the crosse is put out and extinguished.

26 ¶ And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in mariage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also as it was in the dayes of Lot, They ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the sonne of man is reueiled.

31 ¶ At that day he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field like wise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.

32 Remember Lots wife.

33 ¶ Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, shall get it life.

34 ¶ I tell you, in that night there shalbe two in one bed: the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe left.

35 Two women shalbe grinding together, the one shalbe taken, and the other shalbe left.

36 Two shalbe in the field: one shalbe receiued and another shalbe left.

37 ¶ And they answered, and said vnto him, Where, Lord? And he said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever the body is, thither shall also the egles be gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The parable of the vnrighteous iudge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharisee and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the kingdom of heauen. 22 To sell all and giue to the poore. 28 The Apostles for sake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blind man receiveth sight.

¶ And hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they ought alwayes to pray, and not to waxe faint,

2 Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine cite, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that city, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersarie.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and make me weary.

6 And the Lord said, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though he suffer long for them?

8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall hee finde faith on the earth?

9 ¶ He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves: that they were iust, and despised other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

¶ And is a metaphore taken of weflers, who beate their aduersaries with their fistes or alubes: so doe they that are importunate beate the iudges eares with their crying out, euen as it were with blowes. ¶ Though hee seeme slowe in reuenging the iniurie done to him. ¶ Two things especially make our prayers voyde and of none effect: confidence of our owne righte conscience, and the contempt of other: and an humble heart is contrary to both these.

There are three sortes of men in the Church: the one sort saith I am Christ, whom they do not receiue: the other sort saith I am a Christian, which according to their conscience, they believe: the third sort saith I am a Christian, which they receive of God, to his glory with great paines and diligence: the first sort is idle,
and doeth no good.
As for the first,
the Lord when hee commeth will punish them in his iudgement: the other he will blisse according to the paines which they haue borne: and as for the third sort, he will punish them
in his iudgement.
This was a piece of money which the Grecians vsed, and was in value as much as our pence, which is about ten deniers.
Against them which spend their time idly in deli-bering, and contending in contention, as the false teachers and schismatics.

John 12. 14.

13 And he called his ten seruants, and deli-uered them ten pieces of money, and saide vnto them, Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, & sent an am-bassage after him, saying, We will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come again, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that he might knowe what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, & thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said vnto him, Well, good seruants:
because thou hast bene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased fife pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler ouer fife cities.

20 So the other came, and said, Lord, Behold thy piece, which I haue laid vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sow.

22 Then hee saide vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knewest that I am a straite man, taking vp that I laid not downe, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gauest thou my money into the banke, that at my conning I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall be giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 And when he had thus spoken, he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

29 And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Goe yee to the towne which is before you, wherein as soone as ye are come, ye shall find a colt tied, wheron neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found as he had said vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said vnto them, Why loose yee the colt?

34 And they sayde, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loud voyce, for all the great workes that they had seene,

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharises of the company said vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 And when he was come neere, he beheld the Citie, and wept for it,

42 Saying, O if thou haddest euen knowen at the least in this thy day those things, which belong vnto thy peace: but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side,

44 And shal make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not that season of thy visitation.

45 He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought,

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, Mine house is the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

47 And he taught dayly in the Temple. And the hie Priests and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

And so of refusing mee the Lord of the Prophets, now especially in this my last comming to thee thou hadst had any regard to thy selfe. The fit and commodious time is called the day of thine citie. That is, those things wherein thy happy selfe standeth. That is, the very instant wherein God visited thee. Matth. 21. 13.

CHAP. XX.

From whence Iohns Baptisme was. 19 The wickednesse of the Pharises is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husband-men. 20 To giue tribute to Cesar. 27 He conuinceth the Sad-duces denying the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the sonne of Dauid.

And it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tel vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is he that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen,
or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleueed ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn
was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, they that could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Neither tell I
you by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 Then began he to speake to the people
this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard,
and

8 When they lin-

CHAP. XX.

From whence Iohns Baptisme was. 19 The wickednesse of the Pharises is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husband-
men. 20 To giue tribute to Cesar. 27 He conuinceth the Sad-duces denying the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the sonne of Dauid.

And it came to passe, that on one of those
dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple,
and preached the Gospel, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tel vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is he
that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen,
or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why
then beleueed ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn
was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, they that could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Neither tell I
you by what authoritie I doe these things.

this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard,
and

Rec. 2.

and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great time.

10 And at the time convenient hee sent a seruuant to the husbandmē, that they should giue him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away emptie.

11 Againe hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, and foule intreated him, and sent him away emptie.

12 Moreouer hee sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will sende my beloued sonne: it may bee that they will doe reuerence when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen sawe him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire:
come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may bee ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 He will come and destroy these husband-men, and will giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and saide, What meaneth this then that is written, ¶ The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him (but they feared the people) for they perceiued that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him and sent forth spies, which should faine themselves iust men: to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, wee know that thou sayest, and teachest right, neither doest thou accept of mans person, but teachest the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceiued their craftinesse, & said
vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shewe mee a penie. Whose image and su-percription hath it? They answered, and sayd, Cesars.

25 Then he said vnto them, ¶ Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marvelled at his answers, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sad-duces (which deny that there is any resurrection)
and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, ¶ Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them,
The children of this world marry wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shall bee counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married,

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen
¶ Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he said,
The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ Then saide he vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, ¶ The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand,

43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy foote-stool.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, how is hee
then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he said vnto his disciples.

46 ¶ Beware of the Scribes, which willingly goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the assemblies, and the chiefe roomes at feasts,

47 Which deuoure widowes houses, and in shew make long prayers: These shall receiue greater damnation.

1 The widowes liberalitie about her riches. 5 Of the time of the destruction of the Temple, 19 and Hierusalem. 25 The figures

And ¶ as he behelde, hee sawe the rich men which cast their gifts into the treasure.

2 And he sawe also a certaine poore widow which cast in thither two mites:

3 And hee saide, Of a trueth I say vnto you, that this poore widow hath cast in more then they all.

4 For they all haue of their superfluitie cast into the offerings of God: but shee of her penurie hath cast in all the liuing that she had.

5 ¶ Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, & witha-consecrate things, he said,

6 Are these the things that yee looke vpon?
the dayes will come wherein a stone shall not bee left vpon a stone, that shall not bee throwen downe.

7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe?

8 ¶ And he said, Take heede, that ye be not went) to the mount of Oliues: and his disciples also followed him.

40 And when hee came to the place, hee said to them, Pray, lest ye enter into tentation.

41 And he was drawn aside from them about a stones cast, & kneeled downe, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou wilt, take away this cuppe from mee: neuertheless, not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angel vnto him from heauen, comforting him.

44 But being in an agonie, hee prayed more earnestly: and his sweate was like drops of blood, trickling downe to the ground.

45 And he rose vp from prayer, and came to his disciples, & found them sleeping for heauines.

46 And he said vnto them, Why sleepe ye? rise and pray, lest ye enter into tentation.

47 And while hee yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Iudas one of the twelue, went before them, and came neere vnto Iesus to kisse him.

48 And Iesus sayd vnto him, Iudas, betrayest thou the Sonne of man with a kisse?

49 Now when they which were about him, sawe what would follow, they sayde vnto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 And one of them smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and strooke off his right eare.

51 Then Iesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus farre: and he touched his eare, & healed him.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto the hie Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Bee yee come out as vnto a thiefe with swords and stauers?

53 When I was dayly with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against mee: but this is your very houre, and the power of darknesse.

54 Then tooke they him, and led him, and brought him to the hie Priests house. 19 And Peter followed a farre off.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the middes of the hall, and were set downe together, Peter also sate downe among them.

56 And a certaine mayd beheld him as he sate by the fire, and hauing well looked on him, sayd, This man was also with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a litte while, another man sawe him, and sayd, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Hee is accused before Pilate. 7 Hee is sent to Herode. 11 Hee is mocked. 24 Pilate yeeldeth him up to the Iewes request. 27 The women bewaile him. 33 Hee is crucified. 39 One of the thieves reuileth him: 43 The other is Ianed by faith. 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

Then the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We haue found this man a peruerter of the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people, I find no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee mooueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galilee, euen to this place.

6 Nowe when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of Herods iurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue seene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also and Scribes stood foorth and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arrayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ Then Pilate called together the hie Priestes, and the rulers, and the people,

14 And sayd vnto them, Yee haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerter the people: and beholde, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things, whereof yee accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie hee must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas:

19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murder was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loud voyces, and required that he might bee crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priests preuailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they required.

25 And hee let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

26 ¶ And as they ledde him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the field, and on him they laid the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke.

30 Then shall they begin to say to the mountaynes, and to the hilles, Couer vs.

31 For if they doe these things to a greene tree, what shall be done to the drie?

32 And there were two others, which were euill doers, led with him to be slaine.

33 And when they were come to the place which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 Then said Iesus, Father, forgive them: for they knowe not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saued others: let him saue himselfe, if he be that Christ the sonne of God.

36 The souldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger, 37 And said, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

38 And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

39 And one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou bee that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

42 And hee said vnto Iesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdome.

44 ¶ And it was about the sixt houre: and there was a darkenesse ouer all the land, vntill the ninth houre.

45 ¶ And the Sunne was darkened, and the vaile of the Temple rent through the muddes.

46 And Iesus cried with a loud voice, and said, Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when hee thus had saide, hee gaue vp the ghost.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion sawe what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a suretie this man was iust.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts, and returned.

49 ¶ And all his acquaintance stood a farre off, and the women that followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.

50 ¶ And beholde, there was a man named Ioseph, which was a counsellor, a good man and a iust.

51 Hee did not consent to the counsell and deede of them, which was of Arimathea, a citie of the Tewes: who also himselfe waited for the kingdome of God.

52 He went vnto Pilate, and asked the bodie of Iesus, 53 And tooke it downe, and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and laid it in a tombe hewen out of a rocke, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath k drew on.

55 ¶ And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned and prepared odours, and oyntments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

57 ¶ And the first day of the weeke early in the morning, they came vnto the sepulchre, and brought the odours which they had prepared, and certaine women with them.

58 ¶ And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre,

59 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Iesus.

60 ¶ And it came to passe, that as they were amazed therat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.

61 ¶ And as they were afraid, & bowed downe their faces to the earth, they said to them, Why seeke ye him that liueth, among the dead?

62 ¶ He is not here, but is risen: remember & how he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galilee, 63 Saying, that the Sonne of man must be deliuered into the hands of sinfull men, and be crucified, and the third day rise againe.

64 ¶ And they remembered his words,

65 ¶ And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things vnto the eleuen, & to all the remnant.

66 ¶ Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Ioanna, and Mary the mother of Iames, and other women with them which tolde these things vnto the Apostles.

67 ¶ But their words seemed vnto them as a fained thing, neither beleueed they them.

68 ¶ Then arose Peter and ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, and saw the linnen clothes layd by themselves, and departed wondering in himselfe at that which was come to passe.

69 ¶ And behold, two of them went that same day to a towne which was from Hierusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.

70 ¶ And they talked together of all these things that were done.

71 ¶ And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus himselfe drew neere and went with them.

72 ¶ But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

73 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, What maner of communications are these that ye haue one to another as ye walke and are sad?

74 ¶ And the one (named Cleopas) answered, and saide vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Hierusalem, & hast not knowen the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

75 ¶ And he said vnto them, What things? And they sayd vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deede and in word before God, and all the people, 76 ¶ And how the hie Priestes, and our rulers deliuered him to bee condemned to death, and haue crucified him.

77 ¶ But we trusted that it had bene hee that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

78 ¶ Yea, & certaine women among vs, made vs astonished, which came early vnto the sepulchre.

79 ¶ And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was aliue.

80 ¶ Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had said, but him they saw not.

81 ¶ Then hee sayde vnto them, O fooles and slowe of heart to beleuee all that the Prophets haue spoken!

82 ¶ Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

83 ¶ And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

84 ¶ And they drew neere vnto the towne which they went to, but he made as though hee would haue gone further.

85 ¶ But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs: for it is toward night, & the day is farre spent. So he went in to tary with them.

86 ¶ And it came to passe, as hee sate at table with them, hee tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST ACCORDING TO IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 That Word begotten of God before all worldes, 2 and which was euer with the Father, 14 is made man. 6. 7 For what end John was sent from God: 16 His preaching of Christes office. 19. 20. The records that be laue given out vnto the Priestles. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

IN the <sup>a</sup> beginning <sup>b</sup> was <sup>c</sup> that Word, and that Word was <sup>d</sup> with God, and that <sup>e</sup> Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 ¶ All <sup>f</sup> things were made by it, and <sup>g</sup> without it <sup>h</sup> was made nothing that was made.

4 I in it <sup>k</sup> was life, and that life was <sup>l</sup> the light of men.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternall or euersubstanciall, and of one and the selfe same essence or nature, with the Father.
2 From the beginning, as the Evangelist saith 1. Epistle 1. 1. although he saith that the world began not then to haue his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the Word was euen then when all things that were made, beganne to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things. b Had his being. c This word, That, pointeth out vnto vs a peculiar and choise thing aboue all other, and putteth a difference betwene this Word, which is the Sonne of God, and the Iesus of God, which otherwile also are called the word of God. d This word (With) pointeth out the distinction of persons so vs. e This worde (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (Subiectum): and this word (God) is the last in order, and the same which the learned call (Predicatum). ¶ Col. 1. 16. 3 The Sonne of God declareth that same his euersubstantiall Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preserving of them, and especially by the excellent gifts of reason and vnderstanding, wherewith hee hath beautified man aboue all other creatures. f Paul expoundeth this place, Coloss. 1. 15. and 16. verses. g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow-worker with him. h Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him. i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the manner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power, all life cometh to the world. k To wit, euen then when all things are made by him, for else he would haue said, Life is in him, and not life was. l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our mindes to knowledge him the author of so great a benefit.

5 ¶ And that light shineth in the darkenesse, and the darkenesse <sup>m</sup> comprehended it not.

6 ¶ There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare witness of that light, that all men <sup>n</sup> through him might beleuee.

8 Hee was not <sup>o</sup> that light, but was sent to beare witness of that light.

9 ¶ This was <sup>p</sup> that true light, which lighteth euery man that cometh into the world.

10 ¶ He was in the world, and the world was <sup>q</sup> made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came <sup>r</sup> vnto his owne, and his owne receiued him not.

12 ¶ But as many as receiued him, to them he gaue <sup>s</sup> prerogative to be the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleuee in his Name, is as it were the herault of Christ. n Through Iohn. o That light which was spake of, to wit, Christ, who onely can lighten our darknesse. p When as the Sonne of God saw, that men did not acknowledge him by his worke, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which hee had given to them all) he exhibited himselfe vnto his people to bee seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him. q Who onely and properly deserueth to be called the light, for he shineth of himselfe; and borroweth light of none. r That person of the Worde, was made manifest euen at that time when the worde was made. s Heb. 1. 1. 7 The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh. t The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiveth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is, to bee the sonnes of God. f Hee vouchsafed to giue them this prerogative to take them to be his children, s Of that grosse and corrupt nature of men, which is throughout the Scriptures set against the Spirit.

13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of <sup>t</sup> will of man, but of God.

3 The light of men is turned into darkenesse, but yet so that there is clearnesse ynough to make them without excuse. m They could not perceiue nor reach vnto it, to receiue any light of it, no, they did not so much as acknowledge him. ¶ Mat. 3. 1. Marke 1. 4. Luke 3. 2.

4 There is another more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred vp, euen by Iohns voyce, who

19 We must especially take heed of false presumptions, which shut up against vs the entrance to Christ. 20 Simple upright hearts discerneth the true Israelites from the false. 21 The end of miracles is to let before vs Christ the Almighty, and also the only author of our salvation, that we may apprehend him by faith. 22 Gen. 28. 12. 23 By the sword of the word of God is fought, which shall appear in us minister by the Angels serving him in the beat of the Church.

1 Christ declaring himself by a notable miracle, that he hath power over the nature of things, to feed his body, less than the mindes of all men, to his spiritual and saving purpose and power. 2 After the supper which he had with Nicodemus, or after hee had departed from him, or after hee had come into Galilee. 3 Christ is careful enough of our salvation, and therefore hath no need of others to put him in mind of it. 4 His appointed time. 5 These were vessels appointed for them, wherein they washed themselves. 6 Every for him commanded hundred pound, or twelve hundred, or twelve hundred, or twelve hundred. 7 Whereby we gather that Christ hath them with a hundred and eighty pounds of wine. 8 If we will for word, we must know: Now this speech is to be divided, is not at. 9 Every taken in will serve in the Helvetic tongue, but signifies in French such, and pleasant full of wine, as doth not passe measure, as Gen 43. 34. f That is, in confus. 3 Christ being under subjection to the Law for vs, finisheth the Law of the Pascheover. 4 Christ being ordained to purge the Church, doeth with great zeale begin his office both as Priest and Prophet.

46 15 Then Nathanael sayd vnto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.
47 20 Iesus sawe Nathanael comming to him, and said of him, Behold in deede an Israelite, in whom is no guile.
48 21 Nathanael saide vnto him, Whence knewest thou me? Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast vnder the figtree, I saw thee.
49 Nathanael answered, and said vnto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Israel.
50 Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Because I said vnto thee, I saw thee vnder the figge tree, beleuest thou? thou shalt see greater things then these.
51 And he said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hereafter shall ye see heauen open, and the Angels of God ascending, and descending vpon that Sonne of man.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ turneth water into wine, 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 Hee goeth downe to Capernaum: 13 From thence hee goeth up to Hierusalem, 15 and casteth the merchandise out of the Temple. 19 Hee foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall be destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleue in him, seeing the miracles which hee did.

And the third day, was there a marriage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there.

2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage.
3 Now when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus sayd vnto him, They haue no wine.
4 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine houre is not yet come.
5 His mother sayd vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he sayth vnto you, doe it.
6 And there were set there, fixe waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, concerning two or three firkins apiece.
7 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brim.
8 Then he sayd vnto them, Draw out now, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.
9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for hee knew not whence it was, but the seruant, which drew the water, knew) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome,
10 And said vnto him, All men at the beginning set forth good wine, and when men haue well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.
11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and sheweth forth his glory: and his disciples beleued on him.
12 After that, he went down into Capernaum, hee and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.
13 For the Iewes Pascheover was at hand. Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.
14 And hee found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doves, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powdered out the changers money, and ouerthrew their tables,
16 And said vnto them that sold doves, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of merchandise.
17 And his disciples remembered, that it was written, The zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.
18 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, What signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?
19 Iesus answered and said vnto them, Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will raise it vp againe.
20 Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and six yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?
21 But he spake of the temple of his body.
22 As soone therefore as hee was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that hee thus said vnto them: and they beleued the Scripture, and the word which Iesus had said.
23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Pascheouer in the feast, many beleued in his name, when they saw his miracles which hee did.
24 But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because hee knew them all,
25 And had no need that any should testify of man, for hee knew what was in man.

12 Hee speaketh of the temple of his body. 13 It is not good crediting them, which stand only vpon miracles. 14 Christ is the searcher of hearts, and therefore the true God.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christism regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wilderness. 23 John baptizeth, 27 and teacheth busines that he is not Christ.

Here was now a man of the Pharises named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Iewes.

2 This man came to Iesus by night, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no man could doe these miracles that thou doest, except God were with him.
3 Iesus answered and said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, Except a man bee borne againe, hee cannot see the kingdom of God.
4 Nicodemus said vnto him, How can a man be borne which is olde? can hee enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?
5 Iesus answered, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirit, hee cannot enter into the kingdome of God.
6 That which is borne of the flesh, is flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is spirit.
7 Marueile not that I said to thee, Ye must be borne againe.
8 The winde bloweth where it listeth, and consisteth in this, that we know our selues not onely to be corrupt in part, but to bee wholly dead in sinne: so that our nature hath neede to be created anewe, as touching the qualities thereof: which can bee done by no other vertue, but by the diuine and heauenly, whereby wee were first created. d That is, goe in, or enter, as hee expoundeth himselfe afterward, verse 5. e The Church: for Christ sheweth in this place, how wee come to be citizens, and to haue ought to doe in the ciuitie of God. f How can that man olde be borne againe? for hee answereth, as if Christ his wordes beloued to none but to him. g That is, fleshly, to wit, wholly vncleane and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Flesh) significeth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which, is the Spirit, that is, the man ingrafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is euertlasting and immortall, though the first of the flesh remaineth. h With free and wandering blisfull, as it is said, thou

3 The secret mysterie of our regeneration which cannot be com-prehended by mans capacite, is perceived by faith,
and that in Christ
only, because that he is both God and man, and man in heaven that is to say, in such sort man, that he is God also, & therefore almightie, and in such sort God, that he is man also, and therefore his power is manifest vnto vs.
4 You handle doubt-full things, and such as you have no certaine doubt for,
and ye men beleue
you; but I teach those things that are of a truth, and well known, for you beleue me not.
5 Onely Christ can teach vs heavenly things, for no man
ascendeth, &c.
6 That is, hath any spiritual light and vnderstanding, or ever had, but onely that Sonne of God, which came downe
to vs.
7 Whereas he is said to have come downe from heauen,
that must be vnder-stood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception: for Christ his birth vpon the earth was heauenly, and not earthly,
for he was conceiued by the holy Ghost.
8 That which is proper to the di-uinitie of Christ, is here spoken of whole Christ, to giue vs to vnder-stand that he is but one person wherein two natures are vnited, and this kinde of speech men
call, The communicating of proprieties. * Num. 21. 9 chap. 12. 23.
9 1. Iohn 4. 9. 5 Nothing els; but the free lone of the Father, is the beginning of our saluation, and Christ is he in whom our righteousness and saluation is resident: and faith is the instrument or meane whereby wee apprehend it, and life, euertlasting is that which is set before vs to apprehend. 6 It is not all one to beleue in a thing, and to beleue of a thing: for wee may not beleue (in any thing) save onely in God; but wee may beleue (of any thing) whatsoeuer: thus sayeth Nazianzen in his oration of the Spirit. 7 Chap. 9. 39. and 12. 47. 6 Not Christ, but the despising of Christ doeth condemne. 7 That is, to see the cause of the condemning of the world, for in deeds finnes are the cause of iudicib, but Christ shall iudge the quicke and the dead. 7 Not onely the people of the Iewes, but whoeuer shall beleue in him. * Chap. 1. 9. 7 Onely wickednesse is the cause, why men refuse the light that is offered them. 7 That is, the cause of condemnation, which sticketh fast in men, vntill through Gods his great benefite they be deliuered from it. 7 That is, be that leadeth an honest life, and voyd of all craft and deceit. 8 That is, with God, God as it were going before. * Chap. 1. 1. 8 Satan inflameth the disciples of Iohn with a false emulation of his matter, to hinder the course of the Gospel: but Iohn being mindfull of his office, doeth not onely breake off their endenours, but also taketh occasion thereby to giue testimonie of Christ, how that in him onely the Father hath set forth life euertlasting. * Chap. 1. 34.

thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh: and whither it goeth: so is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.
9 Nicodemus answered, and sayd vnto him,
How can these things be?
10 Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?
11 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, We speake that we know, and testifie that we haue seene: but ye receiue not our witnesse.
12 If when I tel you earthly things, ye beleue not, how should ye beleue, if I shall tell you of heavenly things?
13 For no man ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, that Sonne of man which is in heauen.
14 And as Moses lift vp the serpent in the wildernes, so must that Sonne of man be lift vp, 15 That whosoever beleueth in him, should not perish, but haue euertlast life.
16 For God so loued the world, that hee hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whosoever beleueth in him, should not perish, but haue euertlasting life.
17 For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that he should condemne the world, but that the world through him might be saued.
18 Hee that beleueth in him, is not condemned: but he that beleueth not, is condemned already, because hee hath not beleued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.
19 And this is the condemnation, that that light came into the world, and men loued darkenesse rather then that light, because their deeds were euill.
20 For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, lest his deedes should be reprobud.
21 But he that doth truth, cometh to the light, that his deedes might be made manifest, that they are wrought according to God.
22 After these things came Iesus and his disciples into the land of Iudea, & there taried with them, and baptized.
23 And Iohn also baptized in Enon besides Salem, because there was much water there: and they came and were baptized.
24 For Iohn was not yet cast into prison.
25 Then there arose a question betweene
Iohns disciples and the Iewes, about purifying.
26 And they came vnto Iohn, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Ior-den, to whom thou barest witnesse, behold, hee baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 Iohn answered, & said, A man can receiue nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen.
28 Yee your selues are my witnesses, that I said, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him.
29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome:
but the friend of the bridegrome, which standeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, because of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled.
30 He must increase, but I must decrease.
31 He that is come from on high, is aboue all:
he that is of the earth, is of the earth, and y speaketh of the earth: he that is come from heauen, is aboue all.
32 And what he hath seene & heard, that he testifieth: but no man receiueh his testimonie.
33 He that hath receiued his testimonie, hath sealed that God is true.
34 For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giueth him not the Spirit by measure.
35 The Father loueth the Sonne, and hath giuen all things into his hand.
36 Hee that beleueth in the Sonne, hath euertlasting life, and he that obeyeth not the Sonne, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

CHAP. IIII.

6 Iesus being weary, asketh drinke of the woman of Samaria. 21
He teacheth the true worship. 26 He confisseth that hee is the Messias. 32 His meate. 39 The Samaritanes beleue in him.

2 (Though Iesus himselfe baptized not, but

3 Hee left Iudea, and departed againe into

4 And he must needs go thorow Samaria.
5 Then came he to a citie of Samaria called Sychar, neere vnto the possession that Iacob gaue

6 And there was Iacobs well. Iesus then wearied in the iourney, fate a thus on the well: it was 7 There came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. Iesus said vnto her, Giue me drinke.

8 For his disciples were gone away into the citie, to buy meate.
9 Then said the woman of Samaria vnto him, How is it, that thou being a Iew, askest drinke of mee, which am a woman of Samaria? For the Iewes meddle not with the Samaritanes.
10 Iesus answered and said vnto her, If thou knewest that gift of God, & who it is that faith to thee, Giue mee drinke, thou wouldest haue asked of him, and he would haue giuen thee water of life.

nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast thou that water of life?

his Father offered to this woman. e This euertlasting water, that is to say, the exeeding lone of God, is called liuing, or of life, to make a difference betweene it, and the wa-thereof, and his sonnes, and his cattell?

13 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe.

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall giue him, shall neuer be more athirst: but the water that I shall giue him, shall be in him a well of water, springing vp into euerlasting life.

15 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, giue me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.

16 Iesus said vnto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered, and said, I haue no husband. Iesus said vnto her, Thou hast well said, I haue no husband.

18 For thou hast had fise husbands, and hee whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saydest thou truly.

19 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountaine, and ye say, that in Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, beleue mee, the houre commeth, when yee shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Yee worship that which yee know not: we worship that which wee know: for saluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father requireth euen such to worship him.

24 God is a Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and in truth.

25 The woman sayde vnto him, I know well that Messias shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell vs all things.

26 Iesus said vnto her, I am he, that speake vnto thee.

27 And vpon that, came his disciples, and marvelled that hee talked with a woman: yet no man sayde vnto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the citie, and said to the men,

29 Come, see a man which hath tolde mee all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 In the meane while, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eate.

32 But he sayd vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then sayd the disciples betweene themselves, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Iesus sayde vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harvest? Beholde, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: for they are white already vnto harvest.

36 And hee that reapeth, receiueth reward, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternall, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth might reioyce together.

All the religion of superstitious people standeth on the most part, upon two pillars, but very weak, that is to say, vpon the examples of the fathers proceeding, and a foolish opinion of outward things: against which errors we haue to fight word and name of God. The name of this mountain is Gerizim, whereupon Samaria built a Temple by Alexander of Macedonia his name, after the vision of Iffica: and made there a temple for his sonne in law, his Priest, Ioshaphate 11. 17. Deut. 32. 6. 2 Kings 17. 39. The word (Spirit) is to be taken here, as it is set against that commandment, which is called carnall, Ioshaphate 11. 17. as the commandment is fulfilled in it: and so be spoken of (Truth) as we yet it is against all that as we take it in respect of the outward ceremonies of the Law, which did only shadow that which Christ performed indeed. 2 Cor. 3. 27. By the worde (Spirit) he meaneth the nature of the Godhead, and not the third person in the Trinitie. We may haue one of our bodies, but yet so, that we preferre willingly and freely the occasion, on which is offered to enlarge the kingdom of God, before all necessity of this life whatsoever. When the spirit shall come is ripe, we must not flatter for in the children of this world would commend vs. 1st Math. 9. 37. Luke 10. 2. The doctrine of the Prophets was as it were a sowing time: and the doctrine of the Gospel, as the harvest, and there is an excellent agreement betweene them both, and the ministers of them both.

37 For herein is the saying true, that one soweth, and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reap that, whereon yee bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and yee are entred into their labours.

39 Now many of the Samaritans of that citie beleueed in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath tolde me all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritans were come vnto him, they besought him, that hee would tary with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many more beleueed because of his owne word.

42 And they sayd vnto the woman, Now we beleuee, not because of thy saying: for wee haue heard him our felues, and knowe that this is in deede that Christ the Sauour of the world.

43 So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into Galilee.

44 For Iesus himselfe had testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne country.

45 Then when hee was come into Galilee, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that he did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.

46 And Iesus came againe into Cana a towne of Galilee, where hee had made of water wine. And there was a certaine ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galilee, hee went vnto him, and besought him that he would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was euen ready to die.

48 Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Except yee see signes and wonders, ye will not beleuee.

49 The ruler said vnto him, Sir, go downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way, thy sonne liueth: and the man beleueed the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as he was now going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they sayd vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had sayd vnto him, Thy sonne liueth. And he beleueed and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galilee.

CHAP. V.

One lying at the poole, is healed of Christ on the Sabbath: 10 The Iewes that rashly finde fault with that his deed, 17 he conuinceth with the authority of his Father. 19. 20 He prooueth his diuine power by many reasons, 45 and with Moses testimonie.

After that, there was a feast of the Iewes, and Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.

2 And there is at Hierusalem by the place of the sheepe, a poole called in Ebrew Bethesda, hauing fise porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of sicke folke, of blind, halt, and withered, waiting for the moouing of the water.

4 For an Angel went downe at a certaine season into the poole, and troubled the water: whosoever then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certaine man was there, which had bene

1 Thus prouerbs.

7 The Samaritans doe most ioyfully embrace that which the Iewes most stubbornly reioiced.

8 The despisers of Christ deprime themselves of his benefits: yet Christ prepares a place for himselfe. Into the sonnes and villages of Galilee: for he would not make abode in his country of Nazareth, because they despised him, and where (as the other Evangelists write) the efficacy of his benediction was kindred through their marvellous stiffness of heart.

9 Although Christ be absent in body, yet he worketh mightily in the beleueers by his word.

10 Some of Herods courtiers, for though Herod was not a king, but a tetrarch, yet the lofty name only except, hee was a king, or at least the people called him a king.

11 There is no difference so old, which Christ can not heale.

12 Whereof castles drinke, and used to be plunged in, whereof there could not be but great store at Hierusalem. That is to say, the house of pouring out, because great store of water was poured out into that place.

6 When Iesus saw him lie, and knew that he now long time had bene diseased, hee sayd vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sicke man answered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put mee into the pool: but while I am comming, another stepeth downe before me.

8 Iesus said vnto him, Rise: take vp thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 The Iewes therefore sayd to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: it is not lawfull for thee to cary thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole, he sayd vnto me, Take vp thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which sayde vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Iesus had conueyed himselfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Iesus found him in the Temple, and said vnto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee.

15 The man departed, and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus that had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought to slay him, because hee had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 But Iesus answered them, My Father worketh hither to, and I worke.

18 Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him: not onely because hee had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was his Father, and made himselfe equall with God.

19 Then answered Iesus, and said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, The Sonne can doe nothing of himselfe, saue that hee seeth the Father doe: for whatsoever things the Father doeth, the same things doeth the Sonne: in like maner.

20 For the Father loueth the Sonne, and sheweth him all things, whatsoever he himselfe doeth, and he will shew him greater workes then these, that ye should maruell.

21 For likewise as the Father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Sonne quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father giudgeth no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne.

23 Because that all men should honour the Sonne, as they honour the Father: he that honoureth not the Sonne, the same honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 Verely, verely I say vnto you, He that heareth my worde, and beleueeth him that sent mee, hath everlasting life, and shal not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death to life.

25 Verely, verely I say vnto you, the houre shall come, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voice of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it, shall liue.

26 For as the Father hath life in himselfe, so likewise hath hee giuen to the Sonne to haue life in himselfe.

27 And hath giuen him power also to execute iudgement, in that he is the Sonne of man.

28 Maruell not at this: for the houre shall come, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce.

29 And they shall come forth, that haue done good, vnto the resurrection of life: but they that haue done euill, vnto the resurrection of condemnation.

30 I can doe nothing of mine owne selfe: as I heare, I iudge: and my iudgement is iust, because I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.

31 If I should beare witnesse of my selfe, my witnesse were not true.

32 There is another that beareth witnesse of me, and I know that the witnesse, which he beareth of me, is true.

33 Yefent vnto Iohn, and he bare witnesse vnto the truth.

34 But I receiue not the record of man: neuertheless these things I say, that yee might beleeue.

35 He was a burning & a shining candle: & ye would for a season haue reioyced in his light.

36 But I haue greater witnesse then the witnesse of Iohn: for the workes which the Father hath giuen mee to finish, the same workes that I doe, beare witnesse of me, that the Father sent me.

37 And the Father himselfe, which hath sent me, beareth witnesse of me. Ye haue not heard his voyce at any time, neither haue ye seene his shape.

38 And his word haue you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleue not.

39 Search the Scriptures: for in them yee thinke to haue eternall life, and they are they which testifie of me.

40 But ye will not come to me, that ye might haue life.

41 I receiue not the prayse of men.

42 But I know you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you.

43 I am come in my fathers Name, and ye receiue mee not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

44 How can yee beleue, which receiue no honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that cometh of God alone?

45 Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, euen Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye beleue not his writings, how shal ye beleue my words.

2 Time religion is not more cruelly assaulted by any means, then by the pretence of religion it selfe.

3 Jer. 17. 22.

3 The worke of God was neuer the breach of the Sabbath: but the workes of Christ are the workes of the Father, both because they are our God, and all because the Father doeth not worke by the Sonne.

4 Chap. 7. 19.

4 That is, his onely and no mans els, which they gather by that, that hee sayeth, (And I worke) applying this word (worde) to himselfe, which is proper to God, and therefore maketh himselfe equall to God.

4 Not onely without his Fathers authority, but also without his mightie working or power.

5 This must be understood of Christ his person, which consisteth of two natures and not simply of his Godhead: so then hee sayeth that his Father mooueth and governeth him in all things, but yet notwithstanding, when he sayeth he worketh with his Father, he toucheth his Godhead.

6 In like sort, jointly and together.

7 Not for that the Father doeth some things, and then the Sonne worketh after him, and doeth the like, but because the might or power of the Father and the Sonne do worke equally and jointly together.

8 The Father make h no man partaker of everlasting life, but in Christ, in whom onely also he is truly worshipped.

9 This word (quodgeth) is taken by the figure Synecdoche for all government.

10 These wordes are not so to be taken, as though they simply denied that God governeth the world, but as the Iewes imagined it, which separate the Father from the Sonne, whereas indeed the Father doeth not govern the world but onely in the person of his Sonne, being made manifest in the flesh: so sayeth he afterward verely 30 that hee came not to doe his owne will: that his doctrine is not his owne, Chap. 7. 16. that the blinde man and his parents trusted not, etc. Chap. 9. 3.

11 The Father is not worshipped but by his Sonnes worde apprehended by faith, which is the onely way that leadeth to eternall life.

12 We are all dead in sinne, and cannot be quickened by any other means, then by the word of Christ, apprehended by faith.

1 That is, high and sovereign power to rule and gouerne all things, in much as hee hath power of life and death.

2 That is, hee hath not onely iudged the world, but also hee is to be iudged of the world.

3 All that appear before the iudgement seate of Christ at length to be iudged.

4 Faith and iudgement are like the fruit of the tree, which is the fruit of the tree.

10 Chap. 3. 17. 10 Christ is declared to be the only Saviour by Iohns voice, and infinite miracles, and by the testimony of all the Prophets.

11 But the world notwithstanding being added to false prophets, and desirous to seeme religious, hath none of all these things.

After these things, Iesus went his way <sup>a</sup> ouer the sea of Galile, which is Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, which he did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 Nowe the Passeouer a feast of the Iewes, was neere.

5 <sup>e</sup> Then Iesus lift vp his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, he said vnto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eat?

6 (And this hee sayd to prouoe him: for hee himselfe knew what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred penyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8 Then sayd vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother,

9 There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus said, Make the people sit downe. (Now there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe, in number about five thousand.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, & gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the five barlie loaves, which remained vnto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is of a truth that Prophet that should come into the world.

15 <sup>a</sup> When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a King, hee departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.

16 <sup>b</sup> When euen was now come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea,

17 And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea <sup>b</sup> towards Capernaum: and now it was dark, and Iesus was not come to them.

18 And the sea arose with a great winde that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about five and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere vnto the ship: so they were afraid.

20 But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then <sup>c</sup> willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.

22 <sup>d</sup> The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one, wherein to his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone.

23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias, neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks.

24 Nowe when the people saw that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 <sup>e</sup> Iesus answered them, and sayd, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Ye seeke mee not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaves, and were filled.

27 <sup>f</sup> Labour not for the meate which perisheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerslasting life, which the Sonne of man shal giue vnto you: for him hath <sup>g</sup> God the Father sealed.

28 Then sayd they vnto him, What shall wee do, that we might worke the <sup>h</sup> works of God?

29 <sup>i</sup> Iesus answered & said vnto them, <sup>j</sup> This is the work of God, that ye beleue in him, whom he hath sent.

30 <sup>k</sup> They said therefore vnto him, What signe shewest thou then, that we may see it, and beleue thee? what doest thou worke?

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the desert, as it is written, Hee gaue them bread from heauen to eate.

32 <sup>l</sup> Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Moses gaue you not <sup>m</sup> that bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you that true bread from heauen.

33 For the bread of God is he which cometh downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world.

34 Then they sayd vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Iesus sayd vnto them, I am that bread <sup>n</sup> of life: he that cometh to me, shal not hunger, and he that beleueth in me, shal neuer thirst.

36 But I said vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and beleue not.

37 <sup>o</sup> All that the Father giueth me, shal come to me: and him that cometh to me, I cast not away.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine <sup>p</sup> owne will, but his will which hath sent me.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath sent mee, that of all which he hath giuen mee, I should lose nothing, but should raise it vp againe at the last day.

40 And this is the wil of him that sent me, that every man which <sup>q</sup> seeth the Sonne, and beleueth in him, should haue euerslasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

41 <sup>r</sup> The Iewes then murmured at him, because he sayd, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen.

42 And they said, <sup>s</sup> Is not this Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother wee know? howe then sayeth hee, I came downe from heauen?

*True and euerslasting life. And as for that that Paul 1. Cor. 13. calleth Manna spirituall food, it maketh nothing against this place, for hee ioyneth the thing signified with the signe: but in this whole disputation Irist dealeth with the Iewes after their owne opinion and conceit of the matter, and they had no further consideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the belly. i Which haue life, and giue life. 8 The gift of faith procuredeth from the free election of the Father in Christ, after which followeth necessarily euerslasting life: Therefore faith in Christ Iesus is a sure witnesse of our election, and therefore of our glorification, which is to come. k Looke aboue, Chap. 5. verse 22. l Seeing and beleueing are ioyned together: for there is another kinde of seeing, which is generall, which the deuals haue, for they see: but here he speaketh of that kind of seeing, which is proper to the elect. 9 Fleth cannot perceiue spirituall things, and therefore the beginning of our saluacion cometh from God, who changeh our nature, so that we being inspired of him, may abide to be instructed and saned by Christ. <sup>t</sup> Matth 13: 35.*

43 Iesus then answered, and sayde vnto them, Murmure not among your felues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father which hath sent mee, draw him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

45 It is written in the <sup>10</sup> Prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh vnto me:

46 Not that any man hath seene the Father, save hee which is of God, hee hath seene the Father.

47 Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that beleeneth in me, hath euermolting life.

48 I am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50 This is that bread which cometh down from heauen, that hee which eateth of it, should not die.

51 I am that liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue, is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 Then the Iewes stroue among themselves, saying, How can this man giue vs his flesh to eate?

53 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drinke his blood, yee haue no life in you.

54 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raise him vp at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meate in deede, and my blood is drinke in deed.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As that liuing Father hath sent me, so liue I by the Father, and he that eateth mee, euen he shall liue by me.

58 This is that bread which came down from heauen: not as your fathers haue eaten Manna, and are dead. Hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue for euer.

59 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said, This is an hard saying: who can heare it?

61 But Iesus knowing in himselfe that his disciples murmured at this, said vnto them, Doth this offend you?

62 What then if yee should see that Sonne of man ascend vp where he was before?

63 It is the spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speake vnto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that beleene not: for Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleened not, and who should betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then sayd Iesus to the twelue, Will ye also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the words of eternal life:

69 And wee beleene and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the liuing God.

70 Iesus answered them, Haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuill?

71 Now he spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for hee it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

CHAP. VII.

Christ, after his cousins were gone up to the feast of Tabernacles, goeth shither priuily. The peoples sundry opinions of him. Hee teacheth in the Temple. The Priests command to take him. Strife among the multitude about him, and betweene the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him, and Nicodemus.

After these things, Iesus walked in Galile, and would not walke in Iudea: for the Iewes sought to kill him.

Now the Iewes feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

His brethren therefore sayd vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy disciples may see thy works that thou doest.

For there is no man that doth any thing secretly, & he himselfe seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, shew thy selfe to the world.

For as yet his brethren beleened not in him.

Then said Iesus vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

The world can not hate you: but me it hateth, because I testifie of it, that the works thereof are euill.

Go ye vp vnto this feast: I will not go vp yet vnto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled.

These things he sayd vnto them, and abode still in Galile.

But asloone as his brethren were gone vp, then went hee also vp vnto the feast, not openly, but as it were priuily.

Then the Iewes sought him at the feast, and sayd, Where is he?

And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some sayd, He is a good man: other sayd, Nay: but he deceiueth the people.

Howbeit no man spake openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

Now when halfe the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple, and taught.

And the Iewes marueiled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that hee neuer learned!

They neglekt him. Some also that know him, condemne him priuily: a very Iewe thinke well of him, and that in secret. Or, boldly and freely: for the chief of the Iewes sought nothing so much as to bury his fame and name. Christ sheweth with goodnesse against the wickednesse of the world: in the meane season the most part of men take occasion of offence euen by that same, whereby they ought to haue bene stirred vnto embrace Christ. <sup>1</sup> J. i. 54. 13. i. e. 31. 13. In the booke of the Propheies, for the olde Testament was diuided by system into three severall parts, into the Law, the Propheies, and the holy Writ. To wit, they shall be children of the Church, for so the Propheies say expoundeth it, chap. 54. 13. that is to say, ordered to life. After 13. 48. and therefore the knowledge of the becom-ly truth, is the gift and worke of God, and standeth not in any power of man. Mat. 11. 27. If the Son onely hath seene the Father, then it is he only that can teach and instruct us truly. The true use of Sacraments, is to ascend from them to the thing it selfe, that is, to Christ: by the partaking of whom only, we get euermolting life. Exod. 16. 15. He pointed out himselfe when he spake these words. Christ being sent from the Father, is the selfe same vnto vs for the getting and keeping of euermolting life, the bread and flesh, yea meate and drinke are to the use of this transitory life. Which giueth life to the world. That is to say, whosoever is partaker of Christ indeed, who is our food. Flesh cannot put a difference betweene fleshly eating, which is done by the helpe of the teeth, and spirituall eating which consisteth in faith, and therefore it condemneth that which it vnderstandeth not: yet notwithstanding the truth must be preached and taught. If Christ be present, life is present, but when Christ is absent, then is death present. 1. Cor. 11. 27. It is thus that Christ is man, he receiveth that power which quickeneth and giueth life to them that are his, of his Father: and hee addeth the word (That) to make a difference betweene him and all other flesh. Christ his meaning is, that though hee be man, yet his flesh can giue life, not of the owne nature, but because that flesh of his thurst by the Father, that is to say, doeth sucke and drinke out of the Father, that power which is able to giue life. The reason of man cannot comprehend the uniting of Christ and his members: therefore let it reverence and worship that which is better then it selfe. Chap. 3. 13. The flesh of Christ doeth therefore quicken vs, because that hee that is man, is God: which mystic is onely comprehended by faith, which is the gift of God, proper onely to the elect. Spirit, that is, that power which floweth from the Godhead, causeth the flesh of Christ, which otherwise were nothing but flesh, both to live in it selfe, and to giue life to vs.

15 Such is the malice of men, that they take occasion of their owne destruction, euen of the very doctrine of saluation, which is the gift of God, which beleene through the fluglar gift of God. The number of the professions of Christ is very small, and among them also there be some hypocrites, and worse then all other. Math. 23. 16.

Leuit. 23. 34. This feast was called because of the booth and tents which they pitch of diuers kinds of boughs, and saw under them seven days together, all which time the feast lasted. The grace of God cometh not by inheritance, but it is a gift that cometh otherwayes whereby it cometh to pass, that oftentimes the children of God suffer more affliction by their owne kindest, folles then by strangers. His kindest were for so rise the Iewes to speak. We must not follow the foolish desires of our friends. Chap. 8. 10. An example of a horrible confusion in the very bolome of the Church. 13. The wicked cannot doe what they list, but what God hath appointed. 14. As 16 Iesus answered them, and sayd, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

18 He that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but hee that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in him.

19 Did not Moses giue you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Lawe? Why goe yee about to kill me?

20 The people answered, and sayd, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, I haue done one worke, and ye all maruile.

22 Moses therefore gaue vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumsise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with me, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 Iudge not according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

25 Then sayde some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he whom they go about to kill?

26 And behold, hee speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know in deed that this is in deed that Christ?

27 Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

28 Then cryed Iesus in the Temple as hee taught, saying, Yee both knowe mee, and knowe whence I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and hee hath sent me.

30 Then they sought to take him, but no man layd hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleueed in him, and said, When that Christ commeth, will hee doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then sayde Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then I goe vnto him that sent me.

34 Ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde mee, and where I am can ye not come.

35 Then sayde the Lewes among themselves, Whither will he goe, that we shall not finde him? Will he go vnto them that are dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that hee sayd, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not finde mee? and Where I am, can ye not come?

37 Now in the last and great day of the feast, Iesus stood and cryed, saying, If any man thirst, let him come vnto me, and drinke. 38 He that beleueth in mee, as sayth the Scripture, out of his belly shall flow riuers of water of life. 39 This spake he of the Spirit which they that beleueed in him, should receiue: for the holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not yet glorified. 40 So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is that Prophet. 41 Other sayd, This is that Christ: and some sayd, But shall that Christ come out of Galile? 42 Saith not the Scripture, that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the towne of Beth-lehem, where Dauid was? 43 So was there dissension among the people for him. 44 And some of them would haue taken him, but no man layd hands on him. 45 Then came the officers to the high Priests and Pharises, and they sayd vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him? 46 The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man. 47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceiued? 48 Doeth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleue in him? 49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed. 50 Nicodemus sayde vnto them, (hee that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them.) 51 Doth our Law iudge a man before he heare him, and know what he hath done? 52 They answered, and said vnto him, Art thou also of Galile? Search and looke: for out of Galile ariseth no Prophet. 53 And euery man went vnto his own house.

38 He that beleueth in mee, as sayth the Scripture, out of his belly shall flow riuers of water of life.

39 This spake he of the Spirit which they that beleueed in him, should receiue: for the holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not yet glorified.

40 So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is that Prophet.

41 Other sayd, This is that Christ: and some sayd, But shall that Christ come out of Galile?

42 Saith not the Scripture, that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the towne of Beth-lehem, where Dauid was?

43 So was there dissension among the people for him.

44 And some of them would haue taken him, but no man layd hands on him.

45 Then came the officers to the high Priests and Pharises, and they sayd vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceiued?

48 Doeth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleue in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed.

50 Nicodemus sayde vnto them, (hee that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them.)

51 Doth our Law iudge a man before he heare him, and know what he hath done?

52 They answered, and said vnto him, Art thou also of Galile? Search and looke: for out of Galile ariseth no Prophet.

53 And euery man went vnto his own house.

16 There is contention euen in the Church it selfe about the chiefe point of religion: neither hath Christ any more cruel enemies then those that occupie the seat of truth: yet can they not doe what they would. 17 God him himselfe scorneweth such as are his sonnes enemies. 18 False Pastours are so fond and foolish that they esteeme the Church of God according to the multitude & outward shew. 19 There is no counsell against the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

3 The woman taken in adulterie, 11 hath her finnes forgiven her. 12 Christ the light of the world. 19 The Pharises aske where his Father is. 39 The finnes of Abraham. 43 The finnes of God. 44 The deuill the father of lying. 56 Abraham saw: Christs day.

And Iesus went vnto the mount of Oliues, and early in the morning came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe and taught them.

Then the Scribes and the Pharises brought vnto him a woman taken in adulterie, and let her in the middes,

And said vnto him, Master, we found this woman committing adulterie, euen in the very act.

Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what saiest thou therefore?

And this they said to tempt him, that they might haue, whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, and with his finger wrote on the ground.

And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe vp, and sayd vnto them, Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

12 There are two principles of our saluation: the one is to be thoroughly touched with a true feeling of our extreme pouertie: the other to seeke in Christ onely (whom we catch hold on by faith) the abundance of all good things.

13 The last day of the feast of Tabernacles, that is the eighth day, was as high a day, as the first.

14 Leuit. 23. 36. Deut. 18. 15.

15 This is not read word for word in any place, but is seemeth to be taken out of many places where mention is made of the gifts of the holy Ghost, as I saye 2. 17. 44. but especially in I. 5. 1. I. 5. 1. I. 5. 1. I. 5. 1.

16 What is meant by the holy Ghost, he expressed a little before speaking of the Spirit which they that beleueed in him should receiue. So that by the name of holy Ghost, are meant the vertues and mightie workings of the holy Ghost.

17 Thus a shofe things were not yet seene and perceiued, which were to shew and set forth the glory of the onely begotten.

18 There is contention euen in the Church it selfe about the chiefe point of religion: neither hath Christ any more cruel enemies then those that occupie the seat of truth: yet can they not doe what they would. 17 God him himselfe scorneweth such as are his sonnes enemies. 18 False Pastours are so fond and foolish that they esteeme the Church of God according to the multitude & outward shew. 19 There is no counsell against the Lord.

And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe vp, and sayd vnto them, Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

3 Christ would not take vpon him the civil Magistrates office: he conuicted him selfe to bring sinners to faith and repentance.
4 The world which is blind in it selfe, can not come to haue any light but in Christ onely.

5 Chap. 1. 5 & 9. 5. Christ is without all exception the best witnesse of the truth, for he was test by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approoued to the world by infinite miracles.
a Thou bearest witness of thy selfe, which thing by all mens opinion is naught: and for a man to commend himselfe is very discommendable.

6 Chap. 5. 31. b That which he denied afore, Chap. 5. 3. must be take by a manner of granting, for in that place he framed himselfe somewhat to be humour of his hearers which acknowledged nothing in Christ but his humanitie, and therefore he was content they should see light by his owne witness, vntill it were otherwise confirmed. But in this place he standeth for the maintenance of his Godhead, and praiseth his Father, who is his witness, and agreeth with him.

c I doe now onely teach you, I condemn no man: but yet if I lust to doe it, I might lawfully doe it, for I am not alone but my Father is with me. d Deni. 17. 6 and 19. 19. mat. 18. 16. 2. cor. 13. 1. bel. 20. 28.

d The Godhead is plainly distinguished from the manhood, els there were not two witnesses for the partie, accused is not taken for a witness. e No man can know God, but in Christ onely. f Thou was some place appointed for the gathering of the offerings. g Wee liue and die at the pleasure of God and not of men: There are this one thing remaineth that wee goe forward constantly in our vocation. h Because that men doe naturally abhorre heauely things, no man can bee a fit disciple of Christ, vntill the spirit of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding, the world must of necessity perishe, because it reuseth the life that is offered vnto it. i He shal at length knowe who Christ is, which will diligently heare what hee saith. k That is, I am Christ, and the saviour, for so I sold you from the beginning that I was. l God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised. m Euen the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shal see at length to their great smart.

8 And againe hee stouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to the last: so Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids.

10 When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saw no man, but the woman, hee sayd vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Iesus said, Neither do I condemne thee: go and sinne no more.

12 Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, shall not walke in darknesse, but shall haue that light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore sayde vnto him, Thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 Iesus answered, & said vnto the, Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I goe: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Law, that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 I am one that beare witness of my selfe, & the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 Then sayd they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know mee, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye should haue knowen that Father of mine also.

20 These words spake Iesus in the treasure, as he taught in the Temple, and no man layd hands on him: for his houre was not yet come.

21 Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shal seeke me, and shal die in your sinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come?

22 Then sayd the Iewes, Will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he sayd vnto them, Yee are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I sayd therefore vnto you, That ye shal die in your sinnes: for except ye beleue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 Then sayd they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus sayd vnto them, Euen the same thing that I sayd vnto you from the beginning.

26 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

27 They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, When yee haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall yee knowe that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my selfe,

6 No man can know God, but in Christ onely. e Thou was some place appointed for the gathering of the offerings. f Wee liue and die at the pleasure of God and not of men: There are this one thing remaineth that wee goe forward constantly in our vocation. g Because that men doe naturally abhorre heauely things, no man can bee a fit disciple of Christ, vntill the spirit of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding, the world must of necessity perishe, because it reuseth the life that is offered vnto it. h He shal at length knowe who Christ is, which will diligently heare what hee saith. i That is, I am Christ, and the saviour, for so I sold you from the beginning that I was. l God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised. m Euen the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shal see at length to their great smart.

but as my Father hath taught me, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I doe alwayes those things that please him.

30 As he spake these things, many beleued in him.

31 Then said Iesus to the Iewes which beleued in him, If ye continue in my word, yee are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, We be Abrahams seede, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shalbe made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free in deed.

37 I know that you are Abrahams seed, but yee seeke to kill mee, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your Father.

39 They answered, and said vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue told you the truth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the workes of your father. Then said they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus sayd vnto them, If God were your father, then would yee loue me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe ye not vnderstand my talk? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 Yee are of your father the deuill, and the lusts of your father yee will doe: he hath bene a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh hee of his owne: for he is a liar, and the father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, yee beleue me not.

46 Which of you can rebuke mee of sinne? and if I say the truth, why do ye not beleue me?

47 He that is of God heareth Gods words: ye therefore heare them not, because yee are not of God.

48 Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me.

50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 Verily, verily I say vnto you, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer see death.

thoroughly execute the office, that his Father imioyned him. The enemies of Christ make their braverie for a while, but the Father will appeare in his time to reuenge the reproch that is done vnto him in the person of his loued. That is, that will reuenge both your despising of me, and of him. The doctrine of the Gospel apprehended by faith, is a sure remedie against death. That is, he shall not feele it: for euen in the midst of death, the faithfull feel life.

52 17 Then said the Iewes to him, Now know we that thou hast a deuil. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer taste of death.

53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

54 18 Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth mee, whom ye say, that he is your God.

55 19 Yet yee haue not known him: but I know him, and if I should say I know him not, I should bee a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

56 20 Your father Abraham reioyced to see my day, and he saw it, and was glad.

57 Then sayde the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yett fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I am.

59 21 Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middes of them, and so went his way.

60 22 Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middes of them, and so went his way.

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde: 13. Whom after he had long reasond against the Pharises, 22. 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endureth with the knowl. age of the euil lasting light.

AND as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blinde from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

6 As soone as he had thus spoken, hee spar on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and anoynted the eyes of the blinde with the clay,

7 And said vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by the interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 Nowe the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blinde, said, Is not this he that fate and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and other said, He is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.

10 Therefore they sayd vnto him, How were thine eyes opened?

11 Hee answered, and said, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anoynted mine eyes, and said vnto mee, Goe to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and received sight.

12 Then they said vnto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 They brought to the Pharises him that was once blinde.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And he said vnto them, He layd clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.

16 5 Then said some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a disension among them.

17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Iewes did not beleue him (that hee had bene blinde, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom ye say was borne blinde? How doeth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and said, Wee know that this is our sonne, & that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is old ynough: aske him: he shall answer for himselfe.

22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that he was Christ, hee should bee excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and saide vnto him, Give glorie vnto God: wee knowe that this man is a sinner.

25 Then he answered, & said, Whether hee be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I see.

26 Then said they to him againe, What did hee to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue tolde you already, and ye haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye also be his disciples?

28 Then reuiled they him, and said, Bethou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.

29 We know that God spake with Moses: but thus man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and sayd vnto them, Doubtlesse, this is a marueilous thing, that yee know not whence hee is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the worlde began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

6 This is an Hebrew kind of speech, for they call a mans eyes shut, when they cannot receiue any light:
And therefore they are said to haue
their eyes opened,
which of blinde men are made to see.

34 They answered and sayd vnto him, f Thou art altogether borne in finnes, & dost thou teach vs? so they cast him out.

35 Iesus heard that they had cast him out: and when hee had found him, he sayde vnto him, Dost thou beleue in the Sonne of God?

36 He answered, & sayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleue in him?

37 And Iesus sayde vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he said, Lord, I beleue, and worshipped him.

39 And Iesus sayd, I am come vnto & iudgement into this world, that they which see not, might see: and that they which see, might bee made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharisees which were with him, heard these things, and said vnto him, Are we blinde also?

41 Iesus said vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

42 Iesus saith vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

CHAP. X.

1 Christ proueth that the Pharisees are the euill shepherds, & and by many reasons that himselfe 11. 14 is the good shepherd: 19 And thereof diffention ariseth 31 They take vp stones: 39 And goe about to take him, but he escapeth.

*V*erely, I verely I say vnto you, Hee that entreth not in by the doore into the sheeplefold, but climeth vp another way, he is a theefe and a robber.

2 But hee that goeth in by the doore, is the shepherd of the sheepe.

3 To him the porter openeth, & the sheepe heare his voyce, & he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeeth them out.

4 And when hee hath sent forth his owne sheepe, hee goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not followe a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers.

6 This parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they vnderstood not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then said Iesus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I say vnto you, I am that doore of the sheepe.

8 All that euer came before me, are theeeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 I am that doore: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saued, and shal goe in, and go out, and finde pasture.

10 Iesus saith vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

1 Seeing that by Christ onely we haue access to the Father, there are neither other true shepherds, then those which come to Christ themselves, and bring other thither also,
neither is any to be thought the true sheeplefold,
but that which is gathered to Christ.

2 In these dayes
they vsed to haue
a seruant alwayes sitting at the doore, or therefore he spoke after the manner of these dayes.

3 This word (parable) which the angelist vsed here, signifieth
a darknesse of speech, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to vs.

4 It maketh no matter, how many pastors how old their false teachers
haue bene.

5 These large reasons must be applied to the master he speaketh of. And therefore when hee calleth
himselfe the doore,
he calleth all them
theeues and robbers which take vpon them this name of Doore which none of the Prophets can, for they shewed the sheepe, that Christ was the doore.

6 Onely Christ is the true Pastor, & that only is the true Church,
which acknowledgeth him to be properly their only Pastor: To him are opposite theeues which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which for sake the sheepe in time of danger, hee wether feede it onely for their owne profit &
paines.

7 That is, shall live safely: so vnto the Iewes to speake, as Deut. 32. 6. and yet there is a gentleman alluding to the shepherds
office.

10 The theefe commeth not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

11 I am that good shepherd: that good shepherd giueth his life for his sheepe.

12 But an hireling, and hee which is not the shepherd, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the wolfe comming, and hee leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am that good shepherd, & knowe mine, and am knowne of mine.

15 As the Father knoweth mee, so knowe I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

16 Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this fold, them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: & there shalbe one sheeplefold, and one shepherd.

17 Therefore doeth my Father loue me, because: & I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from mee, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this commandement haue I receiued of my Father.

19 Then there was a diffention againe among the Iewes for these sayings,

20 And many of them said, He hath a deuill, and is mad: why heare ye him?

21 Others saide, These are not the words of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eyes of the blinde?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the Dedication, and it was winter.

23 And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Solomon's porch.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, & sayd vnto him, How long dost thou make vs to doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainly.

25 Iesus answered them, I tolde you, and ye beleue not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witness of me.

26 But ye beleue not: for ye are not of my sheepe, as I sayd vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me,

28 And I giue vnto them eternal life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shall any plucke them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 Then the Iewes againe tooke vp stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good workes haue I shewed you from my Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke wee stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If hee called them gods, vnto whom the of all wilde bestes. He giueth a reason why they beleue they are none of his sheepe. Chap. 8. 55. Christ proueth his dignity by doing workes. Through my Fathers authority and power. Psal. 82. 6.

36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I sayd, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the works of my Father, beleue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though yee beleene not me, yet beleue the workes, that ye may know and beleue, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 Again they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands.

40 And went againe beyond Iordan into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted vnto him, and said, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man were true.

42 And many beleueed in him there.

CHAP. XI.

Christ to shewe that hee is the life and the resurrection, 14. cometh to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34. and buried, 43. and raises him vp. 47. As the Priests were consulting together, 49. Caiaphas so propheseth that one must die for the people, 56. 57. They command to seeke Christ out, and so take him.

And a certaine man was sicke named Lazarus of Bethania, the towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that Marie which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou louest, is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, he said, This sicknesse is not vnto death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 And after he had heard that he was sicke, yet abode hee two dayes still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, sayd he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 The disciples sayd vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to stone thee, and dost thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, hee stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after, hee said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then sayd his disciples, Lord, if hee sleepe, hee shalbe safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then said Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also go, that we may die with him.

17 Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fiftene furlongs off)

19 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was coming, went to meete him: but Mary sate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know, also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus sayd vnto her, Thy brother shal rise againe.

24 Martha sayd vnto him, I know that he shal rise againe in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus sayd vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleueth in mee, though he were dead yet shall he liue.

26 And whosoever liueth, and beleueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleuest thou this?

27 She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleene that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 And when she had so said, shee went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they sawe Mary, that shee rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, Shee goeth vnto the graue to weepe there.

32 Then when Marie was come where Iesus was, and saw him, shee fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, hee groned in the spirit, & was troubled in himselfe.

34 And sayd, Where haue ye layd him? They sayd vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Behold, how hee loued him.

37 And some of them sayd, Could not hee which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was layd vpon it.

39 Iesus sayd, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said vnto him, Lord he stinketh already: for he hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus sayd vnto her, Said I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleue, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layd. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and sayd, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me alwayes, but because of the people that stand by, I sayd it, that they may beleue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As hee had spoken these things, hee cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth bound hand and foote with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 Then many of the Iewes, which came to

¶ The last point of hard and yron like stubbornnesse is this, to proclaime open warre against God, and yet cease not to make a pretence both of god's iustesse, and of the profit of the common weale.

¶ The Iewes called the counsell Sadducees: and the word that Iohn useth a Synedrion. That is, a way from vs by force: for at that time, though the hie Priests authority was greatly lessened and decayed, yet there was some kind of government left among the Iewes.

¶ The raging and mad company of the false Church, perswade themselves that they cannot be in fault, vnlesse he be taken away, who onely vpholdeth the Church: And so likewise iudgeth the world of worldly affaires, which is governed by the spirit of giddinesse or madnesse.

CHAP. XII.

Mary, and had seene the things, which Iesus did, beleueed in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Pharises, and tolde them what things Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Priests, and the Pharises a councill, and sayd, What shall wee doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If wee let him thus alone, all men will beleue in him, and the Romanes will come and take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

50 ¶ Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¶ This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yeere, hee prophesied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 ¶ Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence into a countrey neere to the wildernesse, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes passeouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vnto Hierusalem before the Passeouer, to purifie themselves.

56 Then sought they for Iesus, & spake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharises had giuen a commaundement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

¶ Iudas the Iscariot, which was of the high Priests, went to Iesus, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, I haue here with me, what thou wilt. Iudas the Iscariot, which was of the high Priests, went to Iesus, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, I haue here with me, what thou wilt.

but me ye shall not haue awayes.

9 ¶ Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also,

11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleueed in Iesus.

12 ¶ On the morow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus was come to Hierusalem, 13 Tooke branches of palme trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the king of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and sate thereon, as is written,

15 ¶ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an asses colt.

16 But his disciples vnderstoode not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembered they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that hee called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 ¶ And the Pharises said among themselves, Perceiue ye how ye prouaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greeks among them that came vp to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip told Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto you, Except the wheat come fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¶ He that loueth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 ¶ If any man serue me, let him follow mee: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.

27 ¶ Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, saue me from this houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then sayd the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other sayd, An Angel spake to him.

30 ¶ Iesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

¶ When the light of the Gospel sheweth itselfe, some are found to be carious, and others (which least ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straight away fall from: and yet few doe so: namely receive him as they ought. Notwithstanding, Christ began his spiritall kingdom in the midst of his enemies. ¶ Mat. 21. 8. marke 11. 8. Luke 19. 35. ¶ Zech. 9. 9. ¶ Even they which goe about to oppress Christ, make instruments of his glory. ¶ After the same custome: the Greeks were first called by the name of the country of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, all that were not of the Iewes religion but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by the name. ¶ The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to y come, but indeed is the cause of a far greater barnefit: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members. ¶ As wheat cometh when it is changed by vertue of the ground, and becometh a route of a fruitful blade. ¶ Mat. 10. 39. and 16. 25. marke 8. 35. Luke 9. 14. and 17. 33. ¶ Chap. 17. 34. ¶ Whiles Christ went about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our sinnes, and whilst his diuinitie did not yet shew his might and power so farre as this satisfaction might be knownely wrought, now when he is stricken with the great feare of the curse of God, he crieth out and prayeth, and desireth to be released: yet notwithstanding he preferreth the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth even from his death: that is now at hand. ¶ So then the Fathers glory in Christ his glory. ¶ Christ foretelleth to the deate the manner of his death, the ouercoming of the deuill and the world, and in conclusion his triumph.

24 To him bekened therefore Simon Peter, that he should aske who it was of whom he spake.

25 He then as he leaned on Iesus breast, sayd vnto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Iesus answered, He it is, to whom I shal giue a soppe, when I haue dipt it: and he wet a sop, and gaue it to Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne.

27 And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it vnto him.

29 For some of them thought because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had said vnto him, Buy those things that wee haue neede of against the feast, or that hee should giue some thing to the poore.

30 Assoone then as he had receiued the soppe, he went immediatly out, and it was night.

31 ¶ When hee was gone out, Iesus sayde, Now is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shal straightway glorifie him.

33 ¶ Little children, yet a litle while am I with you: yee shall seeke mee, but as I sayd vnto the ¶ Iewes, Whither I goe, can ye not come: also to you say I now, 34 ¶ A new commandment giue I vnto you, that yee loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye also loue one another.

35 By this shall all men know, that ye are my disciples, if ye haue loue one to another.

36 ¶ Simon Peter said vnto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Iesus answered him, Whither I goe, thou canst not follow me now: but thou shalt follow me afterward.

37 Peter saide vnto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? I will lay downe my life for thy sake.

38 Iesus answered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my sake? Verely, verely I say vnto thee, The cocke shall not crowe, till thou haue denied me thrise.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee comforteth his disciples, 2 7 declaring his disimie and the fruite of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 euen the holy Spirit, 26 whose office he setteth out. 27 He promisseth his peace.

1 ¶ Not your heart be troubled: ye beleue in God, beleue also in me.

2 In my fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, I would haue told you: I goe to prepare a place for you.

3 ¶ And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 ¶ And whither I goe, ye know, and the way ye know.

5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?

3 We haue to consider the glorying of Christ in his ignominie. 3 This verse and the next following, are a most plaine and euident testimony of the disimie of Christ. 4 The eternall glory shall flow by little and little from the head into the members. But in the mean time, we must take good heed that wee passe over the race of this life in brotherly love. 5 An haunc example of each truth and confidence. 6 Math 26. 33. Marke 14. 29. Luke 22. 33.

1 He beleueneth in God that beleueth in Christ, and there is no other way to confirme our mindes in greatest distresses. 2 That is if it were not so as I tell you, so wit, unless there were place enough not onely for me, but for you also, in my Fathers house, I would not thus deceiue you with a vaine hope, but I would haue tolde you so plainly. 3 All the speech is by way of an allegorie, whereby the Lorde comforteth his owne, declaring vnto them his departure into heauen, which is, not to reigne there alone, but to goe before, and prepare a place for them. 4 Christ went not away from vs, to the ende to forsake vs, but rather that he might at length take vs vp with him into heauen. 5 These words are to bee referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels sayde to the disciples when they were astonished, What stand you gazing up into heauen? This Iesus shall so come as you see him goe up. Actes 1. 11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall bee all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption. 6 Christ onely is the way to true and euerslasting life, for he is in whom the Father hath reueiled himselfe.

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am that Way, and that Truth, and that Life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me.

7 ¶ If ye had knowen mee, yee should haue knowen my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue seene him.

8 Philip said vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.

9 Iesus sayde vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowen mee, Philip? hee that hath seene mee, hath seene my Father: howe then sayest thou, Shew vs thy Father?

10 ¶ Beleueest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the workes.

11 Beleue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in mee: at the least, beleue me for the very workes sake.

12 ¶ Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that beleueth in me, the workes that I doe, he shall doe also, and greater then these shall hee doe: for I goe vnto my Father.

13 ¶ And, whatsoeuer yee aske in my Name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If ye shall aske any thing in my Name, I will doe it.

15 ¶ If ye loue me, keepe my commandements.

16 And I will pray the Father, and he shal giue you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever,

17 Euen the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye knowe him: for he dwelleth with you, and shalbe in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse, but I will come to you.

19 Yet a litle while, and the world shall see mee no more, but ye shall see me: because I liue, ye shall liue also.

20 At that day shal ye know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandements, and keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and hee that loueth me, shall be loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and will shew mine owne selfe to him.

22 ¶ Iudas said vnto him, (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shew thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, If any man loue mee, hee will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and he will come vnto him, and will dwell with him.

24 Hee that loueth mee not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me.

25 ¶ These things haue I spoken vnto you, being present with you.

26 ¶ But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shal teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue told you.

in a certaine respect an aid and helper of them. 6 I will shew my selfe to him, and be knowne of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not bodily, but spirituall, yet so plaine as none can be more. 7 We must not aske why the Gospel is reueiled to some rather then to other, but we must rather take heede, that we embrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that we truly loue him that is to say, that we giue out selues wholly to his obedience. 8 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the minds of the elect in their times and seasons, that which Christ once spake. 9 Chap. 15. 26.

1 This saying sheweth vnto vs both the nature, the will and office of Christ. 2 It is plaine by this place, that to knowe God, is to see God in all one: None otherwise as said before, that no man seeth God as any time: that is to be understood thus, without Christ: we were not brought to Christ, no man could euer see, nor see God as any time: for as Christ saith, the Sonne is a very short and easie passing forth of the fathers nature vnto vs. 3 The mischiefe of God sheweth it selfe most evidently, both in Christs doctrine and deedes. 4 The approaching of the virtue of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spread through the body of his whole Church. 5 That is, not only do they, but I can also giue other men power to do greater. 6 Chap. 16. 33. Mat. 7. 7. Mar. 11. 2. 1. I. 5. 6 He loueth Christ aright, which obeyeth his commandements: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in body, yet doth hee comfort his with the present virtue of the holy Ghost, whom the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not. 7 The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of truth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspirith the truth vnto vs, whereas otherwise he hath truth in himselfe. 8 Worldly men. 9 The Sonne is in the Father after such sort, that he is of one selfe same substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples.

g The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, nill it, to confesse it owne vniuersall outcaste, and Christs righteousness: and almightinesse. a Hee will so reprooue the world, that the worldlings shall be able to present no excuse. b He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when all gainsayers were manifestly reprooued through the pouring out of the holy Ghost upon the Church: so that the very enemies of Christ were reprooued of sinne, in that they were constrained to confesse that they were de- ceased, in that they beleueed not, and therefore they sayd to Peter, Acts 1. Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

c Of Christ him- selfe: For when the world shall see, that I haue poured out the holy Ghost, they shall be constrained to confesse that I was iust, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world. d Of that authority and power, which I haue both in heauen and earth. e That is because they shall then vnderstand and know indeede, that I haue overcome the deuil, and doe gouerne the world, when all men shall see, that they see themselves against you in vain, for I will arme you with that breuents power, whereby you may destroy euery high thing which is lifted up against the knowledge of God, 2. cor. 10. 12.

4 The doctrine of the Apostles proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfect. 5 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was uttered by Christs owne mouth, and imprinted in our mindes. 6 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most lively glasse, wherein Christ is truly beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and out with the blessed eyes of the flesh: Whereby wee seele a continual ioy even in the midst of sorowes. f When a little time is once past.

g For 7 page to eternall glory, so that 7 shall see much more praisus with you, then 7 was before: for then you shall see indeede what I am, and what I am able to doe.

h Chap. 14. 12. mat. 7. 7. and 21. 22. marke 12. 23. Like 11. 9. iames 1. 5. 7 The holy Ghost which was poured vpon the Apostles after the Ascension of Christ, instructed both them in all the chiefest mysteries and secrets of our saluation, and also by them the Church, and will also instruct it to the ende of the world. 8 The summe of the worship of God, is the invocation of the Father in the Name of the Sonne the Mercifull, who is already heere for vs, for whom hee both asayed himselfe, and now also glorified.

8 And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sinne, and of righteousness, and of judgement.

9 Of sinne, because they beleueed not in me: 10 Of righteousness, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of judgement, because the prince of this world is iudged.

12 I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the spirit of truth, he will leade you into all truth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoever he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come.

14 He shall glorifie mee: for he shall receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you.

16 A little while, and yee shall not see me: and againe a little while, and ye shall see me: for I goe to the Father.

17 Then sayde some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that hee saith vnto vs, A little while, and ye shall not see me, and againe a little while, and ye shall see me, and, For I goe to the Father.

18 They said therefore, What is this that hee saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.

19 Now Iesus knewe that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I said, A little while, and yee shall not see me: and againe, a little while, and ye shall see me?

20 Verely, verely I say vnto you, that ye shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce, and ye shall sorow, but your sorow shall be turned to ioy.

21 A woman when she trauaileth, hath sorow because her houre is come: but as soone as she is deliuered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And ye now therefore are in sorow: but I will see you againe, and your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall ye aske me nothing.

24 Verely, verely I say vnto you, whatsoever yee shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you.

25 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and yee shall receiue, that your ioy may be full.

26 These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time wil come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainly of the Father.

27 At that day shall yee aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you:

28 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue beleueed that I came out from God.

29 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and goe to the Father.

30 His disciples sayde vnto him, Loe, now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable.

31 Now knowe wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this we beleuee, that thou art come out from God.

32 Iesus answered them, Doe you beleuee now?

33 Behold, the houre cometh, and is already come, that yee shall be scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: But I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

34 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but bee of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Father may be made manifest. 2 He prayeth for his Apostles, 3 and for all beleueers.

These things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayde, Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne also may glorifie thee.

2 As thou hast giuen him power ouer all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to all them that thou hast giuen him.

3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And now glorifie mee, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest me out of the world: and they were, and thou hast gauest them mee, and they haue kept thy word.

7 Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast giuen me, are of thee.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest mee, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowne surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleueed that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

which he had finished. 2. Mat. 28. 18. a Over all men. b Hee calleth the Father the only very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to stifle out himselfe and the holy Ghost. For straightway he teacheth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed manner, setteth forth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So the Father alone said to be King, immortal, wise, and dwelling in light which no man can attaine vnto inuifible, Rom. 16. 17. 1. tim. 1. 17. c First of all he prayeth for those his disciples, by whom he would haue the rest to be put end together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (having once reiected the whole company of the reprobate) because hee receiued them into his custodie, and to that they embracing his doctrine, shall haue so many and so mighty enemies, that there is no way for them to bee in safetie, but by his hope onely. d Hee sheweth hereby that euertlasting election and choyse, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the groundwork of our saluation. e Hee sheweth how that euertlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in his brist, by whom wee are iustified and sanctified, if wee lay hold on him by faith, thus at length we may come to the glory of the election. 2. cor. 13. 7.

4 Chap. 17. 2. 9 Each and euery one shall see him very much. 10 Neither the wickedness of the world, neither the weakness of his owne can diminish any thing of the veritie of Christ. 11 The fiery trial of the Church deperdeeth onely vpon the wicked of Christ. b That in me you might be throughly quieted. For by (peace) I mean in this place, that quiet state of mind, which is cleane contrary to disquiet and beuiling.

1 Iesus Christ the euertlasting high Priest begeth us straightway to offer vnto him selfe, doeth by solemn prayer a consecrate himselfe to God the Father as a sacrifice: and vt together with himselfe. Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, and shall be to the end of the world, the foundation ground of the Church of God. 2 He first declareth, that as hee came into the world to the end that the Father might see in him being approbated by faith, his glory in saving himselfe so hee applied himselfe to that onely and therefore desirous of the Father, that he would be off: the worke. Hee calleth the Father the only very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to stifle out himselfe and the holy Ghost. For straightway he teacheth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed manner, setteth forth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So the Father alone said to be King, immortal, wise, and dwelling in light which no man can attaine vnto inuifible, Rom. 16. 17. 1. tim. 1. 17. c First of all he prayeth for those his disciples, by whom he would haue the rest to be put end together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (having once reiected the whole company of the reprobate) because hee receiued them into his custodie, and to that they embracing his doctrine, shall haue so many and so mighty enemies, that there is no way for them to bee in safetie, but by his hope onely. d Hee sheweth hereby that euertlasting election and choyse, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the groundwork of our saluation. e Hee sheweth how that euertlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in his brist, by whom wee are iustified and sanctified, if wee lay hold on him by faith, thus at length we may come to the glory of the election. 2. cor. 13. 7.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euert them whom thou hast giuen me, that they may be one, as we are.

12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepe them from euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world,

17 Sanctifie them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the truth.

20 I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleue in mee, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in mee, and I in thee: euert that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gauest mee, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, & that the world may know that thou hast sent me, & hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

24 Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euert where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I haue known thee, and these haue known, that thou hast sent me.

26 And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue where- with thou hast loued mee, may be in them, and I in them.

27 I may also with him enjoy euertasting glory. Chap. 12. 26. 28 He commended with his byle and lile, he knowledge of the Father, which is most full in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloved of the Father, with the same loue wherewith he loueth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christes power, whom Judas betrayeth 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22, 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 36 hee declar- eth his kingdome.

When Iesus had spoken these things, hee went forth with his disciples ouer the brooke Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples.

2 And Judas which betrayed him, knew also the place: for Iesus oft times reioiced thither with his disciples.

3 Judas then, after he had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 Then Iesus, knowing al things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had said vnto them, I am hee, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whome seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I saide vnto you, that I am hee: therefore if yee seeke mee, let these goe their way.

9 This was that the word might bee fulfilled which he spake, Of them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.

10 Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then saide Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the band and the capitaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him,

13 And let him away to Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)

14 And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was known vnto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then said the maid that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world. I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whether the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou mee? aske them which heard mee what I said vnto them: beholde, they know what I said.

22 When hee had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare winnesse of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 Now Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest.

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

28 ¶ Then led they Iesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eate the Pascheouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring you against this man?

30 They answered & said vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, wee would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then sayd Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, and iudge him after your owne Lawe. Then the Iewes sayd vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32 It was that the word of Iesus might be fulfilled which he spake, signifying what death he should die.

33 ¶ So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the king of the Iewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, & the his Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 ¶ Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, me seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause I am borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witness vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth, heareth my voyce.

38 ¶ Pilate sayd vnto him, What is trueth? And when he had sayd that, hee went out againe vnto the Iewes, and sayd vnto them, I find in him no cause at all.

39 ¶ But you haue custome that I shoulde deliuer you one loose at the Pascheouer: will yee then that I loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40 ¶ Then cryed they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: nowe thus Barabbas was a murtherer.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thornes 3 was desirous to let him loose: 4 but being overcome with the enuie of the Iewes, 5 he deliuereth him to be crucified. 26 Iesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 30 Having tasted vinegar, hee dieth: 34 and being dead, his side is pierced with a spear. 40 He is buried.

¶ Then Pilate took Iesus, and scourged him. 2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment.

3 And said, Haile King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 ¶ Then Pilate went forth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find in him no fault at all.

5 Then came Iesus forth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate sayd vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then sayd Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cefars friend: for whosoever maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cefar.

13 ¶ When Pilate heard this worde, hee brought Iesus forth, and fate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the pauement, and in Hebrew, Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Pascheouer, and about the sixth houre: and hee sayd vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priests answered, We haue no King but Cefar.

16 ¶ Then deliuered hee him vnto them, to be crucified. ¶ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the mids.

19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then sayd the hie Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he sayd, I am the King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ Then the souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame wouen from the top thorowout.

24 ¶ Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which faith, They parted my garments among them, & on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ Then stood by the crosse of Iesus, his mother, a They will haue him crucified, when by an old custome of theirs, they should haue stoned and hanged up as a curse of blasphemy: but they desire to haue him crucified after the maner of the Romanes.

mother, and his mothers sister, Marie the wife of Cleophas, and Marie Magdalene.

36 And when Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loued, he said vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy sonne.

37 Then saide he to the disciple, Behold thy mother: and from that houre, the disciple tooke her home vnto him.

38 ¶ After, when Iesus knew that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he sayd, I thirst.

39 And there was set a vessell full of vinegar, and they filled a sponge with vineger, and put it about an Hyslope stake, and put it to his mouth.

40 Now when Iesus had receiued of the vineger, he sayd, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the ghost.

41 ¶ The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

42 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Iesus.

43 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

44 ¶ But one of the souldiers with a speare pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

45 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and he knoweth that hee saith true, that ye might beleue it.

46 For these things were done, that the Scripture should be fulfilled, ¶ Not a bone of him shall be broken.

47 And againe another Scripture saith, ¶ They shall see him whom they haue thrust thorow.

48 ¶ And after these things, Ioseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Iesus, but secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that hee might take downe the body of Iesus. And Pilate gaue him licence. He came then and tooke Iesus body.

49 And there came also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) & brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundred pound.

50 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the manner of the Iewes is to bury.

51 And in the place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

52 There then layd they Iesus, because of the Iewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was neere.

CHAP. XX.

1 Mary bringeth words that Christ is risen: 3 Peter and Iohn 4 runne to see it. 25 Iesus appeareth to Marie 29 and to the disciples that were together in the house. 35 Thomas, before faithlesse, 39 now beleueth.

Now ¶ the first day of the weeke came Marie Magdalene, early when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and saw the stone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, and sayd vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and wee knowe not where they haue layd him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and saw the linnen clothes lie,

7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleueed.

9 For as yet they knewe not the Scripture, That he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away againe vnto their owne home.

11 ¶ But Marie stood without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed her selfe into the sepulchre,

12 And saw two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the body of Iesus had layen.

13 And they said vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said vnto them, They haue taken away my Lord, and I knowe not where they haue laid him.

14 ¶ When shee had thus said, shee turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus sayeth vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? Shee supposing that hee had bene the gardener, sayd vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus saith vnto her, Mary. She turned her selfe, and said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 ¶ Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and to your God.

18 Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the doores were shut where the disciples were assembled for feare of the Iewes, came Iesus and stood in the mids, and said to them, Peace be vnto you.

20 And when he had so sayd, he shewed vnto them his hands, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seene the Lord.

23. Whosoever sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whosoever sinnes ye retaine, they are retained.

24. But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25. The other disciples therefore sayde vnto him, We haue seene the Lord: but he sayde vnto them, Except I see in his handes the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his side, I will not beleue.

26. And eight dayes after, againe his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were shut, and stood in the midst, and sayd, Peace be vnto you.

27. After said hee to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine handes, & put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithlesse, but faithfull.

28. Then Thomas answered and sayde vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29. Iesus saide vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene mee, thou believest: blessed are they that haue not seene, and haue beleueed.

30. And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this booke.

31. But these things are written that ye might beleue, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleueing yee might haue life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1. Iesus appeareth to his disciples as they were a fishing. 6. 7. whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15. Hee committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18. and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

Againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus shewed he himselfe.

2. There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.

3. Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing. They sayd vnto him, We also will goe with thee. They went their way, and entred into a shippe straightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4. But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheless the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5. Iesus then sayd vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.

6. Then he said vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shal find. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.

7. Therefore said the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coat to him (for he was naked), and cast himselfe into the sea.

8. But the other disciples came by shippe, (for they were not farre from lande, but about two hundred cubites) and they drew the net with fishes.

9. As soone then as they were come to land, they saw hote coales, and fish layed thereon, and bread.

10. Iesus sayd vnto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye haue now caught.

11. Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundred, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12. Iesus sayde vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.

13. Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.

14. This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.

15. So when they had dined, Iesus sayd to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He said vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my lambes.

16. He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

17. He sayde vnto him the third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus said vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

18. Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee, and leade thee whither thou wouldest not.

19. And this spake hee signifying by what death he should glorifie God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Follow me.

20. Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whom Iesus loued, following, which had alio leane on his brest at supper, and had sayde, Lorde, which is hee that betrayeth thee?

21. When Peter therefore saw him, he sayd to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?

22. Iesus sayde vnto him, If I will that hee tarry till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou mee.

23. Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this Disciple should not die. Yet Iesus sayd not to him, He shall not die: but if I will that hee tarry till I come, what is it to thee?

24. This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, & we know that his testimonie is true.

25. Now there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written euery one, I suppose the worlde could not containe the bookes that should be written, Amen.

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY APOSTLES, WRITTEN BY LVKE THE EVANGELIST.

CHAP. I.

1 Luke teach this historie to his Gospel. 29 Christ being taken into heauen, 10 the Apostles 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 retorne, 14 and giue themselves to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Judas the traitours place, 26 Matthias is chosen.

Hauē made the former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began to doe and teach, Vntill the day that hee was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost had giuen commandements vnto the Apostles, whom hee had chosen :

3 To whom also hee presented himselfe a line after that he had suffered, by many infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.

4 And when he had gathered them together, hee commanded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, which said he, ye haue heard of me.

5 For Iohn in deede baptized with water, but yee shall bee baptized with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore the Kingdome to Israel?

7 And he sayd vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

8 But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you : and ye shalbe witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, & vnto the vttermost part of the earth.

9 And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken vp : for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly toward heauen, as hee went, behold, two men stood by them in white apparell,

11 Which also sayd, Yee men of Galile, why stand ye gazing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp from you into heauen, shall so come, as ye haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 Then returned they vnto Hierusalem, from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath dayes iourney.

13 And when they were come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Mattheue, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother.

14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication with the women, and Marie the mother of Iesus, and with his brethren.

15 And in those dayes Peter stood vp in the middes of the disciples, and sayd (now the number of names that were in one place, were about an hundred and twentie.)

16 Yee men and brethren, this Scripture must needs haue bene fulfilled, which the holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was a guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For he was numbred with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

18 He therefore hath purchased a field with the reward of iniquity: and when he had throwen downe himselfe headlong, hee brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is known vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, Let his habitation be voyd, & let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.

21 Wherefore of these men, which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Iesus was conuersant among vs, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that hee was taken vp from vs, must one of them be made a witness with vs of his resurrection.

23 And they presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, & Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lorde, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That hee may take the y rounge of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath gone astray, to go to his owne place.

26 Then they gaue forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

CHAP. II.

*1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost, 8 spake with di-uers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunken, 15 but Peter disproueth that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messias:
37 And seeing the hearers astounded, 38 he exhorted them to repentance.*

gether on a most appeare to all the

d Hereby wee understand that the Apostles used not one tongue, and then another by hapchance and as all adu-antage, or as fantasticall men use to doe, but with good consideration of their hearers: and so bee short, that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost pouerued their tongues.

e Not that they spake with one voyce, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for els the miracle had rather bene in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers. Nazian. in his oration of Whitsunday. f By Iewes, hee meaneth them that were both Jewes by birth, and Iewes by profession of religion although they were borne in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles borne, and embraced the Iewish religion. g God's worde purgeth some so, that it denieth them to seeke out the truth, and it doeth so choke other, that it forceth them to bee witnes of their owne impudencie. h The worde which bee vseth here, signifieth such a kinde of mocking which is reprochfull and contumelious: And by this reprochfull mocking wee see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickednesse of man dareth not speake euill of. i Peter his boldnesse is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seene, euen straight after the beginning.

*k After the same rising, which may bee about seuen or eight of the clocke with vs.
There is nothing that can dissolve questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: for mens reasons may be overthrown, but Gods voyce cannot be overturned. l Joel 2. 28. eia. 24. 3. m Peter testifies the truth of God against the false accusations of men, throweth in himselfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Iosel spake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghost in the later dayes: which grace is also offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted destruction, which doe contemne it. n All wise men, both of the Jewes and Gentiles. m That is, men.*

And when the day of Pentecost was come, they were all with one accord in one place.

And suddenly there came a sound from heauen, as of a rushing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sat.

And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues like fire, and it sate vpon each of them,

And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speake with other tongues, as the Spirit gaue them utterance.

And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

Now when this was noyed, the multitude came together and were astonished, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language.

And they wondered all, and marvelled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speake, of Galilee?

How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, & Iewes, and Proselytes, Cretes, and Arabians: we heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull workes of God.

They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying, What may this be?

And others mocked, and sayd, They are full of new wine.

But Peter standing with the eleuen, lift vp his voyce, and sayd vnto them, Yee men of Iudea, and yee all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this knowne vnto you, and hearken vnto my words.

For there are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day.

But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet, Iosel,

And it shalbe in the last dayes, saith God, I will poure out of my Spirit vpon all flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophesie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames.

And on my seruants, and on mine hand- maides I will poure out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophesie.

And I wil shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapour of smoke.

The Sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

And it shalbe, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saved.

Yee men of Israel, heare these wordes, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you, as yee your selues also know:

Him, I say, being deliuered by the determi- nate counsell, and foreknowledge of God, af- ter you had taken, with wicked hands you haue crucified and slaine.

Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the forowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

For Dauid saith concerning him, I be- held the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shal rest in hope,

Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

Thou hast shewed mee the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy counte- nance.

Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruit of his loines he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne,

He knowing this before, spake of the resur- rection of Christ, that his soule should not bee left in graue, neither his flesh should see corrup- tion.

This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

Since then that hee by the right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which yee now see and heare.

For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he saith, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, Vntill I make thine enemies thy foote- stooles.

Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, whom ye haue crucified.

Thou hast opened mee the way to the true life. I Kings 3. 13. c. ap. 13. 34. 37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 Then Peter sayd vnto them, Amend your liues, and bee baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of finnes: and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are as farre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this froward generation.

41 Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 And feare came vpon euery soule: and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 And all that beleued, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions, and goods, and parted them to all men, as euery one had need.

46 And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praying God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saved.

48 And all the multitude of the people gathered vnto them, and they were added to the Church daily, so that the Church in Ierusalem increased exceedingly, and many of the priests were obedient to the doctrine of the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 3 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mystrie of our saluation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

Now Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certain man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe was caried, whom they layd daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receiue an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, sayd, Looke on vs.

5 And he gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.

6 Then said Peter, Siluer & gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, & lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones receiued strength.

8 And he leaped vp, stode, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walke, and praising God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which late for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him.

11 And as the creeple which was healed, held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne amased vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.

12 So when Peter saw it, hee answered vnto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marueile yee at this? or why look yefo stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlineise, wee had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, & Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom ye betrayed, & denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be deliuered.

14 But yee denied the Holy one and the Iust, and desired a murderer to be giuen you,

15 And killed the Lord of life, whome God hath raised fro the dead, wherof ye are witnesses.

16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom yee see & know, through faith in his Name: and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfithe health of his whole body in the presence of you all.

17 And now brethren, I know that through ignorance yee did it, as did also your gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your finnes may be put away, when the time of refreshing shal come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you,

21 Whom the heauen must containe vntill the time that all things bee restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

22 For Moles said vnto the Fathers, The Lord your God shal raise vp vnto you a Prophet, euen of your brethren, like vnto me: ye shall heare him in all things whatsoever he shall say vnto you.

23 For it shall be that euery person which shal not heare that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people.

24 Also all the Prophets from Samucl, and thenceforth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretold of these dayes.

25 Ye are the children of the Prophets, and of the couenant, which God hath made vnto our fathers, saying to Abraham, Euen in thy seede shall all the kinreds of the earth be blessed.

26 First vnto you hath God raised vp his Sonne Iesus, and him he hath sent to blese you, in turning euery one of you from your iniquities.

27 Though there were many Prophets, yet hee speaketh but of one moult, to shewe vnto vs the consent and agreement of the Prophets. 28 The promise was of an excellent and singular Prophet. 29 At what time the kingdome of Israel was established. 30 The Iewes that beleue are the first gotten in the kingdome of God. 31 For whom the Prophets were especially appointed. 32 Gen. 12. 3. gale. 3. 8. 33 Given to the world or raised from the dead, and aduanced to his kingdome.

and the Sadduces came vpon them,

2 Taking it grieuouly that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, beleued, and the number of the b men was about fise thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morrow, that their c rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the d kinred of the hie Priest.

7 ¶ And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what e Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter ful of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Yee rulers of the people, & Elders of Israel,

9 ¶ For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 ¶ Be it knownen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doth this man stand before you, whole.

11 ¶ This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is f giuen none other g Name vnder heauen, whereby we must be saved.

13 ¶ Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstoode that they were vnlearned men and without knowledge, they marvelled, and knew them, that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commaunded them to goe aside out of the Councill, and k conferred among themselves,

16 ¶ Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowne to all them that dwel in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus.

19 ¶ But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 ¶ So they threatened them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men prayd God for that which was done.

22 For the man was about forty yeeres olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 ¶ Then as soon as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had sayd vnto them.

24 ¶ And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast sayd, ¶ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lorde, and against his Christ.

28 To do whatsoeuer n thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, beholde their threatenings, and grant vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word,

30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus.

31 ¶ And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 ¶ And the multitude of them that beleued, were of o one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things ¶ common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.

34 ¶ Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laid it downe at the Apostles feet, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

1 Fully possessed.
2 For when they had appointed that some of possession for the Church, they thought not as it to have away a part of the price, as though they had had to doe with men and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.
3 Holy is declared as a title, and purporteth a desire, and the fault of the man in admitting the devil's suggestion.
4 Luke how oft we do things with an ill conscience, first story is a sentence a punishment, and much as in their flesh, provoke God to anger, as of forwarpe, sinning in the world, their beaust and amfice or no. f. An hand.
5 The Lord by his marvellous vertue beareth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some hee keepeth in his care and care: and other some beareth vnto him.
6 Rightly praised him.
7 The more the Church in strength the more increase the way of Satan, and therefore they provide from this eating, to prisoning.
8 The word which is vnto here, is Hebrew, which signifies a chafe, and so is taken for a right form of learning, or fashion or studie and course of life, which the Latines call a cell: at the first this word was indifferently used, but at length, it came to be taken only in evil part, whereupon came the name of Heretick, which is taken from that goeth away from found and whole some doctrine after such part that he setteth light by the judgement of God and his Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.
9 God doth therefore deliuer his, that they may more stoutly prouoke his enemies.
10 Wordes, whereby the way vnto life is showed.
11 God mocketh his enemies attempts from above.

b filled thine heart, that thou shouldest lie vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? & after it was sold, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell me, sold yee the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said vnto her, Why haue yee agreed together, to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then she fel downe straightway at his feet, and yielded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch).

13 And of the other durst no man ioyn himselfe to them: neuertheless the people magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more.

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and layd them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadow of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, & them which were vexed with vnclene spirits, who were all healed.

17 The chiefe Priests rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation,

18 And laid handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and said, 20 Goe your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the wordes of this life.

21 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officer came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainly we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when wee had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest and the captaine of the Temple, & the hie Priest heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would growe.

25 Then came one and shewed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned).

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them,

28 Saying, Did not we straightly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? & behold, yee haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 Then Peter and the Apostles answered, & said, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 The God of our fathers hath raised vp Iesus whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Sauour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of finnes.

32 And wee are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, & the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Nowe when they heard it, they brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 Then stood there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Law, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a litle space, 35 And sayd vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intend to doe touching these men.

36 For before these times, rose vp Theudas, boasting himselfe, to whom resorted a number of men, about a foure hundredth, who was slaine, and they al which obeyed him were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, rose vp Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drewe away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say vnto you, Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsell, or this worke be of men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, lest ye be found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And dayly in the Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

43 Hee dissoneth his fellowes from murdering the Apostles, neither doeth hee thinke it good to reuolue the matter to the Roman Magistrate, for the Iews could abide nothing worse, then to haue the tyrannie of the Romanes confirmed. 44 If it bee conseruatis and vndisturbed. 45 The Apostles, accustomed to suffer and beate wordes, are at length inured to beate stripes, yet so, that by that means they become stronger. 46 Both publicly and priuately.

7 The more openly that Christes vertue sheweth it selfe, the more increaseth the madnes of his enemies which conspire against him.
8 Tyrants which feare not God, are constrained to feare his seruants.
9 It is the prerogative of tyrants to set out their owne commandements as right and reason, be they neuer so wicked.
10 We ought to obey no man, but so farre forth as obeying him, we may obey God.
11 Christ is appointed and in deede declared Prince and preserver of his Church in despite of his enemies.
12 It is not sufficient for vs that there is a right end, but we must also according to our vocation goe on forward till we come vnto it.
13 This betokeneth that they were in a most vehement rage, and marvellously disquised in minde, for it is a borrowed kinde of speech taken from them, which are harshly cut in shauers with a sawe.

14 Christ findeth defenders of his cause, euen in the very route of his enemies so oft as hee thinketh it needefull.

15 In matters of religion we must take good heede that we a tempe nothing vnder a colour of zeale, but hide our vocation.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to Steuen chosen men : 8 Of whom Steuen full of faith is one : 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressor of Moses Law.

ANd in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians towards the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the daily ministring.

2 Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and sayde, It is not meete that we should leaue the word of God to serue the tables.

3 Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you seven men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this businesse.

4 And we wil giue your selues continually to prayer, and to the ministring of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude : and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philip, & Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Profelyte of Antiochia,

6 Which they set before the Apostles : and they prayed, and layed their hands on them.

7 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the faith.

8 ¶ Nowe Steuen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, & Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which sayd, We haue heard him speake blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

12 Thus they moued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes : and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill.

13 And set forth false witness, which said, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous words against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that fate in the Council looked stedfastly on him, they saw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

*This ceremonie of laying on of hands came from the Lawes, who used this order both in publicke affaires, and offering of sacrifices, and also in private prayers and blessings, as appeareth Gene. 28. and the Church obserued this ceremonie, 1. God exerciseth his Church with euill wordes and slanders, then with imprisonment, afterwards with scourgings, and by these meane preparerth it in luck fort, that at length hee cansteth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloodshed and death, and that with good successe.

Hereby it appeareth that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and settled mind, a good conscience and sure persuasion that his cause was iust : for strong he was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him the Lawes mindes might be percered and amased.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built : 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the testimony Paternis 54 The Lawes punishing their teeth, stone him.

THEN sayde the chiefe Priest, Are these things so ?

2 And he said, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken. ¶ That God of a glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And said vnto him, Come out of the country, and from thy kined, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, & dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence, into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the bredth of a foote: yet he promised that he would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seede after him, when as yet he had no child.

6 But God spake thus, that his seede should bee a sojourner in a strange lande : and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill foure hundred yeeres.

7 But the nation to whom they shall bee in bondage, will I iudge, saith God : and after that, they shall come forth and serue me in this place.

8 He gaue him also the couenant of circumcision : and so Abraham begate Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day : and Isaac begate Jacob, and Jacob the twelue Patriarkes.

9 And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold Ioseph into Egypt : but God was with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and gaue him fauour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaos king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent our fathers first :

13 And at the second time Ioseph was knowne of his brethren, and Iosephs kined was made knowne vnto Pharaos.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kined, euen threecore and fiftene soules.

15 So Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers,

16 And were remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drew neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt,

1 Steuen is admitted to plead his cause, but in this end, and purpose, that vnder a cloke, and colour of Law, he might be condemned.

2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Lawes, that he acknowledged the true fathers, and the only true God : and sheweth moreover, that they are more ancient than the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, than is to say, the free covenant that God made with the fathers.

18 Till another King arose, which knew not Joseph.

19 The same dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euill intreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliuē.

20 The same time was Moles borne, and was acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moles was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in wordes and in deedes.

23 Now when hee was full fortie yeeres old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 And when hee sawe one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and auenged his quarrell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstoode, that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstood it not.

26 And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, yee are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then sed Moles at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Midian, where hee begate two sonnes.

30 And when fortie yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sina, an Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a bush.

31 And when Moles saw it, he wondred at the sight: and as he drew nere to consider it, the voice of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Moles trembled, & durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord sayde to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest is holy ground.

34 I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, & I haue heard their groning, and am come downe to deliuer them: and now come and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moles whom they forooke, saying, Who made thee a prince and a iudge? the same God sent for a prince, & a deliuerer by the hand of the Angel, which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wilderness fortie yeeres.

37 This is that Moles, which sayde vnto the children of Israel, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you, euen of your brethren, like vnto me: him shall ye heare.

38 This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wilderness with the Angel, which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who receiued the liuely oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt.

40 Saying vnto Aaron, Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we know not what is become of this Moles that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a calfe in those daies, and offered sacrifice vnto the idole, and reioyced in the works of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himselfe away, and gaue them vp to serue the host of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, A house of Israel, haue yee offered to me flaine beasts and sacrifices by the space of fortie yeeres in the wilderness?

43 And ye tooke vp the Tabernacle of Moloch, & the starre of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will cary you away beyond Babylon.

44 Our fathers had the Tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking vnto Moles, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seene.

45 Which tabernacle also our fathers receiued, and brought in with Iesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God draue out before our fathers, vnto the dayes of Dauid:

46 Who found fauour before God, and desired that he might find a tabernacle for the God of Iacob.

47 But Salomon built him an house.

49 Heauen is my throne, and earth is my footstool: what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or what place is it that I should rest in?

50 Hath not mine hand made all these things?

51 Yee stiffnecked and of vncircumcised hearts and eares, ye haue alwayes resisted the holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so doe you.

53 Which haue receiued the lawe by the ordinance of Angels, and haue not kept it.

54 But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked stedfastly into heauen, and saw the glory of God, & Iesus standing at the right hand of God.

56 And sayd, Beholde, I see the heauens open, and the Sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 Then they gaue a shout with a loude voice, and stopped their eares, and ranne vpon him violently all at once,

58 And cast him out of the citie, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid downe their clothes at a yong mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Steuen, who called on

CHAP. IX.

2 Saul going toward Damascus, & is stricken down to the ground of the Lord: 10 Ananias is sent 18 to baptize him: 23 The laying on of the Jewes 25 hee awaketh, being the darrest through the wall: 33 Peter curseth Ananias of the pallie: 36 and by him Tabitha being dead, 49 is restored to life.

And Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that way, (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as he journeyed, it came to passe that as hee was come nere to Damascus, & suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce saying to him, (Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?)

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonied, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the citie, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which journeyed with him stood amazed, hearing his voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man: Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine discipule at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Streight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias, comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euill hee hath done to thy Saints at Hierusalem.

14 Moreover, here hee hath authoritie of the hie Priests, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessell vnto mee, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I wil shew him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into that house, and put his handes on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent mee (yeerly) Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly hee receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized,

19 And receiued meate, and was strengthened,

So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway hee preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was the Sonne of God.

21 So that all that heard him, were amazed, and said, Is not this hee, that made hanocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Jewes which dwelt at Damascus, confirming that this was that Christ.

23 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Jewes tooke counsell together, to kill him.

24 But their laying awaite was knowne of Saul: nowe they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him down by a rope in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, hee assayed to ioine himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleued not that he was a discipule.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them how he had seene the Lord in the way, and how hee had spoken vnto him, and how hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 And hee was conuersant with them at Hierusalem.

29 And spake boldly in the name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cefarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the pallie.

34 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a discipule named Tabitha, (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) shee was full of good works and almes which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they layd her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was nere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

40 Peters Apostleship is confirmed by healing the man that was sicke of the pallie: 41 Lydda was a citie of Palestina, and Saron a champion country, a passage betwene Cefarea of Palestina and the mountaine Tabor neare it, which extendeth itselfe in great length beyond Ioppa, and is easily by raising up a dead body through the Name of Christ, the glad tidings of life.

4 By conferring places of the Scripture together, as concerning craftie men doe, when they wake up any thing, they vse to gather all parts together, to make them agree fully one with another.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when hee was come, they brought him into the upper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats & garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth: and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the bodie, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, fate vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand, and lift her vp, and called the kins and widowes, and restored her aliu.

42 And it was known throughout all Ioppa, and many beleued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe, that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

1. Cornelius, 4. at the Angels commendement, 5. sendeth for Peter: 11. Who also by a vision, 15. 20. is taught not to despise the Gentiles. 34. His preachers the Gospel to Cornelius and his household. 45. Who having received the holy Ghost, 47. are baptized.

¶ Whereas there was a certaine man in Caesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

2 A deuout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision evidently (about the ninth house of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are come vp into remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 Hee lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: hee shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morrow as they were on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the first house.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, & would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And he saw heauen opened, and a certaine vessel come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheet, knit at the foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.

12 Wherein were all manner of foure footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill and eate.

14 But Peter sayd, Not so, Lord: for I haue never eaten anything that is polluted, or vncleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thrise: and the vessel was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Nowe while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which hee had seene, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had enquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate,

18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit sayd vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Caesarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and speciall friends.

25 And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fel down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euery I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Ye know that it is an vlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Foure dayes agoe, about this houre I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and beholde, a man stood before me in bright clothing,

31 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 Sende therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the Sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then I sent for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 ¶ Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceiue, that God is no acceptor of persons.

2. Religion is not a race or worldly growth only to God: but shall worship is given to the Minister of the word, though not without the get.

4. This is a borrowed kinde of speech, which the Hebrews vsed very much, taken from sacrifices, and applyed to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and sauer of them, goeth vp into Gods nostrils: so doe our prayers as a sweet smelling sacrifice, which the Lord receiue with great pleasure in.

That is, such as were more for no man vsed. k. What is meant by these creeping things, Luke 11. 2. Peter purifieth daily in the knowledge of the benefits of Christ, yet, after that he had received the holy Ghost.*

15 But in every nation hee that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.

16 Ye know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

17 Even the word which came through all Iudea, & beginning in Galilee, after the Baptisme which Iohn preached:

18 To wit, how God anoynted Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devill: for God was with him.

19 And wee are witnesses of all things which hee did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

20 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:

21 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses chosen before of God, even to vs which did eate and drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.

22 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testify, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.

23 To him also giue all the Prophets witnesse, that through his Name all that beleue in him, shall receive remission of finnes.

24 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fel on all them which heard the word.

25 So they of the circumcision, which beleued, were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the holy Ghost.

26 For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 27 Can any man forbidde water, that these should not be baptized, which haue received the holy Ghost, as well as we?

28 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine dayes.

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, & saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wilde beasts, and creeping things, and fowles of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voice, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit said vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer, these fixe brethren came with me, and wee entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how he had seene an Angell in his house, which stood and saide to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 He shall speake words vnto thee, whereby both thou and thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, & euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, Iohn baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when wee beleued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 And they which were scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout til they came vnto Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.

20 Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleued and turned vnto the Lord.

22 Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when hee was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, & faith, and much people ioyned themselves vnto the Lord.

25 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:

26 And when he had found him, hee brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

Chap. xi.

Such as make a question of the truth which they know not, ought to be quietly heard, and must also quietly yield to the declaration thereof.

The scattering abroad of the Church of Hierusalem is the cause of the gathering together of many other Churches.

He speaketh of Antiochia which was in Syria and bordered vpon Cilicia.

The Church of Antiochia the new Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

The Apostles doe not rashly condemn an extraordinary vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

There was no contrition amongst the Apostles either of vsurping or of holding places and degrees.

CHAP. XI.

1 Peter being arrested for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himselfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

Now the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I saw this vision, A certaine vessel comming downe as it had bene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

By the fears of God, the Hierusalem stand the whole service of God: whereby we perceive that Cornelius was not void of faith, no more than they were which heard be: therefore they shall be justified, which build preparatorie works, and free will upon this place.

God gaue the practices to Cornelius, that who neuer touch God, is acceptable to God of what nation soever he be, for he preached vnto us new through Iesus Christ, who is Lord of one nation only, that is of the Iewes, of all.

The summe of the Gospel (which shall be made manifest at the latter day when Christ shall sit as iudge both of the liue and the dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Iewes, and called in his time with the mightie power of God, (which was by all manner shewes) and in length cruell manner: as we see, and vnto the third day, that whole.

Our beleue in him should be faced through the remission of finnes. Luke 4.14. This stile is taken from an olde custome of the Iewes, who used to anoynt their Kings and Priests, when they were to call them anoynted, vpon whom God bestoweth gifts and vnto.

This choosing of the Apostles is properly giuen to God: for though God be praised in the lawfull election of ministers, yet there is in this place a steepe opposition and biting of Gods choosing, and men voyces the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediately appointed of God, and the Church Ministers by maner.

Jerem. 31.34. which is the same as 5.9. 8 The Spirit of God feareth that in the heart of the heauen, which the number of the word speaketh by the commendement of God, as it appeareth by the effects.

9 Baptisme doeth not sanctifie or make them holy which receive it, but sanctifieth by and confirmeth their sanctification.

1 Peter being arrested for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himselfe.

faſe prophet, being a Iew, named Barieſus, 7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and deſired to heare the word of God.

8 But Elymas the forcerer, (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, and fought to turne away the Deputie from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 And ſayde, O full of all ſubtilty and all miſchiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemye of all righteouſneſſe, wilt thou not ceaſe to per- uert the ſtraight wayes of the Lord?

11 Now therefore beholde, the hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou ſhalt bee blind, and not ſee the ſunne for a ſeaſon. And immediatly there fell on him a miſt & a darkneſſe, and he went about, ſeeking ſome to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when hee ſaw what was done, beleued, and was aſtonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ſhippe from Paphos, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of Pifidia, & went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, & ſate downe.

15 And after the lecture of the Law and prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue ſent vnto them, ſaying, Yee men and brethren, if yee haue any word of exhortation for the people, ſay on.

16 Then Paul ſtoode vp and beckened with the hand, and ſaid, Men of Iſrael, and ye that feare God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Iſrael choſe our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of Egypt, and with an high arme brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time of forty yeeres, ſuffred he their maners in the wilderneſſe.

19 And he deſtroyed ſeuene nations in the land of Chanaan, & diuided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gaue vnto them Iudges about foure hundred and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they deſired a King, and God gaue vnto them Saul, the ſonne of Cis a man of the tribe of Beniamin, by the ſpace of fourety yeeres.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raiſed vp Dauid to be their King, of whom hee witneſſed, ſaying, I haue found Dauid the ſonne of Ieſſe, a man after mine owne heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 Of this mans ſeed hath God according to his promiſe raiſed vp to Iſrael, I Sauour Ieſus:

24 When Iohn had firſt preached before his comming the baptiſme of repentance to all the people of Iſrael.

25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his courſe, he ſayd, Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not hee: but behold, there cometh one after mee, whoſe ſhooe of his feete I am not woorthie to looſe.

26 Yee men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whoſeuer among you feareth God, to you is the word of this ſal- uation ſent,

27 For the inhabitants of Hieruſalem, and their rulers, becauſe they knewe him not, nor yet the wordes of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemn- ing him.

28 And though they found no cauſe of death in him, yet deſired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him down from the tree, and put him in a ſepulchre.

30 But God raiſed him vp from the dead.

31 And hee was ſeene many dayes of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hieruſa- lem, which are his witneſſes vnto the people.

32 And wee declare vnto you, that touching the promiſe made vnto the fathers,

33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he raiſed vp Ieſus, euen as it is writ- ten in the ſecond Pſalme, Thou art my Sonne: thi day haue I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raiſed him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, hee hath ſaid thus, I will giue you the holy things of Dauid, which are faithfull.

35 Wherefore hee ſayeth alſo in another place, Thou wilt not ſuffer thine holy one to ſee corruption.

36 Howbeit, Dauid after hee had ſerued his time by the counſell of God, hee ſlept, and was laid with his fathers, and ſaw corruption.

37 But hee whom God raiſed vp, ſaw no cor- ruption.

38 Bee it knowen vnto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached vnto you the forgiveneſſe of finnes.

41 Behold, yee deſpiſers, and wonder, and vaniſh away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which yee ſhall not beleue, if a man would declare it you.

42 And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles beſought, that they would preach theſe words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was diſſol- ued, many of the Iewes and Proſelytes that fea- red God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which ſpake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

<sup>2</sup> And when there was a great diffention, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles, and Elders about this question.

<sup>3</sup> Thus being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

<sup>4</sup> And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

<sup>5</sup> But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharisees, which did beleue, rose vp, saying that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the Law of Moles.

<sup>7</sup> And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and sayd vnto them, <sup>8</sup> Ye men and brethren, ye know that a good while agoe, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleue.

<sup>8</sup> And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs.

<sup>9</sup> And he put no difference betweene vs and them, after that by faith he had purified their hearts.

<sup>10</sup> Now therefore, why tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

<sup>12</sup> Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

<sup>19</sup> Peter, raising from the Cerimonies, to the Law in generall, shewe that none could bee saved, if saluation were to be bought for by the Law, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ, because that no man could euer fulfill the Law, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle. <sup>20</sup> Why tempt ye God, as though hee could not save by faith? <sup>21</sup> Math 23. 4. <sup>22</sup> A true picture of a lawfull Council, where Gods truth onely reigarth. <sup>23</sup> The summe of Alphons, who is called the Lordes brother. <sup>24</sup> James confirmeth the saying of the Gentiles, out of the words of <sup>25</sup> ed, the viii agreeing to Peter. <sup>26</sup> Amos 9. 11. <sup>27</sup> And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appoyntment.

<sup>19</sup> Wherefore my sentence is, that wee trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

<sup>20</sup> But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselves from filthinesse of idoles, and from fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

<sup>22</sup> Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to sende chosen men of their owne company to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, <sup>23</sup> And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, Vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

<sup>24</sup> Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which went out from vs, haue troubled you with words, and combred your minds, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe the Law: to whom we gaue no such commandment,

<sup>27</sup> Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tel you y same things by mouth.

<sup>28</sup> For it seemed good to the holy Ghost, and to vs, to lay no more burden vpon you, then these necessary things, <sup>29</sup> That is, that ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

<sup>30</sup> Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

haue any authoritie of themselves, but to shewe the faithfulness that they vs'd in their ministerie and labour. <sup>37</sup> This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Jewes might more peaceably lue together with less occasion of quarrell. <sup>38</sup> Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent. <sup>39</sup> It is requisite for all people to knowe certainly what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend vpon the pleasure of a few. <sup>40</sup> This is an Hebrew kinde of speech, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leave. <sup>41</sup> Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vntill they be diligently scene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersie such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synodes were instituted and appoynted.

<sup>8</sup> In matters indifferent we may so fare be as with the weaknesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.

<sup>9</sup> From sacrifices, or from feastes which were kept in idoles Temples. <sup>10</sup> In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appoynted and chosen Iudges, appoynt and determine any thing tyrannously, or vpon a Lordliness, neither doth the common multitude let them selues tumultuously against them, which sit as Iudges by the words of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which haue bene so determined and agreed vpon.

<sup>11</sup> The Council of Hierusalem concluded that they trouble mens consciences, wch in teach vnto secke saluation in any other manner then in Christ onely, apprehended by faith, from whence soeuer they come, and whome soeuer they pretend to be authors of their vocation.

<sup>12</sup> From our congregation. <sup>13</sup> A borrowed kinde of speech taken of them which pull downe that that was built vp: and it is a very small metaphor in the Scriptures, to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.

19 A lamentable example of discord between excellent men and very great friends, yet not for prophane or their private affaires, neither yet for doctrine.
20 God visiteth the faultes of his seruants to the profit and building of his Church, yet we haue to take heed, even in the best matters that we passe not measure to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meane it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospell

1 Paul himselfe doeth not receiue Timothee into the ministration without sufficient testimony, and allowance of the brethren.
2 Rom. 16. 21. phil. 2. 19.
3. thess. 3. 2.
4 Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothee, commendeth the godliness of Timothees mother and grandmother.
5 Both for his godliness and honesty.
6 Timothee is circumcised, not simply for any necessity, but in respect of the time onely to winne the Iewes.
7 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent that so rega d be had both of the weake, and the quietnesse of the Church.
8 Those decrees which he spake of in the former chapter.
9 God appointeth certaine and determinate times to open and set forth his truth, that both the election and the calling may proceede of grace.
10 He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching us to obey and not to inquire.
11 They are the ministers of the Gospell, by whom hee helpeth such as were like to perish.
12 The Saints did not easily beleue every vision.
13 God begetteth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conversion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acception of person in the Gospell.
14 Where they were wont to assemble themselves.
15 The Lorde onely openeth the heart to heare the word which is preached.

37 And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.
38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 Then were they so stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

42 They were in great haste: but herein we haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meane it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospell was exercised in many places.

C H A P. XVI.

1 Paul having circumcised Timothee, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructeth Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of diuination, 18 is by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened, 31, 32 The Gaoler receiueth the faith.

Then came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine discipule was there, named Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a Iewesse and beleued, but his father was a Grecian.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, reported well.

3 Therefore Paul would that he should goe forth with him, & tooke and circumcised him, because of the Iewes, which were in those quarters: for they all knew, that his father was a Grecian.

4 And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders which were at Hierusalem.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and increased in number dayly.

6 Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas,

9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 And after he had seene the vision, immediately we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospell vnto them.

11 Then went wee forth to Troas, and with a streight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the citie, besides a riuer, where they were wont to pray: and we sat downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lorde opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 And when shee was baptized, and her household, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maide hauing a spirit of diuination, met vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cried, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did shee many dayes: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place vnto the Magistrates,

20 And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes trouble our citie,

21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them fore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaoler to keepe them surely.

24 Who hauing receiued such commaundement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stocks.

25 Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, hee drew out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bene fled.

28 But Paul cryed with a loude voice, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for we are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and sayde, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they sayd, Beleuee in the Lord Iesus Christ, & thou shalt be saued, and thine household.

32 And they preached vnto him the wordes of the Lord, and to all that were in his house.

33 Afterwarde hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioyced that he with all his household beleueed in God.

35 And when it was day, the gouernours sent the fergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 Then

9 An example of a godly housewife.
10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and cometh to enter by unbelouing hearts: Paul openly testifieth him, and calleth him out.
11 This is a prophane note of a phylly, which was a woman of loose and gaudy answers to them that asked him.
12 Paul made no haste to be miraculously cured, for he did all things as he was led by the Spirit.
13 Countenances of lucre and games is an occasion of perfecting the truth. In the more season, God sparing Timothee, calleth Paul and Silas as the stranger, to bathe.
14 Countenances of pride and a desire of common peace and godliness.
15 It is an argument of the devil, to wringe the authority of such without any distinction.
16 An example of euill Magistrates to obey the law and rage of the people.
17 Because hee would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stocks.
18 The prayers of the godly doe shake both heauen and earth.
19 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he is lifted, draweth men to life even through the midst of death, and whereas iustly they deserved great punishment, he sheweth them great mercy.
20 In meane which are especially extraordinary, we ought not to moue our foot forward, vntill that God goe before vs.
21 God with one selfe same hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.
22 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the reward of wicked and vniu Magistrates.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loofe you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 Then sayd Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncindemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out.

38 And the sergeants tolde these wordes vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6 7 is entertained of Jason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 From thence comming to Atheris, 19 in Mars streete 23 hee preacheth the liuing God to them: unknowne, 34 and so many are conuersted vnto Christ.

Nowe as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went vnto them, and three Sabbath daies disputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 Opening and alledging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead, and this is Iesus Christ, whom sayd hee, I preach to you.

4 And some of them beleued, and ioyned in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 But the Iewes which beleued not, moued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine vagabonds and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted the state of the world, and here they are,

7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all do against the decrees of Cesar, saying, that there is another King, one Iesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard these things.

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

11 These were also more noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the wordes with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleued, and of the women, which alwayes setteth the glory of God before it selfe as a marke whereuntoe it directeth it selfe, and neuer swarveth from it. 3 The Lord setteth out in our example, and in one people, diuers examples of his vnsearchable wisdom, to cause them to feare him. 4 He compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

13 But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moued the people.

14 But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

15 And they that did conduct Paul, brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timotheus that they should come to him at once, they departed.

16 Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when hee saw the citie subiect to idolatry.

17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market dayly with whomsoeuer he met.

18 Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoicks, disputed with him, and some sayd, What will this babler say? Others sayd, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods (because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into Mars street, saying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: wee would know therefore what these things meane.

21 For all the Athenians & strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselves to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.

22 Then Paul stood in the middes of Mars street, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and behelde your deuotions, I found an altar wherein was written, Vnto the vnknoen God. Whom yee then ignorantly worship, him shew I vnto you.

24 God that made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that hee is Lord of heauen and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

25 Neither is worshipped with mens hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath and all things,

26 And hath made of one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the bounds of their habitation, on: and the Stoicks, which determine vpon matters of religion according to their owne braines.

1 Word for word. Redgatherer: a borrowed kinde of speech taken of birds which spoile corne, and is applied to them which without arte bluster out such knowledge as they haue gotten by hearing this man and that man. 2 This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the iudgesate which were called Areopagites, upon weightie affaires, which in old time arraigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impietie. 11 The wisdom of man is vanitie. 12 The idolaters themselves minister most strong and forcible arguments against their owne superstition. 13 To stand in too penitish and seruile a feare of your gods. 14 What former men worship for religious sake, that wee call deuotion. 15 Pausanias in his Atticks, maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to unknowne gods: and Lactantius in his Epimenes maketh mention of an altar that had no name inscribed. 16 It is a most foolish and vaine thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to imite him within a place, which can bee comprehended in no place, and to thinke to allure him with giues, of whom all men haue receiued all things whatsoever they haue: And these are the fountaines of all idolatrie. 17 Chap 7. 48. 18 Psal. 50. 8. 19 God is wonderfull in all his works, but especially in the worke of man: not that we should stand amazed at his works, but that we should lift vp our eyes to the workman. 20 Of one stocke and one beginning.

7 There is neither counsell, nor fauor, nor madnesse, against the Lord. 8 The sheepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastors health and lasitie, but yet in the Lord. 9 It is not for thought that the Iewes of Berea were so commended for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, and there in his diuine lecture, whose two, all Thessalonians, and Thessalonians, and Attica.

9 In comparing the wisdom of God with mans wisdom, men scoffe and mocke at that which they vnderstand not: And God vseth the curiositie of fooles, to gather together his elect. 10 He could not forbeare. 11 Slauishly giuen to idolatry: Pausanias writeth that there were more Idoles in Athens, then in all Grecia, yea they had altars dedicated to home, and Fame, & Lust, whom they made goddes. 12 Whomsoeuer Paul met with, that would suffer him to talke with him, he reasoned with him, so thoroughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory. 13 Two stockes elpe a lly of the Philosophers do set themselves against Christ: the Epicures, which make a mocke and scoffe at all religion: and the Stoicks, which determine vpon matters of religion according to their owne braines.

27. That they should seeke the Lord, if so bee they might haue groped after him, and found him, though doubtlesse he be not farre from euery one of vs.

28. For in him we liue, and moue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue said: For we are also his generation.

29. Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto gold, or silver, or stone, grauen by arte, and the invention of man.

30. And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now hee admonisheth all men euery where to repent.

31. Because hee hath appointed a day, in the which he will iudge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath appointed, whom he hath giuen an assurance to all men, in that hee hath raised him from the dead.

32. Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33. And so Paul departed from among them.

CHAP. XVIII.

As Paul at Corinthe 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lorde comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine.

17 From thence he saileth to Syria, 19 and jo to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 A pulpit being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

After these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certaine Iew named Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and hee came vnto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, hee abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)

4 And hee disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas & Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul forced in Spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ:

6 And when they resisted and blasphemed, he shooke his raiment, and said vnto them, Your blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane from henceforth will I go vnto the Gentiles.

7 So hee departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleueed in the Lorde with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing it,

9 were also converted. The great earnestnesse of his minde, which was greatly moued: for Paul was so zealous, that hee cleane forgotte himselfe, and with a wonderfull courage, and yet in vaine, wee must not leaue off from our worke, but forsake the rebellious, and goe to them that bee more obedient.

10 This is a kinde of speech taken from the Hebrewes, whereby hee meaneth, that the Iewes are cause of their owne destruction: and as for him, that hee is without fault in forsaking them and going to other nations.

beleueed and were baptized.

9. Then sayd the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10. For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this cite.

11. So he continued there a yeere & sixe moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12. Now when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate.

13. Saying, This man perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth.

14. And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio sayd vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of words, or an euill deed, O ye Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you.

15. But if it bee a question of wordes and names, and of your Law, looke yee to it your selues: for I will be no iudge of those things.

16. And hee draue them from the iudgement seate.

17. Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18. But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, he tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorne his head in Cenchrea:

for he had a vowe.

19. Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20. Who desired him to tarrye a longer time with them: but he would not consent.

21. But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keepe this feast that cometh, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22. And when hee came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

23. Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strenthening all the disciples.

24. And a certaine Iewe named Apollus, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures.

25. The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake feruently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, & knew but the Baptisme of Iohn onely.

26. And hee began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

27. And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleueed through grace.

28. For mightily hee confused publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 2 Having lately received John's baptism, 3 and knew not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, whereupon God had beautified his Sonnes kingdom, 4 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 5 The Jewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuil. 19 Counting bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 25 raiseth sedition against Paul.

And it came to passe, while Apollōs was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And sayd vnto them, Haue yee receiued the holy Ghost since yee beleued? And they sayd vnto him, Wee haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 And he said vnto them, Vnto what were ye then baptized? And they sayd, Vnto Iohns baptism.

4 Then sayde Paul, & Iohn verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, laying vnto the people, that they should beleue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus:

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul laid his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 Moreover hee went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdom of God.

9 But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schoole of one Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two yerres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of Lord Iesus, both Iewes & Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kercheffes, or handkercheffes, and the diseases departed from them, and the euil spirits went out of them.

13 Then certain of the vagabond Iewes, exorcists, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euil spirits, the name of the Lord Iesus, saying, We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Jew, the Priest, about seuen which did this)

15 And the euil spirit answered, and said, Iesus I acknowledge, & Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euil spirit was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed against them, so that they fledde out of that house, naked and wounded.

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lorde Iesus was magnified.

18 And many that beleued came and confessed, and shewed their works.

19 Many also of them which vsed curious arts, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.

20 So the word of God grewe mightily, and preuailed.

21 They that make the least value of it, reckon it so but a few hundred pounds English.

21 Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the Spirit to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.

23 And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluer smith, which made siluer temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftsmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and sayde, Syrs, yee know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreover yee see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be no Gods which are made with hands,

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our portion shall bee reprooued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his journey.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia, which were his friends, sent vnto him, desiring him that hee would not present himselfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew soorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.

34 But when they knew that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 Then the towne cleark when hee had stayed the people, sayd, Yee men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, & of the image, which came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.

37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacriledge, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen which are with him, haue a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are Deputies: let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters, matters,

a Paul is neuer weary.
b By the motion of Gods spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ran head over head to death, but as the spirit of God led him.

7 Gaine cled with a shew of religion, is the very cause wherefore idolatrie is slowly and stubbornly defended.
1 These were certain counterfeits temples with Diana picture in them, which they thought that worshipped her.

m As if he said, If Paul go on thus as he hath begun to confute the opinion which men haue of Diana image all this our gaine will come to nought.

Coloss. 4.10.

8 There ought to be in all Christians and especially in the Ministers, an inuincible confidence, which may not by any flatterers or flatters be overcome, which notwithstanding must suffer it selfe modestly to be governed by wisdom.
9 In steade of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their owne madnesse and outcries, and those are the greatest deliries that they haue.

He speaketh of a lawfull assembly, not onely to except against the disorderly behaviour of the people, but also against all meeting and coming together which was not by order: for there

41 And when he had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

there were certaine dayes appointed to call the people together in.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointed to goe to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntill midnight, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a window, 10 he raised him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declared what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

Now after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many wordes, hee came into Grecia.

3 And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Lewes layd waite for him, as he was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleavened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fewe dayes, where wee abode fewe dayes.

7 And the first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, & continued the preaching vnto midnight.

8 And there were many lights in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there late in a window a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee overcame with sleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and layd himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe afoote.

14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And wee sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and taried at Trogyllum: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for hee had to be, if hee could possibly, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 ¶ Who when they were come to him, hee sayd vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I haue bene with you at all seasons,

19 Seruing the Lord with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings await of the Iewes,

20 And how I kept backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house,

21 Witnesing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ,

22 And now beholde, I goe bound in the Spirit, vnto Hierusalem, & know not what things shall come vnto me there,

23 Saue that the holy Ghost witneseth in euery citie, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministracion which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

27 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerscers, to feed the Church of God which hee hath purchased with his owne blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke,

30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men rise speaking peruerse things, to draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night day with teares.

32 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.

33 I haue coveted no mans siluer, nor gold, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye knowe, that these handes haue ministered vnto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I haue shewed you all things, how that I laboured, ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, how that he sayd, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, hee kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, 38 Being chiefly sorie for the wordes which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 8 at Cesarea he talketh with Philip the Evangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 The Iewes layd hands on him: 32 Lyfias the capitaine taketh him from them.

And<sup>1</sup> as we lauched forth, and were departed from them, wee came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And wee found a ship that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set forth.

3 And when wee had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, & sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the shippe vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes. And they told Paul through the Spirit, that hee should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, we departed & went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wiues & children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and the returned home.

7 And when wee had ended the course from Tyrus, wee arriued at Prolenais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wethat were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and we entred into the house of Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the seuen Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did prophesie.

10 And as we taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, & bound his owne hands & feet, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What do ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 So when he would not be perswaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes wee trusted vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when wee were come to Hierusalem, the brethren received vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministracion.

20 So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleene, and they are all zealous of the Lawe:

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their founnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. We haue foure men, which haue made a vow,

24 Them take, & d purifie thy selfe with them, and contribute with them, that they may shawe their heads: and all shal know, that those things, whereof they haue bin informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleene, we haue written, & determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselves from things offered to idoles, & from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornicacion.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for every one of them.

27 And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) moued all the people, and layd hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth al men euery where against the people, and the Law, & this place: moreouer, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul, and drewe him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the chiefe capitaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was in uproare.

32 Who immediately tooke souldiers & Centurions, & ran downe vnto them: and when they sawe the chiefe capitaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Capitaine came neere and tooke him, & commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, & what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castle.

35 And when he came vnto the grieses, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying Away with him.

37 And as Paul should haue bene led into the castell, he saide vnto the chiefe capitaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who saide, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Egyptian who before these dayes raised a sedicion, and led out into the wilderness foure thousand men that were murderers?

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Jewes heare him a while: 23 But so foute as they cryed, 24 hee is commaunded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren, and fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said)

3 I am verely a man, which am a Jew, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this city at the feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the fathers, & was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women,

5 As also the chiefe Priest doth beare me witness, and all the company of the Elders: of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, & went to Damascus to bring the which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I iourneyed, and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreouer they that were with me, sawe in deed a light and were afraide: but they heard not the voice of him that spake vnto me.

10 Then I said, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord said vnto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not see for the glorie of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came to Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Jewes which dwelt there,

13 Came vnto mee, and stood, and saide vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his wil, and shouldest see that Iust one, & shouldest heare the voice of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witnesse vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarieest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance,

18 And saw him, saying vnto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning me.

19 Then I said, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beate in euery Synagogue them that beleueed in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stood by, and consented vnto his death, & kept the clothes of them that slew him.

21 Then he saide vnto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ And they heard him vnto this word, but then they lift vp their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.

23 And as they cried & cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the aire,

24 The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that hee might know wherefore they cryed so on him.

25 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Nowe when the Centurion heard it, hee went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And he saide, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after hee knew that hee was a Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because he would haue knowne the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Jewes, he loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the hie Priests and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

Pharises,

1 Paul making a short declaration of his former life, proueth both his vocation and doctrine to be of God. a That is, his daily beauer: the reason of this speech is this, for that they which teach sit commonly in the higher place, speaking to their scholars which sit upon fourmes beneath: and therefore he saith, at the feete of Gamaliel.

surrection, neither <sup>d</sup> Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 ¶ Then there was a great crie: and the Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 ¶ And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commaunded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castell.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witness alio at Rome.

12 ¶ And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselues with a curse, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourty, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and sayd, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eat nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the <sup>g</sup> Conncil, signi-fie vnto the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morrow, as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and wee, or euer he come neere will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters soune heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the castell, and told Paul.

17 ¶ And Paul called one of the Cenrurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayd, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed me to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath something to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he sayd, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to morow into the Councill, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in waite for him of them, more then fourty men, which haue bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 ¶ The chiefe captaine then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to vt-ter it to no man, that hee had shewed him these things.

23 And he called vnto him two certaine Cen-turations, saying, Make ready two hundred soul-diers, that they may goe to Cefarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third houre of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the gouernour.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this maner:
26 ¶ Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble go-uernour Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with a garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Councill.

29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Lawe, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes laid wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commaunded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commaunded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned into the Castell.

33 Now when they came to Cefarea, they de-liuered the Epistle to the gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, he asked of what prouince he was: and when he vnder-stood that he was of Cilicia,

35 I will heare thee, sayd he, when thine accusers also are come, and commaunded him to bee kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 Hee answereth for himselfe: 22
Hee preacheth Christ to the gouernour and his wife. 27 Felix bepeth, but in vaine, so receiue a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaues Paul in prison.

NOW after fise dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came down with the Elders, and with Tertul-lus a certaine oratour, which appeared before the gouernour against Paul.

2 And when hee was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that wee haue obtained great quietnesse through thee, and that many worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few words.

5 Certainly we haue found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the world, and a chiefe maintainer of the sect of the Nazarites:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore wee tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law.

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee:
of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

and as for other matters touching the sedition, hee thinke
it good to deferre
it till he heare Lysias, and therefore he gaue Paul somewhat more liberty.*

9 And the Iewes likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I do the more gladly answer for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast bene g of many yeeres a iudge vnto this nation,

11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they h proue the things, wherof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call i herefie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shalbe both of iust and vniust.

16 And herein I endeavour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.

17 Nowe after many yeeres, I came and brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At what time, certaine Iewes of Asia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselves say, If they haue found any vniust thing in me, while I stood in the Council, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and sayd, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lyfias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 Then hee commaunded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteounesse and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 Hee hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that hee might loofe him: wherfore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius

in the matter of his religion or no, until he had better understanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, hee thinke it good to deferre it till he heare Lyfias, and therefore he gaue Paul somewhat more liberty. 6 God is a most fast keeper of his seruants, and the force of the true is wonderfull, euen among men which are otherwise prophane. o This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus king of Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of our Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bond man. 7 In a manly minde that is guilty to it selfe although sometime there be some shewe of equite, yet by and by it will be extinguished: but in the meane season wee haue neede of patience, and that continually.

Festus came into Felix roome: and Felix willing to get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

in the province, had is not bene for fauour of his brother Pallas, hee is: so that we may gather hereby why he would haue pleased the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeding Felix, 6 commaundeth Paul to bee brought fourth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cesar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23 and bringeth him before him, 27 that he may understand his cause.

When Festus was then come into the province, after three dayes hee went vp from Cesarea vnto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they belought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should bee kept at Cesarea, and that hee himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

6 Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went downe to Cesarea, and the next day fate in the iudgement seate, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he was come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stood about him, and laid many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine prooffe.

8 Forasmuch as he answered that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor against Cesar.

9 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cesar's iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, hee answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine dayes, king Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the king, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix,

15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the hie Priests and Elders of the Iewes enformed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whome I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes for fauour to deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I fate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to bee brought forth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they ing to light the

they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 But had certaine questions against him of their owne<sup>d</sup> superstitions, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliuē.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because hee appealed to be referred to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 Then Agrippa said vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morrow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morrowe when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe capitaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, & here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neuertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lord: wherefore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and especially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

27 For me thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, & not to shew the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4. declareth his life from his childhood, 16. and his calling, 21. with such efficacie of words, 28. that almost he perswaded him to Christianitie: 30. But hee and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes:

3 Chiefely, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare me patiently.

4 As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, knowe all the Iewes,

5 Which knewe me heretofore, euen from my Elders (if they would testifie) that after the most strait sect of our religion I liued a Pharise.

6 And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my sentence.

11 And I punished them thorowout all the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being more made against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the high Priests, 13 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about mee, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto mee, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feet: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee,

18 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiveness of finnes, & inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 Wherefore, king Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision,

20 But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and thorowout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught me in the Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Neuertheless, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should suffer, and that hee should bee the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe, much learning doth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the words of truth and sobernesse.

26 For the King knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a corner.

27 O King Agrippa, beleueest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleueest.

28 Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 And when he had thus spoken, the King

CHAP. XXVII.

Paul 7. 9 for tellch the perill of the voyage. 11 but hee is not beleued. 14 They are tossed so and fro with the tempest, 21. 41 and suffer shipwracke: 34 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

NOW when it was concluded, that we should saile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Augustus.

2 And we entred into a ship of Adramyttium, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched fourth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arriued at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to go vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence wee lanced, and sailed hard by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a shippe of Alexandria, sailing into Italie, and put vs therein.

7 And when we had sailed slowly many daies, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not, we sailed hard by Candie, neere to a Salmone,

8 And with much adoe failed beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Laſea.

9 So when much time was spent, and sailing was now ieopardous, because also the Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said vnto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage wil be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ship only, but also of our liues.

11 Neuerthelesse the Centurion beleued rather the gouernour and the master of the shippe, then those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the haueu was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an haueu of Candie, and lieth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southerne wind blew softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by it a stormie winde called Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were carried away.

16 And we ran vnder a litle Yle named Clauda, and had much ado to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were carried.

18 The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship.

19 And the third day wee cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Sirs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candie; so should yee haue gained this hurt and losse.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship onely.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must bee brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely, all that saile with thee.

25 Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I beleue God, that it shall be so as it hath bene tolde me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine Iland.

27 And when the fourteenth night was come, as wee were caried to and fro in the Adriaticall sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some countrey approached vnto them,

28 And sounded, & found it twentie fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ancrs out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

30 Nowe as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boat into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ancrs out of the foreship, 31 Paul saide vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thanks to God in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meat.

37 Nowe wee were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and fixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine creeke with a banke, into the which they were miued (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

40 So when they had taken vp the ancrs, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, & hoised vp the maine saile to the wind, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fel into a place, where two seas mette, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart sticke fast, and could not be mooued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waues.

God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect had chosen like.

The promise is made effectually through faith.

We attaine and come to the promised and sure salvation through the midst of tempests and death it telle. For Paulus writeth, that the Adriaticall sea lieth upon the East shore of Sicilia. That they dreame neere to some countrey.

There is none so facile an ad, wherunto distrust and an euill conscience doe not enforce men.

Although the performing of Gods promises doth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselves yowonly of Gods bounty.

This is a promise which the Hebrews receiue, wherein it is meant, that they shall be safe, and none of them perill. Then the tempest is moll of all to be leared and looked for, when the port or haueu is neere.

When the world trembleth, the iust shall alone be not ouerly quiet, but confirme others by their example.

This is a promise which the Hebrews receiue, wherein it is meant, that they shall be safe, and none of them perill.

Then the tempest is moll of all to be leared and looked for, when the port or haueu is neere.

A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea. So is yllomen called, because the sea coucheth in on both sides.

1 Paul with many other prisoners, & through the mid of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and set forth and commended vnto the world with many singular testimonies. 2 Cor. 11. 15.

c This is meant of the leues fast, which they keepe in the feast of expiation, as we read, Levit. 23. 27 which fell in the seventh month which we call October, and is not good for navigation, or sailing. d Men cast themselves willingly into an infinite sort of dangers, when they chuse to follow their owne wisdom, rather than Gods speaking by the mouth of his seruants.

42 <sup>12</sup> Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, left any of them, when he had sworne out, should flee away.

43 <sup>13</sup> But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast themselves first into the sea, and goe out to land:

44 <sup>14</sup> And the other, some on boards, and some on certaine pieces of the shippe: and so it came to passe, that they came all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The Barbarians counsell towards Paul and his company. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 Hee shaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Jewes 20 the cause of his coming: 22 Hee preacheth Jesus 30 two yeeres.

And when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called Melita.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no little kinnesse, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present showre, and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and layed them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

4 Now when the Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hand, they sayde among themselves, This man surely is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

5 But he shooke off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when he should haue swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God.

7 In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloody fluxe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he layed his hands on him, and healed him.

9 When this then was done, other also in the Isle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed,

10 Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessaries.

11 Now after three moneths we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, whose badge was Castor, and Pollux.

12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we tarried there three dayes.

13 And from thence wee set a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blew, and wee came the second day to Puteoli:

14 Where wee found brethren, and were defired to tary with them seven dayes, and so wee went toward Rome.

15 And from thence when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the Market of Appius, and at the three tauernes, whome when Paul sawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together, and when they were come, he saide vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue comitted nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romanes:

18 Who when they had examined me, would haue let mee goe, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they said vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we knowe that euery where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom hee expounded, & testifying the kingdom of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 And some were perswaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleueed not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one worde, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers,

26 Saying, Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing yee shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing yee shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne that I might heale them.

28 Bee it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

29 And when hee had sayd these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

30 And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdom of God, & teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speech, without let.

9 God neuer suffereth his to be afflicted about their strength.
10 Appius way, was a pavement made by Appius the blind, with the helpe of his souldiers, long and broad, and runneth out toward the sea, and there were three lanterns in it.
11 Tary in a common prison has in a house which he hired for himselfe.
12 Paul in every place remembereth himselfe to be an Apostle.

13 We may see the meanes which God useth, but so that we seeke the glory of God, & not our selues.

14 The law and the Gospel agree well together.
15 By good reason, and proofe that the kingdom of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.
16 The Gospel is a fauour of life to them that beleue, and a fauour of death to them that be disobedient.

17 The vnbelleuers doe willingly resist the truth, and yet not by chance.

18 Esai. 69. mat. 13. 14. marke 4. 12. Luke 8. 10.

19 John 12. 40. rom. 1. 8.

20 They made as though they saw not that which they saw against their will: yea they did see, but they would not see.

21 The vnbellef of the reprobate and callowes cannot cause the truth of God to be of none effect.

22 Note the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of stile and debate.

23 The word of God cannot be bound.

The Jewes preferment.

To the Romanes.

Iustification by faith.

a Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

r The first meeting with, or presenting an objection of the Jewes; what then have the Jewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that have they sayth the Apostle, on Gods behalf, for he committed the tables of the covenant to them, so that the vberlieke of a few, can not cause a whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, & who alwayeth their vnnorithines to commend and set forth his goodnesse.

a The Jewes state and condition was chiefly.

b Words.

c Break the covenant.

d The faith that God gave.

e That thy iustice might be plainly seen.

f Forasmuch as thou hast set forth an evident token of thy righteousness, conscience & faith, by preserving him who had broken his covenant.

g Another prevention, issuing out of the former answers, that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our vnrightheousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world, and therefore a most severe iudger of vnrightheousnesse.

h Treachery, and all the fruites thereof.

i Therefore I speake not these wordes in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisdom, which is not subject to the will of God.

j A third objection, which addeth somewhat to the former. If sinnes doe turne to the glory of God, they are not onely not to be punished, but we ought rather to glorie our selves to them: which blasphemie Paul contending himselfe to curse and detest, pronounceth instant punishment against such blasphemers.

k The truth and constancie.

l Another answer to the first objection, that the Jewes, if they be considered in themselves, are nobetter then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets.

m Are galled of some.

n Psalm. 14. 1, 3, and 53. 1, 3. Psalm. 51. 10. Psalm. 119. 3. Psalm. 10. 7. Psalm. 58. 7. An innocent and blameable life.

o Psalm. 36. 3. Hee prooveth that this grieuous accusation which is vntoed by Dan 4 and Esaus, doeth properly concerne the Jewes.

ward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Jew which is one within, & the circumcision is of the heart, in the spirit, not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee giueth the Jewes some preferment, for the covenants sake, but yet such, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercy. 2 That both Jewes and Gentiles are sinners. 3 Hee prooveth by Scriptures: 4 and shewing the gift of the Law, 5 hee concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

What is then the preferment of the Jew? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much every manner of way: for chiefly, because vnto them were of credite committed the oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not beleue? shal their vnbeleue make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be iustified in thy words, and overcome, when thou art iudged.

5 Now if our vnrightheousnesse commend the righteousness of God, what shal we say? Is Gods vnrightheous which punisheth? (I speake as a man.)

6 God forbid: (els how shall God iudge the world?)

7 For if the verity of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why do we not euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we haue already prooued, that all, both Jewes and Gentiles are vnder sinne.

10 As it is written, There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doth good, no not one.

13 Their throat is an open sepulchre: they haue vied their tongues to deceite: the poyson of alpes is vnder their lips.

14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 Their feet are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction & calamity are in their wayes,

17 And the way of peace they haue not known.

18 The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 Nowe wee knowe that whatsoever the Law sayth, it sayth it to them which are vnder the Lawe, that every mouth may be stopped,

20 Therefore I speake not these wordes in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisdom, which is not subject to the will of God.

21 A third objection, which addeth somewhat to the former. If sinnes doe turne to the glory of God, they are not onely not to be punished, but we ought rather to glorie our selves to them: which blasphemie Paul contending himselfe to curse and detest, pronounceth instant punishment against such blasphemers.

22 Another answer to the first objection, that the Jewes, if they be considered in themselves, are nobetter then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets.

23 Are galled of some.

24 Psalm. 14. 1, 3, and 53. 1, 3. Psalm. 51. 10. Psalm. 119. 3. Psalm. 10. 7. Psalm. 58. 7. An innocent and blameable life.

25 Psalm. 36. 3. Hee prooveth that this grieuous accusation which is vntoed by Dan 4 and Esaus, doeth properly concerne the Jewes.

26 The Law of Moses.

27 A conclusion of all the former dispute, from the 18. verse of the first Chapter. Therefore sayth the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Lawe, whether it be that generall Lawe, or the particular Lawe of Moses; and therefore to be sure, seeing it appeareth (as wee haue already prooued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God.

and all the world be subject to the iudgement of God.

30 Therefore by the works of the Law shall no flesh bee iustified in his sight: for by the Law cometh the knowledge of sinne.

31 But now is the righteousness of God made manifest without the Law, hauing witness of the Law, and of the Prophets, 32 To wit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleue.

33 For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are deprived of the glory of God,

34 And are iustified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

35 Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness, by the forgiveness of the finnes that are passed,

36 Through the patience of God, to shew at this time his righteousness, that hee might bee iust, & a iustifier of him which is of the faith of Iesus.

37 Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what Law? of works? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

38 Therefore wee conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Law.

39 God, is hee the God of the Jewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also.

40 For it is one God, who shall iustifie circumcision of faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

41 Doe wee then make the Lawe of none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, wee establish the Law.

42 The matter, as it were of this righteousness, is Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, and for this ende offered to all people, as without him all people are shut out from the kingdom of God.

43 Which was giue to Iesus Christ, or vnderstand upon him.

44 By the glory of God, it means that make which we all haue at, that is, everlasting life, which standeth in that wee are made partakers of the glory of God.

45 Therefore this righteousness touching vs, is altogether free, for it standeth vpon those things which wee haue not done ourselues, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliuer vs from sinne.

46 Of his free gift, and meere liberalitie.

47 God then is the author of that free iustification, because it pleased him: and Christ is hee, which suffered punishment for our finnes, and in whome wee haue remission of them: and the means whereby we apprehend Christ, is faith.

48 To be short, the ende of the setting forth of the goodnesse of God, that by this means it may appeare, that hee is merciful in derde, and constant in his promises, as hee that freely, and of meere grace iustifieth the beleue.

49 Thou name of blood, calleth vs backe to the forgiveness of the olde sacrifices, the truth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ.

50 Of those finnes which were committed when wee were his enemies, and suffering nature.

51 To wit, when Paul wrote this.

52 That he might be found exceeding true and faithful.

53 Making him iust, and without blame, by imputing Christes righteousness vnto him.

54 Of the number of them which by faith lay holde vpon Christ, contrary to whome, are they which looke to be saved by circumcision, that is, by the Law.

55 An argument to proue this conclusion, that wee are iustified by faith without works, taken from the ende of iustification. The ende of iustification is the glory of God alone: therefore wee are iustified by faith without works: for if wee were iustified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes, the glory of this iustification should not bee wholly giuen to God.

56 By whos doctrine? now the doctrine of workes hath this condition, if thou taryest with it, if thou doest: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, if thou beleuest.

57 Another argument of an adserditive: if iustification depended vpon the Lawe of Moses, then should God bee a Saviour to the Jewes onely. As gain: if hee should save the Jewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, hee should not bee one and like himselfe. Therefore hee will iustifie both of them after one selfe same manner, that is to say, by faith. Moreover, this argument must be ioyned to that which followeth next, that this conclusion may bee firme and euident.

58 God vsayed to bee their God, after the manner of the Scripture, whome hee loveth and tendereth.

59 The circumcision.

60 The taking away of an objection, yet is not the Law taken away, therefore, but as rather established, as it shalbe declared in his proper place.

61 Vnto, vnto, no purpose, and of no force.

62 We make it effectual and strong.

n Be found guilty before God.

o By that that the Law can by no be performed.

p Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore, both here a greater force: for it is put to shew the contrarietie betwixt God and man: as if one would say, Man who is nothing else but a piece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure and perfect in himselfe.

q Absolved before the iudgement seate of God.

r Affering, setting of the righteousness which is before men: they neuer so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousness can stand before God, but the righteousness of Christ onely.

s Therefore both the Apostle, lest that men should perish, God doth now exhibit that which hee promised of old: that is to say, a way whereby we may be iustified and saved before him without the Law.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

He prometh that which he sayd before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6 and the testimony of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateh upon this word, Imputation.

WHat shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the <sup>a</sup> flesh?

<sup>9</sup> Came this <sup>c</sup> blessednesse then vpon the circumcision only, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousness.

<sup>10</sup> How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised.

<sup>11</sup> After, he received the <sup>f</sup> signe of circumcision, as the <sup>g</sup> seale of the righteousness of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, so that he should be the father of all them that beleue, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also,

<sup>12</sup> And the father of circumcision, not vnto them only which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when hee was vncircumcised.

<sup>15</sup> For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.

<sup>16</sup> Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the feede, <sup>l</sup> not to that onely which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all,

<sup>18</sup> Which Abraham about hope, beleued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy feede be.

<sup>20</sup> Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeleife, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue <sup>r</sup> glory to God, <sup>21</sup> Being <sup>s</sup> fully assured that hee which had promised, was also able to doe it.

<sup>23</sup> Now is it not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousness,

<sup>24</sup> But also for vs, to whom it shal be imputed for righteousness, which beleue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead,

tion, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham: <sup>16</sup> This fatherhood is spiritual, depending onely vpon the virtue of God, who made the promise. <sup>m</sup> Before God, that is, by a spiritual kinred, which hath place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God. <sup>n</sup> Who restoreth to life. <sup>o</sup> With whom those things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing. <sup>17</sup> A description of true faith, wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set forth in the example of Abraham. <sup>p</sup> Very strong and constant. <sup>q</sup> Void of strength, and vnable to get children. <sup>r</sup> Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true. <sup>s</sup> A description of true faith. <sup>18</sup> The rule of iustification is alwayes one, both in Abraham and in all the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our finnes in Christ our mediator, raised him from the dead, that wee also be. ng iustified, might be saved in him. <sup>t</sup> To pay the ransom for our finnes.

Then being <sup>1</sup> iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ.

fore by faith wee are justified, and not by the Law. <sup>e</sup> Ephes. 2. 8. 2 Wherein quietnesse of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to bee referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it selfe, and in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. <sup>a</sup> We must here knowe, that wee haue yet still this same effect of faith. <sup>b</sup> By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state whereunto wee are graciously taken. <sup>c</sup> We stand steadfast. <sup>3</sup> A preventing of an obiection against them, which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they bragge of their felicity: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is layed vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they do no lesse reioyce for that happiness, then if they did presently enjoy it. <sup>d</sup> Our mindes are not onely quiet and seiled, but also wee are maruailously glad, & conceiue great joy for that beaueuly inheritance which waiteth for vs. <sup>4</sup> Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doeth it make vs miserab'e. <sup>e</sup> Jam. 1. 3. 5 Aditious accusations vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnesse of God, and this experience comforteth and fortifieth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleuers: And this is the proposition: If Abraham be considered in himselfe by his workes, hee should haue beene counted no more wherein to reioyce with God. <sup>By workes, as appeareth in the next verse.</sup> A preventing of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God. A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was justified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes. The first prooffe of the confirmation: Abraham was justified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes. <sup>1</sup> Hee prometh that which he sayd before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6 and the testimony of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateh upon this word, Imputation. <sup>2</sup> For if Abraham were justified by works, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God. <sup>3</sup> For what sayth the Scripture? Abraham beleued God, & it was counted to him for righteousness. <sup>4</sup> Now to him that worketh, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by debt: <sup>5</sup> But to him that worketh not, but beleueth in him that iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. <sup>6</sup> Euen as David declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousness without workes, saying, <sup>7</sup> Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose finnes are couered. <sup>8</sup> Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne. <sup>9</sup> Came this blessednesse then vpon the circumcision only, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousness. <sup>10</sup> How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised. <sup>11</sup> After, he received the signe of circumcision, as the seale of the righteousness of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, so that he should be the father of all them that beleue, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also, <sup>12</sup> And the father of circumcision, not vnto them only which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when hee was vncircumcised. <sup>13</sup> For the promise that hee should be the heire of the world, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the Law, but through the righteousness of faith. <sup>14</sup> For if they which are of the Law, bee heires, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect. <sup>15</sup> For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression. <sup>16</sup> Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the feede, not to that onely which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all, <sup>17</sup> (As it is written, I haue made thee a father of many nations) euen before God whom he beleued, who quickneth the dead, & calleth those things which be not, as though they were. <sup>18</sup> Which Abraham about hope, beleued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy feede be. <sup>19</sup> And hee not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now dead, being almost an hundred yeere olde, neither the deadnesse of Saras wombe, <sup>20</sup> Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeleife, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue glory to God, <sup>21</sup> Being fully assured that hee which had promised, was also able to doe it. <sup>22</sup> And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness. <sup>23</sup> Now is it not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousness, <sup>24</sup> But also for vs, to whom it shal be imputed for righteousness, which beleue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead, <sup>25</sup> Who was deliuered to death for our finnes, and is risen againe for our iustification. <sup>1</sup> He amplifieth <sup>2</sup> Christs righteousness, which is layed hold on by faith, <sup>3</sup> who was giuen for the weake, and sinfull. <sup>14</sup> Hee compareth Christ with Adam, <sup>17</sup> Death with Life, <sup>20</sup> and the Law with Grace. <sup>1</sup> Another argument taken of the effects we are iustified with that, which truly appeareth our confidence before God: but faith in Christ doeth appeale our conscience, and not the Law, as it was before sayd, therefore by faith wee are justified, and not by the Law. <sup>e</sup> Ephes. 2. 8. 2 Wherein quietnesse of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to bee referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it selfe, and in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. <sup>a</sup> We must here knowe, that wee haue yet still this same effect of faith. <sup>b</sup> By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state whereunto wee are graciously taken. <sup>c</sup> We stand steadfast. <sup>3</sup> A preventing of an obiection against them, which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they bragge of their felicity: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is layed vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they do no lesse reioyce for that happiness, then if they did presently enjoy it. <sup>d</sup> Our mindes are not onely quiet and seiled, but also wee are maruailously glad, & conceiue great joy for that beaueuly inheritance which waiteth for vs. <sup>4</sup> Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doeth it make vs miserab'e. <sup>e</sup> Jam. 1. 3. 5 Aditious accusations vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnesse of God, and this experience comforteth and fortifieth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the consciences, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloved of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith: whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted. Whereunto be loueth vs.
7 A sure comfort in adoe sate, that our peace and quietesse of conscience be not troubled for he that so loved them that were of no strength, and while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect them being now sanctified and liuing in him? In time fit and convenient, which the Father hath appointed.
8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, so that we runne doubt of it, who deliuered Christ to death for the vniuersall, and for them of whom he could receive no commoditie, and (that more so) for his very enemies.

How can it bee then that Christ being now aliue, should not save them from destruction, whom by his death hee iustified and reconciled? In the stead of some iust man. Hee iustified our sinne vnto vs, that in the midst of our afflictions we may know assuredly, he will be present with vs. While sinne reigned in vs. From affliction and destruction. He now passeth over to the other part of iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: so that to the remission of finnes there is added moreover and besides, the gift of Christs righteousness. Imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which swalloweth vp that vniuersall sinne which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the finnes thereof: so that in Christ we doe not onely escape to be vniuersall, but wee beginne also to be iust. From Adam, in whom all haue sinned, both guiltinesse and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all. By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make those which are theirs, partakers of what they haue: but they are unlike in this, that Adam deriueh sinne into them that are his, even of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousness by grace, and that vnto life. By sinne is meant that disease which is cured by inheritance, and men commonly call it original sinne: for so he useth to call that sinne in the singular number, whereas, if hee speake of the fruites of it, he useth the plurall number, calling them finnes. That is, in Adam. That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death beganne not after the giuing and transgressing of Moses Lawe, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen: for in that they died, sinne, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputed: whereupon it followeth that there was then some Lawe, the breach whereof was the cause of death. Even from Adam to Moses. Where there is no Lawe made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie. But that this Lawe was not that vniuersall Lawe, and that that death did not procede from any actual sinne of every one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could ever knowe nor transgress that naturall Lawe, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam. Our infants. Not after that sort as they sinne that are of many yeeres, following their lust: but yet the whole posteritie was corrupt in Adam, when as hee sinned and willingly sinned. Now that first Adam answered the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared. Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them doe giue and yeld to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spread his fault to the destruction of many, but Christs obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many. That is, Adam. Another inequality consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guiltie, but by Christs one righteousness all Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doeth not onely absolve vs from that one fault, but from all other.

4 And patience, experience, and experience hope,

5 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 For Christ, when wee were yet of no strength, at his time died for the vngodly.

7 Doubtlesse one will scarce die for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God hath setteth out his loue toward vs, seeing that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shalbe saved fro wrath through him.

10 For if when wee were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life,

11 And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now received the atonement.

12 Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into the world, and death by sin, & so death went ouer all men in whom all men haue sinned.

13 For vnto the time of the Law was sin in the worlde, but sinne is not p imputed, while there is no law.

14 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer them also that sinned not after the like manner of transgression of Adam, which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 But yet the gift is not so as is the offence: for if through the offence of that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

16 Neither is the gift so, as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to iustification.

17 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shal they which receive that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousness, reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.

18 Likewise then, as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the iustification of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one, shall many be made righteous.

20 Moreover, the Law entered thereupon, that the offence should abound: neuertheless, where sinne abounded, there grace abounded much more:

21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousness vnto eternall life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

contrary side, the righteousness of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleaguers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euershalting life. Not onely because our finnes are forgiven vs, but also because the righteousness of Christ is imputed vnto vs. The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two rocks or rootes, so that out of the one, by nature, out of the other, righteousness by grace doeth spring forth vpon others. So then, sinne entred not into vs onely by following the steps of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance. Thou word, Man, is set against thou word, Son. A preventing of an objection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? hat men might bee so much the more glorious, and the benefit of God in Christ Iesus bee so much the more glorious. A Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entred. Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counterwaite sinne, but abounded measure pasted it.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee cometh to sanctification, wherewith which, that no man putteth on Christs righteousness, hee pronounceth 4 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 12 and thereupon exhorteth to holiness of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

What shal we say then? Shall we continue still in sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 How shal we, that are dead to sinne, liue yet therein?

3 Know yee not, that all we which haue bene baptized into Iesus Christ, haue bene baptized into his death?

4 We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, that like as Christ was raised vp from the dead to the glory of the Father, so we also should walke in newnesse of life.

5 For if wee be planted with him to the

2 The benefit of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ, by the grace of God: New Sanctification is the abolishing of sinne; that is, of our naturall corruption, into which place succedeth the cleanness and purenesse of nature reformed. They are said of Paul to bee dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the virtue of Christ, that that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruites: and on the other side, they are said to liue to sinne, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the Spirit of God hath not deliuered from the slavery of the corruption of nature. There are three parts of his Sanctification, to wit, the death of the olde man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefite our baptisme is the signe and pledge. Galat. 3.27. To the end that growing vp in one with him, we should receive his strength, to quench sinne in vs, and to make vs new men. Coloss. 2.12. That Christ himselfe being discharged of his iniquities and weakenesse, might liue in glory with God for ever. And wee which are his members rise for this end, that being made partakers of his selfe (as we haue), we should begin to leade a new life, as though we were already in heauen. Ephes. 4.23. coloss. 3.8. hebr. 12.1. 1. pet. 2.11. The death of sinne and the life of righteousness, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any means: neither in death nor life, whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth still to sinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he sayd before, the Law is not subverted, but established by faith. 1. Cor. 6.14. 2. Tim. 2.11.

& similitude

1 To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.
16 The third difference is that the righteousness of Christ being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life; then the offence of Adams to addeth his guiltie to death.
17 Therefore to be short as by one mans offence, the guiltie became on all men, to make them subject to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousness of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleaguers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euershalting life.
18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two rocks or rootes, so that out of the one, by nature, out of the other, righteousness by grace doeth spring forth vpon others.
19 So then, sinne entred not into vs onely by following the steps of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.
20 Thou word, Man, is set against thou word, Son.
21 A preventing of an objection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? hat men might bee so much the more glorious, and the benefit of God in Christ Iesus bee so much the more glorious.
Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entred.
Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counterwaite sinne, but abounded measure pasted it.
1 Hee passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called sanctification, or regeneration.
2 In that corruption: for through the guiltinesse of sinne hee was not imputed to vs: the which Sanctification that followeth Iustification on killeth by liue and liue.

As much as by the power of the law which is given to us, we are to be made free from sin.

For we become carry day more purer than other: for we shall never be perfectly sanctified as long as we live here.

All our whole nature as we are conceived & borne into this world with sin, which is called the old nature, is corrupted by the law.

Our corrupt nature is not purified by the law, but by the grace of God, which is the only way to be made free from sin.

Our corrupt nature is not purified by the law, but by the grace of God, which is the only way to be made free from sin.

Our corrupt nature is not purified by the law, but by the grace of God, which is the only way to be made free from sin.

Our corrupt nature is not purified by the law, but by the grace of God, which is the only way to be made free from sin.

similitude of his death, even so shall wee be to the similitude of his resurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our hold man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin.

7 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

8 Wherefore, if wee be dead with Christ, wee beleue that we shall liue also with him,

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him,

10 For in that he died, he died once to sinne: but in that he liueth, he liueth to God.

11 Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are alieue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.

12 Let not sin reigne therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.

13 Neither give ye your members, as weapons of vnrightheousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selves vnto God, as they that are alieue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of rightheousnes vnto God.

14 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder Law, but vnder grace.

15 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 Know yee not, that to whomsoever ye giue your selves as seruants to obey, his seruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it bee of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto rightheousnesse?

17 But God be thanked, that ye haue bene the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.

18 Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the seruants of rightheousnesse.

19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmities of your flesh: for as yee haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquity, so now giue your members seruants vnto rightheousnes in holines.

20 For when ye were the seruants of sinne, yee were freed from rightheousnes.

21 What fruit had yee then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the ende of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holines, and the end, euerlasting life.

23 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

7 Hee granteth that sinne is not yet so dead in vs, that it is vtterly extinct: but hee premitteth victory to them that contend manfully, because wee haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh so, that the Lawe is not now in vs the power and instrument of sinne. 8 To be vnder the Law and vnder sinne, signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side to be vnder grace and rightheousnes, agree to them that are regenerate. Nowe these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let rightheousnes expell sinne. * John 8. 34. 2. pet. 2. 19. 9 By nature we are slaves to sinne, and free from rightheousnes, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to rightheousnes, and therefore free from sinne.

f This kinde of speech hath a force in it: for hee teacheth thereby, that the doctrine of the Gospell is like vnto a certain mould which wee are cast into, to be framed and fashioned like vnto it. 1 Rightheousnesse is naturall ouer you. 10 An exhortation to the studie of rightheousnesse and holines, the contrary endes of both being set downe before vs. 11 The reward or payment. 12 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but wee are sanctified by the grace of God.

CHAP. VII.

1 Hee declareth what it is to be no more vnder the Law, 2 by an example taken of the Law of marriage. 7. 12 And lett the Lawe should seeme faultie, 14 hee prometh, that our sinne is the cause, 15 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was giuen vnto life: 21 He setteth out the battell betweene the flesh and the Spirit.

Now ye nor, brethren, (for I speake to them that know the Law) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?

2 For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Law to the man, while hee liueth: but if the man bee dead, shee is deliuered from the law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liueth, she taketh another man, she shall be called an adulteresse: but if the man be dead, shee is free from the Law, so that she is not an adulteresse, though she take another man.

4 So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by the body of Christ, that ye should be to another, even vnto him that is raised vp from dead, that we should bring forth fruit vnto God.

5 For when we were in the flesh, the afflictions of sins, which were by the law, had force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death.

6 But now we are deliuered from the Law, he being dead in whom we were holden, that we should serue in newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldnesse of the letter.

7 What shall we say then? Is the Law sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sinne, but by the Law. for I had not knowen lust, except the Law had sayd, Thou shalt not lust.

8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commandement, & wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the Law sinne is dead.

9 For I once was alieue, without the Law: but when the commandement came, sinne reuiued,

10 But I died: and the same commandement which was ordained vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.

11 For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby slew me.

12 Wherefore the Lawe is holy, and that commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

3 A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscence (which hee) which the Law stirred vp in vs, were in vs as it were an husband, of whom wee brought forth very deadly & caried children. But now since that husband is dead, and consequently being deliuered fro the force of that killing law, we haue passed into the gouernance of the spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten & dead, but liuely children.

e When we were in the state of the first marriage, which hee calleth in the next verse following the oldnes of the letter. f The moines that egged vs to sinne, which were their force euen in our mindes. g He saith not, of the law, but by the law, because they spring off sinne which dwelleth within vs, & take occasion to worke thus in vs, by reason of the restraint that the law maketh, not that the fault is in the law, but in our selues. h Wrought their strength. i As if he said, The bond which bound vs, is dead, and vanisied away, in so much, that sinne, which held vs, hath not now wherewith to hold vs. k For this husband within vs. l Satan is an vninit possessor, for hee brought vs in bondage of sinne and himselfe deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sinne willingly. m As he commeth them, which after the death of their old husband are ioined to the spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made new men. n By the letter hee meaneth the Law in respect of that olde condition: for before that our will bee amended by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh but to deafe men, and therefore is dead and dunn to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it. o An obiection: What then? are the law and sinne all one, and doe they agree together? nay, sayth he: Sinne is reproied and condemned by the law. But because sinne cannot abide to be reproied, and was not in a manner felt vntill it was prouoked and stirred vp by the law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outrageous, and yet by no fault of the law. p By the word, Last in this place hee meaneth not euill lusts themselves, but the fountaine from whence they spring: for the very best then philosophers themselves condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, but as for this fountaine of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very fountaine of that naturall and vncleane spot and filth. q Exo. 20. 17. deut. 5. 21. r Though sinne be in vs, yet it is not knowne for sinne, neither doeth it forrage, as it rageth after that the law is knowne. s Hee setteth himselfe before vs for an example, in whom all men may beholde: first, what they are of nature before they earnestly thinke of the lawe of God: to wit, blockish and heady to sinne and wickednes, without all true sense and feeling of sinne, then what maner of persons they become when their conscience is reprooued by the testimonie of the law, to wit, stubborn, and more enflamed with the desire of sinne, then euer they were before. t When I knew not the law, then mee thought I liued in deed: for my conscience neuer troubled mee, because it knew not my fault. u When I began to understand the commandements. f For sinne, or by sinne. g The conclusion: That the law of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which do breake the law, & 1. Tim. 1. 8. i Touching not conuicting.

7 The propoſition: That the Law is not the cauſe of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not onely diſcouered, but alſo ſtirred vp, and tooke occaſion ther-by to rebell, as which, the more that things are ſubdu'd, the more it deſireth them, and from hence cometh guiltineſſe, and occaſion of death.

8 Beareth it the blame of my death? That ſinne might ſhew it ſelfe to be ſinne, and bewray it ſelfe to be that, which it is in deed.

9 As euill as it could, ſhewing all the veniſon it could. 8 The cauſe of this matter, is this: Becauſe that the Law requirerh a heauenly putreſſe, but men ſuch as they be borne, are bondſlaues of corruption, which they willingly ſerue.

10 He ſetteh himſelfe, being regenerate, before vs, for an example, in whom may euillly appeare this ſtrife of the Spirit and the fleſh, and therefore of the Law of God, and our wickedneſſe.

11 For ſince that the Law is a man not regenerate bringeth forth death onely, therefore in him it may eaſily bee accuſed: but ſeeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth forth good fruit, it doeth better appeare that euill actions procede not from the Law, but from ſinne, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apoſtle teacheth alſo, that the true vie of the Law is, in reſproving ſinne in the regenerate, vnto the ende of the chapter. As a little before (to wit, from the ſeuenth verſe vnto this fifteenth) he declared the vie of it in them which are not regenerate.

12 The deedes of my life, ſayth hee, anſwere not, may they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the conſent of my will with the Law, and repugnance with the deedes of my life, it appeareth euidently, that the Law and a right rule will, doe perſwade one thing, but corruption which hath her ſeate alſo in the regenerate, another thing. 11 It is to be noted, that one ſelfe ſame man is ſayd to will and not to will in diuers reſpects: to wit, he is ſayd to will, in that that hee is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that hee is not regenerate, or in that, that hee is ſuch an one as he was borne. But becauſe the part which is regenerate, at length becometh conquerour, therefore Paul ſuſtaining the part of the regenerate, ſpeaketh in ſuch ſort as if he corruption which ſinne willingly, were ſomething without a man: although after ward hee graunteeth that this euill is in his fleſh, or in his members.

12 That naturall corruption, which cleaueth ſin euen to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conquered. 12 This vice, or ſinne, or lawe of ſinne, doeth wholly poſſeſſe thoſe men which are not regenerate, and hindereth them or holdeth them backe which are regenerate. A This doeth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made anew man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any ſtrife there? 13 The concluſion: As the Law of God exhorteſt to goodneſſe, ſo doeth the Lawe of ſinne (that is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force vs to wickedneſſe: but the Spirit, that is, our minde, in that that it is regenerate, conſenteth with the Lawe of God: but the fleſh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondſlaue to the Lawe of ſinne. Therefore to be ſhort, wickedneſſe and death are not of the Law, but of ſinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and doe euill. But in them that are regenerate, it ſtriveth againſt the Spirit or lawe of the minde, ſo that they cannot either liue ſo well as they would, or bee ſo voyde of ſinne as they would.

14 The inner man, and the newe man are all one, and are conuerſible and yet as contrary to the olde man: neither doeth this word, Inner man, ſignifie mans minde and reaſon, and the olde man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philoſophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatſoever is either without or within a man, from toppe to toe, ſo long as that man is not borne anew by the grace of God. 15 The lawe of the minde in this place, is not to bee vnderſtoode of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirit of God.

16 It is a miſerable thing to be yet in part ſubdu'd to ſinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but we muſt cry to the Lord, who will by death it ſelfe at length make vs conquerours, as we are already conquerours in Chriſt. 17 Warieth with miſerable and continuall conſlicts. 18 Hee recovereth himſelfe, and therewith vs that hee reſteth onely in Chriſt. 19 This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, ſo conſiſteth that they are imperſect.

13 Was that then which is good, made death vnto mee? God forbid: but ſinne, that it might appeare ſinne, wrought death in mee by that which is good, that ſinne might be out of meaſure ſinfull by the commandement.

14 For wee know that the Law is ſpiritually, but I am carnall, ſold vnder ſinne.

15 For I allow not that which I do: for what I would, that do I not: but what I hate, I do I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I conſent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I that doe it, but ſinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in mee, that is, in my fleſh, dwelleth no good thing: for to will is preſent with me: but I finde no meanes to perſorme that which is good.

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euill, which I would not, that do I.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but the ſinne that dwelleth in me.

21 I finde then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that euill is preſent with me.

22 For I delight in the Lawe of God, concerning the inner man.

23 But I ſee another lawe in my members, rebelling againſt the lawe of my minde, and leading mee captiue into the lawe of ſinne, which is in my members.

24 O wretched man that I am, who ſhall deliuer me from the body of this death?

25 I thank God through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. Then I ſet my ſelfe in my minde ſerue the Law of God, but in my fleſh the lawe of ſinne.

CHAP. VIII.

Hee concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Chriſt through his Spirit, 3 howſoeuer they bee aſſayes burdened with ſinnes: 9 for they liue through that Spirit, 14 Whoſe teſtimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our preſent miſeries.

Now then there is no condemnation to them that are in Chriſt Ieſus, which walke not after the fleſh, but after the Spirit.

2 For the Law of the Spirit of life which is in Chriſt Ieſus, hath freed me from the law of ſinne and of death.

3 For (that that was impoſſible to the Law, in as much as it was weak, becauſe of the fleſh) God ſending his owne Son in ſimilitude of ſinfull fleſh, & for ſinne, condemned ſin in the fleſh,

4 That that righteouſneſſe of the Law might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the fleſh, but after the Spirit.

5 For they that are after the fleſh, ſauour the things of the fleſh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 For the wiſedome of the fleſh is death: but the wiſedome of the Spirit is life and peace.

7 Becauſe the wiſedome of the fleſh is enmities againſt God: for it is not ſubiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can be.

8 So then they that are in the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God.

9 Nowe yee are not in the fleſh, but in the Spirit, becauſe the Spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Chriſt, the ſame is not his.

Seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is ſo weak, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that have that vertue? becauſe ſayth he, that vertue of the quickning Spirit which is ſo weak in vs, is moſt perfected & moſt mighty in Chriſt, and being imputed vnto vs which beleue, cauſeth vs to be ſo accounted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption, and death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul diſputed of remiſſion of ſin, & imputation of fulfilling the Law, and alſo of iuſtification which is begun in vs: but now he ſpeaketh of the perfect imputation of Chriſts manhood, which part was neceſſarily requir'd to the full appeaſing of our conſciences: for our ſinnes are deſec'd by the blood of Chriſt, & the guiltines of our corruption is couer'd with the imputation of Chriſts obedience: and the corruption it ſelfe (which the Apoſtle calleth ſinfull fleſh) is healed in vs by life and life, by the gift of ſanctification: but yet it lacketh beſides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect ſanctification of Chriſts owne fleſh, which alſo is to vs imputed.

The power and authority of the Spirit, againſt which is ſet the tyranny of ſin, which mortifieth the olde man, and quickeneth the new man. d To wit, abſolutely and perfectly. e For Chriſts ſanctification being imputed vnto vs, perfecteth our ſanctification which is begun in vs. 4 He ſheweth no argument here, but expoundeth the myſtery of ſanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for becauſe ſayth he, that the vertue of the Law was not ſuch (and that reaſon of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure & perfect, and for that it rather kindled the diſeaſe of ſin, then did cure it, & ſtriveth againſt it, therefore God clothed his Son in fleſh like vnto our ſinfull fleſh, wherein he utterly aboliſhed our corruption, that being accounted thoroughly pure and without fault in him appeare'd and layd hold on by faith, wee might be found to haue fully that ſingular perfection on which the Law requirerh, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. f Which is not proper to the Law, but cometh by our faith. g In man not borne anew, whoſe diſeaſe the Law could point out, but it could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through ſinne, until hee ſanctified it. i To aboliſh ſin in our fleſh. k Sheweth that ſin hath no right in vs. l The very ſubſtance of the lawe of God might bee fulfilled, or that ſame which the Law requirerh, that wee may be found iuſt before God: for if with our iuſtification there be ſignified that ſanctification which is imputed to vs, wee are iuſt, according to that perfect forme which the Lord requirerh.

He ſermoneth to that which he ſayd, that the ſanctification which is begun in vs, is a ſure teſtimony of our ingrafting into Chriſt: which is a moſt plentifull fruit of a godly and honeſt life. 6 A reaſon why to walke after the fleſh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Chriſt, but to walke after the Spirit agreeth & is meet for them becauſe, ſayth he, that they which are after the fleſh ſauour the things of the fleſh, but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. m They that liue as the fleſh hateth them. n He prooeth the conſequent: becauſe that whatſoever the fleſh ſauoureth, that ingendreth death: and whatſoever the Spirit ſauoureth, that tendeth to joy and life conſtantly. 8 A reaſon and prooſe, why the wiſedome of the fleſh is death: becauſe ſayth he, it is the enemy of God. 9 A reaſon why the wiſedome of the fleſh is enemy to God: becauſe it neither will, neither can be ſubiect to him. And by this hee meaneth a man not regenerate. 10 The concluſion: therefore they that walke after the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God: whereby it followeth, that they are not ingrafted into Chriſt. 11 He cometh to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the Spirit, of whom we haue to vnderſtand contrary things to the former: and firſt of all hee deſcribeth what it is to be in the Spirit, or to be ſanctified: to wit, to haue the Spirit of God dwelling in vs: then hee declarerh, that ſanctification is ſo ioynd and knit to our ingrafting in Chriſt, that it can by no meanes be ſeparated.

A concluſion of all the former diſputation from verſe 16. of chap. 7. that to this place: Seeing that we being iuſtified by faith in Chriſt, doe ſtill ſtand in remiſſion of ſin, & imputation of righteouſneſſe, and are alſo ſanctified, it followeth here, that they that are grafted into Chriſt by faith, are out of all ſeare of condemnation. 2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of ſanctification, which is begun in vs, do not ingraft vs into Chriſt, but doe declare that wee are grafted into him. 3 Follow not the fleſh for their guides: for he is not ſayd to liue after the fleſh, that hath the body: thoſe ſometimes he ſpeaketh of.

3 A preſenting of an obedienc: Seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is ſo weak, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that have that vertue? becauſe ſayth he, that vertue of the quickning Spirit which is ſo weak in vs, is moſt perfected & moſt mighty in Chriſt, and being imputed vnto vs which beleue, cauſeth vs to be ſo accounted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption, and death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul diſputed of remiſſion of ſin, & imputation of fulfilling the Law, and alſo of iuſtification which is begun in vs: but now he ſpeaketh of the perfect imputation of Chriſts manhood, which part was neceſſarily requir'd to the full appeaſing of our conſciences: for our ſinnes are deſec'd by the blood of Chriſt, & the guiltines of our corruption is couer'd with the imputation of Chriſts obedience: and the corruption it ſelfe (which the Apoſtle calleth ſinfull fleſh) is healed in vs by life and life, by the gift of ſanctification: but yet it lacketh beſides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect ſanctification of Chriſts owne fleſh, which alſo is to vs imputed.

10 <sup>12</sup> And if Christ bee in you, the <sup>a</sup> body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 <sup>13</sup> But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, hee that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

12 <sup>14</sup> Therefore brethren, wee are debtors not to the flesh to liue after the flesh:

13 <sup>15</sup> For if ye liue after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.

14 <sup>16</sup> For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 <sup>17</sup> For ye haue not received the <sup>d</sup> Spirit of bondage, to feare againe: but ye haue receiued the Spirit of adoption, whereby wee cry, Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witnesse with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 <sup>18</sup> If we be children, we are also heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: so if we bee that wee suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 <sup>20</sup> For I count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shall be shewed vnto vs.

19 <sup>21</sup> For the feruent desire of the creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shall be reueiled, 20 Because the creature is subiect to vanitie, not of it owne will, but by reason of him, which hath subdued it vnder hope.

21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groaneth with vs also, and travaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 <sup>22</sup> And not onely the creature, but we also shall cloth you with heavenly glory. <sup>a</sup> By the vertue and power of it, which sheweth the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members. An exhortation to oppress the flesh daily more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (sith he) you are debtors vnto God, for so much as you haue received so many benefites of him.

15 Another reason of the profit that cometh: for such as strice and fight valiantly, shall haue everlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therefore shall they haue life everlasting. 17 Hee declarerth and expoundeth the way, in the two verses, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers: because sith hee, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not as before in the publishing of the Law terrible and fearefull, but a most benigne and louing father in Christ, that his high great boldnesse we call him Father, the holy Ghost testifying this adoption: minne hearts by faith. <sup>p</sup> By the Spirit is meant the holy Ghost, whom wee are said to receiue when we worketh in our minds.

9 Which seare is shewed vnto our minds, in the preaching of the Law. 7 Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore cometh our mouths. 18 A prooue of the consequent of the confirmation: becoming as he which is the Sonne of God, doth enjoy God with Christ.

19 Partakers of our fathers goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption. 19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the grace, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first, that we haue Christ a companion & fellow of our afflictions.

20 Secondly, that we shall be also his fellowes in that euerlasting glory. 20 Thirdly, that this glory which we looke for, doeth a thousand parts surmount the misery of our afflictions. 1 All being well considered, I gather.

21 Fourthly, he plainly teacheth vs that wee shall certainly be reuened from that confusion and horrible condemnation of the whole world, which can not be continually, as it was not at the beginning: but as it had a beginning by the sinne of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect.

22 Fifthly, the rest of the world, <sup>a</sup> Is subiect to a vanishing and sitting state. 7 Not by their natural condition. 7 That they should obey the Creators commandment, whereby they pleased himselfe in their fickle state how greatly hee was displeased with man. A God would haue the world subiect to euerlasting curse, for the sinne of man, but gave it hope that it should be restored.

6 From the corruption which they are now subiect to, they shall be delivered & changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shall be reuened when the sonnes of God shall be advanced to glory. <sup>e</sup> By this word is meant, not onely the resurrection from the dead, but also the first that followeth of it.

22 Fifthly, the rest of the world looke for a reuersion, growing as it were for it, and not in vaine, let it not grieve vs to sigh, yet, let vs be more certainly perswaded of our redemption to come, inasmuch as we haue the full fruits of the Spirit.

which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen wee doe sigh in our selues, waiting for the adoption, euen as the redemption of our body.

24 <sup>23</sup> For wee are saued by hope: but hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, wee do with patience abide for it.

26 <sup>24</sup> Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh request for vs with sighs, which cannot be expressed.

27 But hee that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for vs Saints, according to the wil of God.

28 <sup>25</sup> Also we know that all things work together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, hee also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the first borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom he predestinate, them also he called, & whom he called, them also he iustified, & whom he iustified, them also glorified.

31 <sup>26</sup> What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him giue vs all things also?

33 <sup>27</sup> Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is God that iustificeth, 34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead: yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, For thy sake are we killed al day long: we are counted as sheep for slaughter.

37 <sup>28</sup> Neuerthelesse, in all these things wee are more then conquerors through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

not assisted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods providence to our great profit, who as he chose vs from the beginning, so hath hee predestinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in his time, being called and iustified to glory by the creature.

1 Not onely afflictions, but whatsoever els. Hee calleth that purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will and pleasure. 21 Her vnto the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrewes vse, who sometime sit downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, so figurise the certaintie of it: and hee hath also a regard to Gods continual working.

26 Ninthly, wee haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs what hee is profitable: for vnto seeing that he hath not spared his owne Sonne to saue vs, 30 Giue vs freely. 27 A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that wee haue neede to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absolue vs as iust: and therefore much lesse need wee to feare damnation, seeing that wee rest vpon the death and resurrection, the almighty power and defence of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so weightie in this life, or of so great force and power, that might feare vs as the death which we might fall from the loue of God, wherewith hee loneth vs in Christ? Surely nothing. Seeing that it is in itselfe most constant & sure, and also in vs being confirmed by steadfast faith.

39 Wherevnto Christ loneth vs. 28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35 36 37 38 39 We are not onely not overcome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerors in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

f That laster flowing, which shall be the accomplishment of our adoption.

g Sighs, which are necessarily toynd with faith: seeing then that we be leuied those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope respecteth not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we beleene shall come to passe.

h This is spoken by the figure Metonymie: Hope for that which is hoped for.

i Sincerely. There is no cause why we should faint vnder the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister vnto vs a most sure helpe, which can not be frustrate, seeing they proceed from the Spirit of God which dwelleth in vs.

Predestination.

1 The third part of this Epistle, unto the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith, and first of all, because he purposed to speak much of casting off of the lawes, he with an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple othe, and by witnessing his great desire towards their saluation, his singular love towards them, and therewithall granting to them all their prerogatives.

a The Apostle loved his brethren so entirely, that if it had been possible, he would have been ready to have redeemed the casting away of the lawes, with the loss of his own soule for ever: for this word, separates, he, speaketh as much in this place.

b Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and country.

c The arke of the covenant, which was a token of Gods presence.

d The tables of the covenant: and this is spoken by the figure Metonymia.

e Of the Iudiciall Lawe.

f The ceremoniall Lawe, which were made to Abraham and to his posteritie.

g A most manifest testimony of the Godhead and divinitie of Christ.

h Chap. 2.28. 3 He entrencheth into the handling of Predestination by kind of preventing an objection: How may it be, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall wee must also make the covenant which God made with Abraham and his seede, frustrate and voyde? Hee answereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Israel be cast off: for the election of the people of Israel is so generall and common, that notwithstanding the same, God choiceth by his secret counsell, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of this Treatise: The grace of saluation is offered generally in such sort, that notwithstanding it the efficacy thereof pertaineth onely to the elect.

i Israel in the first place, is taken for Iacob: and in the second, for the Iudaes.

j Gen. 21.12. Iacob. 11.18. 4 The first prooffe is taken from the example of Abraham, whose house, wherein Isaac was accounted the sonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Isaac also was borne of Abrahams wife, and circumcised before Isaac.

k Isaac shall be thy true and naturall sonne, and therefore heire of thy blessing.

l A general application of the former prooffe or example.

m Which are borne by virtue of the promise.

n A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was borne by virtue of the promise, and therefore was not chosen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect: and not that they be first borne and then after-ward elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate.

o Gen. 8.10. 7 Another forcible prooffe, taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the fountaine of the promise, of one mother, and at one birth, and not as divers as Isaac and Esau were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off, onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodness of Iacobs might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednesse of Esaus, of his casting away.

p Gen. 25.21. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his mere good will, whereby is pleased him to chuse one, and refuse the other.

q Paul saith not, might be made, but being made might remaine.

r Therefore they are decreed which make foreseene faith the cause of election, and foreknowledge infidelitie, the cause of reprobation.

s Hee proneth the casting away of Esau by that that he was made servant to his brother: and proneth the chusing of Iacob by that, that he was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the first begotten.

t And least that any man might take this saying of God, and referre it to extenuall things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioynd with the hatred of God, and the lordship of Iacob with the love of God.

his will, 20. even at the potter doth. 24.36. He proneth aswell the calling of the Gentiles, 31. as also the reuelling of the lawes, 25.27. by the testimony of the Prophets.

I Say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witnesse in the holy Ghost.

2 That I haue great heavinesse, and continually sorow in mine heart.

3 For I would with my selfe to be separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites, to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, & the covenants, and the giuing of the Lawe, and the seruice of God, and the promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whome concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is God ouer all, blessed for ever, Amen.

6 Notwithstanding it cannot be that the word of God should take none effect: for all they are not Israel which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: but, In Isaac shall thy seede be called:

8 That is, they which are the children of the flesh, are not the children of God: but the children of the promise, are counted for the seede.

9 For this is a word of promise, In this same time will I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

10 Neither he onely felt this, but also Rebecca, when shee had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac.

11 For yet the children were borne, and when they had neither done good, nor euill (that the purpose of God might remaine according to election, not by works, but by him that calleth)

12 It was sayd vnto her, The Elder shall serue the younger.

13 As it is written, I haue loued Iacob, and haue hated Esau.

14 What shall we say then? Is there vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

15 For he saith to Moses, I will haue mercie on him, to whom I will shew mercie: and will haue compassion on him, on whom I will haue compassion.

16 So then it is not in him that willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercie.

17 For the Scripture saith vnto Pharaoh: For this same purpose haue I stirred thee vp, that I might shew my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout all the earth.

18 Therefore hee hath mercie on whom hee will, and whom hee will hee hardeneth.

19 Thou wilt say then vnto me, Why doeth hee yet complaine? for who hath resisted his will?

20 But, O man, what thou which pleadest against God? shall the thing formed say to him that formed him, Why doest thou thus? or why doest thou thus? or why doest thou thus? or why doest thou thus?

21 Hee answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in chusing of whom, he denieth that God may seeme vnjust although he chuse & predestinate to saluation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthinesse: because hee bringeth not the chosen to the appointed ende, but by the meanes of his mercy, which is a cause next vnder predestination. Now mercy presupposeth minis, and againe misericordie presupposeth sinne or voluntarie corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreover mercy is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification. So then length wee come to glorification, as the Apostle will shewe afterwarde. None of these things orderly following the purpose of God, doe clearly proue that hee can by no means seeme vnjust in choosing and saving his.

22 The conclusion of the answer Therefore God is not vnjust in chusing & saving of his free goodnesse, in that he pleaseth him, as he answered Moses, when hee prayed for all his people.

23 Now hee answereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthinesse. And first of all hee proueth this to be true, by alledging the testimony of God himselfe concerning Pharaoh, whom hee stirred vp to this purpose, that hee might be glorified in his chusing and last punishing.

24 Secondly, he bringeth in the end of Gods counsell, to shew that there is vnrighteousnesse in him. Now this chiefe end, is not properly and simply the destruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their right punishment.

25 A conclusion of the full answer to the first objection: therefore followeth God doth not save them whom hee freely chose according to his good will and pleasure, but by iustifying and sanctifying them by his grace, his counsell in saving them cannot seeme vnjust. And againe, there is no iniustice in the euilllasting counsell of God touching the destruction of them whom hee lietheth to destroy, for that he denieth before hee destroyeth: Therefore the third answer for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euilllasting counsell of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding hee concealeth in the former verse, because the story of Pharaoh was well known. But the force of the word is greater for Hardening, which is set against Mercy, presupposeth the same things that mercy doth, to wit, voluntarie corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe corruption presupposeth a perfect state of creation. Moreover, this hardening also is voluntary, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that hee vseth their own will whom hee hardeneth to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruites of Hardening, to wit, vbelicte and sinne, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth hee then appoint to destruction because he will: why doeth hee harden? because they are corrupt: why doeth hee condemn? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnesse? Nay it is hee should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should hee doe iniurie? I answer, it pleased him to appoint, to shew his fauour vpon him.

26 An other objection brought onely for the reprobate, ising vpon the former answer. If God doe appoint to euilllasting destruction, such as hee lietheth, and if that can not be hindered nor withstand that hee hath once decreed, how doeth hee iustly condemn them, which perish by his will?

27 The Apostle doeth not answer that it is not Gods will, or that God doth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie: but he rather granteth his aduersarie both the decrees, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it must necessarily fall out, yet he denieth that God is there ore to be thought an vnjust reuenger of the wicked: for saying it appeareth by manifest prooffe that this is the will of God, and his doing, which impedeth him from man, which is but dust and ashes, to dispute with God, and to iusture to call him into iudgement? Now if any man say that the doubt is not dissolved and answered, I answer, that there is no further demonstration to say matter, because it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousness.

him that formed it, Why hast thou made mee thus?

22 <sup>23</sup> What and if God would, to shewe his wrath, & to make his power knowne, suffer with long patience the <sup>24</sup> vessels of wrath, prepared to <sup>25</sup> destruction?

23 And that hee might declare the <sup>26</sup> riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercy, which he hath prepared vnto glory?

24 <sup>21</sup> Euen vs whom he hath called, not of the <sup>22</sup> Iewes onely, but also of the Gentiles,

25 <sup>25</sup> As he saith also in Osee, <sup>26</sup> I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it shall bee in the place where it was said vnto them, <sup>27</sup> Yee are not my people, that there they shalbe called, The children of the liuing God.

27 <sup>26</sup> Also Esaias cryeth concerning Israel, <sup>27</sup> Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saved.

28 For he wil make his account, and gather it into a <sup>29</sup> short summe with righteousness: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth.

29 <sup>28</sup> And as Esaias saide before, Except the Lord of hostes had left vs a <sup>29</sup> seede, wee had bene made as Sodome, and had bene like to Gomorrah.

30 <sup>27</sup> What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which followed not righteousness, haue attained vnto righteousness, euen the righteousness which of faith.

31 <sup>28</sup> But Israel which followed the Lawe of righteousness, could not attaine vnto the Lawe of righteousness.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the <sup>33</sup> workes of the Lawe:

33 The second answer is this, that God, mouer and begetter that hee doeth iustly decree what hee doeth decrees, vnto the meritorie in ex: using of his decrees, as declar: his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate, that hee suffereth them a long time, and permitte them to enjoy many and singular benefits, vntill at length hee iustly condemne them: and to good ende and purpose, to wit: to shewe him selfe to be an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that it may appeare what power hee is of by these fenice iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set forth in deede, howe great his mercie is towards the elect.

34 Therefore againe, we may say with Paul, that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction.

35 The <sup>36</sup> vnumerable and manifold greatnesse. 36 Having established the doctrine of the eternall predestination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect: hee cometh nowe to shewe the use of it, teaching vs that wee ought not to lecke the testimony of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set forth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceived.

37 Hee saith not that all and every one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and some of the Gentiles. 38 Our vocation etc. Iling is free and of grace, euen as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne unworthinesse or the unworthinesse of our nesters should cause vs to thinke that we are not the elect choyce of God, if wee bee called of him, and to embrace through aith the salvation that is offered vs.

39 Hee 2.2.23. 1. peter 2.10. 40 Hee 1.10. 41 Conuincing, Neither any outward generall calling, nor any worthinesse of our aithers, is a sufficient witness of election, vnlesse by faith and beliefe we answere this calling: which thing came to passe in the Iewes: the Lord had forewarned.

42 Hee 2.2.23. 1. peter 2.10. 43 God purpoeth to bring the unkinde and vthankfull people to repentance finally. 44 I. 1. 1. 9. 45 Armer, by which word the chiefest power that is in vs is God. 46 Euen a very fewe. 47 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles. 48 Euen the Gentiles had no works to prepare and procure Gods mercie before hande: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought for, the mercie of God is to be thanked for: and in that the Iewes attained to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselves, because they sought it not aright. 49 The pride of men is the cause that they conuince vocation, so that the cause of their damnation neede not to be sought for any other where but in themselves. 50 Seeking to come by righteousness, they followed the Lawe of righteousness.

for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, Beholde, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall: and every one that beleueth in him, shall not bee ashamed.

C H A P. X.

1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace 4 Christ, who is the end of the Lawe. 15 He sheweth that Moses foretold the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esaias the hardening of the Iewes.

Brethren, mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.

2 For I beare them recorde, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For they, being ignorant of the righteousness of God, and going about to establish their owne righteousness, haue not submitted themselves to the righteousness of God.

4 For Christ is the end of the Lawe for righteousness vnto every one that beleueth.

5 For Moses thus describeth the righteousness which is of the Lawe, That the man which doeth these things, shall liue thereby.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead)

8 But what saith it? The word is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 For if thou shalt confesse with thy mouth the Lord Iesus, and shalt beleue in thine heart, that God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saved:

10 For with the heart man beleueth vnto righteousness, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.

11 For the Scripture saith, Whosoever beleueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord ouer all is rich vnto all that call on him.

13 For whosoever shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

them that keepe the Law: but seeing we do not observe the Law through the fault of the flesh, we attaine not vnto the end: but Christ salueth thou diest, for hee fulfilled the Law for vs. 14 Not onely to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.

15 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest prouer, for that it propoundeth such a condition, as can bee and is fulfilled of none but of Christ onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that nowe no man can aske, Who can ascend vp into heauen, or bring vs from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that hee is raised, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them. 16 Let vs 18. 5. ezek 20. 11. gal. 3. 21. 17 Deut. 30. 12. 18 Think not with thy selfe, as men that are staggering vnto deede. 19 Vocation cometh by the word preached. 20 Deuterono 50. 14. 21 By the word, Moses vnderstande the Lawe which the Lord published with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospel which was the perfection of the Lawe.

22 That is in deede true faith which is settled not onely in the head, but also in the heart of man, whereof also we gaue testimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone and onely Saviour, euen as hee setteth forth himselfe in his word. 23 If thou professe plainly, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Iesus onely to be thy Lord and Saviour. 24 The Father, who is saide to haue raised the Sonne from the dead: and this is not spoken to shut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to set forth the Fathers counsell touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Sonne. 25 Faith is saide to iustifie, and further more seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to saluation, it followeth that faith is also saide to saue.

26 Nowe hee pronounceth the other part which hee propounde afore in the fourth verse, to wit, that Christ calleth whomsoever hee listeth without any difference, and this hee confirmeth by a double testimonie. 27 I. 1. 28. 16. 28 To beleue in God is to yeelde and consens to God his promise of our saluation by Christ, and that not onely in generall, but when wee know that the promises pertaine to vs wherupon we haue a sure trust. 29 I. 1. 30. 30 True calling vpon the Name of God is the testimonie of true faith, and true faith of true vocation or calling and true calling, of true election.

17 There is no doubt why the Gentiles which have obtained mercy should triumph over the Jews which continue in their unbelief. They are grafted into the true Olive tree. But let them rather take heed that they do not fall out of the tree which is now grafted in the Jews. And here of also this general doctrine may be gathered and taught to be the sinners of Gods grace even in respect of our neighbours to farre as they ought to be true hanging and glorying, for that we are grafted before them by a singular grace.

18 In place of those Gentiles which are broken off, I this againe the common course of the world, that the Jews, whose the purpose is changed with the Jews of the good will.

17 <sup>10</sup> And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast grafted in for them, and made partaker of the roote and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 <sup>1</sup> Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in.

20 Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: bee not high minded, but feare.

21 For if God spared not the naturall branches, take heede, lest he also spare not thee.

22 Beholde therefore the bountifullnesse, and feueritie of God: toward them which have fallen, feueritie: but toward thee, bountifullnesse, if thou continue in his bountifullnesse: or els thou shalt also be cut off.

23 And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by nature, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a right Oliue tree, howe much more shall they that are by nature, bee grafted in their owne Oliue tree?

25 <sup>13</sup> For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secrete (left ye should be arrogant in your felues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be come in.

26 And so all Israel shall bee saued, as it is written, <sup>2</sup> The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the vngodlinesse from Iacob.

27 And this is my couenant to them, <sup>1</sup> When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 <sup>14</sup> As concerning the Gospell, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers sakes.

29 <sup>15</sup> For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

20 Hee calleth them naturall, not because they had any holinesse of nature, but because they were borne of them whose the Lord set apart for himselfe from other nations, by his league and couenant which he freely made with them.

21 Seeing the matter it selfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetuall we must take good heede that that bee not found in our felues, which wee thinke blame worthy in others, for the election is sure, but they that are truly elect and ingrafted, are not proud in themselves with contempt of others, but with due reuerence to God, and loue toward their neighbour, runne to the worke which is layd before them.)

22 The tender and louing hearts. 23 In that state which God his bountifullnesse hath aduanced thee vnto: and we must marke here, that he speaketh not of the election of euery private man which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation.

24 Many are now for a season cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time shall be grafted in: and againe there are a great sort, which stee a fort, and touching the outward shewe, seeme to bee ingrafted, which stande through their owne faulte: afterward are cut off and cleane cast away: which thing is specially to bee considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes.

25 Understand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie. 26 Into the people of the Iewes, which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and hee speaketh of the whole nation, not of euery one part.

27 The blindness of the Iewes is neither so vniuersall that the Law hath no effect in that nature, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall bee a time when in they also (as the Prophets haue forewarned) shall effectually imbrace that which they doe now so stubbornly for the most part reject and refuse.

28 That yet bee not proude within your felues. 29 Into the Church. 30 Esai. 59.20.

31 Against 29. 14. Again, that hee may ioyn the Iewes and Gentiles together as in one in one body, and especially may teach what duty the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, bee deneth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not vterly cut off without hope of recovery. 32 Forasmuch as they receiued it not. 33 In that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what hee promised to Abraham.

34 The reason or prooffe: because the couenant made with that nation of life eternall cannot be frustrate and vaine.

30 <sup>16</sup> For euen as yee in times past haue not beleued God, yet haue nowe obtained mercy through vnbeliefe:

31 Euen so now haue they not beleued by the mercy shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath shut vp all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercy on all.

33 <sup>17</sup> O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! how vnsearchable are his iudgements, and his wayes past finding out!

34 <sup>18</sup> For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? or who was his counsellor?

35 Or who hath giuen vnto him first, and he shall be recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for him are all things: to him bee glory for euer. Amen.

of the same benefit, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued, onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue bene so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had sated the nation of the Iewes without this interruption.

17 The Apostle crieth out as astonied with this wonderfull wisdom of God, which hee teacheth vs, ought to bee religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and prophanely to be searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath reuealed vnto vs.

18 The course that hee holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly. 19 The order of his counsels and doings. 20 Job 41.2. Esai. 40.13. 1. Corin. 2.16.

18 Hee brideleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because that God is aboue all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainly godlesse, to measure him by our folly. Moreover, because hee is debitor to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniury done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must reuerse all things to his glory, much lesse may we contend and debate the matter with him. 3. Thou saying our throweth the doctrine of foretold worke and meritis. 4 To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new worke which hee worketh in his elect.

C H A P. XII.

1 Hee exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God: 3 to loue vniuersall, 14.20 euen towards our enemies.

I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that yee giue vp your bodies a liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your reasonable seruice of God.

2 And fashion not your felues like vnto this world, but bee yee changed by the renewing of your minde, that yee may proue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 For I say through the grace that is giuen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man presume to vnderstand aboue that which is meet to vnderstand, but that he vnderstand according to sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the measure of faith.

trusting to the grace of God. a By this preface hee sheweth that Gods glory is the utmost ende of all our doings. b In times past the sacrifice were presented before the altar, but now the altar is euery where. c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, nowe our owne must bee offered. d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now wee must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them, e Spirituall.

3 The second precept is, That we take not other mens opinions and maners for a rule of life, but that wee wholly renouncing this world, let before vs, as a mark, the will of God, as it is manifested and opened vnto vs in his word. f Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a castle, nor for mans free will, which the Popish schoolmen dreame on, if the minde must be renewed. Look ephesians 1.18 and 2.3. and 4.17. and Colossians 1.21. 2 ephesians 5.17. 1 thess. 4.3. 3 Thirdly, hee admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him. 4 I charge. b That hee please not himselfe too much, as they doe, which perseuerance themselves they know more then indeede they doe. 5 We shall be sober, if wee take not that upon vs, which we haue not, and if we braggen of that we haue. 6 1. Corin. 12.11. ephes. 4.7. k By faith be meane the knowledge of God in Christ, and the gift which the holy Ghost poureth vpon the faithfull.

16 Another reason because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbornnesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an heede to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of that mercy which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all, he giueth generally precepts and grounds, the chiefe whereof is this, that euery man consecrate himselfe wholly to the spirituall seruice of God, and do as it were sacrifice himselfe,

4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed every thing to be done of every man: and therefore he doth back wardly, and not onely voprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearie him selfe and others, which pasheth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuinitie and inequality of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodities: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth that no man ought to be grieved thereat, seeing that the use of every private gift is common.

5 That which he spake before in generall, he applyeth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And he divideth them into two sorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons; and againe he divideth the Prophets into doctours, and Pastours. And of Deacons he maketh three sorts:

to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church coffers, whome hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of discipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were. 1 That euery man obserue the measure of that which is reuealed vnto him. 2 Whose office is onely to expound the Scriptures. 3 Who in other places is called the Pastor. 4 To wit, the almes that hee distribute them faithfully, and without respect of person. 5 Matth. 6. 2. 2. cor. 9. 7. 6 The Elders of the Church. 7 They that are busied about tending on the poore, must doe it with cheerefull heart, lest they adde sorow to sorow. 8 Now hee cometh to the duties of the second Table, which hee desirerh from charitie, which is as it were the fountaine of them all. And hee defineth Christian charitie by sinceritie, hatred of euill, earnest studie of good things, good affection to helpe our neighbour, and whose final ende is the glory of God. Amos 5. 15. 9 Ephes. 4. 2. 1. peter 2. 17. 10 This piece is well put in, for it maketh difference betwene Christian duties, and Philosophicall duties. 11 Hee reckoneth vp diuers other vertues together with their effects, to wit, hope, patience in tribulation, equanimitie, continuance in prayer, liberalitie towards the Sainrs, hospitalitie, moderation of minde, euen in helping our enemies, a selfesame feeling with others as well in aduersitie as prosperitie, modestie, endeavour to maintaine honest concord to nigh as wee may with all men, which cannot be extinguished by any mans injuries. 12 1. pet. 3. 8. 13 Luke 18. 1. 1. cor. 16. 1. 14 A rule of charitie, when we are no lesse touched with other mens wrongs, then with their owne, and hauing that feeling, helpe them as much as we can. 15 Not vpon pleasure and needlesse dutie, but vpon necessary vses. 16 Heb. 13. 2. 1. pet. 4. 13. 17 Matth. 5. 44. 18 Prou. 3. 7. 19 There is nothing that doeth so much breake concord as ambition, when as euery man loveth a base office, and seeketh ambitiously to be aloft. 20 Be not puffed up with opinion of your owne wisdom. 21 Prou. 20. 22. 22 1. cor. 5. 39. 23 1. pet. 3. 9. 24 Heb. 12. 14. 25 Eccl. 2. 18. 26 1. pet. 5. 39. 27 Deut. 32. 35. 28 1. cor. 10. 30. 29 Prou. 25. 22. 30 After this sort doth Salomon point out the wrath of God that hangeth ouer a man.

4 For as we haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office,

5 So we being many, are one body in Christ, and euery one, one anothers members.

6 Seeing then that we haue gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether we haue prophesie, let vs prophesie according to the portion of faith:

7 Or an office, let vs wait on the office: or he that teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: hee that distributeth, let him doe it with simplicitie: he that ruleth, with diligence: he that sheweth mercy, with cheerefullnesse.

9 Let loue be without dissimulation. Abhorre that which is euill, and cleaue vnto that which is good.

10 Be affectioned to loue one another with brotherly loue. In giuing honour, goe one before another.

11 Not slouthfull to doe seruice, feruent in spirit, seruing the Lord.

12 Reioicing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing in prayer,

13 Distributing vnto the necessities of the Saints: giuing your selues to hospitalitie.

14 Blesse them which persecute you: blesse, I say, and curse not.

15 Reioyce with them that reioyce: and weepe with them that weepe.

16 Bee of like affection one towards another: be not hie minded: but make your selues equal to them of the lower sort: be not wise in your selues.

17 Recompense to no man euill for euill: procure things honest in the sight of all men.

18 If it be possible, as much as in you is, haue peace with all men.

19 Dearly beloved, auenge not your selues, but giue place vnto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord.

20 Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feede him: if he thirst, giue him drinke: for in so doing thou shalt heape coles of fire on his head.

21 Bee not overcome of euill, but overcome euill with goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He willeth that we submit our selues to Magistrates: 2 To loue our neighbours: 3 To line uprightly, 4 and to put on Christ.

Let euery soule be subiect vnto the higher powers: for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are ordained of God.

2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receiue to themselves condemnation.

3 For magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euill. Wilt thou then bee without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue praise of the same:

4 For hee is the minister of God for thy wealch: but if thou doe euill, feare: for hee beareth not the sword for nothing: for he is the minister of God to take vengeance on him that doeth euill.

5 Wherefore we must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but also for conscience sake.

6 For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselves for the same thing.

7 Giue to all men therefore their duty, tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom feare: honor, to whom ye owe honor.

8 Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: for hee that loueth another, hath fulfilled the Law.

9 For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witness, Thou shalt not couet: and if there bee any other commandement, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

10 Loue doeth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the fulfilling of the Law.

11 And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleepe: for now is our saluation neerer, then when wee beleued it.

12 The night is past, and the day is at hand, let vs therefore cast away the workes of darkness, and let vs put on the armour of light,

13 So that wee walke honestly, as in the day: not in gluttonie, and drunkennesse, neither in the ende wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this means preserueh the good and briedeth the wicked: by which wordes the Magistrates themselves are put in minde of that duty which they owe to their subjects. 2 An excellent way to beare this yoke not onely without griefe but also with great profit. 3 God hath armed the Magistrate euen with a reuenging sword: by whom God reuengeth the wicked. 4 The conclusion: Wee must obey the Magistrate, not onely for feare of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate haue no power ouer the conscience of man, yet seeing hee is Gods minister) he cannot be resisted by any good conscience. 5 So farre as lawfully wee may for vnlawfull things be commanded vs, wee must aswure as Peter teacheth vs, his better to obey God then men. 6 He reckoneth vp the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subiects. 7 Mat. 22. 37. 8 Obedience, and that from the heart. 9 Reuerence, (which as reason sheweth must be due to the Magistrate) 10 He sheweth how very few iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if wee so order our life, as no man may iustly require any thing of vs besides that onely that wee owe to another, by the perpetuall law of charitie. 11 He commendeth charitie, as an abridgement of the whole Law. 12 Hee hath not onely done one commendation, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth. 13 Exod. 20. 14. deut. 5. 16. 14 For the whole Law commandeth nothing els, but that wee loue God, and our neighbour. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties wee owe one to another, wee must frame this word, Law to the second Table. 15 Len. 19. 18. mat. 22. 39. mar. 12. 31. gal. 5. 22. ian. 2. 8. 16 1. Tim. 1. 5. 17 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also it self putteth vs in mind of our duty, seeing that this remembrance after that the darkness of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of Gods truth be driven out of vs, that we order our life according to that certaine and sure rule of all right conscience and honesty, being fully grounded vpon the verities of the Spirit of Christ. 18 In other places we are sayd to be in the light, but yet so that it appeareth not as yet what we are for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight. 19 That kinde of life, which they leade, that see the light, 20 Luke 21. 34.

19 He giveth a double warning in these matters, one, which pertaineth to the strong, that he which hath obtained a foreknowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the ende he may use it wisely and profitably, as hath bene said: the other which respecteth the weakes, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wavering conscience, for that cannot bee done without sinne, whereof wee are not persuaded by the word of God, that he liketh and approveth it.

† He sheweth before, verse 14. what he meaneth by faith, so wit for a man to bee certain and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent. † Embrace it. † Reason with himselfe.

21 Nowe the Apostle reasoneth generally of relieving or bearing with the weakes by all manner, so farre forth as may be for their profit, and to despise others.

6 For his profits and justification. 3 A confirmation taken of the example of Christ, who suffered all things to bring not onely the weakes, but also his most cruell enemies, overcomming them with patience, to his Father.

7 The promising of an oblation: Such things as are cleaved out of the examples of the ancients, are propounded vnto vs to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our Fathers, we should in patience and hope beare one with another.

8 By Moses and the Prophets.

9 The Scriptures are saide to teach and comfort, because God useth them to teach and comfort his people without fail.

4 We must take an example of patience, of God: that both the weakes and the strong serving God with a mutuall consent, may bring one another to God, as Christ also received vs vnto himselfe, although we were neuer so unworthy. † 1. Cor. 13. 10. † Hee did not disclaime vs, but received vs of his own accord, to make vs partakers of Gods glory. 5 An applying of the example of Christ to the Lewes, to whom he vouchsafed this honour for the promises which hee made vnto their fathers, although they were neuer so unworthy, that hee executed the office of a Minister amongst them with marvellous patience: Therefore much lesse ought the Gentiles despite them for certaine faultes, whom the Sonne of God so much esteemed. † Of the circumcised Lewes, for as long as hee lived, he never went out of their quarters. 6 That God might be seene to be true. 7 An applying of the same to the Gentiles, whom also the Lord of his incomprehensible goodness had regarde of, so that they are not to bee contemned of the Lewes as strangers. † Psal. 18. 50. † I will openly professe, and set forth thy Name. † Deut. 32. 43. † Psal. 117. 1. † Psal. 118. 10.

10 Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: † all things in deede are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

21 † It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weak.

22 19 Hast thou a faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is hee that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he alloweth.

23 For he that doubteth, is condemned if he eate, because he eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sinne.

CHAP. XV.

1 The stronger must impley their strength to strengthen the weakes, 3 By Christs example, 7 who received 8 not onely the Lewes, 10 but also the Gentiles, 15 The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

WH<sup>1</sup> which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weakes, & not to please our selues.

2 Therefore let every man please his neighbour in that that is good to edification.

3 For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, The rebukes of them which rebuked thee, fell on me.

4 For whatsoever things are written aforetime, are written for our learning, that wee through patience, and comfort of the Scriptures might haue hope.

5 Now the God of patience & consolation giue you that yee bee like minded one toward another, according to Christ Iesus,

6 That yee with one minde, and with one mouth may praise God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receiue yee one another, as Christ also received vs to the glory of God.

8 Nowe I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision, for the truth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers.

9 And let the Gentiles praise God, for his mercie, as it is written, For this cause I will confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

10 And againe he saith, Reioyce, yee Gentiles with his people.

11 And againe, Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laud ye him, all people together.

12 And againe Esaias saith, There shall bee

a roote of Iesse, and he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.

13 Now the God of hope fill you with all ioy, and peace in beleeuing, that yee may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 And I my selfe also am perswaded of you, my brethren, that yee also are full of goodnesse, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

15 Neuerthelesse, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

16 That I should bee the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

17 I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

18 For I dare not speake of any thing, which Christ hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede,

19 With the power of signes and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation.

21 But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him.

22 Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

23 But now seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue bene desirous many yeeres agoe to come vnto you,

24 When I shall take my journey into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to bee brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene somewhat filled with your company.

25 But now go I to Hierusalem, to minister vnto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem, 27 For it hath pleased them, and their detters are they: for if the Gentiles bee made partakers of their spirituall things, their dutie is also to minister vnto them in carnall things.

28 When I haue therefore performed this, and haue sealed them this fruite. I will passe by you into Spaine.

29 And I know when I come, that I shall

10 He writeth at large to the Romanes, and that familiarly, his singular good will towards them, and the state of his affaires, but so, that he swaereth not a word from the ends of Apostolical doctrine: for hee declareth nothing, but that which appertaine to the office, and is godly: and commending by a little digression as it were the liberalitie of the Churches of Macedonia, hee proueth them modestly to followe their godly deede. † 1. Thess. 1. 17. † Doing his dutie for his Saint, he carie them that money which was gathered for their vses. 11 Almes are voluntarye, but yet such as we owe by the lawe of charitie. † 1. Cor. 13. 1. 9 To reioyce them turne. 10 Performed it faithfully, and sealed it as it were with my ring. 11 This money which was gathered for the use of the poore: which almes is very fitly called fruite. 12 Hee promitteth them through the blessing of God, not to conceaie from them: and requiring of them the doctrie of prayer, he sheweth what thing was ought chiefly to rest vpon in all difficulties and aduersities.

7 He saileth up as it were all the former treatise with prayers wishing all that be giuen them of the Lord, that he had commended them.

8 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein hee exhorteth himselfe, that he hath written somewhat in a large vnto them, rather to waite them, then to teach them, and that of necessity, by reason of his vocation, which bindeth him peculiarly to the Gentiles.

9 Of your own accord, and of your selues.

10 By the offering up of the Gentiles, hee meaneth the Gentiles themselves, whom he offered to God as a sacrifice.

11 Hee commendeth his Apostleship highly by the effects, but yet so, that moreover and besides the speeches all things truly, he giueth all the glory to God as the only author: and doth not properly ascribed himselfe, but rather the men might lesse doubt of the truth of the doctrine which he propounded vnto them.

12 Christ was with me in all things, and by all manner, that is, I would danger for mine, yet I cannot say, what he hath done by me to bring the Gentiles to glory the Gospel.

13 In the first place this word, Power, signifies the first 30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Iesus Christs sake, and for the loue of the spirit, that yee would strue with me by prayers to God for me.

31 That I may be deliuered from them which are disobedient in Iudea, and that my seruice which I haue to doe at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saints, 32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace bee with you all. Amen.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee commendeth Phoebe. 3 Hee sendeth greeting to many, 17 And warneth to beware of them which are the cause of diuision.

I Commende vnto you Phoebe our sister, which is a seruant of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That yee receiue her in the Lorde, as it becometh Saintes, and that yee assist her in whatsoever businesse shee needeth of your ayde: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also.

3 Greete * Priscilla, and Aquila, my fellow helpers in Christ Iesus,

4 (Which haue for my life layde downe their owne necke. Vnto whom not I onely giue thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greete the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epenetus, which is the first fruite of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greete Mary which bestowed much labour on vs.

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cousins and fellow prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Vrbanius our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approued in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greete them which are of the friends of Narcissus which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Peris, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Asyncrinus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Iulias, Nereas, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the Saintes which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 ¶ Now I beseech you brethren, I marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and auoide them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lord Iesus Christ but their owne bellies, & with a faire speach and flattering deceiue the hearts of the simple.

19 For your obedience is come abroade among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would haue you wise vnto that which is good, and simple concerning euill.

20 The God of peace shall tread Satan vnder your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you.

21 ¶ Timotheus my helper, and Lucius and Iason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine hoste, and of the whole Church saluteth you. Erastus the steward of the city saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 ¶ To him now that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Iesus Christ, * by the reuelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began:

26 (But now is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophets, at the commandment of the euerlasting God for the obedience of faith)

27 To God, I say, only wise, be praise through Iesus Christ for euer. Amen.

Written to the Romans from Corinthus, and sent by Phoebe, seruant of the Church, which is at Cenchrea.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

After the salutation, 10 which is effect in an exhortation, 12 He reprehends the Corinthians for pride and divisions, 17 and calls them from pride to humility: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisdom, 23, 25 he advanceth only the preaching of the cross.

1 The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goes about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet now with standing to that, always he leaveth them to wit, that he is the servant of God, and not of men.

2 I'll be an Apostle, then hee must be heard, although he sometimes reprehend them sharply, seeing he hath not his owne cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandments of Christ.

3 Hee joyneeth Sothenes with himselfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.

4 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish it. 1 Cor. 15.9. 1 Thess. 4.7.

5 A true definition of the Catholique Church, which is unity. 6. The father sendeth vs, that is to say, separateth vs from the wicked, in giving vs to his Sonne, that he may bee in vs, and we in him. 7. Ephes. 1. Coloss. 1.22. 1 Tim. 1.9. Titus 2.2.

6 Whom God of his gracious goodnesse and love hath separated for himselfe: in whom God hath called to holynesse: the first of these two expositions, sheweth from whence our sanctification cometh, and the second, to what end it tendeth. 7. 1 Tim. 1.22.

7 Hee is fayne properly to call on God, who cryeth unto the Lord when hee is in danger, and earnestly helps at his hands: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the service of Gods: and therefore to call upon Christes Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 8. The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ the glory of the Father.

8 Going about to condempne many vices, hee beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues, lest hee might seeme after to descend to chiding, being troubled with malice or enuie: yet so that hee referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ, that the Corinthians might be more ashamed to prophane and abuse the holy gifts of God.

9 Hee toucheth them by name, which they most abused. d. Seeing that whilst we live here, we knowe but in parte, and prophecie in parte, this word (1 Cor. 13) must be restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by Speech hee meaneth not a vaine kind of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused.

10 Hee sheweth that the true use of these gifts consisteth herein, that the mightie power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might evidently appeare how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition. e. By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. 11 Titus 2.11. philipp. 3.20.

11 He sayeth by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had received, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them, which are to be looked for. f. Hee speaketh of the last comming of Christ. 12. 1 Thess. 3.13. and 5.23.

12 Hee testifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterword. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our salvation is onely the worke of God. g. He calleth them blamelesse, not whom man neuer found fault with, but with whom no man can iustly finde fault, thus is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whom there is no condemnation, See Luke 1.6. 1 Cor. 5.24.

13 True and constant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giveth vs the gift of perseverance also. 14. Having made an end of the preface, hee cometh to the matter itselfe, beginning with a most grave obtestation, as though they should heare Christ himselfe speaking, and not Paul.

Paul called to bee an Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother Sothenes,

1 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are 2 sanctified in 3 Christ Iesus, & Saintes by calling, with all that call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in every place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is given you in Iesus Christ,

5 That in all things ye are made rich in him, in 6 all kinde of speech, and in all knowledge:

6 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene 7 confirmed in you:

7 So that ye are not destitute of any gift: 8 waiting for the 9 appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

8 Who shall also confirme you vnto the end, that ye may be blamelesse in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 God is 10 faithfull, by whom ye are called vnto the fellowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that 11 ye all speake one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but bee ye knit together in one minde, and in one iudgement.

11 For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now 13 this I say, that every one of you with, I am Pauls, and I am 4 Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs.

13 Is Christ diuided? was 16 Paul crucified for you? either were ye 17 baptized into the name of Paul?

14 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but 2 Crispus, and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

16 I baptized also the household of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 19 For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, 20 not with 1 wife-dome of words, lest the 21 crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctore, some on another, and some were to addresse to themselves, that they neglected all doctore and teachers, calling the ministers the disciples of Christ onely, shutting forth their teachers. 1. The master that I would say to you is this. 2. Acts 18.24.

15 The first reason why schismes ought to be eschewed: because Christ teacheth by the meane to be diuided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two diuers and disagreeing bodies, beeing himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing is doubt they due, which allow whatsoever some man speaketh, euen for his persons sake, as these men allowed one selfe same Gospel being uttered of one man, and did lothe it being uttered of another man. So that these actions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul seeth do vne his owne name not onely to grieve no man, but also to shew that hee pleadeth not his owne cause. 17 The third reason taken of these forms, and end of Baptisme, wherein wee make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father, and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if hee hang vpon some certaine teacher, and despise others, hee forsaketh Christ: for if he holde Christ his only master, he would heare him, teaching by whomsoever. 18 Hee protesteth that hee speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods providence he is void of all suspicion of challenging disciples vnto himselfe, and taking them from others. Whereby wee may vnderstand that not the schollars onely, but the teachers also are heere reprehended, which gathered themselves flockes apart. 19. Acts 18.28.

16 The taking away of an obiection: that hee might baptize many among them: not for the contempt of Baptisme, but because hee was chiefly occupied in delinering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof hee had store. And hee declared sufficiently how farre hee was from all ambition: whereas on the other side they valiantly heere reprehended, as though they gathered disciples vnto themselves and not vnto Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized. 20 Now hee turneth himselfe to the doctrine the scholers, which pleased them either in vaine and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might draw more disciples after them. Hee confesseth plainly that hee was valiant vnto them, opposing graciously as it became an Apostle, his example against their peruersi iudgements. So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the obteining of a godly simplicitie both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel. 21 Chap. 2. 13. 2. pet. 2. 16.

17 With eloquence: which Paul calleth off from him not onely as not necessary, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kinde of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and voyde of painted words. 21 The reason why hee vied not the pompe of wordes, and painted speech: because it was Gods will to bring the worde to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might vnderstand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the aite of man. Therefore as saluation is set forth vnto vs in the Gospel by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more conceiptible, and more farre from life, so God would haue the manner of the preaching of the crosse most different from those meanes, with which men doe vie to drawe and entice others, eitherto heare or beleeue: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kinde of most wilfe folly to triumph ouer the most foolish wisdomes of the world, as he had sayd before by Esay, that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both those doctors which were puffd vp with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers stayed fast away from the end and marke of their vocation.

18 For that preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but vnto vs, which are saued, it is the  $\alpha$  power of God.

19  $\beta$  For it is written,  $\beta$  I wil destroy the wisdom of the wise, & wil cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the  $\alpha$  Scribe? where is the  $\beta$  disputer of this world? hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolishnesse?

21  $\gamma$  For seeing the  $\alpha$  worlde by wisdom knewe not God in the wisdom of God,  $\beta$  it pleased God by the  $\beta$  foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleue:

22  $\gamma$  Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wisdom.

23 But we preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen: a stumbling block, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse:

24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisdom of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.

26  $\alpha$  For brethren, you see your calling, how that not many wise men  $\beta$  after the flesh, not many mightie, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake things of the worlde, to confound the mighty things,

28 And vile things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which  $\alpha$  are not, to bring to  $\gamma$  nought things that are,

29 That no  $\beta$  flesh should reioyce in his presence.

30 But ye are  $\alpha$  of him in Christ Iesus,  $\beta$  who of God is made vnto vs Wisdom and Righteousnesse, and Sanctification, and Redemption, 31 That, according as it is written,  $\beta$  Hee that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

against the other.  $\alpha$  Whom hee cast downe before, now hee lieth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet so, that hee sheweth them that all their wisdom is without them: that is, standeth in Christ, and that of God. 27 Hee teacheth that especially, and about all things, the Gospel ought not to be contemned, seeing it containeth the chiefest things that are to be desired, to wit, true wisdom, the true way to obtayne righteousness, the true way to liue honestly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miseries and calamities.  $\beta$  Jerem. 9. 24. 2. cor. 10. 17.  $\gamma$  Let him reioyce all to God, and giue thanks: and so by this place it manifeſtly will be beaten downe, which the Papists so dream of.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee setteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was laid in respect of mans wisdom, 7. 13 his noble in respect of the spiritual power and efficacy: 14 And so concludeth that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

And  $\alpha$  I, brethren, when I came to you, I came not with  $\beta$  excellencie of wordes, or of wisdom, shewing vnto you the  $\alpha$  testimonie of God.

2 For I  $\beta$  esteemed not to know any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3  $\gamma$  And I was among you in  $\beta$  weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither stood my worde, and my preaching in the  $\alpha$  entising speech of mans wisdom,  $\beta$  but in plaine  $\gamma$  euidence of the Spirit and of power,

5  $\gamma$  That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6  $\alpha$  And wee speake wisdom among them that are  $\beta$  perfect: not the wisdom of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought.

7  $\beta$  But wee speake the wisdom of God in a  $\gamma$  mysterie, euen the hid wisdom,  $\alpha$  which God had determined before the worlde, vnto our glory.

8  $\gamma$  Which none of the princes of this world hath known: for had they knowe it, they would not haue crucified the  $\beta$  Lord of glory.

which are the companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as terrifie the conscience, but such as are contrary to vanity and pride.  $\beta$  Chap. 1. 17. 2. pet. 1. 16. 2 Hee setteth that now to the commendation of his ministry, which hee had granted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which they knewe well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.  $\alpha$  By plaine euidence, hee meaneth such a prooue, as is made by certayne and necessary reasons. 3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that hee did it for their great profite, because they might thereby knowe manifestly, that the Gospel was from heauen. Therefore hee prauely rebuketh them, because that in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly deprived themselves of the greatest helpe of their faith. 4 An other argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Gospel, which is true wisdom, but known to them onely which are desirous of perfection: and is vnknown to them which otherwise excell in the worlde, but yet vainely and frailly. 5 Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection already, but such as tend to it, as Phil. 3. 15. so that perfect, is set against weak. 6 They that are wiser, richer, or mightier then other men are. 7 Hee sheweth the cause why this wisdom cannot be perceived of these excellent worldly wits: to wit, because indeed it is so deepe, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 8 Which men could not so much as dream of. 9 Hee taketh away an obiection: If it be so hard, when and how is it known? God, sayeth hee, determined with himselfe from the beginning, that which was his purpose to bring forth at this time out of his secrets, for the saluation of men. 10 Hee taketh away another obiection: Vn by then, how cometh it to passe, that this wisdom was so reiect of men of highest authority, that they crucified Christ himselfe? Paul answereth: because they knew not Christ such as hee was. 11 That mightie God, full of true maiestie and glory: Now this place hath in it a most euident prooue of the diuinitie of Christ, and of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhood alone, is vouchsafed of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kinde of speech is called of the old fathers, a making common of things belonging to some one, with another, whom they doe not belong.

$\gamma$  Flesh is oft as we are taken for the whole man: make vnto this word flesh, very fully, in set the weake and miserable condition of man, and the maiestie of God, one

1 Hee returneth to the 17 verse of the former Chapter, that is to say, to his owne example: confessing that hee had not among them either excellencie of wordes, or entising speech of mans wisdom, but with great simplicitie of speech, both knew and preached Iesus Christ crucified, humble and abiection, as touching the flesh.

$\beta$  Chap. 1. 17.  $\alpha$  The Gospel.  $\beta$  I purposed not to professe any other knowledge, but the knowledge of Christ and him crucified.

$\beta$  Chap. 1. 17. 2. pet. 1. 16. 2 Hee setteth that now to the commendation of his ministry, which hee had granted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which they knewe well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.  $\alpha$  By plaine euidence, hee meaneth such a prooue, as is made by certayne and necessary reasons. 3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that hee did it for their great profite, because they might thereby knowe manifestly, that the Gospel was from heauen. God, sayeth hee, determined with himselfe from the beginning, that which was his purpose to bring forth at this time out of his secrets, for the saluation of men. 10 Hee taketh away another obiection: Vn by then, how cometh it to passe, that this wisdom was so reiect of men of highest authority, that they crucified Christ himselfe? Paul answereth: because they knew not Christ such as hee was. 11 That mightie God, full of true maiestie and glory: Now this place hath in it a most euident prooue of the diuinitie of Christ, and of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhood alone, is vouchsafed of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kinde of speech is called of the old fathers, a making common of things belonging to some one, with another, whom they doe not belong.

The preaching of Christ crucified, is kinde of speech which we use. Rom. 1. 16.  $\alpha$  It is that where- by hee declareth his vniuersall power in saving his elect, which would not so willingly opene themselves to helpe of man, as they would attribute this to himselfe, which is proper only to the crosse of Christ.  $\beta$  The Apostle saith that this was not onely not to seeme to be wise, seeing that it was foretold so long before, but also to be wiser: rather, that God is wiser than the world in such sort, which so plainly it telle in its owne wisdom: and therefore that that living yea a thing of nothing, and such as God requireth to be profitable, which they so easily laugh at, and made to great account of.

$\beta$  Chap. 1. 14.  $\alpha$  Who are they that shall be saved, and shall be saved by the secret things of the world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumpheth hee against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dream upon this hidden and secret mysterie. 23 Hee sheweth that the pride of men was woorthily punished of God, because they would not beholde God, as meete was they should, in the most cleare glasse of the wisdom of the world, which is the workmanship of the worlde.  $\beta$  By the world, hee meaneth all men which are not borne anew, but remaine as they were, when they were first borne.  $\gamma$  In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marvellous wisdom of God ingraued in it, so that every man may beholde it. 24 The goodness of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of the world, hee is very prouident and carefull for the saluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooler, that they may bee wise to God.  $\beta$  So hee setteth the preaching of the Gospel as the enemies supposed it: but in the weake season hee teacheth them very sharply, who had rather charge God with folly, then acknowledge their owne, and crave pardon for it.  $\gamma$  Matth. 12. 38. 25 A declaration of that which hee sayd: that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, sayeth hee, to them whom God hath not endued with new light, that is to say, to all men, being considered in themselves: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit, and wisdom: and therefore they doe not onely not beleue the Gospel, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue and wisdom of God, but such as those onely which are called doe perceiue, God shewing most plainly, that euen then when madde men thinke him most foolish, hee is farre wiser then they are: and that hee surmounteth all their might and power, when hee victeth most vile and abiection things, as it hath appeared in the fruites of the preaching of the Gospel. 26 A confirmation taken of those things which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the baseliest common people, in so much that the philosophers of Greece were driven to shame, when they sawe they could doe nothing with their wisdom and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called idiots and vnderstand. And herewithall doth hee beate downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before those noble and wise men because they should be proud, but that they might bee constrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lord, by whose merite, although they were the most abiection of all, they had obtained in Christ both this wisdom, and all things necessarie to salvation. 27 What way the Lord hath taken in calling you.  $\alpha$  After that kinde of wisdom which men make account of, as though there were none else: who knowe they are carnall, knowe not spiritual wisdom.  $\beta$  Which in mans iudgement are unprofitable.  $\gamma$  To shewe that they are vaine and vnprofitable, and nothing worth, see Romane 3. 3. 11

The natural man.

B Another objection: But how could it be that those wittie men could not perceive this wisdom? Paul answereth: Be cause we preach those things which passe all mans vnderstanding.

17 If any man destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 10 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme to bee wise in this worlde, let him bee a fooles, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, 2 He catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 Therefore let no man reioyce in men: for all things are yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours,

23 And ye Christs, and Christ Gods.

For he that workman be frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe is a thing of nought. 8 He taketh not a way hope of saluation from the vnskilfull and foolish builders, which holde fast the foundations, of which sort were those Reformation rather than pailours of Corinuh: but he addeth an exception, that they might notwithstanding suffer this tryall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours. Chap. 6. v. 19. 2 Cor. 6. 16. 9 Continuing still in the meta phors of a building, he teacheth vs that this ambition is not onely vaine, but also dangerous: For he sayeth that the Church is as it were the Temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirit. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men, he sheweth that they profane the Temple of God, because they value a new herein they please themselves so much, as as he teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which pollutions shall not be suffered vnpunished. f Defileth, and maketh it vnclane, being holy: and surely they doe defile it, by Paul his iudgement, which by fleshy eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary, that they profane the wisdom in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vantages of men: and if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisdom of God, and as he will haue them to bee wise. 11 13. 12 Be they neuer so craftie, yet the Lord will take them when they shall discover their treacherie. Psal. 44. 11. 11 Hee returneth to the proposition of the 3. verse, first warning the hearers, that henceforward they esteeme not as Lords, those whom God hath appointed to bee ministers, and not Lords of their saluation: which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them. 12 Please himselfe. 12 Helpe appointed for your benefite. 13 Hee passeth from the persons to the thing: themselves, that his argument may become forcible: yet, hee endeth from Christ to the Father, to shew that we rest our selues not in Christ himselfe in that that he is man, but because he carrieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of his selfe every where, that hee was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

CHAP. III.

Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 he sheweth that humilitie ought rather to be an honour then a shame vnto him. 9 Hee bringeth in prooffe, whereby it may evidently appeare, 10 that hee neither had care of glory, 11 nor of his bellie. 12 He commenderh Timothee.

Et 1 a man so thinke of vs, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God: 2 And as for the rest, it is required of the

disposers, that every man be found faithfull. 3 As touching mee, I passe very little to be iudged of you, 4 or of mans iudgement: no, 5 I iudge not mine owne selfe. 6 For I know nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth mee, is the Lord. 7 Therefore iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who wil lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall every man haue a praise of God. 8 Now these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applyed vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your takes, that ye might learne by vs, that no man presume about that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause. 9 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though thou hadst not receiued it? 10 Now yee are full: now ye are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, and would to God yee did reigne, that wee also might reigne with you. 11 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death, for we are made a gasing stocke vnto the world, and to the Angels, and to men. 12 We are fooles for Christs sake, and ye are wife in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised. 13 Vnto this houre we both hunger & thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, 14 And labour, working with our owne hands: wee are reueiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it. 15 We are euill spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the filth of the world, the offcoring of all things, vnto this time. 16 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved children I admonish you. 17 For though ye haue tenne thousand instrument, yet I knowe that I am not vnblameable, 18 I this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe. 19 I permit my selfe to the Lordes iudgement. 20 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office, to esteeme every man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you. 21 Math. 7. 1. 22 One could not bee prayed about the rest, but the other should bee blamed: and hee mentioneth prayer rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this sort was this, that they gaue more to some men then meete was. 23 Having reiecteth this iudgement, he setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those fashions teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place: and tooke vpon him, as it were, their shame: so farre was hee from prouiding himselfe to any. 24 By our example, which chuse rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 25 Hee sheweth a good meares to bridle pride: first, if thou consider how rightly thou exemptest thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifullnesse. And what wise man is hee that will bragge of anothers goodnesse, and that against God? 26 There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we haue, wee haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and baste Pelagians will not confesse. 27 Hee denounceth to a most grieuous mecke, to cause these ambitious men to blush, euen against their will. 28 Hee that will take a right viewe how like Paul and the Pope are, who though boasting that hee is his successor, let him compare the delicacies of the Popes court with Saint Pauls state, as wee see in beere. 29 Altes 20. 34. 1 thesal. 2. 9. 2 thesal. 3. 8. 3 Math. 5. 44. Luke 23. 34. altes 7. 60. 4 Such as by sweeping gathered together. 5 Moderating the sharpnesse of his mecke, hee putteth them in minde to remember of whome they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to followe him for an example, although hee seeme vile according to the outward few, in respect of others, yet mightie by the efficacie of Gods Spirit, as they had had triall thereof in themselves.

ments that they haue of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not let so th himselfe as they did,
And hee bringeth
good reasons why hee was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him.
4 First, because that which men iudge in these states of their owne braines, is no more to be accounted of, then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wise-dome.

b Word for word,

ner of speech of the 5 Secondly, sayth

he, how can you iudge how much or how little I am to be accounted of, seeing that I my selfe which knowe my selfe better then you doe, and wh ch dare professe that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conscience,

lenge any thing to my selfe?

6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office, to esteeme every man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you. Math.
7. 1. d One could not bee prayed about the rest, but the other should bee blamed:
and hee mentioneth prayer rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this sort was this, that they gaue more to some men then meete was. 7 Having reiecteth this iudgement, he setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those fashions teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place: and tooke vpon him, as it were, their shame: so farre was hee from prouiding himselfe to any. e By our example, which chuse rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 8 Hee sheweth a good meares to bridle pride: first, if thou consider how rightly thou exemptest thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifull-nesse. And what wise man is hee that will bragge of anothers goodnesse, and that against God? f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we haue, wee haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and baste Pelagians will not confesse. 9 Hee denounceth to a most grieuous mecke, to cause these ambitious men to blush, euen against their will. g Hee that will take a right viewe how like Paul and the Pope are, who though boasting that hee is his successor, let him compare the delicacies of the Popes court with Saint Pauls state, as wee see in beere. h Altes 20. 34. i thesal. 2. 9. 2 thesal. 3. 8. Math. 5. 44.

i They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickedness, let forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned of the infidels.

21 What wil ye? shal I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the spirit of meeknesse?

CHAP. V.

i That they haue wicked as him who committed incest with his mother in law. ii He sheweth should cast them rather to be ashamed, then to reioyce: iii Such kind of wickednesse is to be punished with excommunication, iiii lest other be infected with it.

i It is heard certainly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

ii And ye are puffed vp, and haue not rather sorowed, that hee which hath done this deede, might be put from among you.

iii For I verely as absent in body, but present in spirit, haue determined already, as though I were present, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

iv When yee are gathered together, and my spirit, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

v Be delivered vnto Satan, for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Iesus.

vi Your reioicing is not good: know ye not that a little leaven leaueth the whole lump?

vii Purge out therefore the olde leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as yee are vncleaned: for Christ our Pasche is sacrificed for vs.

viii Therefore let vs keepe the feast, not with olde leaven, neither in the leaven of malicioulnesse

ix The excommunicate is delivered to the power of Satan, in that that he is cast out of the house of God. x What it is to be delivered to Satan, the Lord himselfe declareth when he saith, Let him be unto thee as an Heathen and Publican, Matth. 18.17. that is to say, to be disfranchised, and put out of the right and libertie of the citie of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is Lord and master. xi The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should utterly perishe, but that hee may be saved, to wit, that by this means his flesh may be tamed, that hee may learne to live to the Spirit. xii Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessity be retained in the Church, that the one bee not infected by the other. xiii It is taught, and was grounded upon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse found amongst you. xiiii By alluding to the ceremony of the Passouer, hee exhorteth them to cast out that vnclean person from amongst them. and wickednesse: but with the vncleaned bread of sinceritie and trueth.

9 I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that yee should not company together with fornicators,

10 And not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must go out of the world.

11 But now I haue writen vnto you, that ye company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or couetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not.

12 For what haue I to doe to iudge them also which are without? doe ye not iudge them that are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among your felues that wicked man.

ther he meaneth those feasts of loue wherewith the Supper of the Lord was received, or els their common vage and manner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should thinke that either matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as wee owe one to another: children to their parents, subjects to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neighbours to neighbours, to win one another to God. ii If you should utterly abstaine from such mens company, you should goe out of the world: therefore I speake of them which are in the very bosome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of those which are without, with whom you must labour by all means possible, to bring them to Christ. iii Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: for them which are without, they must be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

i He inuigeth against their contention in law matters, & wherewith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproch of the Gospel, ii and then sharply threatneth fornicators.

i Are any of you, hauing businesse against another, be iudged vnder the vniust, and not vnder the Saints?

ii Doe yee not know that the Saints shall iudge the world? If the world then shalbe iudged by you, are yee vnworthy to iudge the smallest matters?

iii Knowe yee not that we shall iudge the Angels? how much more things that pertaine to this life?

iv If then yee haue iudgements of things pertaining to this life, set them vp which are least esteemed in the Church.

v I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

vi But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

vii Nowe therefore there is altogether

hee doeth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another, it needs so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. iii Hee gathereth by a comparison that the iust cannot seeke to inflicke to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge their highest small causes, which may be by equitie and good conscience, determined. iv The conclusion, wherewith he prescribeth a remedie for this mischief is to wit, if they end their private affaires betwixt themselves by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, sayth he, is sufficient. Therefore hee condemneth not iudgement seuer, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the magistrate for hee speaketh not of iudgements which are practised betweene the iust and the infidels, neither of publique iudgements, but of controuersies which may be ended by private arbiters. v Courts and places of iudgements. vi Even the most abiection among you. vii He applieth the general proposition to a particular, alwayes calling them backe to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie, from whence all these mischiefs spring. viii Now hee goeth further also, and although by granting them private arbiters out of the Congregation of the faithfull, hee doeth not simply condemne, but rather establish private iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet hee sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not neede to vnto the remedie neither.

i Now hee speaketh of a generally a and that which hee speaketh of is the incessant person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are knowne to be wicked, and such as though their naughty life are a scandal to the Church, which ought to be by law, in order to be cast out of the community of the Church. And making mention of eating or drinking with them.

i The third question is of iudgements. Whether it be lawfull for one iust to draw another iust before the iudgement seate of an infidell? He answereth that it is not lawfull, but onely like, for it is not builded on it selfe. ii As if hee said, Are ye become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel laughing stocke to profane men? iii Before the vniust.

iv He addeth that if they are to require, it needs so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. v Hee gathereth by a comparison that the iust cannot seeke to inflicke to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge their highest small causes, which may be by equitie and good conscience, determined. vi The conclusion, wherewith he prescribeth a remedie for this mischief is to wit, if they end their private affaires betwixt themselves by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, sayth he, is sufficient. Therefore hee condemneth not iudgement seuer, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the magistrate for hee speaketh not of iudgements which are practised betweene the iust and the infidels, neither of publique iudgements, but of controuersies which may be ended by private arbiters. vii Courts and places of iudgements. viii Even the most abiection among you. ix He applieth the general proposition to a particular, alwayes calling them backe to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie, from whence all these mischiefs spring. x Now hee goeth further also, and although by granting them private arbiters out of the Congregation of the faithfull, hee doeth not simply condemne, but rather establish private iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet hee sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not neede to vnto the remedie neither.

A weaknesse of mind which is in them, that suffer themselves to be overcome by their lusts, and is a fault of the great temperance and moderation, so that he might be able to put up with some more than to them.

The posterity of the other part of the representation, to wit, that they went to have been under the law, whereas they should rather have suffered any harm, then to have given that offence, yet this is generally true, that we ought rather to suffer from our sin, than to be the cause of the law's hostility, and upon an infection to revenge an infection. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he saith that they must repent, whether they will or not, out of the abundance of his grace.

infirmities in you, that yee goe to law one with another: why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather sustaine ye not harme?

8 Nay, yee your selues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous shal not inherite the kingdome of God? Bee not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers,

10 Nor theeuers, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal inherite the kingdome of God.

11 And such were some of you: but yee are washed, but yee are sanctified, but yee are iustified, in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may do all things, but I will not bee brought vnder the power of any thing.

13 Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the bellie for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lord, and shall raise vs vp by his power.

15 Know ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 Doe yee not know, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? for two, faith he, shal be one flesh.

17 But he that is ioyned vnto the Lord, is one spirit.

8 Now hee prepareth himselfe to passe oner to the fourth treasure of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent: debating this matter first, how men may well vie women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimony, and single life. As for fornication, hee vtterly condemneth it, and marriage hee commandeth to some, as a good and necessary remedie for them, to others hee leaue it free: And other some hee disswader from it, not as vnlawfull, but as difcommodious, and that not without exception. As for singleness of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginity) he enioyneth it to no man: yet hee persuadeth men vnto it, but not for himselfe, but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception. And being about to speake against fornication, hee beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices, wherewith that rich and carnall cite most aboundeth: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is vnrepably ioyned with forgiveness of sinnes, and sanctification with iustification. 1st Tim. 3. 3. In Iesus. Chap. 10. 23. 9 Secondly, hee then eth that the Corinthians doe simply offend in matters indifferent. First, because they abused themselves, because they vied in indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vices them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and hee doeth not vie them right, which immediately abuseth them, and so becometh a snare vnto them. Whatsoever: but this generall word must be restrained to things that are indifferent. 10 Hee is in subiection to things that are indifferent, whatsoever be: be that thinketh hee may haue without them, which is a flattering kinde of flattery vnder a colour of liberty, which feasteth upon such men. 11 Secondly, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselves vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbered amongst meere naturall and lawfull desires, as well as meate and drinke. Therefore the Apostle sheweth that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates, though hee, were made for the necessary vse of mans life, which is not perpetuall. For meates, and all this manner of nourishing, are quickly abolished. But wee must not thinke of the vnlawfulness of fornication, for which the bodie is not made, but on the contrary side it is ordeined to purenesse, as it appeareth by this, that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuen vs of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue wherewith hee also rose againe. Romanes 6. 4. 12 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it. 13 A repetition of the same argument: An harlot and Christ are cleane contrary, so are the body and the Spirit: therefore hee that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot bee one with Christ, which vnitie is pure and spiritual. Grise: 2. 24. math. 19. 5. marke 10. 8. ephes. 5. 31. 14 Moses doeth not shew the words of fornication, but of marriage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnall and fleshly copulation, wee cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimonie. Again, Moses hath not the word (Two) but is very well exprest both here and in Matthew 19. 5. because hee speaketh only of man and wife: wherefore the opinion of them which vouch it to be lawfull to haue many wives, is beaten downe: for hee that compasseth with many, is iudged as if he were many parts.

18 Flee fornication: every sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 Knowe yee not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and ye are not your owne.

20 For yee are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

that our bodies are consecrate to God. Chap. 3. 17. 2. Cor. 6. 16. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soule, wee should serue to his glory. Chap. 7. 23. 1. pet. 1. 18.

CHAP. VII.

1 Intreating here of marriage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18 so hee willeth every man to liue contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the end of virginity should be, 55 and who ought to marrie.

Nowe concerning the things whereof yee wrote vnto me, it were good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuertheless, to auoyd fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 Let the husband giue vnto the wife due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that yee may giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 Therefore I say vnto the vnmarried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marry: for it is better to marrie then to burne.

10 And to the married I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart fro her husband.

11 But and if shee depart, let her remaine vnmarried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife that beleueth not, if he be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleueth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

not defraud one another. 4 He addeth an exception, vnto the one abstinence from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better giue themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, hee warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be stirred vp to incontinencie. do nothing els. 5 Fifthly, he teacheth that marriage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie: and his gift is by a peculiar grace of God. I wish. 6 Sixthly, he giueth the same admition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as haue the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their conscience may be at peace. This whole place is flat against them which condemne second marriages. 7 So to burne with lust, that either the willyeldeth to the temptation, or else we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience. Mat. 5. 32. and 19. 9. mar. 10. 11, 12. luke 16. 18. 8 Seventhly, he forbiddeth contentions and publishing of diuorces (for hee speaketh not here of the fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the law of the Romanes also) whereby hee affirmeth that the band of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christ his mouth. 9 Eighthly, hee affirmeth that those marriages which are already contracted betwene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull one infidel, are firme, so that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull.

13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kinde of filthinesse. 14 The third argument: Because a fornicator is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. Chap. 3. 17. 2. Cor. 6. 16. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soule, wee should serue to his glory. Chap. 7. 23. 1. pet. 1. 18.

1 Hee teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commoditie, which hee will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessary for the auoiding of fornication, but so that neither one man may haue many wives, nor any wife many husbands. 2 Touching those matters whereof you wrote vnto me, 3 commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefes with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate. 1. Pet. 3. 7. 2 Secondly, hee sheweth that the parties married, must with singular affection mutually looe one the other. This word (due) concerneth all kind of beneuolence, though hee speake more of one sort then of the other, in that thus followeth. 3 Thirdly, he warneth them that they are each in others power, as touching the body, that they may

9 He answereth an objection. But the faithfull is defiled by the society of the vnfaithfull. The Apostle desireth that, and prometh that the faithfull man with good conscience may use the vessel of his vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them, are accounted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is said to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy feed.

6 The godliuesse of the wife is more force to cause their coupling together to be accounted holy, then the infidelity of the husband is, so prophane the marriage. 7 The infidel is not sanctified or made holy in his owne person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her. 8 To the faithfull husband.

1 This place destroyeth the opinion of them that would not have children to be baptised, and sheweth opinion also, that make baptisme the very cause of salvation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by the virtue of the covenant, even before Baptisme, and Baptisme is added as the seal of that holinesse.

10 He answereth to a question: what if the vnfaithfull forsake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, sayth he, because he is to take o of the vnfaithfull. 11 When any such thing falleth out. 12 Left any man upon pretence of this libertie should giue occasion to the vnfaithfull to depart, hee giueth to understand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible the infidel may be wonne to the faith. 13 Taking occasion by that which hee sayd of the bondage and libertie of marriage, hee digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of mans life, as Circumcision and vncircumcision, seruitude and libertie: warning every man generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lord what state or condition former he be in, because that those outward things, as to be circumcised or vncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the kingdom of heauen.

14 Hee bound him to a certaine kinde of life. 15 Notwithstanding hee giueth vs to understand, that in these examples all are not of like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of itselfe to be desired, but such as are bound, may desire to be free. Therefore herein only they are equal, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hindrance to obey God. 16 Hee is said to gather his vncircumcision, who by the bolye of a Circumcisan, receaue an upper skinn: which is done by the drawing the skinn with ynstruments, to make it to cover the tun. Celsus in his 7. booke, and 25. chapter. 17 1 Tim. 6. 1. p. As though this calling were too unworthie a calling for Christ.

18 He that is in state of a strait, and is called to be a Christian. 19 Chap. 6. 12. 1 Tim. 18. 19. 20 He sheweth the reason of the vnlike kinde, because hee that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans tradition, and not to God. And this may bee much more vnderstande of superstition, which some doe foolishly accept for things indifferent. 21 A repetition of the generall doctrine. 22 So purely and from the heart, that your doings may bee approved before God. 23 Hee enioyneth virginity to a man, yet hee perswadeh and prayseth it for another respect, to wit, both for the necessity of the present time, because the faithfull could scarce abide in any place, and vie the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might bee the readier and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it of necessity, so that they cannot but haue their mindes distracted: and this hath place in women especially.

24 The circumstances considered, this I counsell you. 25 It is I that speake this which I am minded to speake: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthe credit, for I haue obtained of the Lorde to bee such an one. 26 To remaine a virgine. 27 For the necessitie which the Saints are daily subiect vnto, who are continually tossed up and downe, so that their estate may seeme most vnfit for marriage, were it not that the weakenesse of the flesh enforced them to it.

24 For the vnbeleeuing husband is sanctified to the wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified to the husband: else were your children vnleane: but now are they holy.

25 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in such things: but God hath called vs in peace.

26 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

27 But as God hath distributed to every man, as the Lord hath called every one, so let him walke, and so ordeine I in all Churches.

28 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not bee circumcised.

29 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

30 Let every man abide in the same vocation wherein hee was called.

31 Art thou called being a seruant? care not for it: but yet if thou mayest be free, vse it rather.

32 For he that is called in the Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christs seruant.

33 Ye are bought with a price: bee not the seruants of men.

34 Brethren, let every man wherein he was called, therein abide with God.

35 Nowe concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lord: but I giue mine aduise, as one that hath obtained mercie of the Lord to be faithfull.

36 I suppose then this to bee good for the present necessitie: I mean, that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marrie, she sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is a short, hereafter both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioycd not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vse this world, as though they vsed it not: for the fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The vnmarried careth for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But hee that is married, careth for the things of the worlde, howe hee may please his wife.

34 There is a difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but shee that is married, careth for the things of the world, how shee may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that yee follow that which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 But if any man thinke that it is vncome for his virgine, if shee passe the floure of her age, and need to require, let him doe what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Neuertheless, hee that standeth firme in his heart, that he hath no need, but hath power over his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that hee will keepe his virgine, hee doeth well.

38 So then hee that giueth her to marriage, doeth well, but hee that giueth her not to marriage, doeth better.

39 The wife is bound by the law, as long as her husband liueth: but if her husband bee dead, shee is at libertie to marrie with whom shee will, only in the Lord.

40 But shee is more blessed, if shee so abide in my iudgement: and I thinke, that I haue also the Spirit of God.

41 Hee is not to marrie, but to shewe them barely what kinde of life is most commodious.

42 Nowe hee turneth him to the Patents, in whose power and authoritie their children are, warning them, that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meete and conuenient for their children: that they neither deuide them of the necessarie remedie against incontinencie, nor contraine them to marriage, whereas neither their will doeth lead them, nor any necessitie vrgeth them. And againe hee praiseth virginity, but of it felie, and not in all. 43 Hee speaketh for Iohes expounded it verse 38. 44 Resolved with himselfe. 45 That the weakenesse of his daughter inforceeth him not, or any other master, but that hee may safely keepe a virgine still. 46 Provideb more commodiously for his children, and that not simply but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned. 47 That which hee saith of a widower, hee speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that shee may marrie againe, so that shee doe it in the feare of God: and yet hee differeth not, but sayth, that if she remaine still a widow, shee shall be void of many cares. 48 By the law of marriage. 49 Rom. 7. 1. 50 Religious, and in the feare of God. 51 1. Thess. 4. 8.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the ende of the tenth Chapter, hee willet them not to be as the Celsus prophane bookes. 2 Hee reprehendeth the abuse of Christian libertie, 3 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charitie.

By the flesh hee vnderstandeth what things seeme to belong to this present life for marriage bringeth with it many discomforts: so that hee should more to a sole life, not because it is a seruice more agreeable to Gods will, but for those commodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of: that they might giue themselves to God only.

2 I would your weakenesse were prouided for. 3 For we are vnto in the latter end of the world. 4 By weeping hee sheweth vnderstand all aduersities, and by ioy all prosperitie.

5 These things which God giueth vs here. 6 The wife, the shape and figure whereby hee is clothed, that there is nothing in the world that continueth.

7 They that are married, haue their minis drawn hither and thither, and therefore if any man haue the gift of continencie, it is more commendable for him to stand alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also. 8 Clem. Strom. 3. f. Minde.

9 Hee meaneth that hee will inforce many things to marriage.

10 Hee speaketh of his daughter inforceeth him not, or any other master, but that hee may safely keepe a virgine still. 11 Provideb more commodiously for his children, and that not simply but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned. 12 That which hee saith of a widower, hee speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that shee may marrie againe, so that shee doe it in the feare of God: and yet hee differeth not, but sayth, that if she remaine still a widow, shee shall be void of many cares. 13 By the law of marriage. 14 Rom. 7. 1. 15 Religious, and in the feare of God. 16 1. And

ANd as touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee knowe that wee all haue knowledge: knowledge<sup>b</sup> putteth vp, but loue<sup>c</sup> edifieth.

2 Now if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, hee knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4. <sup>2</sup> Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto <sup>4</sup> idoles, we know that an idole is <sup>6</sup> nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there bee that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods and many lords)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, <sup>f</sup> of whom are all things, and we <sup>g</sup> in him; and <sup>h</sup> one Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>i</sup> by whome are all things, and we by him.

7 But every one hath not that knowledge: for many hauing<sup>k</sup> conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake is defiled.

8 <sup>s</sup> But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue we the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heede leaft by any meanes this power of yours be an occaſion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 ¶ For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, bee boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idoles?

11 7 And through thy knowledge shall the 8 weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 <sup>8</sup> Now when yee finne so against the brethren, & wound their weake conscience, yee finne against Chrif.

13 ⁊ Wherefore if meate offende my brother, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

hadst true knowledge, thou wouldest not sitte downe to meate in an idoles temple wilt thou destroy thy brother hardning his weake conscience by thine example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath dyed? ¶ Rom. 14. 15. 8 other amplification: Such offering of our weake brethren redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not this men thinke that they haue to doe onely with their brethren. ¶ Rom. 14. 21. 9 The conclusion, which Paul concerneth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exas that of other, which hee will not bee first satisfi'd vnto himselfe. I had rather (sayeth hee) abstaine for euer from all kinde of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, whose life would I resalue in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to doe both offends to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 He declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gave him, 15 he willingly abstained, 18. 22 least in things indifferent he should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like unto a race.

AM<sup>i</sup> not an Apostle? am I not free? have I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke<sup>i</sup> in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse I am vnto you: for yee are the <sup>b</sup> seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 3 My defence to them that examine mee, is this,

4 4 Have wee not power to d eate and to drinke?

5 Or haue we not power to lead about a wife being a sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I only and Barnabas, haue not we power f not to worke?

7 ¶ Who goeth a warfare at any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 <sup>6</sup> Say I these things <sup>h</sup> according to man? faith not the Law the same also?

9<sup>o</sup> For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for the oxen?

10 Either sayeth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, & that hee that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conuersion. And all these things he saith before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wisdome that might be, debate themselves for the weakes sake, whereas the Apollie himselfe did all that hee coulde to winne them to God, when they were vicerely reprobate and without God. a By the Lord. b As a feale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apollieship. c Hee addeth thus by the way, as if hee would say, So faire it is off, that yee may doubt of my Apollieship that I vic to refigure them which call it to controuerse, by opposing thole things which the Lord hath done by me amongst you. c Which like Iudges examine mee and my doings. 4. Now touching the matter it telle, hee sayeth, Seeing that I am free, and truly an Apollie why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to Idoles, may) be maintained by my labours, yea, and keepe my wife alie, as the refuse of the Apollies lawfully doo, as by name, Iohn and Iam, the Lordes cou sin, and Peter Apollies'le. d Upon the expulse of the Church? e One that is a Christian and a true beleuer? f Not to lye by the work of our handes? That hee may not come to burden the Apollies, hee sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison. I seeing that soldiers lye by their wage, and be bounden by the fruites of their labours, and shepherds by that that cometh of their flockes, Preth to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly hee bringeth forth the authoritie of Iudas Iustification by an argument of comparison. b Have I not better ground then the common custome of men? c Deut. 25. 4. 1. tim. 5. 18. 1 Was it Gods prouident p. ouide for us, when be made this Law? for other wise there is not the smallest thing in the world but God hath a care of it.

sayeth hee, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath inioyned me this office: but in esse I doe it willingly and for the love of God, nothing is to

But I say, this were not to vie, but abuse my right and libertie. Therefore not onely in this thing, but also in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Christ, and might together with them bee welcome to Christ. o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it. ¶ Acts 16. 3. gal. 2. 3. p The word (Law) in this place must bee restrained to the ceremoniall Lawe. q In matters that are indifferent, which may bee done or not done with a good conscience: as if hee sayde, I changed my selfe into all fashions, that by all meanes I might saue some.
r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receive fruit by the Gospel.

11 He bringeth in another cause of this mischief, to wit, that they were given to gluttonie, for there were tollemne bankets of sacrifices, and the riote of the Priestes was alwayes too much celebrated a d kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to intemperance, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to bee restrained from these bankets: but contrariwise, the Apostle callecth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobriety and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they cannot bee fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Ithines were) which pampre up their bodies: and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vntill they take another course and trade of life. f Vntill a most exquisite diet.

11 ¶ If wee haue sown vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if we reape your carnall things?

12 ¶ If others with you bee partakers of this power, are not we rather? neuertheless we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13 ¶ Doe ye not knowe that they which minister about the holy things, eate of the things of the Temple? and they which wait at the altar, are partakers with the altar?

14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Gospel, should liue of the Gospel.

15 But I haue vsed none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.

16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessity is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.

17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my rewarde then? verily that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in the Gospel.

19 For though I bee free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I may winne the more.

20 ¶ And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder
the Law, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Law:

21 To them that are without Law, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Law:

22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.

23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.

24 Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.

25 And euery man that proueth masteries, abstaineth from all things: & they do it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.

26 I therefore so runne, not as vncertainly:
so fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre.

27 But I beat downe my body, & bring it into subiection, left by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my self should be reproboued.

CHAP. X.

1 If God spared not the Teme, neither will hee spare those who are of like condision, 2. 4 touching the outward signes of his grace. 14 That is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of deuils, who are partakers of the Lordes Supper. 24 To haue consideration of our neighbour in things indifferent.

Moreouer, brethren, I would not that ye should bee ignorant, that all our fathers were vnder that cloud, and all passed through that sea,

2 And were all baptized vnto Moses, in that cloude, and in that sea,

3 And did all eate the same spirituall meat,

4 And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the spiritual Rock that followed them: and the Rocke was Christ)

5 But with many of them God was not pleased:
for they were ouerthrowen in the wilderness.

6 Now these things are our ensamples, to the intent that we should not lust after euil things as they also lusted.

7 Neither bee ye idolaters as were some of them, as it is written, The people late downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.

8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one day three and twentie thousand.

9 Neither let vs tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted him, and were destroyed of serpents.

10 Neither murmure ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyers.

11 Now all these things come vnto them for ensamples, and were written to admonish vs, vpon whom the endes of the world are come.

12 Wherefore, let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall.

13 There hath no tentation taken you, but such as appertaineth to man: and God is faithful and conserue Christ. a Paul speaketh thus in respect of the covenant, and not in respect of the persons, saying in euery all. ¶ Exod. 13. 21. num. 9. 18. ¶ Exod. 14.

cannot bee changed, but they themselves. d Manna, which was a spirituall meate, was the thing signified, and the truth it selfe: for God doeth not offer a bare figure, but the thing signified by the figure, together with it, which is to bee receiued with faith.

¶ Num. 26. 65. h An amplifying of the example against them which carried away with their lusts beyond the bounds which God hath measured out.
For this is the beginning of all euill, as of idolatry (which hath gluttonie a componion vnto it) fornication, retelling against Christ, murder ring, and such like, which God punished most sharply in that olde people, to the end that they were which succeeded them, and haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by this take better heede. i Some reade figures: which signified our sacraments of circumcision was to the Jewes a seale of righteousness, and to vs a lively pattern of chastitie, and so in the other Sacraments. ¶ Num. 11. 4. and 26. 64. ¶ Psalme 106. 14. ¶ Exod.

they please not themselves, but rather that they present the subtilties of their hearts as virgins infatuation, and comforteth them, that bee may seeme to make them together like to those wicked idolaters and conuocates of Christ, which perished in the wilderness. i Which commeth of weaknesse.

which

which will not suffer you to be tempted about that you bee able, but will euen giue the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to beare it.

14 Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatrie.

15 I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iudge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we blesse, it is not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because wee all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the flesh: are not they which eate the sacrifices & partakers of the Altar?

19 What say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye should haue fellowship with the deuils.

21 Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lord, and the cup of the deuils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of the deuils.

22 Doe wee prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he?

23 All things are lawfull for mee, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

24 Let no man seeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.

25 Whatsoeuer is sold in the shambles, eate ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.

26 For the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleue not, call you to a feast, and if ye will goe, whatsoeuer is set before you, eate, asking no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is).

29 And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: for why should my libertie be condemned of another mans conscience.

30 For if I through Gods benefit be partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thanks?

31 Whether therefore yee eate, or drinke, or whatsoeuer ye doe, do all to the glory of God.

32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Euen as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profit of many, that they might be saved.

seeke not our selues, but Gods glory, and so the saluation of many as we may: wherein the Apostle sticketh not to propound himselfe to the Corinthians (men his owne flocke) as an example, but so that hee callth them backe to Christ, vnto whom he himselfe hath regard.

CHAP XI.

1 Hee blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men doe pray hauing their heads covered, 6 and women bare headed, and because their meeting tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane banquets with the holy Supper of the Lords, 23 which bee required to be celebrated according to Christs institution.

BE ye followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ.

2 Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 But I will that ye know, that Christ is the head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is Christs head.

4 Euery man praying or prophesying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 But euery woman that prayeth or prophesieth bareheaded, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though shee were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered.

7 For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as he is the image & glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

10 Therefore ought the woman to haue power on her head, because of the Angels.

and make not onely of doctrine, but also of ecclesiasticall complices. Then applying it to the question proposed, touching the comely apparrell both of men and women in publicke assemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is so subiect to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminence of the sexe. Ephes. 5.23. In this, that Christ is our mediator. 3 Hee colhe gathereth that if men doe either pray or preach in publicke assemblies hauing their heads couered (which was then a signe of subiection) they did as it were spurne themselves of their dignitie, against Gods ordinance. 6 It appeareth that this was a politike law serving onely for the circumstances of the time: that Paul liued in, by this reason, because in these our dayes for a man to speake bareheaded in an assembly, is a signe of subiection. 4 And in like sort hee concludeth, that women which shew themselves in publicke and ecclesiasticall assemblies without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, vncouered, shame themselves. 5 The first argument taken from the common sense of man, for such as name teache the women, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bareheaded, seeing that the hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they doe so diligently trimme & decke, that they can in no wise abide to haue it shauen. 6 The taking away of an obiection: Have not men also haire giuen them? I grant, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this end and purpose, that the glory of God should appeare in his rule and authority: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband. Gen. 1.26. and 5.1. and 9.6. coloff. 3.10. 7 Hee proueth the iniquitie of the woman by that that the man is the matter whereof the woman was first made. Gen. 2.22. 8 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans sake. 9 The conclusion: Women must be couered, to shew by this external signe their subiection. c. A cuering which is a token of subiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderstand.

11.11 Neuer

God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man, to profit withall.

8 For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom: and to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is given faith by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the operations of great works: and to another, prophesie: and to another, the discerning of spirits: and to another, diversities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man severally as he will.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: euen so is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are wee all baptized into one body, whether we be Iewes, or Grecians, whether we be bond, or free, and haue bene all made to drink into one Spirit.

14 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But nowe hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the bodie?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the bodie, which seeme to bee more feeble, are necessary.

23 And vpon those members of the bodie, which wee thinke most vn honest, put we more honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelineffe on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked.

25 Left there should be any diuision in the bodie: but that the members should haue the same care one for another.

26 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your part.

28 And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, helpers, gouernours, diuersitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 But desire you the best gifts, and I will yet shew you a more excellent way.

minutie both his commodities, and discomforts, of the smaller and vnder officers, and therefore specially accounted of, of the rest. q Wee must carefully conserue them. r Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preservation of the whole body. s Nowe bee applyed the same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are diuers functions and diuers gifts, it is their dutie, not to offend one against another, either by enuie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in loue and charitie one with another euery one of them bestow to the profite of all, that which he hath receiued, according as his ministry doeth require. f For all Churches wherefoeuer they are dispersed thorow the whole world, are diuers members of one body. g Ephesians 4. 11. u The offices of Deacons. w He setteth forth the order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline. x See trauerseth them that are ambitious and enuious, a certaine holy ambition and enuie, to wit, if they giue themselves to the best gifts, and such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excell one another in loue, which firste passeth all other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Her sheweth that there are no gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if (charitie bee away) and therefore be digresth vnto the commendation of it.

Though I speake with the tongues of men and Angels, and haue no loue, I am as sounding brasie, or a tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophesie, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all faith, so that I could remoue mountains, and had not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I bee burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth mee nothing.

12. Nowe on the other side, hee speaketh vnto them which were indeed with more excellent gifts, willing them not to despise the inferior as vnprofitable, and as though they served to no vse for God, sayeth hee, I am in such sort tempered, that the more excellent and beautiful members can in no wise lacke the more abject and such as we are otherwise of, and that they should haue more care to see vnto them, and to conserue them: that by this means the secretie which is in both parts might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that al though each part be considered as partly they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet because they are ioyned together, they haue a com-

1. He reuereeth first of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God, which thing he proueth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the ende, wherefore those gifts are giuen. For to what purpose are those gifts, but to Gods glory and the profite of the Church, as is be ore proued: so that those gifts without Charitie, haue no right vse. a A very earnest kinde of amplifying a matter, as if hee sayd, If there were euery tongue of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing els but a vaine and prouling kind of boasting. b That giueth a trade and no certaine sound. c By faith, he remembreth the gift of doing miracles, and not as faith which is in itselfe, which cannot be void of Charitie as the other may. d Mat. 17. 20.

a He defendeth the. are and as nature of charitie, partly by a comparison of comarities, and partly by the effects of it selfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderstand both how profitable it is in the Church, and how necessary: and also how sure they are from it, and therefore how valiey and without cause they are proud.

d Word for word defendeth writeth. e It is not commendation. f Reioiceth at righteousness in the righte. For the h alowes us much by such righteousness. g Against he commendeth the excellencie of charitie, in that that it shall never be abolished in the Saints, whereas the other gifts which are necessary for the building vp of the Church, so long as we live here, shall have no place in the world to come. h The way to get knowledge by prophecyng. i The reason: Because we are now in that state, that wee thus neede to learne dayly, and therefore we have neede of those helpe, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and also of them that teach them. But to what purpose learne they then, when wee haue obtained: gotten the full knowledge of God, which serues now but for them which are imperfect, and goe by the great perfection? k We learne imperfectly. l He setteth forth that that hee sayde, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancy or childhood, wherein wee stagger and stammer rather than speake, and thinke and vnderstand but childish things, and therefore haue neede of such things: as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when wee become men, to what purpose shoulde wee desire that stammering, those childish toys, and such like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little? m The applying of the similitude of our childhood to this present life, wherein wee darkely beholde heavenly things, according to the small measure of light which is giuen vs, through the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church of our mans age and strength, to that heavenly and eternal life, wherein when wee beholde God himselfe present, and are lighted with his full and perfect light, to what purpose shoulde wee desire the voice of man, and those worldly things which are so most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints bee knit both with God, and betweene themselves with most feruent loue, and therefore charitie shall not be abolished, but perfected, although it shall not bee shewed forth and entertained by such manner of duties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmities of this life. n All this must be vnderstood by comparison. o The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now we haue three things, and they remaine for as wee bee Christes, as without which true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among these, charitie is the chiefest, because it reacheth not in the life to come as the rest doe, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised, and are to come, when wee haue perfectly gotten them, to what purpose shoulde wee haue faith and hope? but yet these at length shall wee truly and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIII.

a Hee commendeth the gift of prophecyng, 7 and by a similitude taken of muscalle instruments, 17 hee teacheth the true use of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 hee taketh away the abuse: 34 And forbiddeth women to speake in the Congregation.

a He inferreth no v of that, that he spake before:

Therefore seeing charitie is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chiefest and principall: and so esteeme those things as most excellent, which profite the greater part of men: (as prophecyng, that is to say, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in respect of other gifts, although it be the chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a few seeme to be marvellous, as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet at it selfe was not greatly to any v, unless there were an interpreter, a What prophecyng is, be sheweth in the third verse.

Followe after loue, and couet spirituall gifts, and rather that ye may prophesie.

a For hee that speaketh a strange tongue, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the spirit he speaketh secret things.

But he that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men to edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

Hee that speaketh strange language, edifieth himselfe: but hee that prophesieth, edifieth the Church.

I would that ye all spake strange languages, but rather that yee prophesied: for greater is hee that prophesieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

And now, brethren, If I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecyng, or by doctrine?

Moreover things without life which giue a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the sounde, howe shall it be known what is piped or harped?

And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to batle?

So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that haue signification, how shall it be vnderstood what is spoken? for ye shall speake in the ayre.

There are so many kindes of voices (as it commeth to passe) in the world, and none of them is dumbe.

Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall vnto him that speaketh a Barbarian, and he that speaketh, shall be a Barbarian vnto me.

Euen so, forasmuch as yee couet spirituall gifts, seeke that ye may excel vnto the edifying of the Church.

Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, pray that he may interpret.

For if I pray in a strange tongue, my spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is without fruit.

What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also.

Else, when thou blestest with the spirit, how shall hee that occupieth the roume of the vnlearned, say Amen, at thy giuing of thanks,

the spirit, which notwithstanding bee abuseth, when he speaketh mysteries which none of the company can vnderstand. d Which may further men in the study of godliness. e The company. f He setteth forth that which hee sayd, by a similitude which he borroweth and taketh from instruments of musike: which although they speake not perfectly, yet they are distinguished by their sound, that they may bee better vied. g Thus doe they utter themselves selfe. h Hee proueth that interpretation is necessary to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifold variety of languages, inasmuch that if one speake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he spake not. i As the Papists in all their sermons, and they that ambitiously pour out some Hebrew or Greeke word in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning. j The conclusion: if they will excell in those spirituall gifts, as it is meete, they must seeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they must not vie the gift of tongues, unless there be an interpreter to expound the strange and vknown tongue, whether it bee himselfe that speaketh, or another interpreter. k Pray for the gift of interpretation. l A reason: Because it is not sufficient for vs to speake so in the Congregation, that wee our selues doe worship God in spirit, that is, according to the gift that we haue receiued, but we must also bee vnderstood of the company, lest that be vnprofitable to other which wee haue spoken. m If I pray, when the Church is assembled together in a strange tongue. n The gift and inspiration which the spirit giueh me, doeth his part, but only to my selfe. o I do not commeth to the Church by my prayers. p So that I may bee vnderstood of others, and may instruct others. q Another reason: Seeing that the whole congregation must agree to him that speaketh, and also witness this agreement, how shall they giue their assent or agreement which know not what is spoken? r Only without all consideration of the hearers. s He that sticheth as a private man. t So then we vttered the prayers, and all the company answered, Amen.

Seeing

seeing he knoweth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verely giuest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speake 5 fine wordes with nine vnderstanding, than I might also instruct others, then ten thousand wordes in a strange tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in vnderstanding, but as concerning malicioufnes be children, but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the Law it is written, By men of other tongues, & by other languages will I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare mee, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleue, but to them that beleue not: but prophesying serueth not for them that beleue not, but for them which beleue.

23 If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are vblearned, or they which beleue not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophesie, and there come in one that beleueth not, or one vblearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all,

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall downe on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you in deede.

26 What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalm, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 Let the Prophets speake, two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing bee reueiled to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophesie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.

32 And the spirits of the Prophets, are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to be subiect, as also the Law saith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.

36 Came the worde of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to be a Prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 And if any man be ignorant, let him bee ignorant.

39 Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophesie, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

for such as be stubbornly ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to goe forward notwithstanding in those things which are right: 18 Prophecie ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospell that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saue Christ. 9 Hee had persecuted that Church, whereof afterwarde he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and wee all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemy, death. 29 To be baptised for dead. 32 As Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 53 We shall all bee changed, wee shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting. 57 Victorie. 58 Conquar and deadest sinne.

Moreouer, brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospell, which I preached vnto you, which yee haue also received, and wherein yee continue,

2 And whereby yee are saued, if yee keepe in memory, after what maner I preached it vnto you, except yee haue beleued in vaine.

3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, howe that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the Scriptures,

4 And that he was buried, and that hee arose the third day according to the Scriptures,

5 And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue.

6 After that, he was seene of more then fiftie hundred brethren at once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more abundantly then they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue yee beleued.

12 Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen

then, and last of all by his owne. Gal. 1. 1. In the possession whereof you continue yet. b Which is very absurd, and cannot be, but that they that beleue, much reape the fruite of faith. c Jha. 5. 5. 1. peter 2. 24. 1. Iohn 2. 19. d Of those twelue picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelue, though Judas was put out of the number. e Not as fewe all times, but together aid at one instant. f Actes 9. 5. g Hee mainteined by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might bee of force and weight amongst them. In the meane season hee compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine arte with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferior to them all. h Ephes. 3. 8. i Ephes. 3. 7. k The first argument to proue it at there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

16 A general conclusion of the right vse of spiritual gifts in assemblies, with a sharpe reprehension, leaue the Corinthians might all seeme to themselves to be wise. 17 Skillful in knowing and iudging spiritual things. 18 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubbornly ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to goe forward notwithstanding in those things which are right: 18 Prophecie ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

1 The six h treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection: and he vseth a translation, or pausing once from one matter to another, shewing first, that he bringeth no new thing, to the end that the Corinthians might vnderstande that they had begun to swaue from the right course: and next that he giveth not about to entreape of a trifling matter, but of an other chiefe point of the Gospel which if it be ken away, their faith must needs come to nought, and so at the length he begins in this treatise at Christs resurrection which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimonie of the Scriptures, and by the witness of the Apostles and of more then fiftie hundred brethren, and last of all by his owne. Gal. 1. 1. In the possession whereof you continue yet. b Which is very absurd, and cannot be, but that they that beleue, much reape the fruite of faith. c Jha. 5. 5. 1. peter 2. 24. 1. Iohn 2. 19. d Of those twelue picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelue, though Judas was put out of the number. e Not as fewe all times, but together aid at one instant. f Actes 9. 5. g Hee mainteined by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might bee of force and weight amongst them. In the meane season hee compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine arte with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferior to them all. h Ephes. 3. 8. i Ephes. 3. 7. k The first argument to proue it at there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

4 The second by an absurditie. If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ risen againe.

5 The proofe of the absurditie by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe, the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gave vnto it is in vaine, and we are liars.

6 We repeateth the same argument taken of an absurditie, purposing to shewe how faith is in vaine if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.

7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should we beleene that our sinnes were forgiven vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death.

8 They are yet in their sinnes, which are not satisfied, nor have obtained remission of their sinnes.

9 Secondly, vnto this bee certaine that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ, are perished. So then what profite cometh of faith?

10 The third argument, which is also taken from an absurditie: For vnto this there be another life, wherein such as trust and beleene in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable.

11 A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen againe. Christ is risen againe: Therefore shall wee the faithfull (for of them he speaketh) rise againe: Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set forth vnto vs, to bee considered of, not as a private man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruite: And hee taketh that which was knowne to all men, to wit, that the whole beape is sanctified in the first fruite.

12 Coloss. 1.18. reuelat. 1.5. f Hee alleudeth to the first fruite of corne, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruite.

13 Another confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that is from one man Adam, sinne came over all, so from one man Christ, life cometh vnto all: that is to say, that all the faithfull, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him.

14 Hee doeth two things together: for hee sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding hee farre passed them, both in time (for hee was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and glorie. Then by this occasion hee passeth to the next argument.

15 1. Thessa. 4. 13. The fourth argument, wherewith also hee confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the manner of his reigne, that the Father will bee shewed to bee King in his Sonnes who was made man, to whom all things are made subiect (the promiser onely except) to the ende that the Father may afterwards triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And hee maketh two partes of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne, wherein the Fathers glorie consisteth: to wit, the overcoming of his enemies (whereof some must bee deprived of all power, as Satan and all the wicked: bee they neuer so proude and mightie, and other must bee utterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuerie of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set forth the body of the Church, clearing fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glorie, as a king in his subiects.

Moreover, hee putteth the first degree of this kingdome in the resurrection of his Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full conuersion of the members with the head, which shall bee in the latter day. Nowe all these tendre to this purpose, to shewe that vnto the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can bee King alone all, neither Christ bee Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death bee overcome, nor the glory of God bee full in his Sonne, nor his Sonnes in his members.

h The shutting up and finishing of all things. i All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they haue. 1. Pet. 1.10. 1. Act. 1.34. 1. Pet. 1.13 and 10.13.

from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 ¶ For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 ¶ And if Christ bee not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

15 And wee are found also false witnesses of God: for we haue testified of God, that hee hath raised vp Christ: whom he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 ¶ For if the dead bee not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vaine: ye are yet in your sinnes.

18 ¶ And so they which are asleepe in Christ, are perished.

19 ¶ If in this life onely wee haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 ¶ But nowe is Christ risen from the dead, and was made the first fruite of them that slepe.

21 ¶ For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, euen so in Christ shall all be made alieue, 23 ¶ But every man in his owne order: the first fruite is Christ, afterwarde, they that are of Christ, at his conuincing shall rise againe.

24 ¶ Then shall be the ende, when he hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when hee hath put downe all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For hee must reigne: till he hath put all his enemies vnder his feete.

26 ¶ The last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 ¶ For hee hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when hee saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that hee is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him)

28 And when all things shall be subdued vnto him, then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that is God may be all in all.

29 ¶ Else what shall they doe which are baptized for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 ¶ Why are wee also in iopardie eury houre?

31 By our reioicing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 ¶ If I haue fought with beasts at Ephesus after the maner of men, what aduantage it mee, if the dead bee not raised vp? ¶ let vs eate and drinke: for to morrowe wee shall die.

33 ¶ Be not deceived: euil speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 ¶ But some man will say, Howe are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they forth?

36 ¶ O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall bee, but bare corne as it falleth of wheat, or of some other.

38 ¶ But God giueth it a body at his pleasure, shew together with vs. August booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie.

By this high kinde of speech, is set forth an incomprehensible glorie which floweth from God, and that full of vs, as we are ioynted together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reuerence his preeminence. ¶ The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptisme, is this, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedie against death, because that Baptisme is a token of regeneration.

¶ They that are baptized, as this end and purpose, that death may be put out of them, or to rise againe from the dead, wherof baptisme is a scale. ¶ The sixth argument: Vnto this there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily call themselves into danger of so many deaths?

¶ As though hee said, I die daily, as all the seruises I suffer can well witness, which I may truly boast of, that I haue suffered many times. ¶ The taking away of an objection: but thou Paul didst ambitionally as commonly men are wont to doe, when thou diddest fight with beasts at Ephesus: This is very like, saith Paul, for what could that aduantage me, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for?

¶ Not vpon any godly mission, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but carried away with vaine glory, or a certaine headier selfe. ¶ 1. Pet. 2.13. ¶ The seventh argument, which dependeth vpon the last: if there be no resurrection of the dead, why doe we glue our selues to any thing els, as to eating and drinking? ¶ These are speeches that Epicurus vses.

¶ The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heed of the naughtie companie of carnest: from whence hee sheweth that this mischance sprang: warning them to bee wise with sobrietie vnto righteousnesse. ¶ Nowe that hee hath proued the resurrection, hee discovereth their doubtfulness, in that they scoffingly demanded, howe it could bee that the dead should rise againe, and if they did rise againe, they asked mockingly, what manner of bodies they should haue. Therefore hee toucheth these fellows which seemed to themselves to bee malicious wife and winne, to be instructed of poore rude husbandmen.

¶ Thou mightest haue learned either of these, saith Paul, by dayly experiences for feedes are sowne, and rotte, and yet notwithstanding so farre it is off, that they perish, that contrariwise they growe up farre more beautiful: and whereas they are sowne naked and drie, they spring up greene from death by the vertue of God: and doth it seeme incredible to these that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that indueed with a faire more excellent qualitie? ¶ We see a diuersitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath now one forme and then another, and yet hee keepeth it owne kinde: as it is euen in a graine which is sowne bare, but springeth up faine after another sort: and also in diuers kinde of one selfe same sort, as among beasts: and also among things of diuers sortes, as the heavenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also diue very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why wee should reieck either the resurrection of the bodies, or the changing of them into a better state, as being impossible, or strange.

¶ Christ is comforted here, as he appeared in the forme of a servant, in which respect hee reuolunt the Church, as bread, and that because this power was giuen him of his Father.

¶ The shutting up of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the parts: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feete, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued vnder him.

¶ 1. Pet. 3.8. ¶ Not because the same man was subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distress, and not yet wholly partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which be in the ground, shall not be glorified until the resurrection.

¶ Christ as he is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subiect to his Father.

¶ By this high kinde of speech, is set forth an incomprehensible glorie which floweth from God, and that full of vs, as we are ioynted together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reuerence his preeminence.

¶ The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptisme, is this, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedie against death, because that Baptisme is a token of regeneration.

¶ They that are baptized, as this end and purpose, that death may be put out of them, or to rise againe from the dead, wherof baptisme is a scale.

¶ As though hee said, I die daily, as all the seruises I suffer can well witness, which I may truly boast of, that I haue suffered many times.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath suffered in Asia, 10 and how happily God afflicted him.
17 He saith it was not upon any lightness, that he came not,
according to his promise.

1. See the declaration of such salutations in the 100.
mer Epistles.

PAVL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:

Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort,

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, 3 that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith wee our selues are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is wrought in the enduring of the same sufferings, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as wee know, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 For brethren, we would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how we were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, we received the sentence of death in our selues, because wee should not trust in our selues, but in God which raiseth the dead.

10 To him be praise and glorie given.
11 Most mercifull 3 The Lord doeth comfort vs to this ende and purpose, that wee may so much the more surely comfort others.
12 The mi-series which wee suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in vs.
13 Hee denyeth that either his afflictions wherewith hee was often afflicted, or the consolation which hee received of God, may iustly be despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occasion to be comforted by either of them.
14 Although saluation be given vs freely, yet because there is a way appa-red vs wherby we must come to it, which is the race of an innocents and upright life, which wee must runne, therefore wee are foyde to worke our saluation, Philippians 2. 12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore is hee foyde to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which wee must passe to everlasting life after that wee haue once overcome all incom-brances.
15 Hee willeth that hee is not onely not ashamed of his afflictions, but that hee desireth also to haue all men know the greatnesse of them, and also his deliuerie from them, although it be not yet perfected. 16 I knowe not at all what I doe, neither did I see by mans helpe which way I saw my life. 17 I was resolved with in my selfe to die.

10 Who deliuered vs from so great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs,

11 So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, 7 that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thanks may be giuen by many persons for vs.

12 For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly purenesse, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God wee haue had our conuersation in the world, and most of all to youwards.

13 For wee write none other things vnto you, then that yee reade or els that yee acknowledge, and I trust yee shall acknowledge vnto the end.

14 Euen as yee haue acknowledged vs partly,
that we are your reioycing, euen as ye are ours,
in the day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that yee might haue had a double grace,

16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightnesse? or minde I those things which I minde, according to the flesh, that with mee should be, yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 Yea, God is faithful, that our word toward you was not Yea, and Nay.

19 For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by mee, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, I was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in him Amen, vnto the glory of God through vs.

Gospel, Paul agreed not to himselfe: for this was the matter and the cause. 8 As men doe, which will rashly promise any thing, and change their purpose at every turning of a hand. 9 That I should say and vnay a thing? 10 Hee calleth God to wit-nesse, and for iudge of his constancie in preaching and teaching one selfe same Gosoyneith also with himselfe, his fellowes as witnesses, with whom hee fully concurred in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ. 13 Was not diuers and aueraging. 14 That is, in God. 15 Last of all hee declareth the firmnesse of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of saluation are fore and raised in Christ. 16 Christ is set forth to exhibite and fulfill them all most assuredly and without all doubt. 17 Through our ministerie.

dangers.
2 Rom. 15. 30.

6 That hee may not seeme to boast himselfe, hee attrib-beth all to God,
and therewith
also confesseth that hee attribut-eth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto
to vs.

8 Secondly he pur-eth away an other slander, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not likely to be confident, seeing that he promised to come vnto them,
and came not.
And first hee speaketh of the simplicitie of his mind,
and sinceritie,
which they know
both by his verbalment, and by the
when he was pro-tent & they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and more once hee pro-testeth that he will never be otherwise.

the Corinthians,
that in the preaching of the Gospel,
Paul agreed not to

was the matter and the cause. 8 As men doe, which will rashly promise any thing, and change their purpose at every turning

I should say and

Hee calleth God to 22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath given the y earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

33 <sup>14</sup> Now, I call God for a record vnto my 2 soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 <sup>15</sup> Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but wee are helpers of your a ioy: for by faith ye stand.

Impellers doe know all this to bee true. y An earnest, is, what- vely not lightly alter his purpose of comming to them, but rather

CHAP. II.

1 Hee excoſeth him not comming into them, 2 and priuily reprobeth them. 3 Hee ſpeaketh that ſuch is his affection towards them, 4 that he neuer reioycest but when they are merrie. 5 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom hee commanded to be deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, hee requeſteth that they forgive him. 6 He mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BVt I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in a heavinesse.

2 For if I make you forie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made forie by me?

3 And I wrote this same thing vnto you, lest when I came, I should take heauinesse of them of whom I ought to reioyce: this<sup>b</sup> confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee should be made fory, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you.

5 And if any hath caused sorowe, the same hath not made me sorow, but partly (lest I should more charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that hee was rebuked of many.

7 So that nowe contrariwise yee ought rather to <sup>f</sup>forgiue him, and comfort him, lest the same should bee swallowed vp with ouermuch heauineffe.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would confirm your loue towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write, that I might know the prooffe of you, whether yee would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom yee forgieue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgauē any thing, to whom I forgauē it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the<sup>h</sup> fight of Christ.

11 Left Satan should circumvent vs: for we are not ignorant of his i enterprifes.

12 ¶ Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christes Gospel, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thanks be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the k saour of his knowledge by vs in eue-ry place.

15 ¶ For we are vnto God the sweet sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the fauour of death, vii-to death, and to the other the fauour of life, vnto life, 4 and who is sufficient for these things?

merchandise of the word of God: but as of sinſtine, he putteth away all ſuſpicion of arrogance, attributing all to the vertue of God, whom he ſerueſh ſincerely, and without al-lowe thereof hee maketh them witneſſes even to the firſt verſe of chap. 4. 2. I Wee doe not handle it craftily and couiſouſly, or leſſe thought: and hee vſeth a metaphor which is taken from bucklers; & ſayeth hee ſhall with his ſword comeſh into their hands.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee desireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 Hee is a minister, not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 Hee sheweth the difference of the Law, and the Gospel, 13 that the brightness of the Law doth rather dimme the light then lighten it: 18 But the Gospel doth make manifest Gods commendation unto us.

DOe we begin to prayse our felues againe? or neede we as some other, Epistles of recommendations vnto you, or letters of recommendations from you?

2 Yee are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is understood and read of all men.

3 In that ye are manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, <sup>b</sup> ministred by vs, and written, not with incke, but with the Spirit of the <sup>c</sup> liuing God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such d trust haue we through Christ to God :

5 Not that wee are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing as of our selues: but our suffi-ciencie is of God.

6 Who also hath made vs able ministers of the Newe Testament, not of the f letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

7 If then the ministratiō of death written with letters & ingrauen in stones, was <sup>h</sup> glorious, so that the children of Israel could not beholde the face of Moses, for the glorie of his ood of Leni, with the ministerie of the Gospel, and the Apostles which hee handleth afterward more fully. d This bolanesse we ministerie and his fellowes : that is to say, the ministerie of the Gospell with the ministerie of the Law, which hee considereth in the person whom the Lawe was giuen : against whom hee setteth Christ the auerſar. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the pe. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the Law as it were a writing of it selfe dead, and without efficacy for new covenant, is as it were the very vertice of God it selfe, in writing, and fusing of men. The Law propoundeth death, accusing all of sinnesse: The Gospel offereth and giueth righteousnesse and life: The Law serueth for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth countenance

Whereby God of ferveth you and giveth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life.
k To wit, of Christ,
which being impa-
red to vs as our owne, we are not only condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous.

l The Law you are in commande-
ments themselves, whereby which Moses is abolished, if we consider the ministrie of Moses apart by it selfe.

3 Hee sheweth
wherein standeth
this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that it is fet forth forth plainly and evidently, that which the Lawe
shewed darkely,
for he sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ,
which was to come after it had wounded them.

4 Exod. 34. 34.

4 He expoundeth
by the way the allegorie of Moses his covering, which was a token of the darkness and weaknesse that is in men, which were rather dilled by the bright shining of the Lawe, then lightened: which covering was taken away by the coming of Christ, who lighteth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that wee may be brought from the flauerie of this blindness, and set in the libertie of the light, by the vertue of Christs Spirit. m Into the very bosome of Moses his ministrie.
n Christ is that Spirit, which taketh away that covering by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law is selfe called vs, though in vaine, because it speaketh to dead men, to kill the spirit quickeneth vs. o Jobn 4. 14. 5 Going forwards in the allegorie of the conering, he compareth the Gospel to a glasse, which although it be most bright and sparkling, yet doth it not onely not dazzle their eyes, which looke in it, as the Law doeth, but also transformeth them with it: beames, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd vnto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the onely light. Wee are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because wee are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that cometh after, and that setting them his owne example and his followers.

1 Now he plainly will assest that both he and his followers through the mercy of God
do their vocation
and duty vprightly
and sincerely neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in pieces
with miseries and calumnies, yet we yeld not.

b Subtiltie, and all kinde of deceit, which men haue after, as we dream and lurking holes, to couer their shamelesse dealings withall. c This is that in the former Chapter he called, making merchandise of the word of God. 2 An obiection Many heare the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby, then by the preaching of the Law. Hee answereth, The fault is in the men themselves, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who sleeth in this world. And yet notwithstanding doth he and his li. will set forth the most care light of the Gospel to bee seene and beloved, seeing that Christ whom onely they praise, is he in whom onely God will be known, and as it were seene.

countenance (which glory is done away)

8 How shall not the ministrie of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministrie of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministrie of righteousnes exceed in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which should bee abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth be glorious.

12 Seeing then that we haue such trust, we vie great boldnesse of speech.

13 And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israell should not looke vnto the ende of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntil this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is layd ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheless, when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall be taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is libertie.

18 But we all behold as in a mirrour the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

19 Now he plainly will assest that
both he and his followers through
the mercy of God
do their vocation
and duty vprightly
and sincerely neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in pieces
with miseries and calumnies, yet we yeld not.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee sheweth that he hath so laboured in preaching the Gospel, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subiect to many miseries: 16 and therefore bee exhorteth them by his owne example to be courageous, 17 and contemne this present life.

Therefore, seeing that wee haue this ministrie, as we haue receiued mercie, we faint not:

2 But haue cast from vs the clokes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the word of God deceitfully: but in declaration of the truth we approue our selues to euery mans conscience in the light of God.

3 If our Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 Now he plainly will assest that
both he and his followers through
the mercy of God
do their vocation
and duty vprightly
and sincerely neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in pieces
with miseries and calumnies, yet we
yeld not.

4 In whom the god of this world hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the image of God should not shine vnto them.

5 For wee preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, and our selues your seruants for Iesus sake.

6 For God that commanded the light to shine out of darkenesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 But wee haue this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 We are afflicted on every side, yet are wee not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 Euery where we beare about in our body the dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might bee made manifest in our mortall flesh.

12 So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 And because we haue the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I beleueed, and therefore haue I spoken, wee also beleuee, and therefore speake,

14 Knowing that he which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.

15 For all things are for your sakes, that that most plenteous grace by the thankgiuing of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 Therefore we faint not, but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed daily.

17 For our light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre most excellent and an eternall weight of glory:

18 While wee looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene:
for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

hee, that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mannes vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but neuer perish. 6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the vertue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which appeareth that death. 7 So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithful, but specially, the ministers, are in. 8 Which line that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ moment so many and so great miseries. 9 Subiect to that miserable condition. 10 A very conuincing conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, wee die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, and they ceased not to confirme all the faithful with the examples of their patience. 11 He declarath the former sentence, shewing that he and his followers doe in a sort to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselves doe first beleeeve that, which they propound to others to beleeeue, to wit, that they also shall be saved together with them in Christ. 12 The same faith by the inspiration of the same Spirit. 13 Rehearseth. 14. 15 Hee sheweth how this constancie is preferred in them, to wit, because they respect not Gods glory, and the saluation of the Churches committed vnto them. 16 When is thou please God to deliuer mee, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefite which shall be poured vpon mee, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thankgiuing of many. 17 Hee addeth as it were a triumphall song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he profiteth daily, and suffereth not at all for all the miseries that may be sustained in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glory. 18 Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not overcome with the miseries which come freshly on vpon the miseries of another, being maintained and upholden with the strength of the inward man. 19 Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselves, but because they pass away quickly, when as we lead our whole life in of no great long continuance. 20 Which he maintaineth for our firme and stable, and can neuer be shaken.

CHAP. V.

1 He continueth in the same argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of saluation 8 through faith, 12 not to praise himselfe, 14 Iesus hee hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeis nothing but newnesse of life in Christ.

FOR we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore wee sigh, desiring to bee clothed with our house, which is from heauen.

3 Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found naked.

4 For in deede we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened because we would not bee vnclouthed, but would be clothed vpon, that mortallitie might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And he that hath created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 Therefore we are alway bold, though we know that whiles we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For wee walke by faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuerthelesse, we are bold, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we couet, that both dwelling at home, and remouing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 For wee must all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that every man may receiue the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 Knowing therefore that the terror of the Lord, we perfwade men, and wee are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 For we praise not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that ye may haue to answer against them, which reioyce in the face, and not in the heart.

the heavenly house, that is, with that everlasting and immortal glory, as with a garment: for when we depart hence, we shall not reme naked, haue one cast off the coting of this body, but wee shall take our bodies againe, which shall put on, as it were, another garment besides: and therefore wee sigh not because we are in this life, but for the desire of a better life. Neither is this desire in vaine, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof we haue, even the Spirit of adoption. 16. 15. 6. Hee meaneis that first creation, to giue vs to himselfe, that our bodies were made to this end, that they should be clothed with heavenly immortality. 3 Hee inferreth vpon that sentence which we read before, that, Therefore, seeing that we know by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this variance (for we are now in with God, that we beholde him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so, that we desire and haue a longing alway to him: therefore also wee behaue our selues so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we live here, and when we goe from hence to him. d He calleth them (bolde) which are alwayes resolu'd with a quiet and fild minde to suffer what dangers former, nothing doubting, but their end shall be happy. e Faith, of those things which we hope for, and not hauing God presently in our view. f And yet we are in such sort bolde, and doe so passe on our pilgrimage with a quiet and quiet minde that yet notwithstanding, we had rather depart hence to the Lord. g And saying it is so, wee strive to live so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that as length wee may be received home to him. 14. 10. 4 That so man might thinke it to pertaine to all, which he spake of that heavenly glory, he addeth, that every one shall first render an account of his pilgrimage, after that he is depa'ted from hence. b Wee must all appeare personally, and enquiry shall be made of vs, that all may see, how wee haue lived. 5 Now hee passeth oner, and taking an occasion of the former sentence, returneth to the former chapter verse 16. confirming his owne sinceritie and his fellowes, 1 That terrible iudgement. 6 Hee remooueth all suspicion of pride, by a new reason, because it is behouable, not for his part, but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vaine ostentation of a few others. k In outward shew, and that coloured flow of words wisdom and eloquence, and not in true piety, which is sealed in the heart.

13 For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right minde, we are it vnto you.

14 For that loue of Christ I constraineth vs,

15 Because wee thus iudge, that if one bee dead for all, then were all dead, and hee died for all, that they which liue, should not henceforth liue vnto themselves, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the flesh, yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.

17 Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a new creature. Olde things are passed away: behold, all things are become new.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the worde of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, wee pray you in Christs stead, that yee be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be a sinne for vs, which knew no sinne, that we should be made the righteousness of God in him.

but that which is heavenly. 1 Possesseth vs wholly. m Hee speaketh here of sanctification, whereby is commeth to passe, that Christ liueth in vs. n Lookes Romane, chapter 6 and 7. 9 Hee sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues, but to Christ: to wit, to knowe no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to bee so conuersant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they doe which respect a mans flocke, his countrey, forme, glorie, riches, and such like, whetein men commonly dote, and wearie themselves. 10 An amplification: This is, sayeth hee, so true, that wee doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath nowe left the worlde, and therefore must be considered of vs spiritually. 11 An exhortation for every man which is renewed with the Spirit of Christ, to meditate heavenly things, and not earthly. o As a thing made new of God, for though a man bee not newly created when God giueth him the Spirit of regeneration, but onely his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding is pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teach vs, that we must attribute all things to the glorie of God: not that wee are flockes and flockes, but because God createth in vs, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. 12 Iust. 45. 19. reuelation. 2. 1. 5. 12 Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministry of the Gospell, both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the author of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth an agreement with God, by free forgiveness of our sinnes, and iustification offered vnto vs in Christ, and that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth a ter afor sayd pray men by the mouth of his ministers, to haue consideration of themselves, and not to despise so great a benefite. And when hee so sayeth, hee plainly reprehendeth them which fallie challenged to themselves the name of pastors. p Used our labour and traueil. q Answer, not in himselfe, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sinnes to him. r Who was cleane voyde of sinne. s Righteous before God, and that with righteousness which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, God imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, 5 neither to be dismayed in tribulation, 9 nor puffed up with glory: 14 to auoide all uncleannesse, 16 considering that they are the temple of the liuing God.

SO we therefore as workers together beseech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 For hee sayeth, I haue heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I

1 Men doe not onely neede the ministerie of the Gospell, before they haue receiued grace, that they may be partakers of it, but also after they haue receiued grace, that they may continue in it. 2 In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed times and seasons to all things, that we may take occasion when it is offered. 3 Iust. 49. 8. 4 Which of my free mercy and loue towards thee, liked of me appointed: at which time God pouerd out that his marvellous loue vpon vs.

succoured thee: behold now the decepted time, behold now the day of saluation.
3 Wee giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministerie should not be reprehended.
4 But in all things we approve our selues as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, 5 In stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labours,
6 By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindeesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfeined, 7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armour of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left, 8 By honour, and dishonour, by euill report,
and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true:
9 As vnknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:
10 As forrowing, and yet alway reioicing: as poore, and yet making many rich: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.
11 O Corinthians, our mouth is open vnto you, our heart is made large, 12 Ye are not kept strait in vs, but ye are kept strait in your owne bowels.
13 Now for the same recompense, I speake as to my children, Be you also enlarged.
14 Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels:
for what fellowship hath righteousness with vnrighteousnesse? and what communion hath light with darkenesse?
15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath the beleuer with the infidel?
16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for ye are the Temple of the liuing God: as God hath sayd, I will dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.
17 Wherefore come out from among them, and separate your selues, saith the Lord, and touch
none vncleane thing, and I will receive you.
18 And I will be a Father vnto you, and ye shall be my sonnes and daughters, sayth the Lord Almighty.
19 I complaine that they doe not the like in louing againe their

CHAP. VII.

1 Left by quermuch vrging them hee should dismy their tender minde, 2 he proueth that all that he sayd, 3 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 4 and therefore they should not be offended, that he made them sorry, 5 and brought them to repentance, not to be repented of.
S Eeing then we haue these promises, dearely be-loured, let vs cleane our selues from all filthinesse of the flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.
a Both of body and soule: that by this means the sanctification may be perfect, consisting in both the partes thereof.

2 Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: we haue defrauded no man.
3 I speake it not to your condemnation: for I haue sayd before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.
4 I vse great boldnesse of speech toward you:
I reioice greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.
5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on e-uery side, fightings without, and terrors within.
6 But God, that comforteth the afflicted, comforted vs at the coming of Titus:
7 And not by his coming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you, when hee tolde vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent minde to meward, so that I reioiced much more.
8 For though I made you sorry with a letter,
I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same Epistle made you sorry, though it were but for a season.
9 I now reioyce, not that ye were sorry, but that ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye sorrowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by vs.
10 For godly sorrow causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.
11 For beholde, this thing that ye haue bene godly sorry, what great care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things yee haue shewed your selues, that yee are pure in this matter.
12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniury, but that our care toward you in the sight of God might ap-peare vnto you.
13 Therefore we were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather wee reioiced much more for the ioy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.
14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in truth, euen for our boasting vnto Titus was true.
15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembereth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling ye received him.
16 I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

but because we see we haue offended God our most mercifull Father: contrary to this, there is an other sorrow, that ouerly feareth punishment: or when a man is vexed for the loss of some worldly goods: the fruit of the first is repentance, the fruit of the second is desperation, vntill the Lord helpe speedily. b It was not coloured wth counterfeits, but such as I dare stand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them by the example of the Macedonians, 2 and also enu of Christ himselfe, 3 to be liberrall toward the saints:
4 for which purpose, he sheweth that Titus 18 and another brother came vnto them.
W E doe you also to wit, brethren, of the grace of God bestowed vpon the Chur-a The first part of this epistle containeth diuers exhortations to stir vp the Corinthians to liberality, wherewith the poverty of the church of Hierusalem might be holpen in time convenient. And first of all hee setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great affliction to extreme poertie, to the end that they should follow them. a The benefit that God bestowed vpon the Churches.

1 He remembereth againe: I am not obliged to his owne person, opi-
posing the testimonies both of his faithfulnesse and also of his communion: small good will towards them.
b Let mee haue
some place among you, that I may teach you.
c To commend you
of vnkindnesse of treachery.
d Whose heart are cast downe, and are very forrowful.
e With these things which Titus tolde me of you at his coming, so witnesseth faithfully
you reade our letters, and know
besides that, I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence.
f An affliction
But thou hast hadled vs roughly the Apostle saith reth that hee did not, his roughnesse
without griefe.
And hee addeth moreouer, that he is also glad now, that hee drate them
to that sorrowful-though it was a gaine his will that it was so probable vnto them:
for there is a sa-
uor not onely
praise worthy, but also necessary to wit, whereby repentance groweth
by certayne degrees, for the which repentance
he praise it then highly. And this is the first part of this Epistle.
g I suppose that that sorrow did much good toward the amendment of your leade and sinners.
h Godly sorrow is when we are afflicted with the feare of punishment.

For those men which afflictions were in the Lord tried them,
did not easily
quell their joyfull readiness, but also made it much more evident & famous of their owne merit they were labourers.
At the call of God, that other men would have called a burden.
And the verse is so expanded by the first verse.
He amplifieth
the lowly doer of the Macedonians,
in that they also desired Paul to live up the Corinthians to accomplish the giving of alms by leuing of Titus unto them.
Thirdly, he warneth them that they deceiue not their expectation which they have conceiued
of them.
As the request of the Macedonians.
Then appereth
the readiness of our law, which is in deed, and that simply and freely, without any other gain for Christ his sake.
The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.
He taketh good heede that hee doe not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for voluntie is the voluntary. God doeth not accept it.
He meely to doe,
but also to doe willingly: for hee noteth us a ready will, without any inforcement
by any other men,
much lesse came it
of ambition and rivalry.
Against such will to excuse themselves, because they are not as now in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with some part of your good, so should others in like sort bestowe some of theirs upon you. c Exodus 16.

ches of Macedonia,
2 Because in b great triall of affliction their joy abounded, and their most extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberality.
3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power they were c willing, 4 And prayed vs with great instance, that we would receiue the d grace, and fellowship of the minist'ring which is toward the Saints.
5 2 And this they did, not as wee looked for:
but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God.
6 That wee should exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.
7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that ye abound in this grace also.
8 3 This I say not by commandement, but because of the e diligence of others: therefore prooue I the f naturalnesse of your loue.
9 4 For yee know the grace of our Lord Ie-sus Christ, that hee being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich.
10 5 And I shew my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe ouely, but also to g will, a yeere agoe.
11 Nowe, therefore performe to doe it also,
that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so yee may performe it of that which ye haue.
12 6 For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.
13 7 Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But vpon h like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke:
14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitye:
15 As it is written, i He that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered little, had not the lesse, 16 8 And thanks be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.
17 Because hee accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so careful, that of his owne accord he went vnto you.
18 And wee haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.
19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to bee a fellow in our iourney, concerning this k grace that is minist'ed by vs vnto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde)
20 Auoiding this, that no man should blame vs in this l abundance that is minist'ed by vs, 21 4 Prouiding for honest things, not onely before the Lord, but also before men.
22 And we haue sent with them our brother, whom we haue oft times prooued to bee diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, for the great confidence, which f haue in you.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to youward: or of our m brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the n glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shew toward them, and before the o Churches the prooue of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

presente you are, forasmuch as you see the messengers whom they haue chosen by all their consensus, and sent them vnto you.

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit hee thinke well of their ready will, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 hee yeldeth a reason: 6 Hee com-pareth almes to seeds sowing, 10 which God doeth repay with great gaines.

For as touching the minist'ing to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

For I know your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Now haue I sent the brethren, left our re-ioycing ouer you should bee in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue sayd) be ready.

4 Left if they of Macedonia come with mee, and finde you vnprepared, we (that wee may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my a constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might bee ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of b niggardlinesse.

6 2 This yet remember, that hee which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As every man c wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not d & grudgingly, or of e necessitie:
for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make f all grace to abound toward you; that yee alwayes hauing all sufficiency in all things, may abound in g euery good worke,

9 (As it is written, He hath sparfed abroad and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for h euer.

10 Also he that findeth seed to the sower, will minister likewise bread for foode, and multiplie your seed, and increase the i fruits of your beneuolence.)

11 That on all parts ye may be made rich vnto all liberality, which causeth through vs thankgiuing vnto God.

12 3 For the ministrat'ion of this seruice not onely supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to giue thanks to God,

CHAP. X.

2 Hee sheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons 8 and with what revenge hee is armed against the cavillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when hee is present he desires haue no lesse power, 11 then his words haue force when he is absent.

NOwe I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meeknesse, and gentlenesse of Christ, which when I am present among you, am base, but am bold toward you being absent:

2 And thū I require you, that I neede not to be bolde, when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to bee bolde against some, which effeeme vs as though we walked according to the flesh.

3 Neuerthelesse, though wee walke in the flesh, yet do not warre after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnall, but mightie through God, to cast downe holdes)

5 Casting downe the imaginations, and euery high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captiuitie euery thought to the obedience of Christ,

6 And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 4 Looke ye on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christes, let him consider this againe of himselfe, that as he is Christes, euen so are we Christes.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame.

9 Thū I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, sayeth hee, are fore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speech is of no value.

11 Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in word by letters, when wee are absent, such will we be also in deed, when we are present.

12 For we dare not make our selues of the number, or to compare our selues to them, which make that account of the office of an Apostle, that they doe of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance. a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iustice. b As though I had no other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I seeme to haue: and therefore Paul setteth his flesh, that is, his weake condition and state, against his spirituall and Apostolique dignitie. 3 Secondly he witnesseth, that although he bee like vnto other men, yet hee cometh furnished with that strength, which no holdes of man can match, whether they resist by crafte and deceite, or by force and might, because hee warreth with diuers weapons. c Are not such as when yet their authoritie withstand one of another, and doe great after. d Stand upon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this spirituall vertue, which in such sort conquereth the enemies, bee they neuer so craftie and mightie, that it bringeth some of them by repentance vnto Christ, and iustly returneth others that are stubbornly obstinate, separating them from the other which suffer themselves to be ruled. 4 Hee beateh into their heads, that same matter, with great weight of wordes and sentences. e Doe ye iudge of things according to the outward shew? f Not being tolde of it by me. 2 Hee noteth out some one that was the seede man of this speech. 3 Being constrained to reuel the foolish braggas of certaine ambitious men, hee witnesseth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsely perswade themselves of themselves: and as for himselfe, although hee bragge of excellent things, yet hee will not passe the boundes which God hath measured him out, according wherunto hee came euen vnto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and witnesseth that hee shall goe further, when they haue so professed that hee shall not neede to tarry any longer amongst them to instruct them, and because it is added an amplification, in that hee neuer succeeded other men in their labours. 6 This is spoken after a taunting sort.

praise themselves: but they understand not that they measure themselves with themselves, and compare themselves with themselves.

13 But we will not reioyce of things, which are not within our measure, but according to the measure of the line, wherof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For wee stretch not our selues beyond our measure, as though we had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue wee come in preaching the Gospel of Christ,

15 Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: and wee hope, when your faith shall increase, to bee magnified by you according to your line abundantly.

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to reioyce in another mans line, that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For he that praifeth himselfe, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praifeth.

with also prepareth the Corinthians to heare other things, without nothing els but to approue himselfe to God, whose glory hee only seeketh.

CHAP. XI.

2 He testifieth that for the great loue sake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled to utter his owne praises: 9 and that he bestowed his labour on them without any reward, 13 that the false apostles should not surpasse him in any thing, 22 whom he farre excelled in those things which are praise worthy in deed.

Would to God, yee could suffer a little my foolishnesse, and in deed ye suffer me.

2 For I am ielous ouer you, with a godly ielousie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to present you as a pure virgin to Christ:

3 But I feare lest as the serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your mindes should bee corrupt from the simplicitie that is in Christ:

4 For if he that cometh, preacheth another Iesus whom we haue not preached: or if ye receiue another spirit whom ye haue not receiued: either another Gospel which yee haue not receiued, ye might well haue suffered him.

5 Verely I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apostles.

6 And though I be rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we haue bene made manifest to the vttermost, in all things.

7 4 Haue I committed an offence, because I abused my selfe, that yee might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to doe you seruice.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto mee, the brethren which came from Macedonia, they deuide themselves, if they looke to receiue of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. e A more perfect dole me of Iesus Christ. 3 Hee reuiveth the slanders of those Thracons, I say, sayeth hee, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, wherof you haue had good proofe, and shew every manner of way. f Paul lacked not that kinde of eloquence which is meete for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly waueth that painted kinde of speech which too many now adays hunt after and follow. 4 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and liued by the labour of his owne handes. But herein sayth the Apostle, what can you say against me, but that I was content to take any paynes for your salues, and when I lacked, to trauell for my lining with mine owne handes in paine, and partly also when somewhat constrained mee, I chose rather to write to you, than to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel vnto you. 12, 13.

1 Upon a certaine per vnto him that they haue of themselves, they take vpon them they are not what. k They contemne all other and measure all their diligence only by themselves. 1 Of those things which God hath not measured to man. 2 Ephe. 4. 7. m As though God had diuided the noble world among the Apostles, so hee haue diuided. n In country which other men haue prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospel. 1 cor. 1. 3. 7 Hee somewhat misgeth that which hee speake of himselfe, and thinking that hee seeketh.

1 Hee graunteth that after a sort hee playeth the fool in this vaine bragging, that hee addeth that he doeth it against his will, for their profit, because hee feareth them deuiued by certaine vaine and crafty men, through the craft and subtiltie of Satan. a Hee speaketh as a wooer, but yet as one that seeketh them not for himselfe, but for God. b To marrie you together. c Gen. 2. 4. c This place is to be marked against those which take that plain and simple language of the Scriptures as a comparison of the lowly and plainnesse of mans eloquence. d Which is meete for them that are in Christ.

2 Hee witnesseth that they deuide themselves, if they looke to receiue of any other man, either a more excellent Gospel, or more excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. e A more perfect dole me of Iesus Christ. 3 Hee reuiveth the slanders of those Thracons, I say, sayeth hee, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, wherof you haue had good proofe, and shew every manner of way. f Paul lacked not that kinde of eloquence which is meete for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly waueth that painted kinde of speech which too many now adays hunt after and follow. 4 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and liued by the labour of his owne handes. that those false apostles abused their simplicity for advantage. 1 As if hee sayd, hee repelleth of the reproch which they doe vnto you (I speake it) which surely is as cail as supplied, and in all things I kept, and will keep myselfe, that I should not be grievous vnto you.

10 The truth of Christ is in me, that this reioicing shall not be shut against mee in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I doe, that will I doe, that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like vnto vs in that wherein they reioyce.

13 For such false apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no manneile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose ende shall be according to their works.

16 I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or else take me euen as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a little.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For ye suffer foolcs gladly, because that yee are wise.

20 For ye suffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speake as concerning the reproch: as though that we had bene weake: but wherein any man is bold (I speake foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrewes, so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seed of Abraham, so am I.

23 They are the ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more: in labours more abundant: in stripes above measure: in prison more plenteously: in death oft.

24 Of the Iewes five times receiued I fourtie stripes I saw one.

25 I was thrice beaten with rodde: I was once stoned: I suffered thrice shipwracke: night and day haue I bene in the deepe sea.

26 In journeying I was often in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine own nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren,

CHAP. XII.

1 He doth euen unwillingly make reuerall 3 of the beauly vi sions, 4 that were reuelled vnto him: 6 For which though hee might in deed glory, yet he will not, 10 being pricke of his owne infirmities: 11 but they do him to the kinde of folly, 20 in that they giue care to certaine vaine glorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

It is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I wil come to visions and reuelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man in Christ aboute fourteene yeeres agoe, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the third heauen.

3 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth)

4 How that he was taken vp into Paradise, and heard wordes which cannot bee spoken, which are not possible for man to vtter.

5 Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it bee of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the truth: but I reframe, lest any man should thinke of me about that hee seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

7 And least I should be exalted out of measure through the abundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me a pricke in the flesh, the messenger ofg Satan to buffet mee, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord thrife that it might depart from me.

Christ, that is he is spoken without vainglorie, for I seeke nothing but Christ Iesus onely.
3 Into the highest heauen: for we neede not to dispute subtily vpon the word (third) but yet this place mu be marked against them, which would make heauen to be euery where.
4 So the Grecians name that which we call a parke, that is so far, a place where trees are planted, and wilde beasts kept, by which name they thus translated the olde Testament out of Hebrew into Greeke, cal led the garden Eden, whereinso Adam was put straight after his creation, as a most de licious and pleasant place. And hereunto grew it, that this blessed state of the glory of God is called by that name. 5 Which no man is able to utter. 6 Which the Sants themselves are not by any means able to expresse, because it is God himselfe. Thus doeth Clement Alexandrinus expound this place, Stron. 5. 2 To remove all suspici on of ambition, hee willeth that hee bragge not of those things as of his owne, but as out of himselfe. and yet notwithstanding saith nothing, lest by this occasion o be men should attribute more vnto him then in deede hee is an: therefore hee had rather glory in his miseries. 3 An excellen doctrine why God will haue euen his best seruants to be vexed of Satan and by all kinde of temptations, to wit, lest they should bee too much puffed vp, and also that they may be made peritie by that continual exercitie. 4 He meaneth conscience, that stie keth fast in vs, as it were a pricke in so much that it constrained Paul himselfe being va gauerate, to cry out, I doe not that good that I would, &c. And hee calleth it a pricke, by a borrowed kinde of speech taken from thornes, or stumps, which are very dangerous and hurtfull for the feete, if a man walke through woods that are cut downe. 5 Which saith those lusts on fire. 6 Cst.*

4 Hee concludeth, that hee will onely set his miseries against the vaine bragges of the false apostles, and shew with also ex-cuse himselfe, for that by their importunitie, he was constrained to speake so much of the se things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subverted, his doctrine must needs fall.

5 That I might feele the veritie of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our tribulations are, the more doeth Christ veritie appeare in them.

6 I doe not onely take them patiently, but with a good heart, but also I take great pleasure in them.

7 Again he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleshippe amongst them, and againe he declareth by certayne arguments, how farr hee is from all counteniesse, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

8 The arguments whereby it may well appeare, that I am in deede an Apostle of Iesus Christ.

9 Chap. xi. 9. I was not shewfull in getting my living with mine owne hands, that I might not be burden-some to you.

10 He putteth away another most grievous slander, to wit, that hee did subtilly, and by others, make him profite of them. 7 He concludeth, that he writeth not these things vnto them, though hee needed to defend himselfe, for hee is guiltie of nothing: but because it is behouable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who instructed them.

11 As it becometh him to speake truly and sincerely, that professeth himselfe to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian. 8 Havi<sup>g</sup> confirmed his authoritie vnto them, he rebuketh them thersely, and threatneth them also like an Apostle, shewing also that he will not spare them hereafter, vntill they repeat, seeing that this is the third time that he had warped them.

for thee: for my power is made perfect through weaknesse. 4 Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christs sake: for when I am weake, then am I strong.

11 I was a foole to boast my selfe: yee haue compelled me: for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I bee nothing.

12 The signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great works.

13 For what is it, wherein yee were inferiours vnto other Churches, except that I haue not bene slouthfull to your hinderance? forgiue mee this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not be slouthfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but your for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and wil be bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued.

16 But bee it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you?

18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 Again, thinke yee that wee excuse our selues vnto you? we speake before God in Christ. But we doe all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 For I feare lest when I come, I shall not find you such as I would: and that I shalbe found vnto you such as ye would not, and lest there bee strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I feare lest when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleannesse, and fornication, and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

7 He putteth away another most grievous slander, to wit, that hee did subtilly, and by others, make him profite of them. 7 He concludeth, that he writeth not these things vnto them, though hee needed to defend himselfe, for hee is guiltie of nothing: but because it is behouable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who instructed them. 11 As it becometh him to speake truly and sincerely, that professeth himselfe to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian. 8 Havi<sup>g</sup> confirmed his authoritie vnto them, he rebuketh them thersely, and threatneth them also like an Apostle, shewing also that he will not spare them hereafter, vntill they repeat, seeing that this is the third time that he had warped them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 Hee denounceth the sharper vengeance towards them, 3 who haue a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 As length hee prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wisheth them prosperitie.

1 This is the third time that I come vnto you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the second time, so write I now being absent to them, which heretofore haue sinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare.

3 Seeing that ye seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in mee, which toward you is not weake, but is a mightie in you.

4 For though hee was crucified concerning his infirmities, yet liueth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 Proue your selues whether ye are in the faith: examine your selues: knowe yee not your owne selues, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 But I trust that yee shall knowe that wee are not reprobates.

7 Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that we should seeme approued, but that yee would doe that which is honest: though wee be as reprobates.

8 For wee can not doe any thing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad when wee are weake, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, even your perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should vse sharpnesse, according to the power which the Lorde hath giuen mee, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

12 Greete one another with an holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

selues towards their faithfull Apostle, apt and willingly to bee taught: adding this moreover, that he passeth not for his owne sake and estimation, so that hee may serue to their saluation, which is the onely marke that hee sheweth at his iudgement. 4 That all things may bee in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which haue bene shaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian mans life. 5 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well vnto them. 1 Cor. 16. 20.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the saluation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting 9 from his Gospel, 15 which he receiued from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAUL an Apostle (not of men, neither by man, but by Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia.

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ,

4 Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs from this present euill world according to the will of God euen our Father,

5 To whom be glory for euer & euer, Amen.

6 I marueile that ye are so soone removed away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 Which is not another Gospel, saue that there be some which trouble you, and intend to peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that yee haue receiued, let him be accursed.

10 For now preach I mens doctrine, or Gods? or goe I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 Nowe I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 For yee haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, howe that I persecuted the Church of God extremely, & wasted it, 14 And profited in the Iewish religion about many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the tradition of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reueile his Sonne in me, that I should preach him among the Gentiles, immediately I communicated not with flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem, to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, saue James the Lords brother.

20 Nowe the things which I write vnto you, behold, I write before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknown by face vnto the Churches of Iudea which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard only some say, He which persecuted vs in time past, nowe preacheth the faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

And here, whose names (as I haue before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he deliuered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and as though hee were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straight way after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fifteene dayes, where hee sawe onely Peter and James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the constant approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knewe him onely by name, so farre off was it, that hee was there instructed of men. With any man in the world. This is a kind of false. The doctrine of faith.

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 hee declareth by the example of Titus being uncircumcised, 11 and also by his aduouching the same against Peters dissimulation: 17 And so hee passeth to the handling of our free iustificacion by Christ.

Then foueteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, lest by any meanes I should runne, or had runne in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with mee, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they tormented themselves therein which traitorously layd wait against him, but in vaine: neither did they adde the least iote that might bee to the doctrine, which hee had preached, but contrarywise they gaue him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lords to the Gentiles. Vnfrailly, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroad of him that hee was of another opinion then the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore hee laboured to remedy this sore. Which by deceit and counterfeiting hee crept in among the faithfull.

1. He calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise for his father.

2. He speaketh of Gods everlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereby he maketh three degrees, the everlasting counsaile of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention as all we see, of works foreseen.

3. To me, and thou is a kinde of speech which the Hebrews vse, whereby this is giuen vs to understand, that this gift cometh from God.

4. Ephes. 3. 8. Because it might be objected, that in deepe he was called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles.

5. Hee sheweth how hee agreed with the Apostles, with whom hee gramed that hee conuinc'd touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles foueteene yeeres after his conuersion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some

6. He toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouths, and hee though he would derogate nothing from the Apostles, yet God and not men.

7. A second argument to proue that his doctrine is heavenly, because he had it from heauen, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein hee excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth after the manner of men.

8. This place is to be understood of an extraordinary reuelation, for otherwise the Sonne alone reueiled his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministry of men, which Paul stuteth out here.

9. Hee proueth that hee was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galatians themselves knew well yough: for faith hee, it is well known in what schoole I was brought vp, even from a child, to wit, among the deadly enemies of the Gospel.

10. And that no man may censure and say that I was a scholler of the Pharisees in name only and not in deepe, no man is ignorant how that I excelled in Phariseisme, and was suddenly made of a Pharisee an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men.

c By submitting our selves to them, and betraying our owne libertie.

d The true and pure doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupted with any of those mean false doctrines.

e Under the Galatians name, he un-derstandeth all nations.

*g Among the Gretians, as Peter had,
so preach is among the Jewes.*

h Whom alone and only, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to decieve you.

i They gave us their hand in token that we agreed wholly to the doctrine of the Gospel.

*k Before all men,
2 Another most vehement prooofe of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine which he had delivered concerning free iusti-fication by faith
only, because that for this thing only he reprehended
Peter at Antioch, who offended
herein, in that for a few Jewes sake which came from Hierusalem, he played the Jew,
and offended the Gentiles which had forsaken.*

l By example rather then by inducement.

*m Word for word,
with a right foot, which he setteth against halting and dissembling which is backward.*

n He calleth the truth of the Gospel both the doctrine is selfe, and also the use of the doctrine, which we call the practise.

o He saith they were constrained, which played the Jewes by Peters example.

p The second part of this Epistle, the place whereof is this: we are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus with out the works of the Law: Which thing he propoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an objection, (for I also saith he am a Jew, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemy to the Lawe) and afterward, hee confirmeth it by the expresse witness of Dauid.

q Although we be Jewes, yet we preach iustification by faith because we know undoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Law.

r So the Jewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods covenant.

s In Iesus Christ.

t No man, and in that word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby it means that the nature of man is utterly corrupt.

u Rom. 3. 19.

v Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their objection, which abhorred his doctrine of free iustification by faith, because by they, men are by this means with drawen from the study of good works. And in this for is the objection: If sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Lawe, Christ should appeare sinners as if should as if were to hurt him therefore by his ministerie. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleivers: For so faith hee, doe men see unto Christ, through the terror and feare of the Law: that bring quit from the curse of the Law and iustified, they may be saved by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by liide and hie, that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the ende that this olde man being abolished by the verue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them, and they may consecrate themselves to God.

w Therefore if any man give himselfe to sinne after he hath received the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that he destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe.

x He goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefit we receive by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith.

might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whom we gaue not place by 'subiection for an houre, that the 'trueth of the Gospel might continue with e you.

6 But by them which seemed to bee great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: & God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me above that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they sawe that the Gospel ouer the 'vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mighty by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles)

9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are s counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right h hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the circumcision,

10 Warning onely that wee should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 And when Peter was come to Antiochia,
I withstood him to his face: for he was to bee condemned.

12 For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew & separated himselfe, fearing them: which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was led away with them by that their hypocrisie.

14 But when I sawe, that they went not the right way to the truth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Jew, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 We which are Iewes by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles,

16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the works of the Law, but by the faith of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue beleued in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, & not by the works of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Law, no flesh shall be iustified.

17 If then while we seeke to bee made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Lawe am dead to the Law, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not I any more, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I now liue in the flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himselfe for me.

21 I do not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a cause

*giving us, causeth through the mortifying of lust in us, that it cannot sinne by the restraint which the Law maketh, as it did before, Rom.
7. 5. The same that I was before. x In this mortall body. y The second of an absurditie: If men may bee iustified by the Lawe, then was Christ to die. z For there was no cause why he should doe so.*

CHAP. III.

1 Hee rebuketh them, for suffering themselves to be drawn from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most liuely set out vnto them. 2 Hee bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effect, 25 and causes of the gaining of the Law.

1 Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your fight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Received ye the Spirit by the works of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

3 Are ye foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the flesh?

4 Have ye suffered so many things in vaine?
if so be it be euen in vaine.

5 He therefore that ministrereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 Tea rather as Abraham beleued God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness.

7 Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying,

9 In thee shall all the Gentiles be blessed.

10 So then they which be of faith, are blef-sed as with faithfull Abraham.

*before you, so manifestly and so plainly, that you had his liuely image, as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you. b Those spirituall graces and gifts, which were a seale vnto were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true. c Of the doctrine of faith. d The fourth argument moued with the former, and it is double. If the Lawe be to be ioynd with faith, this would not to goe forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall graces which were be-flowed vpon you are more excellent then any that could proceede from your flesh.
And moreover, it should follow, that the Lawe is better then Christ, because it should perfit and bring to end that, which Christ began onely. e By the flesh) becommeth the ceremonies of the Lawe, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel. f An exhortation by manner of vpraising, that they doe not in vaine suffer so many conuuls. g Hee repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because hee had interlaced certayne other arguments by the way. h The fifth argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first. That Abraham was iustified by faith, not by works, by free imputation of righteousness according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doeth most plainly witness. i Look Rom. 4. k Gen. 15. 6. Rom. 4. 3. James 2. 23. l The second, that the finnes of Abraham must be effemred and accounted of by faith. m The third, that all people that beleene, are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing. n Gen. 12. 3. Acts 3. 35. o A prooofe of the first and second grounds, out of the words of Moses. p Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith. q The conclusion of the fifth argument: I before as Abraham is blef-sed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say all the Gentiles that beleene) blef-sed, that is to say, iustified. r With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue us to understand, that the blessing cometh not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie is blef-sed.*

10 <sup>10</sup> For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: <sup>11</sup> for it is written, * Cursed is every man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.

11 <sup>12</sup> And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: * for the iust shall liue by faith.

12 <sup>13</sup> And the Lawe is not of faith: but * the man that shall doe those things, shall liue in them.

13 <sup>14</sup> Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Law, made a curse for vs, (<sup>15</sup> for it is written) * Cursed is every one that hangeth on tree)

14 <sup>16</sup> That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 <sup>17</sup> Brethren, I speake as i men do: * though it be but a mans couenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Nowe to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. Hee saith not, And to the seeds, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seede, as of one, <sup>18</sup> which is I Christ.

17 <sup>19</sup> And this I say, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God <sup>20</sup> in respect of Christ, the <sup>21</sup> Law which was foure hundred and thirty yeeres after, cannot disannull, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 <sup>22</sup> For if the <sup>23</sup> inheritance be of the Lawe, the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnesse, and life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Lawe. * Hab. 2. 4. Rom. 1. 17. Gal. 3. 12. 13. There is a reason thewed of the former consequence: Because the Lawe promitteth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it bee kept, it iustifieth and giveth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousness and life to faith, taketh it from the Lawe, seeing that faith iustifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke. * Leuit. 18. 5. 14. A preuenting of an obiection: How then can they bee blessed, whome the Lawe pronounceth to bee accursed? Because Christ fulfilled the curse which the Law laid vpon vs, that we might be quic from it.

19 <sup>24</sup> A proofe of the answere by the testimonie of Moyses. * Deut. 21. 23. b. Christ was accursed for vs, because hee bare the curse that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteousness.

20 <sup>25</sup> A conclusion of all that was layde before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Iewes themselves, of whose number the Apostle counteth himselfe to bee, cannot obtaine that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth generally apply the conclusion, both to the one and the other, preparing himselfe a way to the next argument, whereby he declareth, that one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no other wise be ioyued and grow vp together, but by faith in Christ. 17. He putteth forth two general rules belowe the next argument, which is the seventh in order: The one is that it is not lawfull to breake covenants, and contrails which are iustly made and according to Law amongst men, neither may any thing be added vnto them: The other is, that God did make a couenant with Abraham, that hee would gather together his children which consist both of Iewes and Gentiles in one body (as appeareth by that which hath bene said before.) For hee did not say that he would bee the God of Abraham and of his seedes, (which thing notwithstanding should haue bene said, if he had many and diuers seedes, as the Gentiles apart, and the Iewes apart,) but that he would bee the God of Abraham, and of his seede as of one.

21 <sup>26</sup> I will use an example which is common amongst you; that you may be ashamed you giue not so much to Gods covenants, as you doe to mans. * Heb. 6. 17. c. Asenticall, as we call it.

22 <sup>27</sup> Hee putteth forth the somme of the second argument, to wit, that both the Iewes and Gentiles grow together into one body of the seede of Abraham, in Christ only, so that all are one in Christ, as it is afterwards declared, verse 28. 1. Paul speaketh not of Irist person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one in Christ.

23 <sup>28</sup> The eighth argument taken of comparison, that if a mans couenant (being aotentiall) bee firme and strong, much more Gods couenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promise made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the ende whereof did hang of Christ.

24 <sup>29</sup> Which tended to Christ. 20. An enlarging of the argument, thus: Moreover and besides that the promise is of it selfe firme and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit of 430. yeeres, so that it could in no wise be broken.

25 <sup>30</sup> An obiection We grant that the promise was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Law with the promise. Nay, saith the Apostle, these two cannot stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both bee giuen by the Law and also by promise, for the promise is free: whereby it followeth, that the Law was not giuen to iustifie, or by that means the promise should bee broken.

26 <sup>31</sup> By this word (inheretiano): meant the right use of the seed, which is that God should be our God, that is to say, that by virtue of the couenant that was made with faithfull

Abraham, we shal bee faithfull, might by that meanes be blessed of God as well as he.

it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promise.

19 <sup>22</sup> Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, p till the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: <sup>23</sup> and it was ordained by Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: <sup>21</sup> but God is one.

21 <sup>23</sup> Is the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had bene a Lawe giuen which could haue giuen life, surely righteousness should haue bene by the Law.

22 But the Scripture hath concluded <sup>23</sup> all vnder sinne, that the promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should bee giuen vnto them that beleue.

23 <sup>26</sup> But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Lawe, as vnder a garison, and shut vp vnto that faith, which should afterward be reuealed.

24 Wherefore the Lawe was our scholemaster to bring vs to Christ, that wee might bee made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a scholemaster.

26 <sup>27</sup> For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.

27 <sup>28</sup> For all ye that are y baptizd into Christ, haue <sup>29</sup> put on Christ.

28 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all <sup>30</sup> one in Christ Iesus.

29 And if ye be Christs, then are ye Abrahams seede, and heires by promise.

by himselfe, but coupled and ioyued together with his body. 23. A confirmation of the former answere taken from the manner and forme of giuing the Lawe: for it was giuen by Angels, striking a great terrour into all, and by Moses a Mediatour coming betweene. Nowe they that are one, neede no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Lawe it selfe and the Mediatour, were witnesses of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himselfe, and abolish the promise, or add the Lawe vnto the promise. 24. Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. 25. By the seruice and ministry.

26. A taking away of an obiection, lest any man might say, that sometimes by consent of the parties which haue made a couenant, something is added to the couenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, sayth the Apostle, cometh not to passe in God, who is alwayes one and the selfe same, and like himselfe. 27. The conclusion vttered by a manner of asking a question, and it is the same that was vttered before, verse 17. But proceeding of another rule: so that the argument is newe, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himselfe. Therefore the Lawe was not giuen to abolish the promise. But it should abolish them if it gaue life. For by that meanes it should iustifie, and therefore it should abolish that iustification which was promised to Abraham and to his seede by faith. Nay it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltinesse of all men, to the ende that all beleeuers fleeing to Christ promised, might bee freely iustified in him.

28. In this worde, Scripture, hee meaneth the Lawe. 29. Rom. 3. 9. 1. All men, and what soeuer cometh from man. 2. In euery one of these words, there lieth an argument against the merites of workes: for all these wordes, promise, faith, Christ, might bee giuen to beleeuers, are against merites, and not one of them can stand with deserving workes. 26. Nowe there followeth another handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof is this: Although the Lawe (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods house according to the Lawe) doe not iustifie, is it therefore to bee abolished, seeing that Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posteritie helde still the vse of Moses Lawe? Paul affirmeth that it ought to bee abolished, because it was instituted for that ende and purpose, that it should bee as it were a scholemaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deede, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacy of the Spirit.

27. The cause why wee were kept vnder the Lawe, is set downe here. 28. Because age changeth not the condition of seruants, hee addeth that wee are free by condition, and therefore, seeing wee are out of our childhoode, wee haue no more neede of a keeper and Scholemaster.

29. Vnto a generall particle lest the Iewes at the least should not thinke themselves bound with the band of the Lawe, hee pronounceth that Baptisme is common to all beleuer, because it is a pledge of our delinetic in Christ, as well to the Iewes as to the Grecians: that by this meanes all may be vnto one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seede to Abraham and inheretours of everlasting life.

30. Hee setteth Baptisme, secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of. 31. The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and bee covered with him, that it may be thoroughly holy and without blame. 32. 21. An obiection which might of the former answere: If the inheritance be not by the Lawe (as the least in part) then why was the Lawe giuen, after that the promise was made? Therefore saith the Apostle, to reprove men of sinne, and so teach them to looke vnto Christ, in whom at length that promise of giuing all people together, should be fulfilled, and not that the Lawe was giuen to iustifie men.

22. That men might vnderstand, by discouering of their sinnes, that they are saved by the mercy grace of God, which hee reucaled to Abraham, and that in Christ.

23. Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full seede sprang up, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles: for by this word seede, we may vnderstand Christ alone.

24. A confirmation of the former answere taken from the manner and forme of giuing the Lawe: for it was giuen by Angels, striking a great terrour into all, and by Moses a Mediatour coming betweene. Nowe they that are one, neede no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. ## CHAP. IIII.

1 Being delivered from the bondage of the Lawe, 4 by Christe comming who is the ende thereof, 9 it is very absurd to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 Hee calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospel, 25 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

Then I say, that the heire as long as hee is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vader tutors and gouernours, vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Euen so, we when we were children, were in bondage vnder the rudiments of the world.

4 But when the fulnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a woman, and made vnder the Lawe,

5 That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Lawe, that wee might receiue the adoption of the sonnes.

6 And because ye are sonnes, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a seruant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sonne, thou art also the heire of God through Christ.

8 But euen then, when yee knewe not God, yee did seruite vnto them, which by nature are not gods:

9 But now seeing ye know God, yea, rather are knowne of God, howe turne yee againe vnto impotent and beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning yee will bee in bondage againe?

10 Yee obserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.

12 Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And yee know, how through infirmities of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first.

14 And the triall of mee which was in my

1 Hee declareth that by another dooble similitude, which he sayd before concerning the keeper and scholmaster. For he saith that the Lawe (that is the whole gouernment of Gods house according to the Law) was as it were a tutor or ouerser appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerser which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, and should liue as children, & not as seruants. Moreover, hee sheweth by the way, that the gouernance of the Law was as it were an A B C and as certaine principles, in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

a This is added, because he that is alwayes vnder a tutor and gouernour, may hardly bee counted a freeman. b The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law Gods children, fled his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward poured out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel. c Hee uttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutorship was ended at his time, that curious men may leaue to aske, why that scholemasterhip lasted so long. And moreover, that wee are not sonnes by nature, but by adoption, and that in that Sonne of God, who therefore tooke vpon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren. d The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ could not haue come either sooner or later. e Hee calleth Marie a woman, in respect of the sexe, and not as the worde is used in a contrary sense to a virgin, for she remained a virgin still. f Rom. 8. 15. e The adoption of the sonnes of God, is from euertlasting, but is renewed and shewed in time appointed for it. g He sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at libertie, but in the meane season we must be gouerned by the Spirit of Christ, which reigning in our hearts, may teach vs the true seruice of the Father. But this is not to serue, but rather to enjoy true libertie, as it becometh sonnes and heires. f By that that followeth hee gathereth that that went before: For if wee haue his Spirit, wee are his sonnes, and if we are his sonnes, then we are free. g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost leadeth vs up our adoption in Christ, and waketh vs a full assurance of it. h The word, Seruants, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Lawe, which is proper to the Iewes. i Partaker of his blessings. k Hee applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might haue pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Law. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Christian libertie: what pretence might they haue to go backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments? l They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselves without Christ: and againe, for that by that meanes they gave good testimony that they were beggers in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing els, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggery. m By going backward. Hee mitigateth and qualifieth those things wherein he might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat sharply, very artificioosly and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vnderly desperate when they read these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnesse with teares, and desire pardon. n Many afflictions. o Those daily troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but yee receiued mee as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Iesus.

15 What was then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, yee would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?

17 They are ielous ouer you & amisse: yea, they would exclude you, that yee should altogether loue them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you,

19 My little children, of whome I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might charge my voice: for I am in doubt of you.

21 Tell me, ye that will be vnder the Lawe, doe ye not heare the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, one by a seruant, and one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the seruant, was borne after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for these mothers are the two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount Sina, which gendereth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it is answereth to Hierusalem which now is) and she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hierusalem, which is above, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 For it is written, Reioice thou barren that bearest no children, breake forth, & cry, thou that trauailest not: for the desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband.

28 Therefore, brethren, wee are after the manner of Isaac, children of the promise.

29 But as then hee that was borne after the flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the Spirit, euen so it is now.

common to them both, but not with like success: for as Abraham begate Isaac, by the common course of nature, of Agar his bondmaide and a stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise and by grace only, and the first was not only not hei, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two covenants, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two covenants as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise according to which covenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes which seek righteoussesse by the lawe: that is, by the Lawe: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length bee cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem, or in Sion, (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, beleeuers by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselves in the free promise, and they only by the right of children shalbe partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those seruants shalbe shut out. Genesis 21. 1. x At all men are, and by the common course of nature. y By vertue of the promise, which Abraham layd hold on for himselfe and his true seede, for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children. z These doe represent and shadowe forth: a They are called two covenants, one of the olde Testament, and another of the Newe: which were not two in deede, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernment. b Hee maketh mention of Sina, because that covenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadowe. c Look how the cast standeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betwixt Hierusalem and hers. d That is, Sina, which is excellent, and of great account. e Hee sheweth that in this allegorie, hee hath followed the heppes of Esay, who foretold that the Church should bee made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which only spirituall should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fleshfull Agar, euen then foretelling the casting off of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. f Esai. 54. 1. f She that is destroyed and wasted. g Rom. 8. 9. g After the manner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the heavenly Hierusalem, as Jfmael is of the fleshly Synagoge. h These seede, vnto which the promise belongeth. i By the common course of nature. k By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spirituall manner.

¶ The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no means procure and call backe againe the slavery of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaide shall not be heires.

30 But what faith the Scripture? Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

CHAP. V.

¶ Having declared that wee came of the free woman, hee sheweth the price of that freedom, 13 and howe wee should vse the same, 16 that wee may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

Stand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 Beholde, I Paul say vnto you, that if yee be a circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Lawe.

4 Ye are abolished from Christ: whosoever are iustified by the Law, yee are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit waite for the hope of righteousness through faith.

6 For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither vncircumcision, but faith which worketh by loue.

7 Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

9 A little leauen doeth leauen the whole lump.

10 I haue trust in you through the Lord, that ye will bee none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whofoeuer he be.

11 And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

¶ Another objection wherein he plainly witnesseth that iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And hee citeth the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Law, and was chiefly vrged of the false Apostles. ¶ Acts 15. 1. Circumcision is in other places called the yoke of bondage, but here we must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for now had Baptisme come in the place of circumcision. And moreover Paul reasons according to the opinion of his enemies, that of which made circumcision a yoke of their seruation. ¶ 1. Corinth. 1. 17. b That it is as he himselfe expoundeth is otherwise as we fallen from grace. c That it is to be iustified by the Law, for no man is iustified by the Law. d Hee priuily compareth the newe people with the olde: for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification and life in faith and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the external and cerimon all worship: but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. e Through the Spirit, which he mgendredth faith. f He addeth the reason for that now, circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of spirituall circumcision. g Hee maketh mention also of vncircumcision, lest the Gentiles should praise themselves in it, as the Iewes doe in circumcision. h The taking away of an objection: If all that worship of the Lawe bee taken away, where then shall we exercise our selues? In charitie, saith Paul: for faith, whereof wee speake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruities of charitie. i So is true faith distinguished from counterfeite faith: for charitie is not lodged in faith as a fellow cause, to helpe forward our iustification with faith. k Against hee chideeth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithall a praise of their former race, to the ende that he may make them more ashamed. l He playeth the part of an Apostle with them, and vith his authoritie, denying that that doctrine can come from God, which is contrary to his. m Of God. ¶ 1. Corinth. 5. 6. Hee addeth this, that hee may not seeme to contend vpon a trifles, warning them diligently by a similitude which hee borroweth of leauen, as Christ himselfe also did, not to suffer the puritie of the Apostolical doctrine, to bee infected with the least corruption that may be. n Hee mingreth the former reprehension, calling the faulte vpon the false apostles, against whom hee denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. o Hee willet them to consider how that hee seeketh not his owne profit in this matter, seeing that he could elchewe the hatred of men, if he would loyne himselfe with Christ anitie. p An example of true Pastors inflamed with the hope of Gods glorie and loue of his flocke. q For they that preach the Law, cause many consciences alwayes to tremble.

bertie: only vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.

14 For all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heed lest ye come consumed one of another.

16 Then I say, Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that ye cannot doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Law.

19 Moreouer the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleanes, wantonnesse,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, enulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies,

21 Enuie, murders, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue tolde you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the fruite of the Spirit is loue, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnesse, faith,

23 Meekenesse, temperancie: against such there is no law.

24 For they that are Christs, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lusts.

25 If we liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit.

26 Let vs not bee desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

part regenerate: but he willet them to remember that they are led with the Spirit of God, which hath deliuered them from the slavery of sinne, and so of the Law, to farre forth as it is the verne of sinne, that they should not giue themselves to lusts. ¶ Rom. 13. 14. 1. pet. 2. 11. i For the flesh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth, although not without great strife, as is largely set forth, Rom. 7. 16 Hee seteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning vp some chiefe effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruites of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance. k Therefore they are not the fruites of free will, but so farre forth as our will is made free by grace. l Least that any man should object that Paul plaied the Sophister, as one who vrging the Spirit, vigeth no law but that which the Law commandeth, hee thewerth that he requirith not the literal and outward obedience, but spirituall will, which proceedeth not from the Lawe, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doeth beget vs againe, and must needs be the ruler and guider of our life. m If we be neuer endued with the quickening Spirit, which can seth vs to die to sinne, and liue to God, let vs shew it in our deces, shun, by holme, of life. n He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he sheweth the Galatians subiect to diuers vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heed of ambition, which vice hath two fellows, backbiting and enuie, out of which two cannot be but many contentions must needs arise.

CHAP. VI.

¶ Nowe hee entreateth particularly of charitie towards such as offend, 6 towards the Ministers of the worde, 10 and those that are in the householde of faith: 12 Not like vnto Iuda who had a counterfeite zeale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

¶ be moderated and tempered by the Spirit of meeknesse. a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuil. b Which are upholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit. c Labour to fill up that that is wanting in him. d This is a kinde of speech which the Hebrews vse, giuing to vnderstand thereby, that all good gifts come from God. e He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuerely indiges, which forget their owne infirmitie.

¶ The third part of this Epistle, shewing the right vse of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered and let at libertie from the slavery of sinne, and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we should serue vnto one another saluation through loue. ¶ He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to erre all their actions, and thereupon hee citeth the testimonie of the Law. b Thou perishe. ¶ All must be restrained to the second table. ¶ Luc. 19. 18. mat. 22. 39. mar. 12. 31. rom. 13. 9. iames. 2. 8. ¶ An exhortation to the duties of charitie, by the profite that ensueth thereof, because that no men prouide worse for themselves, then they that hate one another. ¶ He acknowledgeth the great weaknesse of the godly, for that they are but in the regenerate man, but the Spirit reigneth, although not without great strife, as is largely set forth, Rom. 7. 16 Hee seteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning vp some chiefe effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruites of the Spirit, that no man may pretend ignorance. k Therefore they are not the fruites of free will, but so farre forth as our will is made free by grace. l Least that any man should object that Paul plaied the Sophister, as one who vrging the Spirit, vigeth no law but that which the Law commandeth, hee thewerth that he requirith not the literal and outward obedience, but spirituall will, which proceedeth not from the Lawe, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doeth beget vs againe, and must needs be the ruler and guider of our life. m If we be neuer endued with the quickening Spirit, which can seth vs to die to sinne, and liue to God, let vs shew it in our deces, shun, by holme, of life. n He addeth peculiar exhortations according as he sheweth the Galatians subiect to diuers vices: and first of all he warneth them to take heed of ambition, which vice hath two fellows, backbiting and enuie, out of which two cannot be but many contentions must needs arise.

¶ He denounceth importunate rigour, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the Spirit of meeknesse. a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuil. b Which are upholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit. c Labour to fill up that that is wanting in him. d This is a kinde of speech which the Hebrews vse, giuing to vnderstand thereby, that all good gifts come from God. e He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuerely indiges, which forget their owne infirmitie.

3 He sheweth that this is the end of reprobations, to raise up our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppress him. Therefore every one must seeke to have commendation of his owne life by approving of him selfe, and not by reprehending others.

4 Christ, in plaine and clear words, calleth the commendation of charitie, his commendement.

5 1 Cor. 3. 8. A reason wherefore men ought to have the greatest eye upon themselves, because that every man shall be iudged before God according to his owne life, and not by comparing himselfe with other men.

2 3 Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the Law of Christ.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himselfe in his imagination.

4 But let every man proue his owne worke: and then shall he have reioicing in himselfe only and not in another.

5 4 For every man shall beare his owne burden.

6 5 Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of all his goods.

7 6 Bee not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall hee also reape.

8 For hee that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but hee that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life everlasting.

9 7 Let vs not therefore be wearie of well doing: for in due season wee shall reape, if wee faint not.

10 8 While we have therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but specially vnto them, which are of the household of faith.

5 It is mete that masters should be found by their scholars, so farre forth as they are able.

6 Of whatsoever he hath, according to his ability.

7 1 Cor. 9. 7. He commendeth liberalitie towards the poore, and first of all childen them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and because they would not helpe their neighbour, as though they could deceive God: and afterward comparthe almes to a spirituall sowing, which shall have a most plentiful harvest, so that it shall be very profitable: and comparthe covetous niggardinesse to a carnall sowing, whereof nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.

8 To the commodities of this present life.

9 2 Theff. 3. 15. Against such as are liberrall at the beginning, but continue not, because the harvest seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seede time and the harvest were at one instant.

8 They that are of the household of faith, that is such as are ioyned with vs in the profession of the selfe same religion, ought to be preferred before all other, yet so notwithstanding that our liberrallity extend to all.

11 9 Ye see how large a letter I have written vnto you with mine owne hand.

12 As many as desire to make a faire shew in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the crosse of Christ.

13 For they themselves which are circumcised keepe not the law, but desire to have you circumcised, that they might reioyce in your flesh.

14 10 But God forbid that I should reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a new creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shall be vpon them, and mercy, and vpon Israel of God.

17 11 From henceforth let no man put me to businesse: for I beare in my bodie the marks of the Lord Iesus.

18 12 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you & spirit, Amen.

m When Paul useth this worde in good sense or part, it significth to rest a mans selfe wholly in a thing, and to content himselfe therein.

n Upon the true Israelites, whose praise is of God, and not of men, Rom. 2. 19. 11 Continuing still in the same metaphor, he opposeth his miseries and the marks of those stripes which he bare for Christs sake, against the skar of the outward circumcision, as the true mark of his Apostleship.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

After the salutation, 4 hee intreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7. 13 from whence mans salvation floweth as from the true and naturall fountaine: and because so high a mystrie cannot be understood, 16 hee praiseth that the full knowledge of Christ may by God be reveiled vnto the Ephesians.

PAUL an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the will of God, to the Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the faithfull in Christ Iesus.

2 Grace be with you, & peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 3 Blessed be God, 3 and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 4 which hath blessed vs with all spirituall blessing in heavenly things in Christ,

4 The next small cause, and in respect of vs, is our salvation, all things being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kinde of blessing is heavenly and proper to the elect.

5 With all kinde of gracious and plentifull goodnesse which is heavenly in deede, and from God onely.

6 Which God our Father gave vs from his high throne from above: or because the Saints have these gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heaven.

7 The manner of our saluation is Christ, in whom onely we are indued with spirituall blessing and vnto saluation.

4 6 As hee hath chosen vs in him, before the foundation of the world, 7 that we should be holy, and without blame before him in loue:

5 8 Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 9 To the praise of the glory of his grace, 10 wherewith hee hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued.

7 11 By whom we have redemption through wit, sanctification and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holiness of life cannot be separated from the grace of election: and againe what purenesse forever is in vs, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his merite chosen vs.

8 Then God did not choose us, because we were, or otherwise should have bene holy, but to the ende we should be holy.

9 Being clothed with Christs righteousness.

10 Truly, and sincerely.

8 Another plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternall election, whereby God is said to have chosen vs in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint vs out when we were not yet borne, whom hee would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in the free merite of God, neither is laith which God foresaw, the cause of predestination, but the effect.

9 God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe onely.

10 The uttermost and chiefest small cause is the glory of God our Father who saueth vs freely in his Sonnes.

11 That as his boundlesse goodnesse deserueth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published.

12 Another small cause more neere, is our iustification, while that hee freely accounted vs free in his Sonnes.

13 An expounding of the matter all cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he onely, whose sacrifice by the merite of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiveness of sinnes.

1 The inscription, and salutation, whereof we have spoken in the former Epistles.

2 1 Cor. 1. 2. This is the definition of the Saints, shewing what they are.

3 1 Cor. 1. 3. 1 Pet. 1. 3. The first part of the Epistle, wherein hee handleth all the partes of our saluation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and vnto discourses exhortations, and beginning after his manner with thanksgiving.

3 The efficient cause of our saluation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

4 The next small cause, and in respect of vs, is our salvation, all things being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kinde of blessing is heavenly and proper to the elect.

5 With all kinde of gracious and plentifull goodnesse which is heavenly in deede, and from God onely.

6 Which God our Father gave vs from his high throne from above: or because the Saints have these gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heaven.

his blood, even the forgiveness of sinnes, according to his rich grace:

8 <sup>12</sup> k Whereby hee hath bene abundant toward vs in <sup>1</sup> all wisdom and understanding,

9 And hath opened vnto vs the <sup>11</sup> mysterie of his will <sup>13</sup> according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in him,

10 <sup>14</sup> That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, hee might <sup>15</sup> gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, even in Christ.

11 <sup>15</sup> In whom also wee are chosen when wee were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh <sup>9</sup> all things after the counsel of his owne will,

12 That wee, which <sup>p</sup> first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glory:

13 <sup>16</sup> In whom also ye haue trusted, after that ye heard the <sup>q</sup> worde of truth, even the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that ye beleueed, yee were <sup>r</sup> sealed with the holy <sup>1</sup> Spirit of promise,

14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glorie.

15 <sup>17</sup> Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to giue thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 <sup>18</sup> That the God of our Lord Iesus Christ, that Father of <sup>a</sup> glory, might giue vnto you the Spirit of wisdom, and reuelation through the <sup>x</sup> acknowledging of him,

18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the <sup>y</sup> hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance <sup>u</sup> in the Saints,

19 <sup>19</sup> And what is the exceeding greatnesse of his power toward vs, which beleuee, <sup>z</sup> according to the working of his mightie power, in whom all the elect from the beginning of the worlde, (otherwise wander'g and separated from God) are gathered together: of wh ch, some were then in heauen, when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being found vpon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the elect are dayly gathered together. <sup>n</sup> The faithfull are sayde to be gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man. <sup>15</sup> Hee applyeth feuerally the benefice of vocation to the beleueing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neyther to themselves, nor to their stocke, nor to any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called. <sup>o</sup> All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, wee are not flocke, for hee giueth vs grace both to will and to be able to doe those things that are good, <sup>Philipp. 3. 13.</sup> <sup>p</sup> Hee speaketh of the Iewes. <sup>16</sup> Now hee maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Iewes, because that notwithstanding they came late, yet being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed vp with the same Spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe bee seene, that in them also the glorie of God might shine forth, and bee manifested. <sup>q</sup> That worde which is truth indeede, because it cometh from God. <sup>r</sup> This is a borrowed kinde of speech taken of a seale, which being put to any thing, maketh a difference betwene those things that are authentick, and others that are not. <sup>s</sup> With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption. <sup>t</sup> Full and perfect. <sup>17</sup> Hee returneth to the former graduation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be prayed of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to vs) heads, to wit, faith and charite) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace from whome wee haue the beginning, and of whome we hope for the end. <sup>18</sup> The causes of faith, are God the Father lighting our mindes with his holy Spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obtaining of euertlasting life, and the setting forth of Gods glory. <sup>u</sup> Full of maiestie. <sup>x</sup> For it is not enough for vs to haue knowne God once, but we must knowe him euery day more and more. <sup>y</sup> What blessings they receiuee hee calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ. <sup>19</sup> The excellencie of faith is declared by the effect, because the mightie power of God is set forth and shewed therein. <sup>z</sup> Chap. 3. 7. col. 3. 12.

20 <sup>20</sup> Which hee wrought in Christ, when hee raised him from the dead, & set him at his <sup>2</sup> right hand in the heauenly places,

21 Farre aboue all principallitie, and power, and might, and domination, and euery <sup>3</sup> Name, that is named, not in this world onely, but also in that that is to come,

22 <sup>21</sup> And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the <sup>4</sup> head to the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the <sup>5</sup> fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

of the first. <sup>2</sup> To be set on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the <sup>1</sup> sovereignty which he hath ouer all creatures. <sup>3</sup> Every thing whatsoever is he, or aboue all things be they of neuer such power or excellencie. <sup>4</sup> That wee should not thinke that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith wee haue nought to doe, hee witnesseth, that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be ioyned to this head, which otherwise should be a mayned hing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the onely vertue of Christ, so farre off is it that hee needeth the ministe thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioine vs to his Souer. <sup>5</sup> Inasmuch that there is nothing but is subiect to him. <sup>6</sup> For the loue of Christ is so great toward the Church, that though hee doe fully satisfie all with all things, yet hee esteemeth himselfe but a mayned and imperfect head, vnlesse he haue the Church ioyned to him as his body.

CHAP. II.

And <sup>1</sup> you hath hee quickened, that were <sup>a</sup> dead in <sup>2</sup> trespasses and finnes,

2 <sup>3</sup> Wherein, in times past ye walked, <sup>4</sup> according to the course of this world, and <sup>5</sup> after the prince that ruleth in the aire, even the spirit, that now <sup>6</sup> worketh in the <sup>7</sup> children of disobedience,

3 <sup>6</sup> Among whom we also had our conuersation in time past in the lustes of our <sup>8</sup> flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and <sup>7</sup> were by nature the <sup>9</sup> children of wrath, as well as <sup>10</sup> others.

4 <sup>8</sup> But God which is rich in mercy, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs,

5 Even when wee were dead by sinnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saved,

6 And hath raised vs vp together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus, shim dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them which are damned, is no life, so this knitting together of body and soule, is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the spirit of God. <sup>2</sup> He sheweth the cause of death to wit, finnes. <sup>3</sup> He prooueth by the effects that all were spiritually dead. <sup>4</sup> He prooueth this euill to be vniuersall, inasmuch as all are slaves to Satan. <sup>5</sup> As the pleasure of the Prince. <sup>6</sup> Men are therfore slaves to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. <sup>7</sup> They are called the children of disobedience, which are giuen to disobedience. <sup>8</sup> After that hee hath feuerally condemned the Gentiles, hee confesseth that the Iewes, amongst whom he numbereth himselfe, are not a whit better. <sup>9</sup> By the name of flesh in the first place, hee meaneth the whole man, which be divideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that be leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. <sup>10</sup> The conclusion: All men are borne subiect to the wrath and curse of God. <sup>11</sup> Men are sayde to be the children of wrath passionately, that is to say, guiltie of euertlasting death by the iudgement of God, who is angry with them. <sup>12</sup> Prophane people which know not God. <sup>13</sup> Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the vertue of Christ wee are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the end that at length wee may reioice with him. And by diuers and sundry meanes hee beatech this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefice is the free mercie of God: and Christ himselfe is the materiell cause: and faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glory. <sup>14</sup> To wit, as hee addeth afterwards, in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs, but onely in our head, by whose spirit we haue begun to die to sinne, and liue to God, vntill that wee be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as sure of that we looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued already.

20 The Apostle willen to beholde in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith, that most excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very dark in vs by reason of the ignomie of the crosse and the weaknesse

1 He declarath against the greatness of Gods good will, by comparing that miserable state wherein wee are borne, with that dignitie wherunto we are aduanced by God the Father in Christ. So that hee describeth that condition in such sort, that he faith, that touching spirit uall motions wee are not onely borne halfe dead, but wholly and altogether dead. <sup>z</sup> Coloss. 2. 13. <sup>a</sup> Look Rom. 6. 2. <sup>b</sup> So then he calleth

b So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two these are contrary. To be saved by our felicitie, or by our workes. Therefore what means they which would ioyne together things of so contrary nature? c He taketh away expressly and namely from our workes the praise of iustification, seeing that the good workes themselves are the effects of grace in vs. d He speaketh here of Grace, and not of nature: therefore be the workes neuer so good, looke what they are, they are it of grace. e Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as the Iewes, by nature, but also alter an especiall sort, strangers and without God; and therefore they ought so much the rather remember that time so great a benefite of God. f You were called no otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might witness of your vncircumcision. g Of the few which were known from you by the marks of circumcision, the marks of the courtiers. h He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises. i You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Israel. k Romans 9. 4. l Christ is the onely bond of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God. m As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were diuided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyne them both together, both in himselfe, and by his merits; and to God. 7 That he might shew in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kinde-nesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.

8 For by his grace are yee saved through faith, and that not of your felicitie: it is the gift of God,

9 Not of workes, lest any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are his workmanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordained, that we should walke in them.

11 Wherefore remember that yee being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and called vncircumcision of them, which are called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands,

12 That ye were, f say, at that time without Christ, and were aliens from the common wealth of Israel, and were strangers from the covenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 But now in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.

14 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Law of commandements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one new man in himselfe, so making peace,

16 And that hee might reconcile both vnto God in one body by his crosse, and so slay hatred thereby,

17 And came, and preached peace to you which were farre off, & to them that were neere.

18 For through him wee haue both an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.

19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the household of God,

20 And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the chiefe corner stone, 21 In whom all the building coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom yee also are built together to bee the habitation of God by the Spirit.

h He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises. i You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Israel. k Romans 9. 4. l Christ is the onely bond of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God. m As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were diuided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyne them both together, both in himselfe, and by his merits; and to God. ### CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee suffered many things of the Iewes, 3 because hee preached the myserie touching the saluation of the Gentiles, 8 as Gods commandements. 13 After hee desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions. 14 And for this cause hee prayeth vnto God, 18 that they may vnderstand the great love of Christ.

For this cause, I Paul am the prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles.

2 If yee haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to youward,

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this myserie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine vnderstanding in the myserie of Christ)

5 Which in other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is now reueiled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectfull working of his power.

8 Euen vnto mee the least of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ,

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the myserie is, which from the beginning of the world hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ,

10 To the intent, that now vnto principalities and powers in heavenly places, might bee known by the Church the manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to the eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord:

12 By whom we haue boldnesse and entrance with confidence, by faith in him,

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

14 For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ,

15 (Of whom is named the whole familie in heaven and in earth)

16 That he might grant you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the inner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith:

18 That yee, being rooted and grounded in his loue, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to know the loue of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all fullnesse of God.

20 Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding abundantly aboue all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs,

21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, thorowout all generations for euer. Amen.

preaching and hearing of the worde: which are needefull not onely to them which are younglings in religion, but euen to the oldest also, that they growing vpon and more by faith in Christ, being comforted with all spirituall gifts, may bee grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable loue, whereof part is already receiued into heaven, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon the adoption of the bequeyfull Father, in his onely Sonne. e All that whole people which hath but one household Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ. f According to the greatnesse of his merite. g Lookes Roman. 7. 22. h Wherein God loueth vs, which is the roots of our election. i How perfect that worke of Christ is in every part. k Which God hath shewed vs in Christ. l Which passeth all the capacite of mans wit, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for whome who so hath the Spirit of God, perceiveth so much (according to the measure that God hath giuen him) as is sufficient to saluation. m So that we haue eternall life, what soeuer things are requisite to make vs perfect with God. n Hee breatheth forth into a thanksgiving, whereby the Ephesians also may bee comforted to hope for any thing of God.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

These three last Chapters containe precepts of maners. 1. Hee exhorteth them to mutual loue. 2. Sunday gifts are therefore bestowed of God, 16 that the Church may bee built up. 18 Hee calleth them from the vanitie of the infidels, 23 from lying, 29 and from filthy talk.

Therefore, being prisoner in the Lord, pray you that yee walke worthy of the vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 With all humblenesse of mind, & meekenesse, with long suffering, supporting one another through loue,

3 Endeavouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 There is one body, and one Spirit, euen as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme,

6 One God and Father of all, which is above all, and through all, and in you all.

7 But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace, according to the measure of the gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, When he ascended vp on hie, he led captivity captiue, & gaue gifts vnto me.

9 (Nowe, in that hee ascended, what is it but that hee had also descended first into the lowest parts of the earth?)

10 Hee that descended, is euen the same that ascended, farre above all heauens, that hee might fill all things)

11 Hee therefore gaue some to be Apostles, and some Prophets, & some Euangelists, and some Pastours, and Teachers,

12 For the repairing of the Saints, for the worke of the ministry, and for the edification of the body of Christ,

13 Till we all meete together (in the vnitie of faith, and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the measure of the fulnesse of Christ,

14 That wee henceforth bee no more children, 15 wauering and caried about with euery wind of doctrine, by the deceit of men, & with

Therefore whosoever breaketh charite, breaketh all these things vnder. a Who onely haue the chief authority ouer the Church. b Whom onely power is forth by pronouncement, through all the members of the Church. c Who onely is ioynt together with vs in Christ. d He teacheth vs, that we in deed are all one body, and that all good gifts proceed from God alone, who reigeth in heauen, haue conquered all our enemies (from whence hee heapeth all gifts vpon his Church.) but yet notwithstanding these gifts are diuersly & sundry wises & diuersly according to his will and pleasure, and therefore euery man ought to bee content with that measure that God hath giuen him, and to bestowe it to the common profite of the whole body. e Which Christ hath giuen. f A multitude of captiues. g Downe to the earth, in which is the lowest part of the earth. h Fill with his gifts. i The Church. k First of all hee bestoweth vpon the Ecclesiasticall functions, which are partly extraordinary, and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Euangelists; and partly ordinary and perpetuall, as Pastours and Teachers. l The Apostles were those twelve, vnto whom Paul was afterward added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefest, which were men of a marueilous wisdom, and some of them could foretell things to come. n These the Apostles used as filloes in the execution of their office; being not able to answere all places themselves. o Pastours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the schooles. p Hee sheweth the ende of Ecclesiasticall functions, to wit, that by the ministry of them all the Saints may so growe vp together, that they may make one mystricall body of Christ. q The Church. r The vse of this ministrie is perpetuall, so long as wee are in this world, that is, vntill that time that hauing put off the flesh, and thoroughly and perfectly agreeing betwixt our selues, wee shall bee ioyned with Christ our head. Which thing is done by the knowledge of the Sonne of God increasing in vs, and he himselfe by little and little growing vp in vs, vntill we come to be a perfite man, which shall bee in the world to come, when God shall bee all in all. s Further most neere continuation which is knut and fastened together by faith. t Christ is said to growe up to full age, not in himselfe, but in vs. u Retwixt our childhood that is to say, a very weak state, wher as wee doe yet altogether wauer) and our youth age, which wee shall haue at length in another world there is a weame, to wit, our youth, and steele going forward to perfection. x Hee comparith them which rest not themselves vpon the word of God, to little boates which are tossed hither and thither with the doctines of men, as it were with contrary winds, and sheweth that they shall be borne downe that it cometh to passe not onely by the lightnesse of man's braine, but also by the craftinesse of certaine, which make as it were an arte of it. y With those vncertaine chancours which tosse men to and fro.

craftinesse, whereby they lay in wait to deceiue. 15 But let vs follow the truth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.

16 By whom all the bodie being coupled and knit together by euery ioint, for y furniture thereof (according to the effectuall power, which is in the measure of euery part) receiueth & increase of the body, vnto the edifying of it selfe in y loue.

17 This I say therefore, and testifie in the Lord, that yee henceforth walke not as other Gentiles walke, in z vanitie of their minde, 18 Hauing their vnderstanding darkened, and being strangers from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardnesse of their heart.

19 Which being past feeling, haue giuen themselves vnto wantonnesse, to worke all uncleannesse, euen with greedinesse.

20 But ye haue not so learned Christ,

21 If so be yee haue heard him, and haue bene taught by him, & as the truth is in Iesus,

22 That is, that yee cast off, concerning the conuention in time past, & that old man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable lusts,

23 And be renewed in the spirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which after God is created vnto righteousness, and i true holines.

25 Wherefore cast off lying, and speake euery man truth vnto his neighbour: for wee are members one of another.

26 Be not angry, but sinne not: let not the sun goe downe vpon your wrath, 27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 Let him that stole, steale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his hands the thing which is good, that he may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 Let not corrupt communication proceed out of your mouthes: but which is good, to the vse of edifying, it may minister grace vnto y hearers.

30 And grieue not the holy Spirit of God, comparison betwixt the children of God, and them which are not regenerate. For in these men all the powers of the mind are corrupted, & their mind is giuen to vanitie, and their senses are darkened with most grosse mistification; & their affections are so accustomed by little and little to wickednes, that at length they run headlong into all vncleannesse, being utterly destitute of all iudgement. a Rom. 1. 21. b If the noblest parts of the soule be corrupt, what is man but corrupted onely? c Wherby God liueth in them. d Void of all iudgement. e They strue to passe one another, as though there had bene some game to be gotten by it. f Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true & lively knowledge of Christ, which haue other principles of their doings, far different to wit, holy & honest desires, & a mind cleare changed by the vse of y holy Ghost, from whence proceed all like effects, as a iust & holy life in deed. g As they haue learned which acknowledge Christ in deed and in good earnest. h Col. 3. 8. i Your selues. j Wherethere ought to haue bene the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which is flesh all things. k After the image of God. l The effect & end of the new creation. m Not sained nor counterfeited. n He commendeth feuerally certain peculiar vertues, & first of all he requirith truth, (that is to say, sincere maners) condemning all deceit & dissembling, because we are borne one for another. o He requirith vs to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be hot, yet that it breake not out, & that it be straightway quenched before we sleepe, lest Satan taking occasion to giue vs euill counsell, through that wicked counsell destroy vs. p If it so fall out that ye be angry, yet sin not: that is, bridle your anger, & do not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceived. q Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an atonement quickly for all matters. r Hee descendeth from the heart to the hand, & condemning the fist; & because y men which giue themselves to this wickednes, vse to pretend poverty, he sheweth that labour is a good remedy against poverty, which God bleth in such sort, that they which labour, haue alwayes some one plus to helpe other, so far is it from this, y they are constrained to steale other mens goods. s By labouring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbor. t He bridleth the tongue: also teaching vs to temper our talke, & at our hearers minds bee not orely not destroyed, but also instructed. u Word for word, reason. v By grace becometh that, wherby men may profite to the going on forward in godlines and loue. w A general precept against all excess of affections which dwell in that part of the mind which men call, Angry, and he setteth against them the contrary means. And vnto a most vehement preface, how we ought to take heed that we grieue not the holy Spirit of God through our immoderate and intemperance, who dwelleth in vs to this end, to moderate all our affections.

to Christ, euen so let the wiues be to their husbands in every thing.

25 * 12 Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it,

26 That he might <sup>13</sup> sanctifie it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the <sup>14</sup> word,

27 That he might make it vnto himselfe a glorious Church, <sup>15</sup> not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

28 * 14 So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himselfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his <sup>16</sup> own flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord
doeth the Church.

30 For we are members of his bodie, <sup>17</sup> of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 * For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall <sup>18</sup> cleaue to his wife, and they twaine shall be one flesh.

32 * This is a great secret, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.

33 * Therefore euery one of you, <sup>19</sup> doe ye <sup>20</sup> see: let euery one loue his wife, euen as himselfe, and let the wife <sup>21</sup> see that she feare her husband, also very profitable: so also the saluation of the Church is of Christ, although I haue otherwise. 11 The conclusion of the wiues dutie towards their husbands.

12 Coloss. 3. 19. 13 The husbands dutie towards their wives, is to loue them as themselves, of which loue, the loue of Christ toward his Church, is a lively patern. 14 Because many men pretend the infiniteness of their wives, to excuse their owne ba dness and crueltie, the Apostle willett vs to marke what manner of Church Christ gate, when hee ioyned it to himselfe, and how hee doeth not onely not lothe all her filth and vncleannesse, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleanness, vntill hee haue wholly purged it. m Make it holy. n Through the free promise of free iustification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith.
o The Church, as it is considered in it selfe, shall not be without wrinkle, before it comto the marke it shooteth as: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is cleane and without wrinkle. 14 Another argument Euery man loueth himselfe, euen of nature: therefore hee striueth against paine that loueth not his wife: hee prooueth the consequent, first by the mysticall kni-ting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who saith, that man and wife are as one, (that is, not to be diuied. p His own bodie. q Hee alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the Super. * Gruesse 2.24. mat. 19. 5. marke 10. 9. 1. corins 6. 16. r Look Matthew 19. 5. 15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wiues is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall, and such as is differeth from the common coniunction of man: as which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh, by faith, and by no naturall band. 16 The conclusion both of the husbands dutie toward his wife, and of the wiues toward her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth the duties of children, 5 seruants, 9 and masters
10 Then he speaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull haue, 12 and what weapons we must use in the same: 21 In the end be commended Tybicus.

<sup>3</sup> That it may be wel with thee, and that thou mayest liue long on earth.

<sup>4</sup> And ye fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and <sup>5</sup> information of the Lord.

to Christ,

<sup>6</sup> Not with seruice to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, <sup>9</sup> doing the will of God from the heart,

tain a reuerence to Godward, as though ye serued God himselfe. <sup>12</sup> Although they be vnto kinde and euill masters, yet the obedience of seruants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free. <sup>13</sup> It is the dutie of masters to vie the authoritie that they haue ouer their seruants, modestly, and holily, knowing that they in another respect haue a common master, which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond and the free. <sup>14</sup> Deut. 10. 17, 2. cor. 12. 7, 10. 34. 16. Act. 16. 25, 26. 1. cor. 11. 22. Galat. 3. 25. 1. pet. 1. 17. <sup>15</sup> Eieken of freedome or bondage. <sup>16</sup> Hee concludeth the other part of this Epistle with a graue exhortation, that all bondes, and fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons. vntill their enemies be quite put to flight. And first of all, hee warneth vs to take the armour of God, wherewith onely our enemy may be dispatched.

<sup>3</sup> <sup>4</sup> For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast.

<sup>4</sup> Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with veritie, and hauing on the brestplate of righteousness,

<sup>7</sup> And take the helmet of saluation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

<sup>8</sup> And pray alwayes with all manner prayer and supplication in the <sup>9</sup> spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseverance & supplication for al Saints,

<sup>9</sup> And for mee, that vtterance may be giuen vnto mee, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel, <sup>10</sup> Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake.

faires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things, <sup>12</sup> Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that yee might know mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.

<sup>13</sup> Peace be with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

shew to you: and it is very fitly called the Gospel of peace, for that, seeing we haue to goe to God through most dangerous ranks of enemies, this may encourage vs to go on manfully in that we know by the doctrine of the Gospel, that we take our journey to God, who is as peace with vs. That holy prayer may proceed from the holy spirit. <sup>15</sup> A familiar and very amiable declaration of his state, together with a solemne prayer, wherewith Paul is wont to end his Epistles. <sup>16</sup> To life euery thing.

<sup>13</sup> Secondly, he declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are spirituall, that we may not thinke that our chiefest conflict is with men.

<sup>14</sup> Against men, which are of a fraile and brittle nature, against which are set spirituall subtilties, more mightily then the other by a showland parts.

¶ Chap. 2. 2. <sup>15</sup> He giueth these names to the euill angels, by reason of the effectes which they worke: not that they are able to doe the same of themselves, but because God giueth them the bridle.

<sup>16</sup> He sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the onely armour of God, to wit, with vprightnes of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospel, faith, and to be short, with the word of God, & vnto day earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially for the constancie of the true, godly, and valiant ministers of the word.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL and Timotheus the seruants of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus, which are at Philippi, with the <sup>2</sup> Bishops and Deacons:

<sup>2</sup> Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

<sup>3</sup> I thanke my God, <sup>4</sup> hauing you in perfect memoriae,

<sup>6</sup> And I am perswaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good worke in you, will performe it vntill the <sup>8</sup> day of Iesus Christ, be glorified. <sup>8</sup> A true proofe of a true knighting together with Christ. <sup>9</sup> He calleth his bands grace, as though he had receiued some singular benefite.

<sup>7</sup> As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance, that both in my <sup>9</sup> bands, and in my defence, & confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my <sup>10</sup> grace.

<sup>6</sup> Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel, <sup>7</sup> Ever since I knew you.

<sup>8</sup> The Spirit of God will not forsake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudgements of Christ, to be glorified.

<sup>1</sup> The words which hee sheweth in this Epistle to confirme the Philippians by all means possible, are only not written, but also spoken forward.

And list of all he commendeth his former doings, to exhort them to goe forwards in the same thing, he sayeth, hee hopeth fully they will doe, and that by the testimony of their lively charity, but in the meane season hee referrath all things to the grace of God. <sup>2</sup> By the Bishops are meant both the Pastours, which haue the disposition of the word, and the Elders, that gouerne: and by Deacons are meant those that were of the treasury of the Church, and had to looke vnto the poore.

1. He dedareth himselfe will towards them, therefore with all shewing by what means chiefly they may be conformed, & wit, by continual prayer.

2. Hee sheweth what thing wee ought chiefly to desire, so wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God, (so that we may be able to discern things that differ one from another) and also in charitie, that even to the end we may give ourselves to good works indeed, to the glory of God by Iesus Christ.

3. If righteousness be the tree, and good works the fruit, then must the Pa-pists needs be de-cieved, when they say that works are the cause of righte-ousnesse.

4. Hee preven-teth the offence that might come by his perfec-tion, whereby diuines tooke oc-casion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he an-swereth, that God hath blessed his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that meanes become more fa-mous, and the dignitie of the Gospell by this occasion great-ly enlarged, al-though not with like affliction in all men, yet in-deede.

5. For Christ his sake.

6. In the Emperours court.

7. The Gospell is called the Word, so far forth the ex-celleuie of it.

8. Not with a pure minde: for oth-erwise their doctrine was pure.

9. He sheweth by setting forth his owne example, that the reade of our afflictions is true ioy, and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giueth to them that take it.

10. Under a goodly colour and shew: for they made Christ a cloake for their ambition and enuie.

11. We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christs glory onely, whether we liue or die.

12. An example of a true shepherd, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheepe, then he doeth of any commoditie of his owne.

13. To live in this mortall body.

14. Hauing set downe these things before in manner of a Preface, hee defendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with these common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersities in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthy the profes-sion of the Gospell.

8. For God is my recorde, how I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.

9. And this I pray that your loue may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement.

10. That ye may allow those things which are best, that yee may be pure, and without offence, vntill the day of Christ.

11. Filled with the 8 fruits of righteousness, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glorie and praye of God.

12. ¶ I would ye vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospell.

13. So that my bandes in Christ are famous thorowout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places.

14. Inasmuch that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankly speake the Word.

15. Some preach Christ euen through enuy and strife, and some also of good will.

16. The one part preacheth Christ of contenti-on, and not purely, supposing to adde more afflic-tion to my bandes.

17. But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospell.

18. What then? yet Christ is preached all man-ner wayes, whether it bee vnder a pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea, and will ioy.

19. For I know that this shall turne to my sal-uation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ.

20. As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21. For Christ is to me both in life and in death aduantage.

22. And whether to liue in the flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I know not.

23. For I am distressed betwene both, desiring to be loosed, and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24. Neuerthelesse, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25. And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith.

26. That yee may more abundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for mee, by my comming to you againe.

27. Onely let your conuersation be as it be-commeth the Gospell of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or els be absent, I may heare of your matters, that ye continue in one spirit, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Gospell.

¶ Under a goodly colour and shew: for they made Christ a cloake for their ambition and enuie. 6. We must continue even to the end, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christs glory onely, whether we liue or die. 7. An example of a true shepherd, who maketh more account how he may profit his sheepe, then he doeth of any commoditie of his owne. 8. To live in this mortall body. 9. Hauing set downe these things before in manner of a Preface, hee defendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with these common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersities in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthy the profes-sion of the Gospell. 10. The word signifieth, so stand fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast, and strike not a foot.

28. And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.

29. For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not onely ye should beleue in him, but also suffer for his sake.

30. Hauing the same fight, which yee saw in me, and now heere to be in me.

himselfe both of our saluation, and of the destruction of the wicked. 10. He prom-isseth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our saluation, of God to suffer for Christ, which giueth his blessing vpon his owne, as he doth the gift of faith. 11. No where hee seeth for what purpose hee made mention of his af-flictions.

CHAP. II.

1. He exhorteth them about all things 3 to humilitie, 6 and sheweth by the example of Christ. 19 He promisseth to send Timo-theus shortly vnto them, 26 and excuseth the long tarrying of Euagbrodius.

¶ If there be therefore any consolation in a Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercy,

2. Fulfill my ioy, that ye be like minded, ha-ving the same loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement.

3. That nothing be done through contention or vainglory, but that in meeknesse of mind eu-ry man esteeme other better then himselfe.

4. Look not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men.

5. Let the same mind be in you that was euen in Christ Iesus,

6. Who being in the forme of God, thought it no robbery to be equal with God:

7. But hee made himselfe of no reputation, and tooke on him the forme of a seruant, and was made like vnto men, and was found in shape like a man.

8. He humbled himselfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse.

9. Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and giuen him a name above euery name,

10. That at the Name of Iesus should every knee bow, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth,

11. And that euery tongue should confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lord, vnto the glory of God the Father.

12. Wherefore my beloved, as ye haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence onely, but now much more in mine absence: so make an end of your owne saluation with feare and trembling.

13. For it is God which worketh in you both the will and the deed, euen of his good pleasure.

14. Doe all things without murmuring and reasonings,

¶ Christ, that glorious and eternall God, know that he might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the base flesh of man, but remains with maiestie meet for God: yet he clothed rather to debase himselfe. 5. If the Sonne be equal to the father, then is there of ne-cessitie an equality, which Arius, that heretick, denieth: and if the Sonne be compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius that heretick, denieth. 8. Hee brought himselfe from all things, as it were, to nothing. 9. By tak-ing our manhood vpon him. 10. Hee sheweth the most glorious euent of Christs sub-pis-ion, to teach vs, that modestie is the true way to true praise and glory. 11. Dignitie and renowne, and the matter with it. 12. All creatures shall at length be sub-jected to Christ. 1. Euery nation. 4. The conclusion: We must goe on to sal-uation with humilitie and submission, by the way of our vocation. 5. Hee seeth to make an end of his saluation, which consisteth in the race of righteousness. 6. A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that wee haue nothing in us worthy, but it cometh of the free gift of God, and it without vs for we haue no abil-ity or power, so much as to will well (much lesse to doe well) but onely of the free me-erie of God. 7. Why then, we are but stocks, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but only because God hath made of our naughtie will a good will. 8. He de-scribeth modestie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching vs, that it is farre both from all malicious, and close or inward hatred, and also from open contention and brawlings. 1. Pet. 4. 9.

9. We ought not to be discouraged, but rather encouraged by the per-secutions which the enemies of the Gospell imagine, & perse-cute against vs, seeing that they are certaine wa-nesses from God because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which giueth his blessing vpon his owne, as he doth the gift of faith. 11. No where hee seeth for what purpose hee made mention of his af-flictions.

¶ A most earnest request to remou- all those things, whereby the great and speciall con-fine and agree-ment is commonly broken; to wit, contention and pride, whereby it cometh to passe, that they be- come then- selfe one from another.

¶ Any Christian comfort.

¶ If any feeling of inward loue.

¶ Like loue.

¶ Hee teacheth before them a most perfit example of all modestie and sweet conuer-sation, Christ Iesus, whom we ought to follow when all our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be above all praise, took vpon him the forme of a ser-uant, to wit, out-lyth willingly, sub-ject to all in-firmitie, euen to the death of the crosse.

¶ Such as God himselfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God, but God himselfe.

¶ 1. Pet. 4. 9.

To be sheweth with a life about fault, and may be being in the world
of God,
they may shine in the darkness of this world.
1. Mar. 5. 14.
2. The Gospel is called the word of life because it sheweth
the life which is in Christ.
3. Against he pre-bath them for world, being before them his true Apollitic care that hee had of them, comforting them moreover,
to the ende they should not be forsaken for the greatness of his a Bi-Christ, no not although he should die to make perfect their oblation
with his blood,
as it were with a double offering.
4. As he said, 7
though you Phi-lipians be Christ,
my desire is that you present your bodies a lively sacrifice to him, and then shall it not be given to be offered up as a double offering, to accomplish this

ded him, and also pointing to that Timothee
sheweth unto them, himselfe shortly unto them, if God will. 2. Mites 16. 1. q. May be confirmed in my joy of minde. 1. 1. Cor. 13. 2. 3. The most part. f. Hee calleth it here the name of Christ, so visit Christ, being poore and in bands in the person of Paul.

15 7 That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughty and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the 9 wordes of life, 8 that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I have not runne in vaine, neither have laboured in vaine.

17 Yea and though I bee offered vp vpon the p sacrifice and seruire of your faith, I am glad and reioyce with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and re-ioyce with me.

19 5 And I trust in the Lorde Iesus, to sende 2 Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of 9 good comfort when I knowe your state.

20 For I have no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 7 For all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christs.

22 But ye know the prooffe of him, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soone as I know how it will go with me,

24 And I trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessary to sende my brother Epaphroditus vnto you my companion in labour, and fellow souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto me such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was ful of heauinesse, because ye had heard that he had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt he was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, lest I should haue sorrow vpon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the lesse sorrowfull.

29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the 6 worke of Christ hee was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill the seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

CHAP. III.

Hee refuteth the vaine boasting of the false Apostles, 7 and setteb Christ against them. 10 Hee setteb out the force and nature of faith, 15 thus laying all things aside. they may be partakers of the Crosse of Christ, 18 The enemies whereof hee noteth out.

Moreouer, 1 my brethren, reioyce in the Lord.
It grieueth me not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of euill workers:
beware of the b concision.

The next admonition that followeth, to take good heed and beware of false Apostles, which ioyne Circumcision with Christ (that is to say, iustification by faith, with free iustification by faith) and beate into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished, for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And hee calleth them dogges as prophane bawlers and euill workmen, because they neglected true works, and did not teach the true vie of them. To be short, hee calleth them Concision, because in v gng Circumcision, they cut off themselves and others from the Church. 4 Which you haue often times heard of me. 6 Hee alludeth to Circumcision, whereof hee willeth they boasted, they cut off from the Church.

3 1 For wee are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence in the flesh:

4 4 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I,

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kindred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, 4 an Ebrew of the Ebrewes, 4 by the Law a Pharise.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church:
touching the righteousness which is in the Law,
I was vnrebukeable.

7 But the things that were d vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christes sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be dongue, that I might 6 winne Christ,

9 And might be found in g him, that is, in hauing mine owne righteousness, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousness which is of God
through faith,

10 5 That I may know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the 6 fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the resurrection of the dead:

12 Nor as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am
1 comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing 7 doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeour my selfe vnto that which is before,

14 And folow hard toward the marke, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Iesus.

15 7 Let vs therefore as many as be m perfect, be thus minded: and if yee be otherwise minded,
God shall reueale euen the same vnto you.

16 Neuerthelesse, in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceed by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of mee, and looke on them, which walke so, as ye haue vs for an en-sample.

18 8 For many walke, of whom I haue tolde you often, and now tel you weeping, that they are the enemies of the crosse of Christ.

of righteousness by faith touching vs, that by the vertue of his resurrection wee may scape from death. i That 7 may seeke him in derde, and haue a trial of him.

6 The way to that eternall saluation, is to follow Christes steps, by afflictions and persecutions, until we come to Christ himselfe, who is our marke whereto we shoot, and receiue that reward wherunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Lawe, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlinesse. k To life euertlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints. l For we waite not but so farre forth as wee are layed holde on of Christ, that is, as God giueth vs strength, and sheweth vs the way.

7 The conclusion of this exhortation, standing vpon three members: The one is, that such as haue professed in the truth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant, and vnderstand not these things, and doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently borne withall, until they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles by their fruits, wherein hee doubteth not to set forth himselfe for an example. m Hee sayd before, that he was not perfect. So that in this place hee calleth them perfect, which haue somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ, and the Gospel, whom hee setteth against the rude and ignorant, as hee exposeth himselfe in the next verse following. 8 Hee painteth out the false apostles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with sorrow and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that it is ioynd with affliction) they regard nothing else, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace, quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures, they may liue in great estimation among men: whose miserable end hee forewarneth them of. Rom. 16. 17.

He sheweth that we ought to vis-true circumcision of the heart,
that cutting off all wicked affections
by the vertue of Christ, wee may serue God in purity of life.
c In outward things, which pertaine nothing to the soule.
d He doubteth not to prefer himselfe euen according to the flesh, before those persons whose vices of the Law, that all men may know that he doth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteem all those outward things
so much as he lacketh nothing which hath Christ,
may he confidence of our workes can not stand with the true iustification in Christ by faith.
2. Cor. 11. 22.
e Acts 23. 6.
f Which I accom-pish for vantage.
g He shutteth out
all workes, as well
those that go before,
as those that come after faith.
h That in their place I might see Christ, and of a poore man become rich:
to farre off am I from losing any thing.
i In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subject to condemnation.
k That is, to be in Christ, so be found not in a mans owne righteousnesse, but clothed with the righteousnesse of Christ imputed to him.
l This is the end of his resurrection wee may scape from death.
m That 7 may seeke him in derde, and haue a trial of him.

CHAP. III.

1 From particular exhortations, q bee cometh to generall.
10 He saith that hee took such ioy in their readinesse to liberat
11 him, so that hee will patiently beare the want.

Therefore, my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my crowne, so continue in the Lord, ye beloued.

2 I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithfull yokefellow, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow labourers, whose names are in the booke of life.

4 Reioyce in the Lord alway, againe I say, reioyce.

5 Let your patient minde be knownen vnto all men. The Lord is at hand.

6 Be nothing carefull, but in all things let your requests be shewed vnto God in prayer and supplication with giuing of thanks.

7 And the peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding, shall preserue your hearts and mindes in Christ Iesus.

8 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoe-uer things are iust, whatsoeuer things are pure, whatsoeuer things are worthie loue, whatsoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any prairie, thinke on these things,

9 Which yee haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in me: those things doe, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 Now I reioyce also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.

11 I speake not because I want: for I haue learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can be labased, and I can abound: euery where in all things I am instructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding ye haue wel done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 And yee Philippians know also, that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with mee, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

16 For euen when I was in Thessalonica, yee sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie.

17 Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glory in Iesus Christ.

20 Vnto God euen our Father bee praye for euermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Iesus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of Cefars household.

23 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Written to the Philippians, from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

CHAP. I.

Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

2 To them which are of Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 We giue thanks to God euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alway praying for you:

4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue towards all Saints,

5 For the hopes sake, which is layed vp for you in heauen, whereof ye haue heard before by the word of truth, which is the Gospel,

6 Which is come vnto you euen as it is vnto all the world, and is fruitfull, as it is also among you, from the day that yee heard and truly knew the grace of God,

7 As yee also learned of Epaphras our deare fellow seruant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ:

a By the free boun
b tificence of God.
c Coloss. is situated

e from Hierapolis and f Laodicea, on that

1 He commend

3 that was deliue

8 We cannot

15 For the glory
16 hee is hoped for.

¶ Who

8 Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue in the Spirit.

9 For this cause we also since the day that we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will in all wisdome, and spirituall vnderstanding.

10 That ye might walke worthy of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God.

11 <sup>3</sup> Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with ioyfulnesse, 12 4 Giuing thanks vnto the 5 Father which hath made vs nieete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in 8 light.

17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 <sup>8</sup> And he is the head of the body of the Church : he is the beginning, * and the <sup>1</sup> first begotten of the dead , that in all things hee might haue the preeminence.

CHAP. II.

¶ He condemneth, as vaine, whatsoeuer is without Christ, 11 increasing specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meates, 18 and of worshipping of Angels: 20 That we are deliuered from the traditions of the Law through Christ:

FOr I' would yee knewe what great fighting I haue for your sakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my a person in the flesh.

2. <sup>a</sup> That <sup>b</sup> their hearts might be comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in all riches of the <sup>c</sup> full assurance of vnderstanding, to know the 4 We bringeth all corruptions to three kinds:

The first is that,
which reſteth of vaine and curious ſpeculations, and ye beare a ſhew
of a certaine ſubtil
wiſdome.
5 This is a word of ſauour, and it is as much as to drive or carry away a ſpoyle or bootie.
6 The ſecond which is maniſeſtly ſuperſtitious and vaine, and ſtandeth ouerly vpon cuſtome and ſai-
d and inſpirations.
7 The third kind was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the world, (that is to ſay, the ceremonies of the Law) with the Goſpel.
8 Principles and rules wherewith
God ruled his Church, as it were under a ſchool-maſter.
9 A generall conſideration of all cor-ruptions is this,
that that maſt
needes be a falſe religion, which addeth any thing to Chriſt.

8 A reaſon: Becauſe onely Chriſt God and man, is moſt perfect, and perfect ſure above all things, ſo that whoſoever hath him, may require nothing more.
1 By theſe wordes ſhewed a diſtinction of the natures. m This word (enelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ioyning together of thoſe natures, ſo that of God and Man is one Chriſt. n Theſe wordes ſet downe moſt perfect Godhead to be in Chriſt. o The kniſting together of God and man, is ſubſtantiall and eſſentiall. p Nowe hee deleth preciſely againſt the third kinde, that is to ſay, againſt them which vtged the Iewiſh religion: and ſiſt of all, hee denieth that wee haue neede of Circumciſion of the fleſh, ſeeing that without it wee are circumciſed within by the vertue of Chriſt. q Rom 2.29. r Theſe many wordes are vſed to ſhewe what the olde man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the body of ſinne. s The taking away of an obedienc: We neede not ſo much as the externall ſigne which our fathers had, ſee-ing that our baptiſme is a moſt effectuall pledge and witneſſe, of that inward reſtor-ing and renewing. t Rom 6.4. u 19. v Looke Rom. 6.4. w So then all the force of the maſter cometh not from the very deepe done, but is to ſay, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Miniſter that maketh vs to be buried with Chriſt, as the Papists ſay, but turne for the very ſake ſake, we become verily Chriſtians, but it cometh from the vertue of Chriſt, for the Apoſtle addeth the reſurrection of Chriſt and faith.
11 One ende of Baptiſme is the death a buriall of the olde man, and that by the mighty power of God onely. whole vertue wee lay holde on by faith, in the death and reſurrection of Chriſt. f Through faith which cometh from God.
12 Another ende of Baptiſme is, that we which were dead in ſinne, might obtaine free remiſſion of finnes and eternall life, through faith in Chriſt who dyed for vs. g A newe argument which lyeth in theſe few wordes, and it is thus: Vncircumciſion was no hinderance to you, why you being iuſtified in Chriſt, ſhould not obtaine life, therefore you neede not circumciſion to the attainment of ſalvation. h Hee ſpeaketh now more generally againſt the whole ſeruite of the Lawe, and ſheweth by two reaſons that it is aboliſhed: Firſt, to what purpoſe ſhould he that hath obtained remiſſion of all his finnes in Chriſt, require thoſe helpes of the Lawe? Secondly, becauſe, that if a man doe rightly conſider thoſe rites, hee ſhall finde that they were ſo many teſtimonies of our guiltineſſe whereby we manifeſtly witneſſed as it were by our owne hand writing that we deſerved damnation.
Therefore did Chriſt put out that hand writing by his coming, and ſlaſting it to the crolle, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer ſo mightie. Therefore to what ende and purpoſe ſhould we now vſe choſe ceremonies, as though we were ſtill guiltie of ſinne, and ſubiect to the tyrannie of our enemies. i Ephes. 2.15.
13 Aboliſhing the rites and ceremonies u Satan and his angels. x As a conquerour made bre a ſhew of thoſe captiues, and put them to ſhame. y The crolle was as a chariot or triumph. No conquerour could haue triumphed ſo gloriously in his chariot, as Chriſt did vpon the crolle. z The concluſion wherein alſo hee nameth certaine kinde, as the difference of dayes, and meaſures, and prooueth by a new argument that wee are not bound vnto them to wit, becauſe thoſe things were ſhadowes of Chriſt to come, but wee poſſeſſe him now exhibited vnto vs. 1 The body as a ſhew of ſubſtance and ſiſh, he ſaſteth againſt ſhadowes.

the faith, as ye haue bene taught, abounding therin with thankſgiuing:

8 Beware leſt there be any man that ſpoyle you through Philoſophie, and vaine deceite, through the traditions of men, according to the rudiments of the world, and not after Chriſt.

9 For in him dwelleth all the fulneſſe of the Godhead bodily.

10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principallitie and power.

11 In whome alſo yee are circumciſed with circumciſion made without handes, by putting off the ſinfull body of the fleſh, through the circumciſion of Chriſt,

12 In that yee are buried with him through baptiſme, in whom yee are alſo raiſed vp together through the faith of the operation of God, which raiſed him from the dead.

13 And you which were dead in finnes, and in the vncircumciſion of your fleſh, hath he quicken together with him, forgiuing you all your trespases,

14 And putting out the hand writing of ordnances that was againſt vs, which was contrary to vs, hee euen took it out of the way, and faſtened it vpon the crolle,

15 And hath ſpoyled the Principallities, and Powers, and hath made a ſhewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the ſame crolle.

16 Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in reſpect of an holy day, or of the new moone, or of the Sabbath dayes,

17 Which are but a ſhadow of things to come:
but the body is in Chriſt.

18 Let no man at his pleaſure beare rule ouer you by humbleneſſe of minde, and worſhip-ping of Angels, aduancing himſelfe in thoſe things which hee neuer ſaw, raſhly puſt vp with his fleſhly minde,

19 And holdeth not the head, whereof all the body furniſhed & knit together by ioynts and bands, increaſeth with the increaſing of God.

20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Chriſt from the ordnances of the world, why, as though ye liued in the world, are yee burdened with traditions?

21 Touch not, Taſte not, Handle not.

22 Which all periſh with the vſing, and are after the comādements & doctrines of men.

23 Which things haue in deede a ſhewe of wiſedome, in ſe voluntarie religion and humble-neſſe of mind, and not ſparing the body, which are things of no value, ſub they pertaine to the filling of the fleſh.

bleneſſe of minde: for otherwiſe humbleneſſe is a vertue. For theſe Angels worſhippers blamed ſuch pride, as would goe ſtraight to God, and vſe no other vnder ſtaires, ſides Chriſt. 17 Secondly, becauſe they raſhly thruſt vpon them for oracles, thoſe things which they neuer ſaw nor heard, but deuſed of themſelues. 18 Thirdly, becauſe theſe things haue no other ground, whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which pleaſe themſelues without a meaſure in their owne deuſes.
b Without reaſon. 19 The fourth argument, which is of great weight, becauſe they ſpoyle Chriſt of his dignitie, who onely is ſufficient both to nourish, and alſo to increaſe his whole body. c Chriſt. d With the increaſing which cometh from God. 20 New laſt of all hee fighteth againſt the ſecond kinde of corruption, that is to ſay, againſt mere ſuperſtitious, inuented of men, which partly deuſe the ſimplicitie of ſome with their craftineſſe, and partly with very ſooliſh ſuperſti-tions, and to be laughed at: as when godlineſſe, remiſſion of finnes, or any ſuch like vertue is put in ſome certaine kinde of meate, and ſuch like things, that the inneraters of ſuch rites themſelues vnderſtand not, becauſe in deede it is not. And hee vſeth an argument taken of compariſon. If by the death of Chriſt, who eſta-bliſheth a newe couenant with his blood, you bee deliuered from theſe externall rites wherewith it pleaſed the Lorde to prepare the world, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would yee bee burdened with traditions? I wote not what, as though ye were citizens of this world, that is to ſay, as though ye depended vpon this life, and earthly things? Nowe this is the cauſe why before verſe 8. hee followed another order then hee doeth in the con-cluſion: becauſe hee ſheweth there by what degrees falſe religions come into the world, to wit, beginning firſt by curious ſpeculations of the wiſe, after which in ſuc-ceſſe of time ſucceeded groſſe ſuperſtition, againſt which miſchiefs the Lorde ſet length that ſeruite of the Lawe, which ſome abuſed in like ſort: but in the concluſion hee began with the aboliſhing of the Lawe ſeruite, that hee might thereby compariſon, that thoſe falſe ſeruices ought much more to be taken away. e though your ſeruitie ſtoode in theſe earthly things, and the kingdom of God were not in other ſpirituall. 21 An imitation in the perſon of theſe ſuperſtitious men, ſightly expreſſing their nature and vie of ſpeech. 22 Another argument: The ſpirituall and inward kingdom of God cannot conſiſt in theſe outward things and ſuch ſer-uiſh with the vſing. 23 The third argument: Becauſe God is not the author of theſe traditions, and therefore they doe not binde the conſciences. 24 The ſecond argument: Theſe things haue a goodly ſhew, becauſe men by this meanes ſeeme to worſhip God with a good minde, and humble themſelues, and neglect the body, which the moſt part of men continually pamper vp and dulle but yet notwithstanding the things themſelues are of no value, for ſo much as they pertaine not to things that are not ſpirituall and euertlaſting, but to the noureſhment of the fleſh. f Which ſeeme in deede to be ſome exquisite thing, and ſo much deſired though they come from heauy. g Hence ſprang the worke of ſupererogation, as the Papists terme them, that is to ſay, needleſſe worke, as though men performed more then is commanded them, which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks were brought in. h A liuely deſcription of Monks. i Seeing they ſeek in meat and drinke, wherein the kingdom of God doth not ſtand.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt cariliſh exerciſes, which the ſalſe apoſtles vtged, 2 hee ſet ſet heauyly: 3 and beſet with the worſhipping of the fleſh, 4 whence hee draweth particular exhortations, 18 and particular duties which depend on each mans calling.

If yee then be riſen with Chriſt, ſeek theſe things which are about, where Chriſt ſion by reaſon of thoſe vaine exerciſes, to ſhewe the dutie of a Chriſtian life: which is an ordinarie thing with him after hee hath once ſet downe the doctrine in ſcripture. Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in vs by beeing partakers of the reſurrection of Chriſt, is the fountaine of all holineſſe, out of which ſundry ſprings or riuers doe afterward flow. a For if we be partakers of Chriſt, wee are carried into another life, where wee ſhall neede neither meate nor drinke, for more ſhall be like vnto the Angels. 3 The end and marke which all the duties of Chriſtians life ſhoote at, is to enter into the kingdom of heauen, and to giue our hearts to theſe things which leade vs thither, that is to true godlineſſe, and not to thoſe outward and corporall things.

2 Set your affections on things which are above, & not on things which are on the earth.

3 For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God.

4 When Christ which is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.

5 Mortifie therefore your members which are on the earth, fornication, uncleanness, the inordinate affection, euill concupiscence, and covetousnesse which is idolatrie.

6 For the which things sake the wrath of God commeth on the children of disobedience.

7 Wherein yee also walked once, when ye lived in them.

8 But now put ye away euen all these things, wrath, anger, malicioufnesse, cursed speaking, filthy speaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another, seeing that yee haue put off the old man with his workes,

10 And haue put on the new, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him,

11 Where is neither Grecian nor Iewe, circumcision nor vncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloved, put on the bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of minde, meekenesse, long suffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man haue a quarrel to another: euen as Christ forgave, euen so doe ye.

14 And about all these things put on loue, which is the bond of perfectnesse.

15 And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which yee are called in one body, and be ye thankfull.

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you plentifully in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing your owne selues, in Psalmes, and hymnes, and spiritual songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord,

17 And whatsoever ye shall doe, in word or deed, doe all in the name of the Lord Iesus, giving thanks to God euen the Father by him.

18 Wines, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as it is comely in the Lord.

19 Husbands, loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them.

20 Children, obey your parents in all things: for that is well pleasing vnto the Lord.

21 Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye seruite as men please, but in singleness of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoever ye do, doe it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord yee shall receiue the reward of the inheritance: for yep serue the Lord Christ.

25 But he that doeth wrong, shall receiue for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

wards their children. 14 Of seruants, that fearing God himselles to whom their obedience is acceptable, they reuerently, faithfully, and from the heart, obey their masters. 15 For that ye shall haue duly obeyed your masters, the time shall come, that ye shall be made partners of the heavenly inheritance. 16 Hee requireth of you, that being mindful how that they then selues all shall render an account before that heavenly Lord and Master, which will reuerge wrongfull doings without any respect of masters and seruants, they the w themselves iust and right with equite, vnto their seruants.

CHAP. III.

2 Hee returneth to general exhortations, 3 touching prayer and gracious speaking, 7 and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

YE masters doe vnto your seruants, that which is iust and equall, knowing that yee also haue a master in heauen.

2 Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving.

3 Praying also for vs, that God may open vnto vs the doore of vnterance, to speake thy mystery of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds,

4 That I may vtter it, as it becommeth me to speake.

5 Walke wisely toward them that are without, and redeeme the season.

6 Let your speech be gracious alwayes, and powdered with salt, that yee may know how to answer euery man.

7 Tychicus our beloved brother and faithful minister, and fellow seruant in the Lord, shall declare vnto you my whole state.

8 Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that he might know your state, & might comfort your hearts,

9 With Onesimus a faithful and a beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall shew you of all things here.

10 Aristarchus my prison fellow saluteth you, and Marcus Barnabas cousin (touching whom ye receiued commandements: If he come vnto you, receiue him)

11 And Iesus which is called Iustus, which are of the circumcision. These only are my work-fellows vnto the kingdom of God, which haue bene vnto my consolation.

12 Epaphras the seruant of Christ, which is one of you, saluteth you, and alwayes striveth for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect, and full in all the will of God.

13 For I beare him record, that he hath a great zeale for you, and for them of Laodicia, & them of Hierapolis.

For those which doe not well that doe not see God in Christ before them in their loue, but in Philosophy knoweth not.

CHAP. I.

¶ Hee therefore beginneth with thanksgiuing, 4. to put them in minde that whatsoeuer was praife worthy in them, it came of Gods goodnesse: 8. and that they are ensamples vnto others.

Aul, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ: Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from they Lord Iesus Christ.

1 We giue God thanks alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers
2 Without ceasing, remembering your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, euen our Father,
3 Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are a elect of God.
4 For our Gospel was not vnto you in word only, but also in power, & in the holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as ye know after what manner we were among you for your sakes.
5 And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with ioy of the holy Ghost,
6 So that ye were as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.
7 For from you founded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we neede not to speake any thing.
8 For they themselues shew of vs what manner of entering in we had vnto you, and how yee turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God,
9 And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whom he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from that wrath to come.

1 An example of a right Christian reioycing: where by also we learne, that such as haue great gifts in them, are in two sorts bridled, to wit, if they consider that they haue receiued all from God, and that continuance must be desired at his hands, wherunto also the whole Epistle exhorteth the Thessalonians.
2 He commendeth them for three speciall gifts, effectuall faith, continual loue, and patient hope to the end they might be ashamed, being indued with such excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.
3 Another reason why they ought in no wise start backe but continue to the end, because they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath bene so many wayes confirmed vnto them, euen from heauen as they themselves did well know.
4 Paul sheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruite of his preaching, to wit, by the ioy of the holy Ghost, and that certaine assurance which was thorowly sealed in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the crosse.
5 Another reason, because euen to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great cheerfulness, inasmuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: so that it should bee more shame to them to faint in the mid race.
6 With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghost.
7 All the beleeuers.
8 It is no true conversion to forsake idoles, vntill a man therewithall worship the true and liuing God in Christ the onely redeemer.
9 This worde (that) is not put here without cause, for (wrath) is meant that reuenge and punishment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world as length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

¶ Hee declarsh how faithfully he preached the Gospel vnto them, 5. seeing neither game, 6. nor praife of men: 10. and he prometh the same by their owne testimonies: 14. that they did courageously beare persecutions of their country men: 17. that hee desired very much to see them.

For ye your selues know, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,
2 But euen after that wee had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at Philippi, (as yee know) wee were bold in a our God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God, with much struiuing.
3 For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by vncleannesse, nor by guile.
4 But as wee were allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed vnto vs, so wee speake, not as they that please men, but God, which approacheth our hearts.
5 Neither yet did we euer vse flattering words, as ye know, nor coloured couetousnesse, God is record.
6 Neither fought we praife of men, neither of you, nor of others, when wee might haue bene chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.
7 But we were gentle among you, euen as a nurse cherisheth her children.
8 Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.
9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and traueile: for we laboured day and night, because wee would not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.
10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and iustly, & vnblameably we behaued our selues among you that beleeue.
11 As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought enery one of you (as a father his children)
12 That ye would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glory.
13 For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which ye heard of vs, ye receiued it not as the word of men, but as it is indeede the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

d Which liketh and alloweth of them. 5 To submit himselfe euen to the basest, to winne them, and to eschew all pride. e When I might lawfully haue liued vpon the expenses of the Church. f Wee were not rough, but caste, and gentle, as a nurse that is neither ambitious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as a patient, as if he were a mother. 6 To haue the flocke that is committed vnto him in more estimation, then his owne life. 7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to bee chargeable to his sheepe. 8 To excell other in example of godly life. 9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly minde and affection. 10 To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to lead a godly life. 11 Having approved his ministry, he commeth aduantageously to that ende and purpose that I (pake of) the cheerfulness of the Thessalonians, which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

1 That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth now more at large, and to that ende and purpose which we spake of.
2 The vertues of a true Pastour are free, & without respect to preach the Gospel, euen in the middes of dangers.
3 Altes 16. 12. 4 Though Gods gracious helpe. 5 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart. 6 By any wicked and naughty kind of dealing. 7 To suppose his conscience to God, being free from all flatteries and couetousnesse. 8 Seeing there is this difference betwene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men chuse, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God judgeth the reason of his counsell only in himselfe, it followeth, that seeing we are not able to thinke a good thought, that whom soeuer he first chuseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doth not finde them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it haueth upon his merite.

He confirmeth

hindered my endeauours, and therefore I sent Timothee my faith-

you are most dear vnto me.

14. For brethren, yee are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in Christ Iesus, because yee haue also suffered the same things of your owne countrey men, euen as they haue of the Iewes.

15. Who both killed the Lord Iesus & their own Prophets, & haue persecuted vs away, and God they please not, and are contrary to all men.

16. And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to fulfill their finnes alwayes: for the wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.

17. Forasmuch, brethren, as we were kept from you for a season, concerning fight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

18. Therefore we would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twise) but Satan hindered vs.

19. For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you in the presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his coming?

20. Yes, ye are our glorie and ioy.

Tha. is no newe thing, for Christ himselfe and his Prophets have banished me also. 14. He foretelleth the vnder destruction of the Iewes, lest any man should be moued by their rebellion. 1. For the Iewes would neither enter into the king-

he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindered my endeauours, and therefore I sent Timothee my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most dear vnto me.

C H A P. III.

1. To shew his affliction towards them, he sendeth Timothee vnto them: 6. He is so moued by the report of their prosperous state, that he cannot giue sufficient thanks, 11. and therefore hee breaketh out into prayer.

Wherefore since wee could no longer forbear, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone.

2. And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3. That no man should be moued with these afflictions: for ye your selues know, that wee are appointed thereunto.

4. For verily when we were with you, we told you before that wee should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye know it.

5. Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might knowe of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6. But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that yee haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also doe you,

7. Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith.

8. For now are wee aliue, if yee stand fast in the Lord.

9. For what thanks can wee recompense to God againe for you for all the ioy wherewith we reioyce for your sakes before our God,

10. Night and day, praying exceedingly, that wee might see your face, and might accomplish their faith and religion that was as yet imperfect.

that which is lacking in your faith?

11. Now God himselfe, euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourney vnto you.

12. And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we doe toward you:

13. To make your hearts stable & vblamable in holinesse before God euen our Father, at the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

charitie toward all men, & inward puritie of the heart, the accomplishment wherof notwithstanding is deferred to the next coming of Christ, who will then purifie his worke by the same grace, wherewith he began it in vs.

C H A P. IIII.

1. He exhorteeth them 3. to holines, 9. and brotherly loue. 13. He forbiddeth them to forswear after the manner of infidels. 15. He setteth out the doctrine of our resurrection.

And furthermore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye increase more and more, as yee haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke and to please God.

2. For yee know what commandments wee gaue you by the Lord Iesus.

3. For this is the will of God euen your sanctification, and that ye should abstaine from fornication,

4. That euery one of you should knowe how to possesse his vessell in holinesse and honour,

5. And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6. That no man oppresse or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such things, as wee also haue told you before time, and testified.

7. For God hath not called vs vnto vncleanesse, but vnto holinesse.

8. He therefore that despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9. But as touching brotherly loue, yee neede not that I write vnto you: for yee are taught of God to loue one another.

10. Yea, and that thing verily ye doe vnto all the brethren, which are thorowout all Macedonia: but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more,

11. And that ye studie to be quiet, & to meddle with your owne businesse, and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you.

12. That yee may behaue your selues honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing belacking vnto you.

13. I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant concerning them which are asleepe, that ye forow not euen as other which haue no hope.

14. For if we beleue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in Iesus, will God bring with him.

15. Thirdly, he requireth a ready minde to all manner of louing kindnesse, and exhorteth them to profite more and more in that vertue. 16. John 13. 34. and 15. 12. 1. John 2. 8. and 4. 21.

7. Hee condemneth vnquiet braines, and such as are curious in matters which appertaine not vnto them. 8. Hee rebuketh idlenesse and slothfulness, which vices whosoever are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednesse, to the great offence of the Church.

9. The third part of the Epistle, which is entailed among the former exhortations (which hee returneth vnto after ward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the manner of the resurrection, and of the last day.

10. Wee must take heede that wee doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vse to doe which thinke that they are vnto be perished. 11. A confirmation: for dear his but asleepe of the body (for hee speaketh of the faithfull) vnill the Lord cometh. 12. A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the dead is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God.

13. They die in Christ, which continue in faith whereby there are grafed into Christ euen to the last gaspe. 14. Will call their bodies out of their graues, and giue their soules to them againe.

3. Another part of the Epistle, where in he speaketh of the duties of a Christian life. And he sheweth that the perfection of a Christian life consisteth in two things, to wit, in

1. Diuine exhortations, the ground whereof is this, to be mindfull of those things which they haue heard of the Apostle.

2. That ye labour to excell more and more, and daily passe your selues.

3. Rom. 12. 2.

4. Eph. 5. 17.

2. This is the summe of those things, which he deliuered them, to dedicate them selues wholly to God. And he commendeth plainely all filthinesse through lust, because it is altogether contrary to the will of God.

6. Look John 17. 17.

3. Another reason, because it defileth the body.

4. The third, because the Saints are discerned from them which know not God, by honestie and puritie.

1. Cor. 6. 8.

5. Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppression, and immoderate desire, and sheweth most severely as the Prophet of God, that God will reuenge such wickednesse.

1. Cor. 1. 2.

6. These commandments which I gaue you.

1. Cor. 1. 2.

6. These commandments which I gaue you.

13 The manner of the resurrection shal be thus: The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleep, as the found of the trumpet of God; Christ himselfe shall descend from heauen The Saints (for he speaketh properly of them) which shall then be found alive together with the dead which shall rise. shal be taken vp into the cloudes to meete the Lord, and shall bee in perpetuall glory with him. f In the Name of the Lord, as though he himselfe spake vnto you. g Hee speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whome the Lords shall finde alive at his coming, because that time is vncertaine: and therefore every one of vs ought to bee in such a readinesse, as if the Lord were coming at every moment. h The word which the Apostle useth here, signifieth properly that incouagement which mariners use one to another, when they altogether with our shout put forth their oares and rowe together. i Cor. 13. 52. k Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

15 For this say wee vnto you by the word of the Lord, that we which liue, and are remaining in the coming of the Lord, shall not preuent them which sleepe.

16 For the Lord himselfe shall descend from heauen with a shout, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall we which liue and remaine, be caught vp with them also in the cloudes, to meet the Lord in the aire: and so shall we euer be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your selues one another with these words,

19 To meete the Lord, and shall bee in perpetuall glory with him. f In the Name of the Lord, as though he himselfe spake vnto you. g Hee speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whome the Lords shall finde alive at his coming, because that time is vncertaine: and therefore every one of vs ought to bee in such a readinesse, as if the Lord were coming at every moment. h The word which the Apostle useth here, signifieth properly that incouagement which mariners use one to another, when they altogether with our shout put forth their oares and rowe together. i Cor. 13. 52. k Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christs coming, & bee warneth them to be ready dayly to receiue him: 11 And so giueth them iustuary good lessons.

But of the times and seasons, brethren, ye haue no neede that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your selues know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a thiefe in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safetie, then shall come vpon them sudden destruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with childe, and they shall not escape.

4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkenesse, that that day shall come on you, as it were a thiefe.

5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkenesse.

6 Therefore let vs not sleepe as doe other, but let vs watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 But let vs which are of the day, bee sober, putting on the brestplate of faith and loue, and the hope of saluation for an helmet.

9 For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obtaine saluation by the meanes of our Lord Iesus Christ,

10 Which died for vs, that whether we wake or sleepe, we should liue together with him. 11 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as you doe. 12 Now we beseech you brethren, that yee acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the Lord, & admonish you, 13 That yee haue them in singular loue for their workes sake. Bee at peace among your selues. 14 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weak: be patient toward all men. 15 See that none recompense euil for euil vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your selues, & toward all men. 16 Reioice euermore. 17 Pray continually. 18 In all things giue thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Iesus toward you. 19 Quench not the Spirit. 20 Despise not prophecying. 21 Try all things, & keepe that which is good. 22 Abstaine from all appearance of euill. 23 Now the very God of peace sanctifie you thorowout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soule and body may be kept blamelesse vnto the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ. 24 Faithfull is hee which calleth you, which will also doe it. 25 Brethren, pray for vs. 26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse. 27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read vnto all the brethren the Saints. 28 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you, Amen.

or sleepe, we should liue together with him.

11 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as you doe.

12 Now we beseech you brethren, that yee acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the Lord, & admonish you,

13 That yee haue them in singular loue for their workes sake. Bee at peace among your selues.

14 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weak: be patient toward all men.

15 See that none recompense euil for euil vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your selues, & toward all men.

16 Reioice euermore.

17 Pray continually.

18 In all things giue thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Iesus toward you.

19 Quench not the Spirit.

20 Despise not prophecying.

21 Try all things, & keepe that which is good.

22 Abstaine from all appearance of euill.

23 Now the very God of peace sanctifie you thorowout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soule and body may be kept blamelesse vnto the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

24 Faithfull is hee which calleth you, which will also doe it.

25 Brethren, pray for vs.

26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse.

27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read vnto all the brethren the Saints.

28 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you, Amen.

The first Epistle vnto the Thessalonians written from Athens.

13 Charitie ought not to be overcome with any iniurie. 14 A quiet and appeased minde, is nourished with continual prayers, respecting the will of God. 15 The sparkes of the Spirit of God that are kindled in vs, are nourished wth daily hearing the word of God: but true doctrine must be diligently distinguished from false. 16 The expounding of the word of God. 17 A general conclusion that we waiting for the coming of Christ doe giue our selues to putrefie both in minde, will, and body, through the grace and strength of the Spirit of God. 18 Whatsoever hath bin the very theme of euill, abstaine from it. 19 Separate you from the world, and make you holy to himselfe through his spirit, in Christ in whom ouly you shall attaine vnto that true peace. 20 The good will and power of God is a sure confirmation against all difficulties, whereof we haue a sure witnesse in our vocation. 21 Alwayes me, and euer like himselfe, who performeth in deed whatsoeuer he promisseth: and as effectuall calling in nothing else but a right declaring, and true setting forth of Gods will: and therefore the saluation of the elect is fast and sure. 22 Who will also make you perfect. 23 The last part of the Epistle, wherein with most weighty charge, hee commendeth both himselfe and this Epistle vnto them.

6 We must not only watch our selues, but we are also bound to stirre vp and comfort one another. 7 We must haue great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministerie of the word, and governance of the Church by Gods ordinance, and doe their duetie. 8 That you acknowledge and take them for such as they are, that is, saymen worthy to be greatly accounted of among you. 9 In those things which pertaine to Gods service: in the Ecclesiastical function distinguished from civil authority, and true shepherds from wolves. 10 So then, where this cause ceaseth, there must be the honour cease. 11 The maintenance of mutual concord, is especially to be looked vnto. 12 We must haue consideration of euery man, and as the disease is, so must the remedie be used. 13 That keepeth their ranke or station. 14 From 17. 15. 16. A quiet and appeased minde, is nourished with continual prayers, respecting the will of God. 17. 18. 19. The sparkes of the Spirit of God that are kindled in vs, are nourished wth daily hearing the word of God: but true doctrine must be diligently distinguished from false. 20. The expounding of the word of God. 21. A general conclusion that we waiting for the coming of Christ doe giue our selues to putrefie both in minde, will, and body, through the grace and strength of the Spirit of God. 22. Whatsoever hath bin the very theme of euill, abstaine from it. 23. Separate you from the world, and make you holy to himselfe through his spirit, in Christ in whom ouly you shall attaine vnto that true peace. 24. The good will and power of God is a sure confirmation against all difficulties, whereof we haue a sure witnesse in our vocation. 25. Alwayes me, and euer like himselfe, who performeth in deed whatsoeuer he promisseth: and as effectuall calling in nothing else but a right declaring, and true setting forth of Gods will: and therefore the saluation of the elect is fast and sure. 26. Who will also make you perfect. 27. The last part of the Epistle, wherein with most weighty charge, hee commendeth both himselfe and this Epistle vnto them.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth the increase of faith and charitie, 4 and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 And describing Gods vengeance against such as oppress the godly, 10 hee teacheth the godly to wait for the last iudgement.

Paul and Silvanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:

Grace be with you, and peace fro God our Father, & from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 We ought to thanke God alwayes for you brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth,

4 So that we our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in al your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer.

moreover, shewing with what gifts they most thicke fight, to wit, chauntie, which must dayly increase. 5 That whereas it grew receiue some increase euery day more and more.

1. Thess. 1. 1. The first part of the Epistle, wherein he reioiceth that through the grace of God, they haue manfully sustained all the tribulations of their enemies, wherein he comforteth them with faith and hope, before, it doubt not.

5 ¶ Which

3 Which is a manifest token of the righteous judgement of God, that yee may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompence tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest with vs, when the Lord Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendring vengeance vnto them, that doe not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ,

9 Which shall be punished with euerlasting perdition from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, & to be made marueilous in all them that beleue (because our testimonie toward you was beleued) in that day.

11 Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of this calling, & fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the worke of faith with power,

12 That the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and yee in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

CHAP. II.

2 He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist be reueiled, 8 whose destruction hee testeth out: 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

Nowe we beseech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, & by our assembling vnto him,

2 That yee be not suddenly moued from your mind, nor troubled neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as it were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceive you by any meanes: for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that man of sinne be disclosed, euen the sonne of perdition,

4 Which is an aduersarie, and exalteth himselfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that hee doth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that hee is God.

5 Remember yee not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things?

6 And now yee knowe what withholdeth, that he might be reueiled in his time.

7 For the myserie of iniquitie doeth already worke: 7 onely he which now withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.

8 And then shall that wicked man be reueiled, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnesse of his comming,

9 Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all his power, and signes, and lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiueablenesse of vnrighteousnesse, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the truth, that they might be saued.

11 And therefore God shall send them strong delusion, that they should beleue lies,

12 That all they might be damned which beleuen not the trueth, but had pleasure in vnrighteousnesse.

13 But we ought to giue thanks alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through sanctification of the Spirit, and the faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto hee called you by our Gospel, to obtaine the glorie of our Lord Iesus Christ.

15 Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and keepe the instructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Iesus Christ our Lord, and our God, euen the Father, which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your herats, and stablish you in euery word and good worke.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospel, with their prayers, 6 and to withdraw themselves from those, who through idlenesse, 11 and curiositie pervert good order: 14 whom hee excludeth from the company of the faithful.

Furthermore, brethren, pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you,

2 And that we may be deliuered from vntrewe they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the Gospel to the faithful ministers of the same. 2 ephes. 6. 19 coloss. 3. 1

4 He foretelleth that Antichrist, that is, whoseuer he be that shall occupie that seate that falleth away from God, shall not reigne without the Church, but in the very bosome of the Church.

5 This prophesie was continually declared to the Ancient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed.

6 What bindeth and looseth.

7 Even in the Apostles time the first foundations of the Apostolicall Church were layed, but yet so, that they decayed men.

8 He foretelleth that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the seat that falleth away from God shall succede and shall holde his place, as the old writers, Testall an. Chrysostome and Hierome do expound it.

9 He which now in authoritie and ruleth all, to wit, the Romane Empire.

10 That wickednesse shall at length be detected by the word of the Lord and utterly be abolished by Christs comming.

It is no marvell that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding, the Church shall neuer be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded & stayed vpon the faithfull promise of God.

From Satans shares, or from euil.

The second admonition is, that they followed alwayes the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule of their life. Thirdly, he diligently and earnestly admonisheth them of two things, which are given vs by the onely grace of God, to wit, f charitie, and a watchfull minde to the coming of Christ.

Fourthly, hee faith, that idle and idle persons ought not to be relieved of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered. Least he might seeme to deale hardly with them, hee setteth forth himselfe for an example, who besides his transile in preaching laboured with his hands, which he faith he was not simply bound to doe. 1. Cor. 11. 1. 1. Thess. 4. 11. c. What shall we do then, with those idle belied Monkes and sacrilegious Priests? A Monke (saith Socrates, booke 8. of his Tripartite historie) which worketh not with his hands is like a thiefe.

sonable and euill men: for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which will stablish you, and keepe you from euill.

4 And wee are perswaded of you through the Lord, that ye both doe, and will do the things which we warne you of.

5 And the Lord guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that yee withdraw your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he receiued of vs.

7 For ye your selues know, how ye ought to follow vs: for we behaued not our selues inordinately among you.

8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we haue not authoritie, but that wee might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs.

10 For euen when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should not eate.

11 For we heare, that there are some, which walke among you inordinately, & worke not at all, but are busie bodies.

12 Therefore them that are such, we warne & exhort by our Lord Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnesse, and eate their owne bread.

13 And ye, brethren, be not wearie in well doing.

14 If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no companie with him, that he may be ashamed:

15 Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 Now the Lord himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

then they which neglect their owne. 9 The Lord commandeth, and the Apostles pray in the Name of Christ, first that no man be idle, and next, that every man doe quietly and carefully see to doe his dutie in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him. 10 Wee must take heed, that some men within this cause vs not to bee sicker in well doing. 11 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate. 12 Wee must haue no familiaritie nor fellowship with the excommunicate. 13 The end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the saluation of the sinner, that at least through shame hee may be driuen to repentance. 14 Wee must so eschew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently seek all occasions and meanes that may be to bring him againe into the right way. 15 Prayers are the scales of all exhortations. 16 The Apostle subscriveth his letters with his owne hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

7 How goe the faithfull in the de-lance by that God created no man in vaine or to no purpose, neither is there any vaine whom he hath not allotted as it were a certaine standing and room. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed, is established by the will, yea, broken, which is great sinne and wickednesse. 8 He reprobeth a vice which is loyded with the former, whereupon followe an infinite sort of mischiefes: to wit, that there are some more busie in other mens matters,

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

Setting forth a perfect pattern of a true Pastor, whose office especially consisteth in teaching. 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, he teach these things. 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

1 First of all, he a-noucheth his own free vocation, and also Timotheus, that the one might be confirmed by the other: and therewithall he declareth the summe of the Apostollicall doctrine, to wit, the mercie of God in Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.

Or, ordinances.

a There is as much difference betwixt mercy and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose vs in Christ, and mercie is that free iustificati-on which followeth it.

2 This whole Epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithfull Pastor are lively set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innovation be made either in the Apostles doctrine it selfe or in the manner of teaching it.

3 The doctrine is corrupted not onely by false opinions, but also by vaine and curious speculations: the declaration and utterance whereof can nothing helpe our faith.

4 The second admonition is, that the right vie and practise of the doctrine must be loyded with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charitie, and a good conscience, and true faith.

5 Rom. 13. 10. c Of the Law.

PAUL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the commandement of God our Sauiour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope,

2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, mercie, and peace from God our Father, & from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 As I beought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 Neither that they giue heede to fables and genealogies which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying which is by faith.

5 For the ende of the commandement is loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfeined,

6 From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling.

7 They would be doctours of the Law, and yet vnderstande not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.

8 And we know, that the Law is good, if a man vse it lawfully,

9 Knowing this, that the Law is not giuen vnto a righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse and disobedient, to the vngodly, and to f sinners, to the vnholly, and to the prophane, to murderers of fathers and mothers, to manslaughterers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to men-stealers, to liars, to the periured, and if there bee any other thing that is contrary to wholesome doctrine,

11 Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, which is committed vnto me.

7 The taking away of an obiection: He condemneth not the Law, but requirith the right vie and practise of it. 8 He in deede escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doeth not. bbeare it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giueth himselfe with all his heart to obserue it: and not how that maketh a vaine babbling of outward and curious matters.

9 And such as are in the Law, whom the Lord hath indured with true doctrine, and with the holy Ghost. 10 To such as make an arte as it were of sinning. 9 He setteth against fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Law, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine contained in the commandements of God, and therefore calleth it a glorious Gospel, & the Gospel of the blessed God, the vertue whereof these babblers knew not.

10 Arreasin why neither any other Gospel is to be taught then he hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel beside that, which God committed to him.

11 Therefore

d There is neither loue without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God. 5 That which he speake before generally of vaine and curious controversies he applyeth to them, which pretending a zeale of the Law, dwell vpon outward things, and neuer made in end of babbling of foolishnesse. 6 There are some more vaine, and more impudent in vsurping the name of holinesse, then foolishly sophisticall babblers.

12 Therefore I thanke him which hath made mee strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lorde: for he counted mee faithfull, and put me in his seruice:

13 When before I was a blasphemour, and a persecutor, and an oppressour: but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeleife.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus.

15 This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued, that Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue sinners, of whome I am chiefe.

16 Notwithstanding for this cause was I receiued to mercie, that Iesus Christ should first shew on mee all long suffering vnto the ensample of them, which shall in time to come beleue in him vnto eternall life.

17 Now vnto the King euerlasting, immortal, inuisible, vnto God onely worthy, be honour and glory, for euer, and euer, Amen.

18 This commaundement commit I vnto thee, sonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before vpon thee, that thou by them shouldest fight a good fight,

19 Having faith and a good conscience, which some haue put away, and as concerning faith, haue made shipwracke.

20 Of whome is Hymeneus, and Alexander, whom I haue deliuered vnto Satan, that they might learne not to blaspheme.

5 For there is one God, and one Mediatour betweene God and man, which is the man Christ Iesus,

6 Who gaue himselfe a ranfome for all men, so to be that testimonie in due time,

7 Whereunto I am ordeined a preacher and an Apostle (I speake the truth in Christ, and lye not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and veritie.

8 I will therefore that the men pray, euery where lifting vp pure hands without wrath or doubting.

9 Likewise also the women, that they aray themselves in comely apparell, with shamefastnes and modestie, not with broidred haire, or gold, or pearles, or costly apparell,

10 But (as becommeth women that professe the feare of God) with good works.

11 Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection.

12 I permit not a woman to teach, neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence.

13 For as Adam was first formed, then Eue.

14 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the transgression.

15 Notwithstanding, through bearing of children shee shall be saved, if they continue in faith, and loue, and holinesse with modestie.

4 God should not be manifested to be the onely God of all men, vnlesse he should shew his goodnes in saving all sorts of men: neither should Christ be seene to be the onely Mediatour betweene God & all sorts of men, by hauing taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnlesse he had satisfied for all sorts of men, and made intercession for all.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, 4. 5 and that for two causes: 8 and therefore be willeseth all men in all places to pray, 9 and declareth in what apparell, 11 and with what modestie women ought to behaue themselves in holy assemblies.

1 Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing of thanks be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, that wee may leade a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlinesse, and honestie.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Sauour,

4 Who will that all men shal be saved, and come vnto the acknowledging of the truth.

1 Having dispatched those things which pertaine to doctrine, he speake now in the second place of the other part of the ministerie of the word, to wit, of publike prayer. And first of all declaring this question, for whom we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all manner of magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of. Seeing that kings, yea, and the most part of magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church. 2 An argument taken of the ende to wit, because that magistrates are appointed to this end, that men might peaceably and quietly live in all godlinesse and honestie, and therefore must wee commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute their office. 3 Another argument, why Churches or Congregacions ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kinde, age, or order: to wit, because the Lorde by calling of all sorts, yea, sometime those that are greatest enemies to the Gospell, will haue his Church gathered together into this sort, and therefore prayes to be made for all.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee setteth out Bishops, 8 and Christian deacons with their wives, 12 children and familie. 15 Hee calleth the Church the house of God.

1 His is a true saying, 2 If any man desire the office of a Bishop, hee desireth a worthy worke.

2 A Bishop therefore must be vnreprouable, the husband of one wife, watching, tempe-

1 Having dispatched the treatise, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as also of publike prayer, he now in the third place commeth to the persons themselves, speaking first of Pastours, and afterward of Deacons, and he vseth a preface, that the Church may knowe that these bee certayne and sure rules. 2 A bishopricke or the ministerie of the worde is not an idle dignitie, but a worke, and that an excellent worke: and therefore a Bishop must be furnished with many vertues both at home and abroad. Wherefore it is requisite before hee be chosen, to examine well his learning, his gifts, and abilitie, and his life. 3 Hee speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, then the which there cannot bee a worse fault in the Church, but generally of the minde, and disposition of man, framed and disposed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and wherefoerer it shall please the Lorde. 4 Titus 2. 6. Therefore hee that setteth out married men from the office of Bishops, onely because they are married, is Antichrist.

the treasure of the truth is kept. o To win respect of men: for the Church resteth

p There is nothing more excellent then this truth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preseruer here amongst men, the ministry of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth vs the greatest maters that may bee thought of, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature vpon him, whose Maiestie notwithstanding in so great weakenesse was manifested many wayes, inasmuch that the sight of it peared the very Angels: and to conclude, he being preached vnto the Gentiles was received of them, and is now placed aboue in glorie vnspokeable. q The power of the Godhead shewed it selfe so maruelously in that weak fleshy Christ, that though he were a weak man, yet all the world knoweth he was God.

CHAP. IIII.

r Hee condemneth as well false doctrines, s of marriage, and the choice of meates, t as also prophane fables: u and commendeth the godly exercise, v and the daily reading of the Scriptures.

being in by the suggestion of Satan, and so that a great number shall giue eare to them. a From the true doctrine of God. b Although heretikes commiserate ho-linesse neuer so much, yet they haue no conscience. c For they will as it were practise the art of disguised persons and players that we may not thinke they will be lurking in some one corner, or keepe any resemblance of shamefastnesse. d Whose conscience rate, modest, harberous, apt to teach,

3 Not giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous,

4 One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie.

5 For if any cannot rule his owne house, how shall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not be a yong schollar, lest he being puffed vp fall into the condemnation of the deuill.

7 Hee must also be well reported of, euen of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the deuill.

8 Likewise must Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, neither to filthy lucre,

9 Hauing the f myserie of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proued, then let them minister, if they be found blamelesse.

11 Likewise their wifes must be honest, not euill speakers, but sober, and faithful in all things.

12 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne households,

13 For they that haue ministered wel, get themselues a good degree, and great libertie in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.

14 These things write I vnto thee, trusting to come very shortly vnto thee.

15 But if I tary long, that thou mayest yet know, how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, which is the Church of the liuing God, the pillar and ground of truth.

16 And without controuersie, great is the myserie of godlinesse, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, beleued on in the world, and receiued vp in glory.

3 Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstaine from meates which God hath created to be receiued with giuing thanks of them, which beleue and know the truth.

4 For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be receiued with thanksgiving.

5 For it is sanctified by the worde of God, and prayer.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt bee a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hath bene nourished vp in the wordes of faith, and of good doctrine which thou hast continually followed.

7 But cast away prophane, and olde wifes fables, and exercise thy selfe vnto godlinesse.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued.

10 For therefore wee labour and are rebuked, because we trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauour of all men, specially of those that beleeue.

11 These things warne and teach.

12 Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in purenesse.

13 Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophesie with the laying on of the hands of the company of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene how thou profi-test among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both saue thy selfe, and them that heare thee.

a It is so made pure and holy in respect of vs, so that we may use it with a good conscience, as receiued at the Lords hand. b Wee confesse and acknowledge that God is the maker and giuer of those creatures which we use. Secondly, that we are of the number of those, who through Christs benefite haue recovered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayer we craue of the Lords, that we may use those meates with a good conscience, which wee receiue at his handes.
Fourthly, wee make an ende of our eating and drinking, with thanksgiving and prayer, and so are our meates sanctified in vs. c The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothee, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which hee had sucked of the Apostle, euen in a manner from the teare. d Neuer departing from the side of vs. e Hee seeth againe true doctrine not onely against that false and apostolical doctrine, but also against all vaine and curious subtilties. f It is not onely requisite that the minister of the worde be sound in doctrine, but also that his life bee godly and religious. g In the true seruing of God. h Godlinesse consisteth in spirituall exercise, and not in outward austeritie of life, which though it be something to bee accounted of, if it bee rightly vied, yet is it in no wise comparable with godlinesse. For it profiteth not of it selfe, but through the benefite of another, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come. i Hee goeth about from his matter, and sheweth that they which giue themselves to godlinesse, although they are as yet dead and reprobated, are not withstanding not to bee counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the end of them both is faire different one from the other. For how can God forsake his, which is his owne will to conser-uare his enemies? And hee willeth that this doctrine bee well beare in to their heads. j Nowe hee returneth to that exhortation, shewing which are the vertues of a Pastour, whereby hee may come to bee reuerenced, although he be but young, to wit, such speech and life as are witness of a charitable, zeale, faith, and patience: but here is no mention made of the crozier staffe, ring, cloake and such other foolish and childish toys. k The private exercise of Pastours, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whereunto they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselves and to other. l Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the ministers of the worde are so sayde to saue themselves and other, for that in them the Lords hath put the word of a reconciliation.

2 Hee seeth downe two kinds of this false doctrine,
to wit, the Law of sole life, and difference of meates.

3 Hee proueth that hee iustly called such doctrines deuillish first, because the teach of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for base
they crea ed the meates.

4 Secondly, he cause they overthrow with their deceits, the mode wherfore they were created of God, to wit, that we should vie
them.

5 Thirdly, for that by this means they rob
God of his glorie, who will be honoured in the vie of them.
And herewith
all the Apostle declareth that we must vie the li-beritie of God freely, and with a good conscience.

6 Hee seeth an Apostolical rule, for taking away
the difference of meates, against that false doctrine.
7 Hee vlieth Gods
benefites rightly,
which acknow-
ledgeth the giue-r of them by his word, and calleth
vpon him.

C H A P. V.

1 Having set downe a manner howe to rebuke all degrees, 5 Hee entreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the service of the Church: 17 Then hee cometh to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the bodie.

Rebuke not an Elder, but exhort him as a father, and the yonger men as brethren,

2 The elder women as mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all purenesse.

3 Honour widowes, which are widowes in deed.

4 But if any widowe haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shewe godlinesse toward their owne house, and to recompense their kinned: for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

5 And she that is a widow in deed, and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But shee that liueth in pleasure, is dead, whiles she liueth.

7 These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse.

8 If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his householde, hee denieth the faith, and is worse then an infidel.

9 Let not a widow be taken into the number vnder threecore yeere old, that hath bene the wife of one husband,

10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if she haue lodged the strangers, if she haue washed the Saints feete, if she haue ministered vnto them which were in aduersitie, if she were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.

11 But refuse the yonger widowes: for when they haue begun to waxe wanton against Christ, they will marrie,

12 Having damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.

13 And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea, they are not onely idle, but also praters and busibodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 I will therefore that the yonger womn marry, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersary to speake euill.

15 For certaine are already turned backe after Satan.

16 If any faithfull man or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church bee charged, that there may bee sufficient for them that are widowes in deede.

1 Of keeping matrones in private repentance according to the degrees of ages and kindes. 2 The Apostle giueth these rules touching the care of widowes. 3 Hee care of elder widowes which haue need of helpe. 4 Widowes children & nephewes must take care for their parents, according to their ability. 5 The first reason, because they have which they beflow vpon theirs, they beflow it vpon the matrones. 6 Another because it is better to be vnto their parents, than to be vnto the Church. 7 The third: because this dutie is pleasant to God. 8 The second rule: Let the Church haue care of such as are widowes indeed, that is to say such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their own friends, and liue godly and religiously. 9 The third rule: Let widowes that liue in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie be holden as liars away from God and his religion, and worse then very infidels. 10 The fourth rule: Let none vnder threecore yeeres olde, be taken into the number of widowes, to serue the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproch of vnchastitie, and are well reported of for their diligence, charitie, and integritie. 11 That had no more husbands, but one at one time. 12 This is spoken in respect of the manner of those countreys. 13 The first reason why yonger widowes are not to be admitted to this ministerie, to wit, because for the lightnesse of their age, they will in length shake off the burden that Christ hath layed vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marrying againe: and so will lose the ministerie wherunto they had bound themselves. 14 Take them not into the colledge of widowes. 15 Another reason: because they are for the most part praters and busibodies, and gadgers vp and downe, neglecting their charge and doctoe. 16 The fifth rule: Let yonger widowes marrie and gouerne their houses godly. 17 The sixth rule, Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charge as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses.

17 ¶ The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honour, specially they which labour in the word and doctrine.

18 For the Scripture sayth, ¶ Thou shalt not moue the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, ¶ The labourer is worthie of his wages.

19 Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesse.

20 ¶ Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the rest all may feare.

21 ¶ I charge thee before God and the Lord Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou obserue these things, without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

22 Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.

23 Drinke no longer water, but vse a little wine for thy stomackes sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 Some mens sinnes are open beforehand, and goe before vnto iudgement: but some mens follow after.

25 Likewise also the good workes are manifest beforehand, and they that are otherwise, can not be hid.

the manners of the Congregation, the other did beside that, attend vpon preaching and prayers, so and for the Congregation. ¶ Deuteronomie 25.4. 2. Corinthians 9.9. ¶ Matthee 10.10. Luke 10.7. 13 The second rule: Let no accusation bee admitted against an Elder, but vnder two or three witnesse. 14 The third rule: Let the Elders so committed bee rebuked openly, that they may be an example to others. ¶ Chapter 6.1. 15 The fourth rule: Let sinners bee vied without any prejudice or respect of persons in the Ecclesiasticall proceedings (especially against the Elders) because God himselfe is there present, and the Lord Iesus Christ with a multitude of Angels. 16 The fifth rule: Let the Minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not bee faultie herein, either by fauouring any mans follie, or peruerse affection: If ought bee done otherwise then well of his fellowes, let him keep his conscience pure. ¶ As much as in thee lyeth, doe not rashly admit any whatsoever, to any Ecclesiasticall function. 17 The sixth rule: Let the Elders haue indifferent consideration of their health, in the manner of their diet. 18 Because hypocrites sometimes creepe into the ministerie, although there bee neuer so great diligence vsed, the Apostle willet the Pastour not to be troubled therefore, or slacke at any whit of their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appoynted a time to discouer the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heede that wee offende not therein. 19 Another comfort belonging to them, which sometime are slandered and misreported of.

C H A P. VI.

1 He sheweth the dutie of seruants: 20 and what a mischievous euill countenancesse is: 13 and hauing spoken somewhat of rich men, hee once againe forbiddeth Timothy 20 to number himselfe with vaine babblers.

Let as many seruants as are vnder the yoke, count their masters worthie of all honour,

2 that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

3 And they which haue beleueing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather do seruite, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and partakers of the benefite.

4 These things teach and exhort.

the common state. And this is the first rule: Let seruants that are come to the faith, and haue infidels to their masters, serue them notwithstanding with great fidelitie. 2 The reason: lest God shoulde sceme by the doctrine of the Gospel to stirre vp men to rebellion and all wickednesse. 3 The second rule: Let not seruants that are come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhood, but let them so much the rather obey them. 4 Let this bee sufficient, that as touching those things which pertaine to eueryday life, they are partakers of the same good will and love of God, as their masters themselves are. 5 A generall conclusion, that these things ought not onely to be simply taught, but must with exhortations bee diligently beaten into their heads.

14 Now he giueth rules, and sheweth how he ought to behaue himselfe with the Elders: that is to say with the Pastours and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see vnto this especially, as God himselfe hath commanded, that the Elders that doe these duties well, be honestly maintained. 2 We must be more careful for them, then for the rest. 3 There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended vpon the gouernment onely, and looked to

1 He addeth also rules for the seruants dutie towards their masters: whereupon no doubt there were many questions then moued by them, which tooke occasion by the Gospel to trouble

5 He condemneth severely and excommunicateth or casteth out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselves with Christs doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godlinesse) but waine both themselves and others in vain questions, (for all other things are vaine) because they content not themselves in Christs doctrine: and as lying deceivers, because they favour or sound of nothing but vanitie: as mad men, because they trouble themselves so much in matters of nothing: as mischievous plagues, for that they cause great contentions and corrupt mindes and indgement: to be short, as prophane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godlinesse and religion to filthy lucre. b Strivings about wordes, and not about matter: and by words be meaneth all those things which have no pith in them, & whereby we can reape no profite. c Such as wee see in those shamelesse schooles of Poperie, which are nothing else but vaine babbling and prating. d He turneth away filly the name of gaine and lucre, confessing that godlinesse is great gaine, but faileth after another sort, to wit, because it bringeth true sufficiency. e He mocketh their follie, which doe so greedily gaze after fraile things, that they can in no wayes bee satisfi'd, and yet notwithstanding they cannot enioy that exccesse. f As sayeth Timotheus from countenances after another sort, to wit, because it draweth with it an infinite sort of lustes, and those very hateful, wherewith covetous men doe torment themselves so late forth, that in the ende they cast away from them their faith and salvation. g Sorow and griefe doe as it were pearce thorow the minde of man, and are the harnest and true frutes of countenances. h A peculiar exhortation to diuers vertues, wherewith it becometh the Pastours especially to bee furnished. i Whom the Spirit of God ruleth.

3 If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome words of the Lord Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godlinesse,
4 Hee is put vp and knoweth nothing, but doth about questions and strife of wordes, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmising,
5 Froward & disputations of men of corrupt mindes and destitute of the truth, which thinke that gaine is godlinesse: from such separate thy selfe.
6 But godlinesse is great gaine, if a man bee content with that he hath.
7 For wee brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out,
8 Therefore when wee haue fooode and raiment, let vs therewith be content.
9 For they that will bee rich, fall into temptation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lustes, which drowne men in perdition and destruction.
10 For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and pearced themselves thorow with many sorowes.
11 But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godlinesse, faith, loue, patience, and meekenesse.
12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternall life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Iesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate, & witnessed a good confession, 14 That thou keepe this commandment without spot, and vnrebukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ,
15 Which in due time hee shall shew, that is blessed and Prince onely, the King of kings and Lord of lords,
16 Who onely hath immortality, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine vnto, & whome neuer man sawe, neither can see, vnto whom be honour and power euerlasting, Amen.
17 Charge them that are rich in this world, that they bee not high minded, and that they trust not in vncertaine riches, but in the liuing God, (which giueth vs abundantly all things to enioy)
18 That they doe good, and be rich in good works, & be ready to distribute, & communicate, 19 Laying vp in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life.
20 O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called,
21 Which while some profess, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth Timotheus faith, 6 and exhorteth him to goe on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 8 and that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the reuolting of others, hee faileth.
11 Hee triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 Hee willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16 and prayeth Ousephorus.

Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Iesus,

2 To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord.

3 I thanke God, & whome I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,

4 Desiring to see thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.

6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stirre vp the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirit of deceit, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound minde.

8 Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me, who am in prison: for I suffer as dooeth Iesus, who beareth the cross for us, that hee might bring us to himselfe by his death, that he might purifie vnto himselfe a peculiar people, zealous of good works, who shall not be ashamed to be called Christians, who shall be able to suffer with him in his death, who shall be able to follow him, who shall be able to deny himselfe, and take up his cross, and follow him, who shall be able to deny himselfe, and take up his cross, and follow him, who shall be able to deny himselfe, and take up his cross, and follow him.

2 He warneth vs to let the inward power of the Spirit which God hath giuen vs against those flames which may and doe come vpon vs. 3 The gift of God, as it were a certaine lively flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the deuil go about to put out, and therefore we on the contrary side must labour as much as we can, so foster and keepe it burning. 4 To pearce vs thorow, and seruite vs, as men whom the Lord will destroy. 5 Hee prayeth that the ignominie or shame of the crosse is not onely not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honourable: first, because the Gospel whereof the godly are afflicted, is the testimonie of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them.

a Sent of God to preach that life which he promised in Christ Iesus.
1 The chiefeft mark that hee sheweth in this Epistle, is to confirme Timotheus to continue constancy and manfully euen to the ende, setting forth before him the great good will hee beareth him, and then reckoning vp the excellent gifts which God would haue as it were to bee by inheritance in Timotheus, and his successors, which might so much the more make him bound to God. 2 Acts 22. 3. 3 From Abraham, Isaac and Jacob: for hee speaketh of the promise of Christ.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out persuerance in the Christian warfare; 3 he taketh similitudes 4 from souldiers, 6 and from husbandmen.
 10 Hee sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints:
 15 Then hee warneth Timothy to diuide the word of truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to doe all things modestly.

Thou therefore, my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by many witnesses, the same deliuer to faithfull men, which shall be able to teach other alfo.

3 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of this life, because hee would please him that hath chosen him to bee a souldier.

5 And if any man also stroue for a matterie, he is not crowned, except he stroue as he ought to doe.

6 The husbandman must labour before hee receive the fruit.

7 Consider what I say: and the Lord giue thee vnderstanding in all things.

8 Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seede of Dauid, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel,

9 Wherein I suffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bonds: but the worde of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glory.

11 It is a true saying, For if we be dead together with him, we also shall liue together with him.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: if we deny him, he also will deny vs.

13 If we beleue not, yet abideth he faithfull: he cannot denie himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they stroue not about words which is to no profit, but to the peruertering of the hearers.

15 Studie to shew thy selfe approoued vnto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, diuiding the word of truth aright.

16 Stay profane and vaine babblings: for they shall increase vnto more vngodlinesse.

17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the truth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let euery one that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquity.

in prison as an euill doer, yet there is no crosse, why therefore some should goe about to derogate credite from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did blesse his ministry, nay rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience

a faithfull steward in diuiding aright the worde of truth, in so much that hee must stop the mouthes of other vaine babblers.
16. By adding nothing to it, neither over- slipping any thing, neither mauling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor mistaking of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to beare, and what is fittest for edifying.
17. Marke and watch, and see they creepe not on further.
18. Hee discovereth the fence that rose by their falling away: shewing first, that the elect are out of all dan- ger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are knowne to God and not to vs: therefore it is no maruell if wee count hypocrites often times for true brethren: but

12 The taking away of an oblation: it is so dishonourable to the good man of the house, that he hath no more in a great house all vessels of one sort for one service, but we must look to this, that we be found vessels prepared to honour. Rom. 9. 21.
 13 By these words is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that we purge our selves, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in us, but to God, who freely & wholly worketh in us a good and an effectual will.
 14 Turning to the matter from whence he digressed, verse 16. he warneth him to exclude himself in weighty matters, and such as pertaine to godlinesse. 14 The first admonition: We must above all things eschew all bitterness of minde, both in teaching all men, and also in calling them backe which have gone out of the way. 1. Cor. 13. 2. 1. Tim. 1. 4. and 4. 7. tit. 3. 9. 15 To minde them through our patient hearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickednesse. 1. Cor. 13. 2. he meaneth such as do not yet see the truth.

1 The seventh admonition: We may not hope for any Church in this world without corruption: but there shall be a great abundance of most wicked men, even in the very bosome of the Church, which notwithstanding shall make a show and countenance of great holinesse and chastitie. 1. Tim. 4. 1. 2. pet. 3. 3. Jude 18.
 2 Which make no account, either of right or benefit.
 3 We must not dally with such men as resist the truth: not of simple ignorance, but of a peruerse mind, which thing appeareth by their fruits, which bee puerile on there. I say, but we must rather name away from them.
 4 Exod. 7. 11. 5 Hee addeth a comfort: The Lord will at long plucke off all their vildes. 4 That wee be not deceived by such hypocrites, wee must first beleeve the vertues of the holy servants of God, and we must not be trayed of perdition, which they suffered willingly, and which alwayes followeth true godlinesse. But wee must especially holde fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the summe whereof is this, that wee are saved through faith in Christ Iesus. 6 Thou knowest thoroughly, not onely what I taught and did, but also how I was wounded and disposed. 7 Which is in Pisidia.

23 <sup>12</sup> Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth, and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.
 21 If any man therefore purge himselfe from these, he shall be a vessel vnto honour, sanctified, and meete for the Lord, and prepared vnto every good worke.
 22 <sup>13</sup> Flee also from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, love, and <sup>14</sup> peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 And put away foolish and vnlearned questions, knowing that they engender strife.
 24 But the servant of the Lord must not strive, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, suffering the euill.
 25 Instructing them with meekenesse that are contrary minded, proving if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the truth.
 26 And come to amendment out of the snare of the deuill, of whom they are taken prisoners, to doe his will.

27 Hee chargeth him to preach the Gospel with all diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 that his death is hard at hand, 8 yet so, that as a conquerour hee maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothy, 11 then by reason of his present state.

CHAP. III.

1 He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to insue: 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 hee encourageth him to the combat, 14 setting out especially the triall of sound doctrine.

THIS know also, that in the last dayes shall come perillous times.
 2 For men shall be louers of their owne selues, couetous, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankfull, vnholie,
 3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no loners at all of them which are good,
 4 Traitors, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God,
 5 Having a shew of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: turne away therefore from such.
 6 For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captiue simple women laden with finnes, and led with diuers lusts,
 7 Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the truth.
 8 And as Iannes and Iambres withstood Moyses, so doe these also resist the truth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.
 9 But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madness shall be euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.
 10 But thou hast fully knowen my doctrine, maner of lining, purpose, faith, long suffering, love, patience, 11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lystra.

4 That wee be not deceived by such hypocrites, wee must first beleeve the vertues of the holy servants of God, and we must not be trayed of perdition, which they suffered willingly, and which alwayes followeth true godlinesse. But wee must especially holde fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the summe whereof is this, that wee are saved through faith in Christ Iesus. 6 Thou knowest thoroughly, not onely what I taught and did, but also how I was wounded and disposed. 7 Which is in Pisidia.

which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me.

12 Yes, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.
 13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall waxe woofe and woofe, deceiuing, and being deceiued.
 14 But continue thou in things which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:
 15 And that thou hast knowen the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.
 16 For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness, 17 That the man of God may bee absolute, being made perfect vnto all good workes.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 Hee chargeth him to preach the Gospel with all diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 that his death is hard at hand, 8 yet so, that as a conquerour hee maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothy, 11 then by reason of his present state.

1 Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdom,
 2 Preach the word: be instant, in season, and out of season: in reprooue, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine.
 3 For the time will come when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their owne lusts get them an heape of teachers,
 4 And shall turne their eares from the truth, and shall be giuen vnto fables.
 5 But watch thou in all things: suffer aduersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: because thy ministry to be thoroughly liked of.
 6 For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.
 7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.
 8 For henceforth is layd vp for me the crowne of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous Iudge shall giue mee at that day: and not to mee onely, but vnto all them also that loue that his appearing.
 9 Make speede to come vnto me at once:
 10 For Demas hath forsaken mee, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.
 11 Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto me to minister.
 12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.
 13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.
 14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done mee much euill: the Lord reward him according to his workes.

1 Their wickednesse shall daily increase. 4 2 Pet. 1. 20. 5 The eighth admonition, which is most present: A Pastor must be wise by the word of God onely: when in we haue perished by deluded vnto vs, whatlouer parteth either in discerning, knowing, and establishing our opinions, & to confute false, and so to thermore, to correct euill manners, & to frame good. 6 The Prophets and expounders of Gods word, are properly & peculiarly called, Men of God.

1 The principle and chiefe of all admonitions, being their first proposed which is most earnest charge, is this: That the word of God be propounded with a certaine holy importunitie, as necessary requisite, that is, but for that a good and true ground of the doctrine be layd, and the v. h. memorie be tempered with all holy meekenesse. 2 Earliest Professors in this world looke all occasions they could because men were very principall and ready to returne to their fables. 3 To false and unprofitable doctrine, which the world is now so bewitched withall, that it had rather the opinion of the truth were utterly put out, then it would come out of darkness. 4 The wickednes and falling away of the world, ought to cause faithfull ministers to be so much the more careful. 5 Proue and shew by good & sufficient proofe, that thou art the true minister of God. 6 He instructeth in vincible constancie and sure hope. 6 To bee offered for a drinke offering: and hee alludeth to the pouring out of blood or wine which was used in sacrifices. 5 The last part of the Epistle, setting forth grievous complaints against censuring, and examples of singular godlinesse in euery place. and of a minde not wearied, 4 Continued himselfe with this world. 2 Coloss. 4. 10, 14.

15 Of whom bee thou ware also : for he withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke mee: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleueed, and that all the Gentiles should heare : and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the Lion.

18 And the Lord will deliuer mee from euery f euill worke, and wil preferue me vnto his g heauently kingdome: to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen.

19 Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus abode at Corinth : Trophimus I left at Miletum sicke.

21 Make speede to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

2.2 The Lorde Iesus Christ bee with thy spirit.
Grace be with you, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle written from Rome vnto Timotheus, the first Bishop elected of the Church of Ephesus, when Paul was presented the second time before the Emperour Nero.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

6 Hee sheweth what kinde of men ought to bee chosen Ministers :
to howe vaine babblers mouthes should bee stopped: 12 and through this occasion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Jewes, who put holinesse in outward things.

PAul<sup>a</sup> a<sup>a</sup> seruant of God, & an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods<sup>b</sup> elect, <sup>c</sup> and the acknowledging of the truth, which is according vnto godlinesse.

2 Vnto the hope of eternall life', which God that cannot lie, hath promised before the world began:

3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed vnto me according to the commandment of God our <sup>s</sup> Sauour.

4 †To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, †Grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ our Sauour.

5. For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery citie as I appointed thee.

6 : If any bee vnreproueable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are g disobedient.

7 For a Bishop must bee vnreproeable, as Gods<sup>h</sup> steward, not i froward, not angry, not giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodnesse,
k wife, righteous, holy, temperate,

9 <sup>8</sup> Holding fast that faithfull worde according to doctrine, <sup>9</sup> that hee also may bee able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and conuince them that lay against it.

10 10 For there are many disobedient and vain talkers and deceivers of minds, chiefly they of the Circumcision,

11 Whose mouthes must bee stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.

12 mOne of themselves, ~~even~~ one of their own prophets said, The Cretians ~~are~~ alwayes lyars, euil beasts, slow bellies.

13 This witnesse is true: wherefore conuince them sharply, that they may be found in the faith.

14 And not taking heed to Iewish fables, and commandements of men, that turne away from the trueth.

15 <sup>11</sup>Vnto the pure :: are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing is nothing pure, but euen their minds and consciences are defiled.

16 They professe that they know God, but by works they denie him, and are abominable & disobedient, and to euery good worke reprobate.

Law together. m Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet among the Heathen. Looke upon Laertius and Cicero in the first booke of Diuination. n Roughly and plainly, and goe not about the bulw with them. ¶ 1. The. 1. 4. 11 He sheweth in few words that purity consisteth not in externall worship, and that that is according to the old Law, (as in difference of meates and washings, & other such things which are abolished) but in the mind and conscience: and whosoever teacheth other wayes, know not what is true religion indeed, and also are robbing them that they would seeme to be. ¶ Romans 14. 20 ¶ If four minds and consciences be uncleane, what cleanness is there in their recovery again?

CHAP. II.

He setteth out the duties of sundry persons and states, 6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in matters. 11 He draweth an argument from the end of our redemption, 12 which is, that we live godly and uprightly.

BUt speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine.

2 That the elder men be watchful, graue, temperate, sound in the faith, in loue, and in patience:

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behaviour as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, not subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things.

4 That they may instruct the young women to be sober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they be temperate, chaste, & keeping at home, good & subiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God be not euill spoken of.

6 Exhort yong men likewise, that they be sober minded.

7 In all things shewe thy selfe an example to an applying of the general proposition to a particular. The Gentiles above all other need these sharp reprobations: both because their murders are naturally given to lies and slothfulness, and also because of certain notorious Jews, which render a colour of godliness to many partly certain native traditions, and partly, older ceremonies with the Gospel.

Of the Jews, for rather of those Jews, which men about to imitate Christ and 11 For that grace of God, that bringeth good workes.

15 These things speake, and exhort, and con-

1 Paul handling a best and small master, yet according to his ma-

4 But when that bountifullnesse and that loue of God our Sauour toward man appeared,

we had done, but according to his mercy he saued

Iesus Christ our Sauour,

7 That wee, being iustified by his grace, should bee made heires according to the hope of eternall life.

8 ¶ This is a true saying, and these things I will thou shouldst affirme, that they which haue belieued God, might bee careful to shew forth good workes. These things are good and profi-

13 Whom I would haue retained with mee, that in thy stead hee might haue ministred vnto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy minde would I doe nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.

15 It may be that he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldst receiue him for euer, 16 Not now as a seruant, but aboute a seruant, such as a brother beloued, specially to mee: how much more then vnto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receiue him as my selfe.

18 If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on my accounts.

19 I Paul haue written this with mine owne hand: I will recompense it, albeit I doe not say to thee, that thou owest moreouer vnto mee such thine owne selfe.

20 Yea, brother, let mee obtaine this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt do euē more then I say.

22 Moreouer also prepare mee lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely giuen vnto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Iesus, 24 Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke, my fellow helpers.

25 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, be with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a seruant.

Good brother let me obtaine this benefit as thine hand.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWES.

The drift and ende of this Epistle, is to shew that Iesus Christ the Sonne of God both God and man, is that true eternall and onely Prophet, King, and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the olde Lawe, and is now in dede exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to bee taught, gouerned and sanctified.

CHAP. I.

To shewe that the doctrine which Christ brought, is more excellent in that it is the knitting vp of all prophetie, and be aduanceth him above the Angels: 10 And proueth by diuers testimonies of the Scripture, that he is farre passeth all other.

A T sundry times and in diuers manners God spake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophets: in these last dayes hee hath spoken vnto vs by his Sonne,

2 Whom he hath made heire of all things, by whom also he made the worlds,

3 Who being the brightnesse of the glory and the ingraued forme of his person, and bearing vp all things by his mightie word, hath by himselfe purged our finnes, and sitteth at the right hand of the Maiestie in the highest places,

4 And is made so much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as hee hath obtained a more excellent Name then they.

5 For vnto which of the Angels sayde he at any time, Thou art my Sonne, this day begate I thee: and againe, I will be his Father, and he shall be my Sonne:

6 And againe, when he bringeth in his first begotten Sonne into the world, he sayeth, And let all the Angels of God worship him.

7 And of the Angels he saith, He maketh the spirits his messengers, and his ministers a flame of fire.

8 But vnto the Sonne he saith, O God, thy throne is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness.

9 Thou hast loved righteousness and hated iniquity. Wherefore God hath anointed thee with the oile of gladnes, aboute thy fellows.

10 And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast established the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thine hands.

11 They shall perish, but thou dost remaine, and they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment.

12 And as a vesture shalt thou folde them vp, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same and thy yeeres shall not faile.

13 Vnto which also of the Angels sayd hee at any time, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

14 Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shall bee heires of saluation?

¶ Made the earth firme and sure. ¶ Psal. 110. 2. 1 Cor. 15. 24, c. that name by which we commonly call Princes and Princes, be here called the spirits.

CHAP. II.

7 bereof he inferreth, that good heede must be giuen to Christes doctrine: 9 And hee setteth him out vnto vs as our brother in our flesh, that we may with a good will yeeld up our selues wholly vnto him.

W Herefore wee ought diligently to giue heed to the things which we haue heard, lest at any time we be runne out.

2 For if the word spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euery transgression, and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward,

3 How shall we escape if we neglect so great saluation, which at the first began to be preached of the Angels, and Priesthood, is most perfect, hee voucheth an exhortation taken from a comparison. a Hee maketh himselfe an heire. b Then he said to let the word come out, which hold it not as fast when they haue heard it. c The Lawe which appointed punishment for the offenders: which Paul saith was giuen by Angels, Gal. 3. 19. and Struen, Acts 7. 53. 2 If the breach and transgression of the worde spoken by Angels was not suffered unpunished, much lesse shall it bee lawfull for vs to neglect the Gospel which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voyces of the Apostles, and with many signes and wonders from heauen, and especially with so great and mightie working of the holy Ghost.

The first part of the general proposition of this Epistle: The Sonne of God is in dede the Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadowes signified by his Prophets, and hath fully opened his Sonnes will to the world.

a. That the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and quiering must be added to this latter.

b. Which our Sonne is God and man.

c. The second part of the same proposition: The same Sonne is appointed of the Father to be our King and Lord, by whom also hee made all things, and in whom onely hee setteth forth his glory, yea and himselfe also to the beholden of vs, who beareth vp and susteineth all things by his will and pleasure.

k. Before he cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellencie of his person, and first of all he sheweth him to be man that therewithall he is God also.

sisteth herein, that which dignitie of men

most excellently. 2 Psal. 86.*

*h What is there in man that should be so great regard of him and do him that honour? b
He calleth all the citizens of that beneuen kingdome as they are considered in themselves, before that God giueth them the liberty of that cite in Christ, Man, and Son of man. i This is the first honour of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next the Angels. k
For they shall be in very great honour,

An obiection: But where is this so great rule and dominion? 6 The answer: This is already fulfilled in Iesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferiour to the Angels being made man: but now is advanced into most high glory. 1 By the rank of this subiection, death for our sakes,

that so doing the part of a redeemer, he might not only be our Prophet and King, but also our high Priest.*

*o That hee might die. 8 Herein consisteth
the force of the argument: for wee could not at length be glorified with him, vnlesse
he had bene abased for vs, euen all the faith-full. And by this occasion the Apostle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Christes person, where in hee prooueth him to bee in such sort God, that he is also man. 9
He prooueth it not only by other arguments, why it becometh the Sonne of God who is true God (as hee prooueth a litle before) to become man notwithstanding, subiect to all miseries, sinne
only except, p God.
10 First of all, because the Father, to whose glory all these things are to be referred, purposed to bring many sonnes vnto glory. And how could hee haue men for his sonnes, vnlesse his only begotten Sonne had become brother to men? 11 Secondly,
The Father determined to bring those sonnes to glory, to wit, out of their ignominie wherein they lay before. Therefore the Sonne should not haue bene serued plainely to be made man, vnlesse hee had bene made like vnto other men, that hee might come to glory by the selfe same way, by the which hee should bring other: yea rather it became him, which was Prince of the salu-ation, o other, to be consecrated aboue
other, through those afflictions, Prophet, King, & Priest, which are the parts of that principall
rite for the salu-ation of other.*

*q The Christiane, who as hee is chiefest in dignitie, so is hee
the first begotten from among the dead, amongst many brethren. 12 The ground of both the former arguments:
for neither should wee be sonnes
through him, neither could hee be consecrated through afflictions, vnlesse hee had bene made man like vnto vs. But because this Sonnehood dependeth not vpon nature
only, for no man is accounted
the sonne of God, vnlesse that besides that hee is a sonne of man, hee be also Christe brother (which is by sanctification), that is, by becoming one with Christ,
who sanctifieth vs
through faith)
therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit,
of all the faith-full, whom therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren. r
Hee vouchsafeth
the time that now is, to shew vs that wee are yet
still going on,
and increasing in the sanctification, by means of our separation from the world, our cleansing from sinne, and our dedication wholly vnto
God, all which Christ alone
worketh in vs. s

one selfe same nature of men.*

by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by 4 them that heard him,

4 God bearing witness thereto both with signes and wonders, and diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5 For hee hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels the world to come, whereof wee speake.

6 But one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, What is man, that thou shouldst bee mindfull of him? or the sonne of man that thou wouldst consider him?

7 Thou madest him a litle inferiour to the Angels: thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and hast set him aboue the workes of his hands.

8 Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that he hath put all things in subiection vnder him, he left nothing that should not be subiect vnto him. 9 But wee yet see not all things subdued vnto him,

6 But we see Iesus crowned with glory and honour, which was made litle inferiour to the Angels, through the suffering of death, that by Gods grace he might taste death for all men.

10 For it became him, for whome are all these things, and by whome are all these things, seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, that he should consecrate the Prince of their saluation through afflictions.

11 For he that sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren,

12 Saying, I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

13 And againe, I will put my trust in him. And againe, Beholde, here am I, and the children which God hath giuen me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, hee also himselfe likewise tooke part with them, that he might destroy through death, him that had the power of death, that is, the deuill,

15 And that he might deliuer all them, which for feare of death were all their life time subiect to bondage.

16 For he in no sort tooke on him the Angels nature, but hee tooke on him the seede of Abraham.

17 Wherefore in all things it behoued him to be made like vnto his brethren, that hee might be mercifull, and a faithfull hie Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sinnes of the people.

18 For in that he suffered, and was tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

more rightly verified of him, then of Esay. 2 Are made of flesh and blood, which is a feeble and brist nature. 3 He 13. 14. 1 Cor. 15. 55. 4 The deuill is made to haue the power of death, because he is the author of sinne: and from sinne cometh death, and for this cause hee egeeth vs daily to sinne. 5 Hee speaketh of one of the Priests, saying to him secretly all his angels. 6 By death I should haue stood here, that death which is signed with the wrath of God, as it must needs be, if it be without Christ: show the which there can be nothing diuined more miserable. 7 He expoundeth those words of flesh and blood, shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by taking his diuine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. 8 The nature of Angels. 9 The very nature of man. 10 Hee applyeth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not haue bene fit, vnlesse he had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things, sinne only except. 11 Not only as touching nature, but also as touching quality. 12 That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries. 13 Doing his office sincerely. 14 Was tried and egeed to wickedness by the deuill.

CHAP. III.

1 Nowe hee sheweth howe farre inferior Moses is to Christ, 5.6. euen so much as the seruants to the master: and so hee bringeth in certaine exhortations and seruantes taken out of Dauid, 8 against such as either stubbournly resist, 12 or els are very slow to obey.

Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the Apostle and high Priest of our profession Christ Iesus:

2 Who was faithfull to him that hath appointed him, euen as Moses was in all his house.

3 For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, inasmuch as hee which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house.

4 For euery house is builded of some man, and he that hath build all things, is God.

5 Nowe Moses verily was faithfull in all his house, as a seruant, for a witness of the things

next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And hee proponeth that which he purporeth to speake of with a most graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely euellaying teacher, governor, and high Priest. a The Ambassador or messenger, as Rom. 15. hee is called the minister of circumcision. b Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we prophesie. c He confirmeth this comparison with two reasons, first of all because Christ Iesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because hee throughly executed the offices that his Father hath assigned him. c Apostle and high Priest. 2 Now hee cometh to the comparison which Moses and he maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were appointed rulers over Gods house and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after hee sheweth that there is great vnklikenesse in that same similitude. 3 Namely, 1. The first comparison: The builder of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this, because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ is Lord and God made all this house. 5 Another comparison: Moses was a faithfull seruant in this house, that is in the Church, serving the Lord that was to come, but Christ is Lord and governeth his house as Lord.

*13 That which he saith before of the examination of the foundation, he applies to the prophetically
of Psal. 23. 2. 5.
14 He applyeth
the same to the kingly power of Christ in deliuering him from the power of the deuill and death.
15 Psalms 118. 2.
16 I will commune myselfe to him and to his defence. 17 18 This is the keystone of his house, and he disposeth of all things, thereby all ministers, as his disciples, figure the whole Church.
And therefore saying Christ is the head of the Church, and ministers, these words are of flesh and blood, which is a feeble and brist nature. 19 The deuill is made to haue the power of death, because he is the author of sinne: and from sinne cometh death, and for this cause hee egeth vs daily to sinne. 20 Hee
speaketh of one of the Priests, saying to him secretly all his angels. 21 By death I should haue stood here,
that death which is signed with the wrath of God,
as it must needs
be, if it be without Christ. 22
He expoundeth
those words of flesh and blood, shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by taking his diuine nature, but by taking
of mans nature.
And he nameth
Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. 23
The nature of Angels. 24 The very nature of man. 25 Hee
applyeth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not haue bene fit, vnlesse he had become man, and that like vnto vs
in all things, sinne only except. 26 Not only as touching nature, but also as touching quality. 27 That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries.
28 Doing his office sincerely.*

*1 Having layde
the foundation,
that is to say,
laid and placed both the nature of one selfe time Christ he greeteth him
three offices, to wit, the office
of a Prophet, King, and Priest, and touching the office of teaching and governing compareth him with Moses and which

which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house, whose house we are, if we hold fast that confidence and that reioicing of that hope vnto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, To day if ye shall heare his voice,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wilderness,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, prouoked me, and saw my works fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heed, brethren, lest at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, while it is called To day, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sinne.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the end that beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, 15 So long as it is said, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation.

16 For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was hee displeased fourtie yeeres? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, whose carkeises fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeliefe.

20 Now he considereth these words, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are spoken of the hearing of faith, which he setteth hardening through vnbeliefe. That beginning of trust and confidence: and after the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth that, beginning, which is difficult. So long as this voyce soundeth out. Num. 14-37.

CHAP. III.

1 Hei giveth exhortation with threatening, lest they, euen as their fathers were, be deprived of the rest offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeavour to enter into it: 14 And so bee begunne to treat of Christes Priesthood.

2 Let vs feare therefore, lest at any time by forsa- king the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seeme to be deprived.

3 For vnto vs was the Gospell preached as also vnto them: but the worde that they heard, profited not them, because it was not mixed with faith in those that heard it.

4 For wee which haue beleued, doe enter the preaching of the Gospell to drinke, which being drinke, that is to say, heard, profiteth vnto vs, in as much as we are tempered with faith. 2. Lest any man should object, that those words were meant of the land of Canaan, and of Moses doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawn to Christ, and to eternal life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two maner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one of the seventh day, wherein God is said to haue rested from all his workes: another is said to be that time, wherein Iesus Iesus led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereunto wee are called, and that he proueth by two reasons. For seeing that Dauid so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, vnto these words, Take heed, brethren, and hee saith, lest at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, &c. And that is that euill heart, wherein we begin to live to God a ter that we are of this life ceaseth: as God rested the seventh day from all his workes, that Iesus, from making the world. Moreover, the Apostle herewithall signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospell onely.

into rest, as he said to the other, As I haue sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For hee spake in a certaine place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, & they to whom it was first preached, entered not therein for vnbeliefs sake:

7 Againe hee appointed in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after to long a time, saying, as it is said, This day if ye heare his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if Iesus had giuen them rest, then would he not after this haue spoken of a nother day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne workes, as God did from his.

11 Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of disobedience.

12 For the worde of God is liuely, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and entrencheth thorow, euen vnto the diuiding asunder of the soule and the spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whom we haue to doe.

14 Seeing then that we haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs holde fast our profession.

15 For we haue not an hie Priest, which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let vs therefore go boldly vnto the throne of grace, that we may receiue mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

17 Now he entrencheth into the competition of Christes Priesthood with Aarons, and declareth euen in the very beginning the marvellous excellencie of this Priesthood, calling him the Sonne of God and placing him in the seat of God in heauen, plainly & evidently setting him against Aarons Priests, & the transfiguration tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth forth afterward more at large. And let it not grieve you of your hands. 6 Lest he might seeme by his great glorie of our hie Priest, to stay and stoppe vs from going vnto him, he addeth straightwayes after, that he is not without sinne, as hee proueth it also before: and that he accommeth all our miseries, his owne, to call vs boldly to him.

CHAP. V.

1 First he sheweth the dutie of the hie Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to bee our hie Priest: 7 and that hee hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

2 For euery hie Priest is taken from among men, & is ordeined for men, in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sinnes,

3 Which is able sufficiently to haue compassion on them that are ignorant, and that are after the order of men. 2 The first part of the seconde comparison: Others as weake, are made hie Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmities in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are without life of common faith, and repentance. a Offering of things without life. b Teafles which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinnes and offences. c Fit and meete. d On them that are full: for in the Hebrew tongue, under ignorance and error is euery sinne vnto, such that sinne that is voluntary.

1 Psal. 95. 11. 2 Gen. 2. 2. 3 Heb. 5. 14. 4 Chap. 3. 7. 5 He saith of I Ihusa the sonne of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our rest, so was Ihusa a figure of Christ. 6 As God rested the seventh day, so must wee rest from our workes, that is from such as proceede from our corrupt nature. 7 He remaineth to an exhortation. 8 Lest any man become a like example of disobedience. 9 An amplification taken from the nature of the worde of God, the power whereof is such that it entrencheth euen to the deepest and most inward and secret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that are stubborne, & plainly quickening the beleeuers. 10 The doctrine of God which is preached both in the Law and in the Gospell. 11 He calleth the worde of God liuely, by reason of the effects it worketh in them, to whom it is preached. 12 He calleth that the soule, which hath the affections resident in it. 13 By the spirit, he meaneth that noblest part which is called the mind. 14 In Gods sight.

15 Now he entrencheth into the competition of Christes Priesthood with Aarons, and declareth euen in the very beginning the marvellous excellencie of this Priesthood, calling him the Sonne of God and placing him in the seat of God in heauen, plainly & evidently setting him against Aarons Priests, & the transfiguration tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth forth afterward more at large. And let it not grieve you of your hands. 6 Lest he might seeme by his great glorie of our hie Priest, to stay and stoppe vs from going vnto him, he addeth straightwayes after, that he is not without sinne, as hee proueth it also before: and that he accommeth all our miseries, his owne, to call vs boldly to him.

1 The first part of the first comparison of Christes high Priesthood, with Aarons: Others as weake, are made hie Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men. 2 The first part of the seconde comparison: Others as weake, are made hie Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmities in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are without life of common faith, and repentance. a Offering of things without life. b Teafles which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinnes and offences. c Fit and meete. d On them that are full: for in the Hebrew tongue, under ignorance and error is euery sinne vnto, such that sinne that is voluntary.

out of the way, because that he also is compassed with infirmities.

3 And for the sakes sake he is bound to offer for sinners, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples.

4 And no man taketh this honor vnto himselfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but he that sayd vnto him, Thou art my sonne, this day begate I thee, gave it him.

6 As he also in another place speaketh, Thou art a Priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.

7 Who in the dayes of his flesh did offer vnto prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to saue him from death, & was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though he were the Sonne, yet learned he obedience, by the things which he suffered,

9 And being consecrate, was made the author of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an high Priest after the order of Melchisedec.

11 Of whom we haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because yee are dull of hearing.

12 For when as concerning the time ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye neede againe that wee teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate.

13 For euery one that vseth milke, is inexpert in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their wits exercised, to discern both good and euill.

CHAP. VI.

1 He briefly toucheth the childish foolishnesse of the Hebrewes, and terrifieth them with seuer threats: 7 He stirreth them up to endeuour in time to go forwards: 9 He hopeth wel of them:

12 He allegeth Abrahams example: 17 and compareth faith that taketh holde on the word, 19 vnto an ancre.

Therefore, leauing the doctrine of the beginning of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, not laying againe foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptisnes, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

4 For it is impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost, and profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet received members of the Church, at the daies appointed for Baptisme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie, when handes were layed vpon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternall iudgement.

He addeth a reuerencie to his exhortation, and a most sharpe threatening of the certain destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion.

Chap. 10. 26. matth. 12. 45 1. pet. 2. 10.

Hee speaketh of a generall backsliding, and such as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of some which are committred through the frailtie of men against the first and the second table.

We must marke the force of this word, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Act. 16. 13, and another thing to haue some sasse.

5 And haue tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come.

6 If they fall away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they crucified againe to themselves the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.

7 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft vpon it, and bringeth forth herbs meeets for them by whom it is dressed, receiueh blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprobated, and is neere vnto cursing, whose ende is to be burned.

9 But beloued, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake.

10 For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that yee haue ministered vnto the Saints, and yet minister.

11 And wee desire that euery one of you shew the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the end,

12 That yee be not slothfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.

13 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by, he sware by himselfe, 14 Saying, Surely I will abundantly blesse thee, and multiply thee marueilously.

15 And to after that hee had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise.

16 For men verely sweare by him that is greater then themselves, and an othe for confirmation is among them an end of all strife.

17 So God, willing more abundantly to shew vnto the heires of promise the stableness of his counsell, bound himselfe by an othe,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpossible that God should lie, wee might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is set before vs,

19 Which hope wee haue, as an ancre of the foule, both sure and stedfast, & it entreth into that which is within the vaile,

20 Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Iesus that is made an hie Priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

More then was needefull, were it not for the wickednesse of men which beleeue not God, no though he sweare.

He likeneth hope to an ancre: because that: euen as an ancre being cast into the bottome of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doeth hope also enter euen into the very secret places of beuen. And hee maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old tabernacle, and by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leviticall.

He repeateth Dauides words, wherein in all those comparisons whereof he hath before made mention, are signified, and as he declareth in all the next chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 He hath hitherto stirred them up, to marke diligently what things are to be considered in Melchisedec, 15 wherein he is like vnto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law should giue place to the Gospel.

For this Melchisedec was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him:

d As men that hate (Christ), and as though they crucified him againe, make him a mocking stocke to all the world, and thus to their owne destruction, as Iulian the Apostate or backslider did.

3 He setteth forth the former comparison with a similitude.

4 Hee misgeth and allugeth all that sheweth, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.

5 He praiseth them for their charity, thereby encouraging them to go forward, and to holde out to the ende.

6 Hee sheweth what vertues chiefly they haue neede of to go forward continually, and also to perseuerance, to wit, of charity and patience, and left any man should object and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willett them to see before themselves the examples of their ancestors, and to follow them.

7 Another price to pricke them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the ende: God hath not only promised it, but also promised it with an othe.

3 Without father, without mother, without kindred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither end of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Priest for euer.

4 Nowe consider how great this man was, vnto whom euen the Patriarke Abraham gaue the tithes of the spoiles.

5 For verily they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthood, haue a commandement to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But he whose kinred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And without all contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die receiue tithes: but there he receiue them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liueth.

9 And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiue tithes, paid tithes in Abraham.

10 For hee was yet in the loines of his father Abraham, when Melchi fedec mer him.

11 If therefore perfection had bene by the Priesthood of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-fedec, and not to bee called after the order of Aaron?

12 For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the Law.

13 For hee of whom these things are spoken, pertaineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man is serued at the altar.

14 For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing touching the Priesthood.

15 And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-fedec there is risen vp another Priest, 16 Which is not made Priest after the Law of the carnal commandement, but after the power of the endlesse life.

17 For he testifieth thus, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-fedec.

18 For the commandement that went afore, is dispulled, because of the weaknesse thereof, and vnprofitablenesse.

19 For the Law made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 And forasmuch as it is not without an oth (for these are made Priests without an othe:

21 But this is made with an othe by him that sayd vnto him, The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-fedec)

22 By so much is Iesus made a surety of a better Testament.

23 And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because hee endureth euer, hath a Priesthood, which cannot passe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, hee is able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing hee euer liueth to make intercession for them.

26 For such an he Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmlesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as those hee Priests to offer vp sacrifice, first for his owne finnes, and then for the peoples: for that did he once, when he offered vp himselfe.

28 For the Law maketh men he Priests, which haue infirmitie: but the word of the othe that was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

euerlasting Priesthood, making most effectual intercession for them which by him come vnto God. 1 Which cannot passe away. 2 Hee is fit and meete. 3 Another argument: There are required in an he Priest innocencie, and perfect purenesse, which may separate him from sinners for whom hee offereth. But the Leuiticall he Priests shall not be found to bee such, for they offer it for their owne finnes: but Christ onely is such a one, and therefore the true and onely he Priest. 4 Leuit. 16. 11. 12. Another argument which notwithstanding hee handleth afterwarde. The Leuiticall Priests offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselves, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himselfe, but for other, not sacrifices, but himselfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seeme strange, saye hee, forasmuch as they are weake, but this man is consecrated an euerlasting Priest, and that by an othe. 1 That sacrifice which hee offered. 2 It was so done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe. 3 The commandment of God which was bound with an othe. 4 Another argument taken of the times former things are taken away by the latter.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To proue more certainly that the ceremonies of the Lawe are abrogated, 5 hee sheweth that they were appointed to serue the heauenly patterne. 8 Hee bringeth in the place of Jeremie, 15 To proue the amendement of the olde couenant.

Nowe of the things which wee haue spoken, this is the summe, That we haue such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens,

2 And is a minister of the Sanctuary, and of that true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

3 For euery high Priest is ordeined to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessitie, that this man shoulde haue somewhat also to offer.

4 They of Leui were high Priests in an earthly sanctuary, but Christ is in the heauenly. 5 Of heauen. 6 They of Leui exercised their Priesthood in a frail tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle, to wit his body which God himselfe made to be euerlasting, as it shal afterwarde be declared, cha. 9. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 5 Hee giueth a reason why he said that our hie Priest is in the heavenly sanctuary, and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, he could not minister in the earthly sanctuary, seeing there are yet Leuiticall Priests, which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paterne of that perite example. And to what purpose should the paterne come when the true and originall example is present?

after 7.44. 6 He entred into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or covenant being but for a time, whereas the Leuiticall Priests were mediators, with the new, the everlasting Mediator, whereof is Christ, to shew that this is not onely better then that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this. 7 He prometh by the testimonie of Ieremie, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perite.

And againe that same is at length taken away, which is subiect to corruption, and therefore imperfect.

CHAP. IX.

3 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonie of the Law, 11 vnto the truth set out in Christ, 15 hee concludeth that now there is no more neede of another Priest, 24 because Christ himselfe hath fulfilled these duties vnder the new covenant.

Then the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a worldly Sanctuary.

2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the Holiest of all,

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament ouerlaide round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna was, and Aarons rod that had budded, and the tables of the Testament.

5 And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the mercie seate: of which things we will not now speake particularly.

1 A diuision of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitorie and earthly into two parts to wit, into the holy places and the Holiest of all.

a An earthly and a flitting.

b He calleth it the second vaile, not because there were two vailes, but because it was behind the Sanctuary or the first Tabernacle.

c The holiest Sanctuary. 2 Numb. 17.10. 3 1 King. 8.9. 4 chron. 5.10. 5 Exod. 25.23. d The Hebrewes call the cover of the Arke of the commandment the mercie seate, whom the Grecians and we follow,

4 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priests that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serue vnto the paterne and shadowe of heavenly things, as Moses was warned by God, when hee was about to finish the Tabernacle, 6 See, said he, that thou make all things according to the paterne shewed to thee in the mount.

6 But nowe our hie Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as hee is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which is established vpon better promises.

7 For if that first Testament had bene vnblameable, no place should haue bene sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them hee saith, Beholde, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a new Testament.

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to lead them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel. After those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people, 11 And they shall not teach euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be mercifull to their vnrighteousnesse, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more.

13 In that he saith a newe Testament, he hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is disanulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

6 Now when these things were thus ordained, the Priests went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.

7 But into the second went the hie Priest alone, once euery yeere, not without blood which hee offered for himselfe, and for the ignorances of the people.

8 Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing,

9 Which was a figure for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice,

10 Which onely stood in meates and drinks, and diuers washings, and carnall rites, which were inioyned, vntill the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, by a greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with handes, that is, not of this building, 12 Neither by the blood of goates and calves: but by his owne blood entred hee once vnto the holy place, and obtained etemal redemption for vs.

13 For if the blood of bulles and of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vnclane, sanctifieth as touching the purifying of the flesh,

14 Howe much more shall the blood of Christ which through the eternall Spirit offered himselfe without fault to God, purge your conscience from dead workes, to serue the liuing God?

15 And for this cause he is the Mediatour of sacrifices (that is to say, if the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies vnto wit, that men might bee called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ, who should correct all those things at his coming. f For that time that that figure had to last. g Another reason why they could not make cleane the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outward and carnall or corporall things. h For they were as you would say a burden, from which Christ delivered vs. i Nowe hee entred into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Leuiticall high Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing it selfe,) he attributeth to Christ, the administration of good things to come, that is, euertlasting, which those carnall things had respect vnto. 7 An other comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter (that is to say, with the humane nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, wherein the Sonne of God entred, as the Leuiticall high Priests into the other which was fraille and transitorie. b By a more excellent and better. 8 An other comparison of the blood of the sacrifices with Christ. The Leuiticall high Priests entred by those their holy places into their Sanctuary, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entred into that holy body of his, entred by it into heauen it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an euertlasting redemption: For one selle saue Christ satisfieth both to the high Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offerings themselves, as the truth to the figures, so that Christ is both high Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all these both truly, and for euer. i For in this yearly sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kinds of sacrifices, the one a goat, the other a heifer, or calfe. k Leuiticus 16.14. numbers 19.4. 9 If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beastes, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing it selfe and the truth bee a present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood, which is in such sort mans blood, that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euertlasting vertue of purifying and cleansing. doe it l Hee considereth the figures apart, being separate from the thing it selfe. m 1 Peter 3.19 1 John 1.7. reuelation 1.5. n Luke 1.74. o From sinnes which proceede from death, and bring forth nothing but death. 10 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beastes did not purge finnes, the newe Testament which was before time promised, wherein those outward things had respect is nowe indeede established, by the vertue whereof all transgressions might bee taken away, and heauen indeede opened vnto vs: whereof it followeth that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers: For hee was shadowed by those olde ceremonies, otherwise, vntill they had serued to represent him, they had bene nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to say, remission of finnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was fulfilled, that is to say, wherein Christ was indeede exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were necessary to our saluation.

2. Gal. 3.

1. A reason why the Testament should be established by the death of the Mediator, because this Testament hath the commodity of a Testament or gift, which is made effectually by death, & therefore that it might be effectual, it must not be that the Testament should be made by the death of the Mediator.

2. Gal. 3. 15.

1. There must be proportion between those things which purify those which are purified: Under the Law all those figures were earthly, as the Tabernacle, the sacrifices, although they were the figure of heavenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremony of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, with hyssop, &c. But under Christ all things are heavenly, as the Sacraments, as the heavenly people, as the heavenly doctour, and heavenly Kingdom, and heavenly Kingdom set open before vs for an everlasting habitation. The offering of the quickening blood of Christ. As the Lord had commanded. He said to sprinkle. Exod. 24. 8. The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wool, and hyssop. But under Christ all things are heavenly, and therefore they could not be sanctified with the offering of the earthly blood. 13. Another double comparison: The Levitical high Priest entered into the Sanctuary, which was made in deride by the commandment of God, but yet with men's hands, that it might be a pattern of another more excellent, to wit, of the heavenly palace. But Christ entered even into heaven itself. Again, he appeared before the Father, but Christ before God the Father himself. 14. Another double comparison: The Levitical high Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his own: he gave himself once for ever: Christ offering himself but once, abolished sinners altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come. 15. An argument to prove that Christ's offering ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sinners were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proved that sinners cannot be purged, but by the only blood of Christ: he must needs have died oftentimes since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christ's oblation which was once done in the latter days, neither could, nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the virtue of it extendeth both to the sinners that were before, and to sinners that are after his coming. p. In the latter days. q. That whole mass of sinners. r. He speaks of the natural state and condition of man: For as for Law and certain other that did rise, that was no usual thing but extraordinary, made for them that shall be changed, their changing is a kind of death. 1. Cor. 15. 51. 2. Tim. 5. 8. 1. pet. 3. 18. f. Thus the general promise is restrained to the elect only: as we have to seeke the testimony of our election, not in the secret counsel of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climb up from the lowest step to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certaine, and shall never be moved. Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Judge, partly to terrifie them, which do not rest themselves in the only oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keepe them in their duty, that they goe not backe.

the new Testament, that through death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, that which were called, might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is alive.

18 Wherefore, neither was the first ordained without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to the people, according to the Law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water and purple wooll and hyssop, and sprinkled both the booke, and all the people,

20 Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the similitudes of heavenly things should be purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than these.

24 For Christ is not entered into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entered into very heaven, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs.

25 Not that he should offer himselfe often, as the high Priest entered into the holy place, every yeere with other blood,

26 For then must he have often suffered since the foundation of the world, but now in the end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

27 And as it is appointed unto men that they shall once die, and after that cometh the iudgement:

28 So Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of many, and unto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne unto saluation.

CHAP. X.

1 He prooveth that the sacrifices of the Law were unprofitable, 2 he cause they were yearly renewed, 3 But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall, 4 he prooveth by David's testimony: 5 Then he addeth an exhortation, 29 and severally threatneth them that resist the grace of Christ, 36 In the end he praiseth patience, 38 that cometh of faith.

For the law having the shadow of good things to come, & not the very image of the things, can neuer with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the commers thereunto.

2 For would they not then have ceased to have bin offered, because that the offerers once purged, should have had no more conscience of sins?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes every yeere.

4 For it is vnpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.

5 Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice & offering thou wouldest not: but a bodie hast thou ordained me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Lo, I come (in the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should do thy will, O God.

8 About, when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, & sinne offerings, thou wouldest not have, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law)

9 Then said hee, Lo, I come to doe thy will, O God, he taketh away the first, that he may establish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, even by the offering of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11 And every Priest standeth dayly ministering, and oftentimes offereth one manner of offering, which can neuer take away sinnes:

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, & sitteth for ever at the right hand of God,

13 And from henceforth tertieth till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For with one offering hath he consecrated forever them that are sanctified.

15 For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that he had said before,

16 This is the Testament that I will make

1 He prooveth a prius obedience, Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth, first touching the sacrifice, which was the holiest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made every yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie; for to what purpose should those sinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and wherefore should new sinnes come to be repeated every yeere, if those sacrifices did abolish sinne?

2 Of things which are everlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

3 A conclusion following of these things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Law could not doe it, therefore Christ speaking of himselfe as of our high Priest manifested in the flesh, we see evidently that God retheth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Sonne: our high Priest, In which obedience he offered up himselfe once to his Father for vs. b. The Sonne of God is said to come into the world, when he was made man. c. Psal. 40. 7. c. It is word for word in the Hebrew text, Thou hast feared mine ears shewing, that is, thou hast made me obedient, and willing to beare. d. That is, the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God. 3 A conclusion, with the other part of the comparison: The Levitical high Priest repeateth the same sacrifices dayly in his Sanctuary: whereupon it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offerings, neither those high Priests could take away sinnes. But Christ, having offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and having sanctified his owne soule ever, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, having all power in his hands. e. At the altar. f. Chap. 1. 13. psal. 110. 1. 1. cor. 15. 25. 4 Hee preventeth a prius objection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subiect to sinne and death, whereas the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacy of Christs vertue hath not yet shewed it selfe, but shall at length appeare when he will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we strive. Chapter 13. 5 Although these doe yet remaine in vs reliques of sinne, yet the work of our sanctification which is to be perfect, God hangeth upon the selfe same sacrifice which never shall be repeated: and that the Apostle prooveth by alledging againe the testimony of Ieremie, that, Sinne is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lord saith that it shall come to passe that according to the forme of it, he will no more remember our sinnes: Therefore we neede no more purging sacrifices to take away that which is already taken away, but we must rather take paines, that we may now through faith be partakers of his sacrifices. f. Neither as in times past, doeth the hie Priest shut vs out by setting the vaile against vs, but through the vaile, which is his flesh, he hath brought vs into heauen it selfe, being present with vs, so that wee haue now truly an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God. i So Christs flesh sheweth vs the Godhead as it were vnder a vaile, for otherwise we were not able to abide the brightnes of it. j A most gaine exhortation, wherein he sheweth how that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to vs to wit, by faith, which alio he describeth by the consequents, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirit, which causeth vs surely to hope in God, and to procure by all meanes possible one anothers saluation, through the faith that is in vs one towards another. k With no double and counterfeits heart, but with such an heart as is truly and indoele given to God. l That is it which the Lord saith, 'Be ye holy, for I am holy.' m With the grace of the holy Ghost. n Having mentioned the last coming of Christ, he stireth vp the godly to the meditation of an holy life, and clefteth the faithlesse fallers from God, to the fearefull iudgement seat of the Iudge, because they wickedly reiect him in whom onely saluation consisteth. o Chap. 6.4. p Without any cause or occasion, or shew of occasion. q For it is another matter to sime through the frailtie of mans nature, and another thing to proclaim warre as it were to God as to an enemy. r If the breach of the Lawe of Moses was punished by death, howe much more worthy death is it to fall away from Christ? s Deut. 18.15. mat. 18.16. ioh. 1.17.2 cor. 13.1. t The reason of all these things is, because God is a reuenger of such as despise him: otherwise he should not rightly gouerne his Church. vnto them after those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them.
17 And their finnes and iniquities will I remember no more.
18 Nowe where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sinne.
19 Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bolde to enter into the Holy place, 20 By the new and liuing way, which he hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his flesh:
21 And seeing we haue an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God,
22 Let vs drawe neere with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an euill conscience,
23 And washed in our bodies with pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wauering, (for he is full that promised)
24 And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes, 25 Not forsaking the fellowship that we haue among our selues, as the manner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, and that so much the more, because yee see that the day draweth neere.
26 For if we sinne willingly after that we haue receiued and acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for finnes,

28 He that despiseth Moses Law, dieth without mercy & vnder two, or three witnesses:

39 But wee are not they which withdraw our selues vnto perdition, but followe faith vnto the conseruation of the soule.

CHAP. XI.

i He declarth in the whole chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approved of God, attained saluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may know that by the same only, they are knit vnto the Fathers in an holy vnion.

Now faith is the ground of things which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.
2 For by it our elders were well reported of.
3 Through faith wee vnderstand that the world was ordeined by the word of God, so that the things which we see, are not made of things which did appeare.
4 By faith Abel offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by the which he obtained witnesse that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.
5 By faith was Enoch translated, that he should not see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.
6 But without faith it is vnpossible to please him: for he that cometh to God, must beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seeke him.
7 By faith Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, moued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the suuing of his household, through the which Arke he condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteousnesse, which is by faith.
8 By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which he should afterward receiue for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither he went.
9 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange country, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promise.
10 For he looked for a citie hauing a foundation, whose builder and maker is God.
11 Through faith Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when shee was past age, because shee iudged him faithfull which had promised.
12 And therefore sprang there of one, euen of one which was dead, so many as the starres of the skie in multitude, and as the sand of the sea shore which is innumerable.

20 By faith Isaac blessed Iacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

21 By faith Jacob when he was a dying blessed both the sonnes of Ioseph, and leaning on the end of his staffe, worshipped God.

22 By faith Joseph when hee dyed, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, and gaue commandement of his bones.

23 By faith Moses when he was borne, was hid three moneths of his parents, because they saw he was a proper childe, neither feared they the kings commandement.

24 By faith Moses when he was come to age, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter,

25 And chose rather to suffer aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioy the pleasures of sinne for a season,

26 Esteeming the rebuke of Christ greater riches, then the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect vnto the recompence of the reward.

27 By faith he forsooke Egypt, and feared not the fiercenesse of the king: for he endured, as he that saw him which is inuisible.

28 Through faith hee ordained the Passoe-uer and the effusion of blood, lest he that destroyed the first borne, should touch them.

29 By faith they passed through the red sea as by drie land, which when the Egyptians had assayed to doe, they were swallowed vp.

30 By faith the walles of Iericho fell downe after they were compassed about seuen
dayes.

31 By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them which obeyed not, when she had receiued the spies peaceably.

32 And what shal I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of: Gedeon, of Barac, and of Sampson, and of Iephte, also of Dauid, and Samuel, and of the Prophets:

33 Which through faith subdued kingdomes, wrought righteousnesse, obtained the promises, stopped the mouthes of lions,

34 Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, of weak were made strong, waxed valiant in battell, turned to flight the armies of the aliantes.

35 The women receiued their dead raised to life: other also were racked, and would not bee deliuered, that they might receiue a better refurrection.

36 And others haue bene tried by mockings and scourgings, yea, moreouer by bonds, and prisonment.

37 They were stoned, they were hewen asunder, they were tempted, they were slaine with the sword, they wandred vp and downe in sheepes skinner, and in goates skinner, being destitute, afflicted, and tormented.

38 Whom the world was not worthy of: they wandered in wildernesses and mountaines, and dennes, and caues of the earth.

39 And these all through faith obtained good report, and receiued not the promise,

40 God prouiding a better thing for vs, that they without vs should not be made perfite.

deede exhibited to vs, so that their faith and ours is as one, as is their confession and ours. But sawe Christ a fauour off. For their upon Christ, who was exhibited in our dayes.

C H A P. XII.

He doeth not onely by the examples of the Fathers before recited exhort them to patience and constancie, but also by the example of Christ. That the chastening of God cannot be rightely iudged by the outward sense of our flesh.

Wherefore, let vs also, seeing that we are compassed with so great a cloude of witnesses, cast away euery thing that presseth downe, and the sinne that hangeth so fast on: let vs run with patience the race that is set before vs,

Looking vnto Iesus the authour and finisher of our faith, who for the ioy that was set before him, endured the crosse, and despised the shame, and is set at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 Consider therefore him that endured such speaking against of sinners, lest ye should be wearied and faint in your mindes.

4 Ye haue not yet resisted vnto blood, stri-uing against sinne.

5 And yee haue forgotten the consolation, which speaketh vnto you as vnto children, My sonne, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whom the Lord loneth, he chasteneth:
and he scourgeth euery sonne that he receiue.

7 If ye endure chastening, God offereth himselfe vnto you as vnto sonnes: for what sonne is it whom the father chasteneth not?

8 If therefore yee bee without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are yee bastards, and not sonnes.

9 Moreouer we haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and we gaue them re-uerence: should wee not much rather be in subjection vnto the Father of spirits, that we might liue?

10 For they verely for a few dayes chastened selues: for how great is Iesus in comparison of vs, and how farre more gracious things did hee suffer then wee? Hee taketh an argument of the profite which cometh to vs by Gods chastisements, vnlesse wee be in fault. First of all because sinne, or that rebellious wickednesse of our flesh, is by this meanes ramed. Secondly, because they are testimonies of his fatherly good will towards vs, in so much that they shew themselues to be bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God. Thirdly, if all men yeeld this right to fathers, to whom next after God wee owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, shall wee not be much more subiect to that our Father, who is the Authour of the spirituall and euerslasting life? An amplification of the same argument. Those fathers haue corrected vs after their fashon, for some fraile and transitorie profite:

but God chasteneth and instructeth vs for our singular profite, to make vs partakers of his holinesse: which thing although these our senses doe not presently perceiue, yet the end of the matter proueth it.

Hee meaneth that persecution which Antiochus wrought.

In vile & rough clothing, so were the saints brought to extreme pover-tie, and constrained to liue like beasts in wildernes.

An amplification taken of the circumstance of the time: their faith is so much the more to be mauieled at, by how much the promises of things to come were more darke, yet
at length were in also their consecration, and hang

g We must live in peace, and holiness with all men.

h We must studie to edifie one another, both in doctrine and example of life.

i That no heresie, or backsliding be an offence.

j We must eschew fornication, and a prophane mind: that is such a minde, as giueth not to God his due honour, which wickedness how severely God will punish, the horrible example of Ean teacheth vs.

m There was no place left for his repentance: and it appeareth by the effects, what his repentance was, for when he was gone out of his fathers sight, he breathed his brother to kill him.

n Now he applyeth the same exhortation, to the Propheticall and kingly office of Christ compared with Moses, after this sort. If the maiestie of the Law was so great, how great thinke you that the glory of Christ & the Gospel is? And this comparison he declareth also particularly.

And this is the summe of Christes life, respecting the first table.

vs after their owne pleasure, but he chasteneth vs for our profite, that we might be partakers of his holinesse.

11 Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be ioyous, but grievous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruite of righteousness, vnto them which are thereby exercised.

12 Wherefore lift vp your handes which hang downe, and your weake knees,

13 And make straight steps vnto your feete, lest that which is halting, bee turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without the which no man shall see the Lord.

15 Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no root of bitterness spring vp and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled.

16 Let there be no fornication, or prophane person as Esau, which for one portion of meate sold his birthright.

17 For yee knowe how that afterward also when he would haue inherited the blessing, hee was reiectet: for hee found no place to repentance, though he sought that blessing with teares.

18 For yee are not come vnto the mount that might bee touched, nor vnto burning fire, nor to blackenesse and darkenesse, and tempest;

19 Neither vnto the sound of a trumpet, and the voyce of wordes, which they that heard it, excused themselves, that the word should not be spoken to them any more,

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commanded, yea, though a beast touch the mountaine, it shall be stoned, or thrust thorow with a dart:

21 And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses said, I feare and quake)

22 But ye are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the city of the liuing God, the celestially Hierusalem, & to the company of innumerable Angels,

23 And to the assembly and congregation of the first borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirits of iust and perfecte men,

24 And to Iesus the Mediatour of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 See that ye despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall we not escape, if we turne away from him that speaketh from heauen.

26 Whose voice then shooke the earth, and now hath declared, saying, Yet once more will I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the remoouing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine.

28 Wherefore seeing wee receiue a kingdome, which cannot be shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that we may please him with reuerence and feare.

29 For euen our God is a consuming fire.

CHAP. XIII.

Hee giueth good lessons, not onely for manners, 7 but also for doctrine.

Let brotherly loue continue.

2 Bee not forgetfull to entertaine strangers: for thereby some haue receiued Angels into their houses vnwares.

3 Remember them that are in bondes, as though ye were bound with them: and them that are in affliction, as if ye were also afflicted in the body.

4 Marriage is honourable among all, and the bed vndefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will iudge.

5 Let your conuersation bee without couetousnesse, and be content with those things that ye haue, for he hath said,

6 I will not faile thee, neither forsake thee:

7 So that we may boldly say, The Lord is mine helper, neither will I feare what man can doe vnto me.

8 Remember them which haue the ouerfight of you, which haue declared vnto you the worde of God: whose faith follow, considering what hath bene the end of their conuersation. Iesus Christ yesterday, and to day, the same also is for euer.

9 Be not caried about with diuers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be stabilised with grace, and not with meates, which haue not profited them that haue not bene occupied therein.

10 Wee haue an altar, whereof they haue no authoritie to eate, which serueth in the Tabernacle.

11 For the bodies of those beastes whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe.

12 Therefore euen Iesus, that he might sanctifie the people with his owne blood, suffered without the gate.

13 Let vs goe forth to him therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch.

14 For here haue wee no continuing citie: but wee seeke one to come.

15 Let vs therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise alwayes to God, that is, the fruit of the lips, which confesse his Name.

out the knowledge of him, neither is at this day faded, neither shall be faded hereafter. Hee teacheth them which mixed an externall worship, and especially the difference of meates, with the Gospel, which doctrine hee plainly condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefite of Christ. d By this one kinde which concerneth the difference of cleane and uncleane meates, wee haue to vnderstand all the ceremonials worship. e Which obserued the difference of them superstitiously. f Hee reuolunt their error by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past serued the Tabernacle, did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sinne into the holy place by the high Priest. Moreover these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serueth the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the seruice of the Law: but let not vs be ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence hee was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the true sacrifice, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without the gate. g By the Altar, he meaneth the offering. h Wherof they cannot be partakers who stand in the seruice of the Law. i Let vs goe on further in this comparison, and therewith that this also signified vnto vs, that the godly followers of Christ must as it were goe out of the world, bearing his cross. k Mich. 2. 10. 9 Now that those corporall sacrifices are taken away, he teacheth vs that the true sacrifice of confession remaine, which consisteth partly in giuing of thanks, and partly in literalitie, with which sacrifices indeede God is most delighted. l Hof. 14. 3.

m Reuerence is meant that boweth from sinnes which keepeth them in their duties. n Religious and godly feare. o Let. 4. 24.

Pet. 4. 9. r Gen. 18. 3. s And 19. 3. t Bee so much troubled, as if their miserie were your owne. u Hee commendeth chaste marriage in all sort of men, and the exhortation vnto destruction from God against whoremongers and adulterers. v Couetousnesse is condemned, against which is set a contented minde with that which the Lord hath giuen.

w Euen the Lord himselfe. x Ioh. 1. 5. y Psal. 118. 6. z Hee setteth man against God. a Wee haue to set before vs the examples of valiant Captaine, whom we ought diligently to follow. b Hee repeateth the summe of the doctrine, to wit, the euery ground of all precepts of manner, and that is this: That wee ought to quiet and content our selues in Christ onely: for there was yet neuer any man saved without him. c To 10 We must obey the warnings and admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for the salvation of your souls which are committed unto them.

11 The last part of this Epistle, wherein he commendeth his ministry to the Hebrewes, and wisheth them continuance and increase of graces from the Lord: and exhorteth himselfe in that he hath vsed but few words to comfort them, having spent the Epistle in discaine brethren familiarly and friendly.

That is, written to some men, either of country, but to all the Hebrewes generally being borne dispersed.

12 To all the believing Jewes, of what soeuer sort they be, and are dispersed thorow the whole world.
13 The first place or part touching comfort in afflictions, wherein we ought not to be cast downe and be faint hearted, but rather reioyce and be glad.
14 Seeing their condition was miserable in that scattering abroad, hee doth well to begin as he doth.
15 The first argument, because our faith is tried through afflictions which ought to be most pure, for so it is becometh for vs.
16 Rom. 5. 3.

17 The second: Because patience, a rare passing and most excellent vertue, is by this meanes ingendred in vs. d. That wherein your faith is tryed, so wit, those manifold temptations.
18 The third argument propounded in manner of an exhortation, that true and continuall patience may be discerned from fained and for a time. The crosse is as it were the instrument wherewith God doth polish and fine vs. Therefore the worke and afflict of afflictions, is the perfecting of vs in Christ. 5 An answer to a priuie objection: It is easily sayd, but it is not easily done. Hee answereth that wee neede in this case a rare other manner of wisdom, then the wisdom of man, to iudge these things best for vs, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet wee shall easily obtaine this gift of wisdom, if wee sake it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountifull and liberall. e By wisdom, hee meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine wherof mention was made before, to wit, wherefore we are afflicted of God, and what fruit we haue to reape of affliction. f Math. 7. 7. mark. 11. 24. Luke 11. 9. John 14. 13. and 16. 23. g Why then, what need other Mediators? 6 A digression or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceived with a doubting minde, whereas we haue a certaine promise of God, and this is the second part of the Epistle. g In all his thoughts and in deeds. 7 Hee returneth to his purpose, repeating the proposition, which is, that wee must reioyce in the crosse, for it doth not presse vs downe, but exalt vs. h Who is afflicted with pauerie, or contempt, or with any kinde of calamitie. 8 Before hee concludeth, hee giueth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to vie prosperitie, which is promise of all things: to wit, so that no man theretofore please himselfe, but be so much the more voyd of pride. i Who hath all things as he will.

16 To doe good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 Obeie them that haue the oversight of you, and submit your selues: for they watch for your soules, as they that must giue accounts, that they may do it with ioy, and not with griefe: for this is vnprofitable for you.

18 Pray for vs, for wee are assured that wee haue a good conscience in all things, desiring to liue honestly.

19 And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye so doe, that I may bee restored to you the more quickly.

20 The God of peace that brought againe from the dead our Lord Iesus, the great shepheard of the sheepe, through the blood of the euerlasting Couenant,

lasting Couenant,

21 Make you perfect in all good workes, to doe his wil, working in you that which is pleasant in his sight through Iesus Christ, to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen.

22 I beseech you also, brethren, suffer the wordes of exhortation: for I haue written vnto you in few words.

23 Know that our brother Timotheus is delineated, with whom (if he come shortly) I will see you.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF IAMES.

CHAP. I.

4 He entreateb of patience, 6 of faith, 10 and of lowliness of minde in rich men. 13 That temptations come not of God for euill, 17 because hee is the author of all goodnesse. 21 In what manner the word of life must be received.

Ames a seruant of God, and of the Lorde Iesus Christ, to the twelue Tribes, which are scattered abroad, salutation.

2 My brethren, count it exceeding ioy, when yee fall into diuers temptations,

3 Knowing that the trying of your faith bringeth forth patience,

4 And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect & entier, lacking nothing.

5 If any of you lacke wisdom, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reprecheth no man, and it shall be giuen him.

6 But let him aske in faith, and wauer not: for hee that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, toft of the winde, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that hee shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is vnstable in all his wayes.

9 Let the brother of lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted:

10 Againe, hee that is rich, in that hee is made low: for as the floure of the grasse, shall hee vanish away.

11 For as when the sunne riseth with heate, then the grasse withereth, and his floure falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his wayes.

12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

13 Let no man say, when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But euery man is tempted, when hee is drawn away by his owne concupiscence, and is entised.

15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth a sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Erre not my deare brethren.

17 Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.

18 Of his owne will begate he vs with the word of truth, that wee should bee as the first fruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my deare brethren, let euery that is, from afflictions, whereby God tryeth vs, to inuarde, to wit, to those luses whereby wee are stirred vp to doe euill. The summe is this: Euery man is the author of these temptations to himselfe, and not God: for wee beare about in our bowes some wicked corruption, which taketh occasion by what means soeuer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whence out at length proceede wicked doings, and in conclusion followeth death the iust reward of them. m When he is provoked to doe euill. n Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the author of euill doings in vs, because hee desireth not euill. o By sinne means in this place actually sinne. p Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodnes, and so, that hee is alwayes like himselfe: how then can hee be thought to be author of euill? q From him who is the fountaine and author of all goodnesse. r Hee goeth on in the metaphore: for the same by his manifold and sinfull kindes of turning, maketh houres, dayes, monthes, yeeres, light and darkness. s The fourth part concerning the excellencie and fruite of the worde of God. The summe is this: Wee must heare the worde of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two fautes, which doe greatly trouble in this matter, to wit, for that wee so please our selues, that wee had rather speake our selues, then heare God speaking: yea, wee fustie and are angrie when wee are reprehended: against which fautes, hee setteth a peaceable and quiet minde, and such an one as is desirous of puritie. t This is which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation. u As it were an holy kinde of offering taken out of the residue of men.

man

f That which God appointeth.

e By meeknesse, he meaneth modestie, and whatsoeuer is contrary to an haughty and proud stomacke.

Mat. 7.21. rom. 2.13.

15 Another admonition. Therefore is Gods word heard, that wee may frame our lines according to the prescript thereof.

16 He addeth reasons, & those most weighty first, because they that do otherwise, do very much hurt themselves.

17 Secondly, because they lose the chiefest use of Gods worde, which correct not by it the faults that they know. u Hee alludeth to that naturall spot, to the which is contrary that puritie wherunto wee are borne againe, the liuely image wherof wee beholde in the Law. x Behauing himselfe so: for workes doe shewe faith. 18 The third admonition: The word of God prescribeth a rule not onely to doe well, but also to speake well. p The fountaine of all bralting, and cursed speaking, and fauouritisme, is this, that men know not themselves. 19 The fourth: the true seruice of God standeth in charite towards our neighbours (especially such as neede others helpe, as the fatherlesse and widowers) and puritie of li.e. z To haue a care of them, and to helpe them as much as wee can.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee sayeth, that to haue respect of persons is not agreeable to Christs faith, 14 which to professe in words is not enough, vnllesse 15 wee shew it also in deedes of mercie and charitie, 21 after the example of Abraham.

1 The fifth: Charitie which proceedeth from a true faith, cannot stand with the accepting of persons: which he proueth plainly by setting forth their example, who with the reproch or disdain of the poore, honour the rich.

a For if wee knew what Christs glory is, and esteemed it as we ought to doe, there would not be such respect of persons as there is.

Leuit. 19.15. deus. 1.17. and 6. 19. pro. 24.23.

b In a worshipfull and honourable place.

c Haue ye not (which you ought not to doe) by this meanes within your selues iudged one man to be preferred before another? 2 Hee sheweth that they are peruers: and naughtie Iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrary side preferreth the poore, whom hee hath enriched with true riches, before the rich. d The needie and wretched, and (if wee measure it after the opinion of the world) the veriest abject of all men. 3 Secondly, hee proueth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to bee holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for hee speaketh of wicked and prophane rich men, such as the most part of them haue beene alwayes, against whom hee setteth the poore and abject. e Word for word, which is called upon of rom.

man be swift to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doeth not accomplish the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and superfluitie of malicioussnesse, and receiue with meeknesse the word that is grafted in you, which is able to saue your soules.

22 And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers onely, deceiuing your owne selues.

23 For if any heare the word, and do it not, hee is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his naturall face in a glasse.

24 For when hee hath considered himselfe, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediatly what manner of one he was.

25 But who so looketh in the perfect lawe of libertie, and continueth therein, he not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shall be blessed in his deed.

26 If any man among you seeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueh his owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to visite the fatherlesse, and widowers in their aduersity, and to keep himselfe vnspotted of the world.

8 4 But if ye fulfil the royall Law according to the Scripture, which sayeth, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, ye doe well.

9 But if yee regard the persons, yee commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Law, as transgressours.

10 For whosoever shall keepe the whole Lawe, and yet faileth in one point, he is guiltie of all.

11 For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Nowe though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressor of the Law.

12 So speake ye, and so do, as they that shall be iudged by the law of libertie.

13 For there shalbe condemnation mercilesse to him that sheweth not mercie, and mercie reioycest against condemnation.

14 What auaieth it my brethren, though a man faith, he hath faith, when he hath no works? can that faith saue him?

15 For if a brother or a sister bee naked and destitute of dayly food,

16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your selues, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding yee giue them not those things which are needfull to the body, what helpeh it?

17 Euen so the faith, if it haue no workes, is dead in it selfe.

18 But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue workes: shew me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will shew thee my faith by my workes.

19 Thou beleuest that there is one God: thou doest well: the deuils also beleue it, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father iustified through workes, when he offered Isaac his sonne vpon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made perfect.

23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which faith, Abraham beleued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness: and hee was called the friend of God.

by the mercie of God, that in like sort wee should maintaine and good will one towards another, and who so doeth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God. b He that is hard and curiish against his neighbour, or else helpeh him not, he shall finde God an hard and rough Judge to himselfeward.

8 The fifth place, which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and liuely faith. And the proposition of this place is this: Faith which bringeth not fourth workes, is not that faith whereby wee are iustified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not iustified by faith, which shewe not the effects of faith. 9 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hngrie, Fill thy belly, and yet giueh him nothing, this shall not bee true charitie: so if a man say he beleueh, and bringeth fourth no workes of his faith, this shall not bee a true faith, but a certaine dead thing set out with the name of faith, wherof no man hath to bragge, vnlesse he will openly incurre reprobation, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effects.

i Nay, thus may every man beate downe thy pride. 10 Another reason taken of an absurditie: If such a faith were the true faith, whereby wee are iustified, the deuils should bee iustified, for they haue that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not iustified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith.

11 The third reason from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but hee in offering his sonne, shewed himselfe to haue that faith which was not voyde of workes, and therefore hee receiued a true testimonie when it was sayd, that faith was imputed to him for righteousness. k Was he not by his workes knowne and found to be iustified? for he speaketh not here of the causes of iustification, but by what effects wee may know that a man is iustified. l Genes. 22.10. I was effectiuall and fruitfull with good workes. m That the faith was declared to bee a true faith, and that by workes. n Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainly, how truly it was written of Abraham. o Gen. 15.6. rom. 4.3. galat. 3.6.

4 The conclusion: Charitie which God preferreth cannot agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that wee must walke in the kings high way.

f The Law is said to be royall and like the kings high way, for that it is plain and without turnings, and thus the Law calleth euery one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kind of duty.

5 A new argument to proue the same conclusion: They do not loue their neighbours, which neglect some, and ambitiously honour others for he doeth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandements of God, that, that is not to commandous for him, may he is rather guilty generally for the breach of the whole Lawe, a though hee obserue the rest due.

g Not that all finnes are equal, but because he that breaketh one rule of the Law offendeth the maiesty of the Lawgiuer.

6 A proofe: Because the Lawmaker is alwayes out and the felie lawe, and the bodie of the Law cannot be diuided.

7 The conclusion of the whole treatise: We are vpon this condition deliuered from the curse of the Law cherish charitie and shall not taste of the grace of God.

8 The fifth place, which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and liuely faith. And the proposition of this place is this: Faith which bringeth not fourth workes, is not that faith whereby wee are iustified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not iustified by faith, which shewe not the effects of faith.

9 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hngrie, Fill thy belly, and yet giueh him nothing, this shall not bee true charitie: so if a man say he beleueh, and bringeth fourth no workes of his faith, this shall not bee a true faith, but a certaine dead thing set out with the name of faith, wherof no man hath to bragge, vnlesse he will openly incurre reprobation, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effects.

12 The conclusion is he is only justified that hath both faith which worketh following it.

13 Of that dead and fruitless faith which you boast of James, who also saith, a. 14
Faith and works,

1 The last part of James let no man misprize (as most ambitiously doe)
authority to judge and censure others rigorously.

2 A reason: Because they believe that faith which doth not worketh, is a curious and rigorously conscience others,
being themselves
guilty and faulty.
3 Chiefe we surpass from this manifest and proud siding fault with others.

4 The fourth place, touching the bridling of the tongue, joy-and with the fortune, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not fully be found fault withal, seeing it is a rare virtue to bridle
the tongue.

5 He sheweth by two similitudes,
the one taken fro
the bridles of horses, the other from the rudders of ships, how great matters may be brought to pass
by the good moderation of the tongue.

6 On the contrary part he sheweth
how great discom-modities arise by the intemperan-cy of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the ends that men may the more diligently give themselves to moderate

it. b An heape of all mischiefs. c It is able to set the whole world on fire. d Amongst other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reprehendeth backbiting and speaking euill of our neighbours, even in them especially which otherwise will be goodly and religious. 7 Hee denieth by two reasons, that God can bee pleased by that man, that viciu cursed speaking, or to backbite: first because man is the image of God, which whoeuer reuerenceth not, doth not honour God himselfe.
8 Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stande the one with the other. 9 The eighth part which hangeth with the former, touching meekenesse of minde, against the which hee setteth enuie and a contentious minde. And in the beginning hee stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefs, to wit, a false persuasiu of wisdom, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisdom but that is heavenly, and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and simplicitie.

24 Yee see then how that of workes a man is iustified, and not of faith onely.

25 Likewise also was not Rahab a harlot iustified through workes, when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 For as the body without the spirite is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

13 A fourth reason taken from a like example of Rahab the rouned by her workes that shee was iustified by a true faith.

The conclusion repeated againe: faith which bringeth forth is not faith, but a dead carkeise.

CHAP. III.

To shewe that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie, 6 hee declareth the commodities and mischiefs that ensue thereof: 15 and how much more wisdom 17 differeth from beauty.

My brethren, be not many masters, knowing that wee shall receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things we sinne all. 3 If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

4 Beholde, wee put bittes into the horses mouthes, that they should obey vs, and we turne about all their body.

5 Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driuen of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a small rudder, whithersoeuer the gouernour listeth.

6 Euen so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: 7 beholde how great a thing a little fire kindleth.

8 And the tongue is fire, yea, a world of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

9 For the whole nature of beasts, & of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.

10 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruely euill, full of deadly poyson.

11 Therewith blesse we God euen the Father, and therewith curse wee men, which are made after the similitude of God.

12 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

13 Doeth a fountaine send forth at one place
sweete water and bitter?

14 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth olives, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete.

15 Who is a wise man & endued with knowledge among you? let him shew by good conuersation his workes in meekenesse of wisdom.

16 But if yee haue bitter enuying, and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be liars against the truth.

17 This wisdom descendeth not from above,
but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish.
18 For where enuying and strife is, there is sedition, and all manner of euill workes.
19 But the wisdom that is from above, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without iudging,
and without hypocrisie.
20 And the fruit of righteousness is sowne in peace, of them that make peace.

world persuadeth it selfe that they are miserable which line pe-on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall a-harvest of peaceable righteousness.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee reckoneth up the mischiefs that proceede of the workes of the flesh. 7 Hee exhorteth to humilitie, 8 and to purge the heart 9 from pride, 10 backbiting, 14 and the forgetfulness of our felues.

From whence are warres and contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Yee lust, and haue not: yee enuie, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtaine: ye fight, and warre, and get nothing, because ye aske not.

3 Ye aske, and receiue not, because ye aske a-mist, that yee might lay the blame on your pleasures.

4 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know yee not that the amitie of the world is the enemie of God? Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himselfe the enemie of God.

5 Doe ye thinke that the Scripture sayeth in vaine, The spirit that dwelleth in vs, lusteth after enue?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore sayth, God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.

7 Submit your felues to God: resist the deuill, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Clenfe your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 Suffer afflictions, and forowe ye, and weepe:
let your laughter bee turned into mourning, and your ioy into heavinesse.

10 Cast downe your felues before the Lord, and he will lift you vp.

11 Speake not euill one of another, brethren.
He that speaketh euill of his brother, or hee that condemneth his brother, speaketh euill of the Law, and condemneth the Law: and if thou con-demnest the Law, thou art not an obseruer of the Law, but a iudge.

of that holy and spirituell marriage. 4 The taking away of an obedidece our mindes runne headlong into these vices, but wee ought so much the more diligently take heede of them: which care and studie shall not bee in vaine, seeing that God resisteth the stubborne, and giueth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices. 5 Prou. 3. 34. 1. peter 5. 5. 6 Ephe-4. 27. 7 The conclusion: Wee must set the contrary vertues against those vices, and therefore whereas wee obeyed the suggestions of the deuill, wee must submit our mindes to God, and resist the deuill, with a certaine and assured hope of victory.
To bee short, wee must employ our felues to come neere vnto God by piety and sacrifice of life. 8 Hee goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those prophane ioyes an earnest sorow of minde, and against pride and arrogancie, holy modestie. 9 By this worde the Grecians meane an heavinesse iointed with shamefastnesse, which is to bee sent in a cast downe countenance, and felle as it were upon the ground. 10 1. Peter 5. 6. 7 Hee reprehendeth most sharpe-ly another double mischiefe of pride: the one is, in that the proude and arrogant will haue other men to liue according to their will and pleasure, and therefore they doe most arrogantly condemne whatsoever pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great iniurie to our enely Law-maker, for by this means his Lawes are found fault withall, as not circumspectly enough written, and men challenge that vnto themselves which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Law vpon mens consciences.

d He setteth men-ty against the fierce and cruel nature of man, and sheweth
that heavenly wis-dome bringeth forth good fruits, for he that is heavenly wise, referreth all things to Gods glory, and the profit of his neighbour.
10 Because the ceably and simply:
length reape the

1 Hee goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certaine other causes of warres & contentions, to wit, vnbreded pleasures, and immoderate lusts,
by their effects,
for so much as the Lord doth worthily make the voyde,
so that they bring nothing els to them in whom they are, but inuoltable torments.
2 Hee reprehendeth them by name, which are not ashamed to goe about to make God the minister and helper of their lusts & pleasures,
in asking things which either are of themselves va-lawfull, or being lawfull, make them to wicked purposes and vices.
3 Another reason why such vnbreded lusts and pleasures are vtterly to be condemned, to wit,
because that hee
that giueth himselfe to the world, diuorceth himselfe from God, and breaketh the bond

Rom. 14. 4.
 3. The other fault in this is that men doe so commonly determine vpon these and those matters and businesses, as though that every moment of their life did not depend of God.
 4. For 4. 19.
 5. The conclusion of all the former treatise: The knowledge of the will of God doeth not only nothing at all profice, vntill the life be answered

12 There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to saue, and to destroy. ¶ Who art thou that iudgest another man?

13 Go to now, ye that say, To day or to morrow wee will goe into such a citie, and continue there a yeere, and buy and sell, and get gaine,

14 (And yet yee cannot tell what shalbe to morow. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a litle time, and afterward vanissheth away)

15 For that yee ought to say, ¶ If the Lord will, and, If we liue, we will doe this or that.

16 But now ye reioyce in your boastings: all such reioycing is euill.

17 Therefore to him that knoweth how to doe well, and doeth it not, to him it is sinne.

¶ vnto it, but also maketh the finnes farre more grieuous.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee threatneth the rich with Gods seuerer iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore heauing the miserable ende of the rich, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 11 as Job did, 14 euen in their distresses.

GOe to now, ye rich men: weepe, and howle for your miseries that shall come vpon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are motheaten.

3 Your gold and siluer is cankered, & the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shal eate your flesh, as it were fire. Yee haue heaped vp treasure for the last dayes.

4 Beholde, the hire of the labourers, which haue reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) cryeth, and the cries of them which haue reaped, are entred into the eares of the Lord of hostes.

5 Yee haue liued in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnesse. Ye haue nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.

6 Yee haue condemned, and haue killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

7 Bee patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntill he receiue the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be ye also patient therefore, and settle your hearts: for y comming of the Lord draweth neere.

9 Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest yee be condemned: behold, the iudge

1 He denounceth vnto destruction to the wicked & profane rich men, & such as are d. owned in their riotousnesse, mocking at their foolish confidence when as there is nothing indeed more vnto then such things.
 2 The Lord who is more mighty then ye are, hath heard them.
 3 He haue pampered vp your selues.
 4 The Hebrewes call a day that is appointed to solemn banquetting, a day of slaughter or feasting.
 5 Hee applyeth that to the poore, which he spake against the rich, warning them to wait for the Lords comming patiently, who will reuenge the injuries which the rich men doe them.
 6 The taking away of an obiection: Although his comming seeme to linger, yet at the least we must follow the husbandmen, who doe patiently wait for the times that are proper for the fruits of the earth. And againe, God wil not deferre the least iota of the time that he hath appointed.
 7 He commendeth Christian patience, for that where as other through impatience vie to accuse one another, the faithful on the contrary side complaine not, although they receiue iniurie.
 8 By grudging, he meaneth a certaine inward complaining which betokeneth impatience.
 9 The conclusion: The Lord is at the doore, who wil defend his owne, and reuenge his enemies, and therefore we neede not to trouble our selues.

standeth before the doore.

10 Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffering aduersitie, and of long patience, which haue spoken in the Name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we count them blessed which endure. Yee haue heard of the patience of Job, and haue knowen what end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 But before all things, my brethren, ¶ I sweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, lest yee fall into condemnation.

13 Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him sing.

14 Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with oyle in the Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shal saue the sicke, and the Lord shall raise him vp: and if hee haue committed sinnes, they shalbe forgiven him.

16 Acknowledge your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that yee may be healed: for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be vnto.

17 Helias was a man subiect to like passions as we are, and hee prayed earnestly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths.

18 And he prayed againe, and the heauen gaue raine, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 Brethren, ¶ if any of you hath erred from the trueth, and some man hath conuerted him,

20 Let him know that he which hath conuerted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall saue a soule from death, and shal hide a multitude of finnes.

coliarly, to what physicians especially wee must goe, when wee are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also could cure the body, (as much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefest cause of sicknesses and diseases, by obtaining for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of finnes. ¶ Marke 6. 13. 2 This was a signe of the gift of healing: and now seeing wee haue the gift no more, the signe is no longer necessarie. ¶ By calling on the Name of the Lord. 1 Hee hath reason in making mention of finnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of finnes. 2 Because God pardoneth their finnes which confesse and acknowledge them, and not them which iustifie themselves, therefore the Apostle addeth, that we ought freely to confesse one with another touching those inward diseases, that wee may helpe one another with our prayers. 3 Hee commendeth prayers by the effectes that come of them, that all men may vnderstand that there is nothing more effectually then they are, so that they proceede from a pure minde. ¶ 1 Kings 17. 1. and 18. 45. Luke 4. 25. 4 The taking away of an obiection: All reprehensions are not condemned, seeing that on the contrary part there is nothing more acceptable to God, then to call into the way a brother that was wandring out of the way. ¶ Math. 18. 15. 5 Hee called him backe from his way.

6 Because most men are wont to be sick, that it is good to repell to us by what means we can, we seeeth againe that the example of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God is a most bountifull Father, runner forth of his kinde.
 7 Because euen the best men sometimes through impatience breake out into other sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth vs to deathly wickednesse, and to accusations our tongues should be simple and true.
 8 Math. 5. 24. ¶ That if thou haue so (as) of a firme speake or of a firme iudgement, and without an othe: and that thou wilt desire to be simply and fully, 8 Hee threatneth the best remedie against all afflictions: vnto wit, prayer, which haue their place both in sorrow and joy.
 9 He threatneth pe-

CHAP. I.

1 Hee extollet Gods mercy shewed in Christ, which wee lay holde on by faith, and possesse through hope: 10 Whereof the Prophets foretold. 13 Hee exhorteth vs to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholly yeeld themselves to God.

PETER an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father vnto sanctification of the Spirit,

1 Peter purposing to speake of the doctrine of a Christian life, resolutely first of the principles and beginnings of all Christian actions, rising farre higher then nature, and carrying vs also farre above the same. For he sheweth that we which are of the other wise of nature sinners, were through the free mercy of God the Father first chosen from euill beginnings then according to that euilllasting decree, were by a certaine second creation made his finnes in Christ his onely begotten by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, and by whose blood we are also reconciled, to the end that as Christ himselfe rose againe from the dead, wee also might be reioined in a same heauenly and euilllasting glory. ¶ Or according to the purpose of God, who neuer altereth his purpose. ¶ That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrated to God, Ephes. 1. 5. through through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Iesus Christ: Grace and peace bee multiplied vnto you.

3 Blessed bee God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten vs againe vnto a liuely hope, by the resurrection of Iesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortall and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reserved in heauen for vs,

5 Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto saluation, which is prepared to be shewed in the last time.

6 Wherein ye reioice, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heauinesse, through manifold tentations,

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it bee tried with fire) might bee found vnto your prayse, and honour and glory at the appearing of Iesus Christ:

8 Whome yee haue not seene, and yet loue him, in whom now we though yee see him not, yet doe yee beleue, and reioyce with ioy vnspokeable and glorious,

9 Receiving the end of your faith, euen the saluation of your soules.

10 Of the which saluation the Prophets haue enquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come vnto you,

11 Searching when or at what time the Spirit which testified before of Christ which was in them, should declare the sufferings that should come vnto Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 Vnto whome it was reuealed, that not vnto themselves, but vnto vs they shoulde minister the things which are now shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospell by the holy Ghost sent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 Wherefore gird vp the loynes of your minde: bee sober, and trust perfectly on that grace that is brought vnto you, 7 in the reuelation of Iesus Christ,

14 As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance:

15 But as he which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conuersation, 16 Because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

17 And if ye call him Father, which without respect of person iudgeth according to euery mans worke, passe the time of your dwelling here in feare,

18 Knowing that yee were not redeemed with corruptible things, as siluer and golde, from your vaine conuersation, receiued by the traditions of the fathers,

19 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lambe vndefiled, and without spot.

20 Which was ordeined before the foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes,

21 Which by his meanes doe beleue in God that raised him from the dead, and gaue him glorie, that your faith and hope might be in God,

22 Having purified your soules in obeying the trueth through the Spirit, to loue brotherly without fawning, loue one another with a pure heart feruently,

23 Being borne anew not of mortall seed, but of immortal, by the word of God, who liueth and endureth for euer.

24 For all flesh is as grasse, and all the glory of man is as the floure of grasse. The grasse withereth, and the floure falleth away.

25 But the worde of the Lord endureth for euer: and this is the worde which is preached among you.

8 Hee passeth from faith and hope, to the fruits of them both, which are vndefiled in the name of obedience: And it consisteth in two things, in renouncing our lustes, and lining godly: which lustes have their beginning of that blindness wherein all men are borne: but holinesse proceedeth from the grace and fauour of GOD which adopteth vs, and therefore regenerate vs, that the father and the children may be of one disposition.

9 Hee sheweth that sanctification doth necessarily follow adoption.

10 As before he distinguished time faith and hope from faith, so doth hee now obedience, setting the quick and sharpe sight of GOD, as an outward mark, and earnest reuer-

ence against vaine seruilitie. 1 If you will bee called the sonnes of the Father. 2 Denter. 10. 17. rom. 2. 11 galat. 2. 6. 3 An exhortation, wherein hee setteth forth the excellencie and greatnesse of the benefite of God the Father, in sanctifying vs by the death of his owne Sonne. And hee partly setteth the purifying of the Lawe against the thing it selfe, that is, against the blood of Christ, and partly also mens traditions, which hee utterly condemneth as vaine and superstitious, bee they neuer so olde and ancient. 4 1 Cor. 6. 20. and 7. 13. bebr. 9. 14. 1 ioh. 1. 7. 5 The taking away of an oblation: What was done to the world before that Christ was sent into the world? was there no holinesse before? and was there no Church? The Apostle answereth, that Christ was ordeined and appointed to redeeme and deliuer mankind, before that mankind was: much lesse was there any Church without him before his coming into the flesh: yet wee are happiest above the rest, to whome Christ was exhibited in deede, in this that hee having suffered and overcome death for vs, doeth now most effectually worke in vs by the vertue of his Spirit, to create in vs faith, hope, and charitie. 6 Rom. 16. 25. 7 From currling. 8 Hee commendeth the practise of obedience, that is, charitie: earnestly bearing into their heads againe, that hee speaketh not of any common charitie, and such as proceedeth from that our corrupt nature, but of that whose beginning is the Spirit of God, which purifieth our soules through the worde layed holden by faith, and ingendreth also in vs a ioyfull and euerslasting life, as God himselfe is most pure and truly liuing. 9 Chapter 2. 17. rom. 2. 10. 10 11 A reason why wee haue neede of this heavenly generation, to wit, because that men, bee their glorie neuer so great, are of nature voyde of all true and sound goodnesse. 12 13 The worde (flesh) sheweth the weaknesse of our nature, which is chiefly to bee considered in the flesh it selfe. 14 Again, lest any man should seeke that spirita l force and vertue in fained imaginations, the Apostle calleth vs backe to the worde of God: teaching vs furthermore, that there is no other worde of the Lorde to bee looked for, then this which is preached, in which onely we must rest.

C H A P. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the new borne babes in Christ, to leade their lives inseparable to the same: 2 And left their faith shoulde flagger, hee bringeth in that which was foretold touching Christ.
11 Then hee willeth them to bee obedient to Magistrates, 21 and that they patiently beare adversitie after Christes example.

¶ Rom 6.4.
ephes 4.23.
col. 3.8.

betr. 1.2.1.

1 Having laid for the foundation the Spirit of God effectually working by the word, and having built thereupon three vertues which are the grounds of all Christian actions, to wit, faith, hope,
and charity; now
he proceedeth to a generall exhortation the first member whereof is that we bee all shewe, both of secrecy and also open malice.

2 The second is, that being newly begotten & borne of the new fode
of the vicerupt
word, drawing and sucking greedily
the same word as milke, we should more and more as it were growe vp in this spirituall life. And he calleth it, Syncre, no

only because it is a most precious thing, but also that we should take heede of them which corrupt it. 4 As becometh new men. 3 Hee com-mendeth it at spirituall nourishment for the fivecentse and profite of it. [Or, doe juste. 4 Hee goeth on forward in the same exhortation, and vetch another kinde of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he sayeth, that the compa-nie of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and spirituall building, built of li-bely stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as a liuely stone sustaining all that are joynd vnto him with his liuing vertue, and knitting them together with himselfe, although this so great a treasure bee neglected of men. 5 Going forward in the same similitude, hee comparcth vs nowe to Priests placed to this ende in that spirituall temple, that wee should serue him with a spirituall worship, that is, with ho-lineffe and righteousness: but as the temple, so is the Priesthood built vpon Christ in whom onely all our spirituall offerings are accepted. ¶ Reuel. 1.6. 6 Hee pro-ueth it by the testimonie of the Prophet Elia. ¶ Esai. 28.16. rom. 9. 33. 7 By seruing the most blessed condition of the beleeuers, and the most miserable of the rebellions one against another, hee pricketh forward the beleeuers, and triumpheth ouer the other: and also presenteth an offence which ariseth hereof, that none doe more resist this doctrine of the Gospell, then they that are chiefe amongst the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these things, the Priests and Elders and Scribes. Therefore he answereth first of all, that there is no cause why any man should bee astonished at this their stubbennesse, as though it were a strange matter, being wee haue bene forewarned so long before, that it should so come to passe: moreover, that it pleased God to create and make certaine to this life same purpose, that the Sonnes of God might bee glorified in their iust condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Christ is hereby set forth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the sure head of his Church, and they that stumble at him, call downe and overthrow themselves, and not Christ. Fourthly, although they bee created to this ende and purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obliuious stubbennesse which commeth betwene Gods decree, and the execution thereof of their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction. ¶ Psal. 118. 22. matth. 21. 42. alis 4. 11. ¶ Esai.
8. 14. rom. 9. 33. 8 The contrary member, to wit, hee describeth the singular ex-cellencie of the elect: and also leaeth that any man should doubt whether he be chosen or not: the Apostle calleth vs backe to the effectual calling, that is, to the voice of the Gospell founding both in our eares, and minde by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby wee may certainly vnderstand that ouerlasting decree of our saluation, (which otherwise is most secrete and hidden) and that through the onely mercie of God, who freely chooseth and calleth vs. Therefore this onely remaineth, ouerherce, that by all meanes possible wee set forth so great goodnesse of the most mightie God.

Wherefore ¶ laying aside all maliciouf-nesse, and all guile, and dissimulation, and enuie, and all euill speaking,

2 As a newe borne babes desire that sincere milke of the worde, that yee may growe thereby,

3 Because yee haue tasted that the Lord is bountifull.

4 To whome comming as vnto a liuing stone, disallowed of men, but chosen of God, and precious,

5 Yee also as liuely stones, bee made a spirituall house, an holy Priesthood to offer vp spirituall sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, Behold, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, elect and precious: and hee that beleueth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 Vnto you therefore which beleue, it is precious: but vnto them which bee disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 And a stone to stumble at, and a rocke of offence, euen to them which stumble at the worde, being disobedient, vnto the which thing they were euen ordeined.

9 But yee are a chosen generation, a royall

¶ Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at liber-tie, that ye should shew forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darknes into his mar-ueilous light.

10 Which in time past were not a people, yet are nowe the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but now haue obtained mercie.

11 Dearly beloved, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, abstaine from fleshly lusts, which fight against the soule,

12 And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euil of you as of euill doers, may by your good works which they shall see, glorifie God in the day of visitation.

13 Therefore submit your selues vnto all manner ordinance of man for the Lordes sake, whether it be vnto the King, as vnto the superiour,

14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praye of them that doe well.

15 For so is the will of God, that by well doing yee may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men,

16 As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloke of malicioufnesse, but as the seruants of God.

17 Honour all men: loue brotherly fellowship: feare God: honour the king.

18 Seruants, bee subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 For this is thanke worthie, if a man to fight against our saluation. 13 The fourth argument, taken of the position of doing, set by this meane also wee provide for our good name and religion, whilst wee compell them at length to change their mindes, which speake euil of vs. ¶ Chap. 3. 16. 14 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: because the glory of God is greatly set forth by that meane, which by example of our honest life, euen the most prophane men are brought vnto God, and submit themselves vnto him. ¶ Matth. 5. 16. 6 When God shall also haue merited them. 15 That which hee spake generally, hee now expounded by parte, definighe generally euery mans duty. And first of all hee speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and also to the Magistrates both higher and lower. ¶ Rom.

13. 1. c By ordinances is meant the framing and ordering of ciuill government: which bee callid ordinance of man, not because man invented it, but because it is proper to men. 16 The first argument: because the Lord is the author and reuenger of this pollicie of men, that is, which is set amongst men: and therefore the true seruants of the Lord must aboue all others bee diligent obseruers of this order. 17 Hee pro-ueth it a canill which is made by some, that say they will obey Kings and the highest magistrates, and yet contemne their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authoritie which sent them. 18 The second argument, taken of the ende of this order, which is not onely most profitable, but also very necessary, seeing that by this meane vertus is rewarded and vice punished: whereinto the quietnesse and happinesse of this life consisteth. 19 Hee declareth the first argument more simply, shewing that Christian libertie doeth amongst all things least, or not at all consist herein, to wit, to call off the bridle of Lawes, (as at that time some gather vnskilfull in the kingdom of God reported) but rather in this, that liuing holily according to the will of God, wee should make manifest to all men, that this Gospel is not a cloke for sinne and wickednesse, seeing wee are in such sort free, that yet we are still the seruants of God, and not of sinne. 20 Hee diuideth the euill life of man, by occasion of those things which hee spake, into two generall parts: to wit, into those duties which priuate men owe to priuate men, and especially the submission to the faithfull, and into that subiection whereby inferiours are bound to their superiours: but so, that Kings bee not made equall to God, seeing that feare is due to God, and honour to Kings. d Bee charitable and dutifull towards all men.
¶ Chap. 3. 12. rom. 12. 10. e The assemble and fellowship of the brethren, in Zach.
11. 14. ¶ Ephe. 5. 6. coloff. 3. 22. 21 Hee goeth to the dutie of seruants towards their masters, which hee describeth with these boundes, that seruants submit themselves willingly and not by constraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward and sharpe masters. ¶ 2. Cor. 7. 10. 22 The taking away of in-obedience: indeed the condition of seruants is hard, especially if they haue toward masters: but this their subiection shall be so much the more acceptable to God, if his will preuaile more with seruants, then the masters iniuries.

for

for confidence toward God endure griefe, suffering wrongfully.

20 For what praise is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faults, yee take it patiently? but and if when yee doe well, yee suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God.

21 For herunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for you, leaving you an example that ye should follow his steppes,

22 Who did no sinne, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when hee was reviled, reviled not againe: when hee suffered, hee threatned not, but committed it to him: that iudgeth righteously.

24 Who his owne selfe bare our sinnes in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sinne, should live in righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.

25 For ye were as sheepe going astray: but are now returned vnto the shepheard and Bishop of your soules.

26 That Christian women should not contemne their husbands though they be infidels, 5 Hee bringeth in examples of godly women. 8 General exhortations, 14 patiently to beare persecution, 15 and boldly to yeelde a reason of their faith. 18 Christes example.

CHAP. III.

1 Likewise let the wiues bee subiect to their husbands, as that enen they which obey not the word, may without the word bee wonne by the conuersation of the wiues,

2 While they behold your pure conuersation, which is with feare.

3 Whose apparelling, let it not bee that outward, with broyded haire, and gold put about, or in putting on of apparell:

4 But let it bee the hid man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meeke and quiet spirit, which is before God a thing much set by.

5 For enen after this maner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire themselves, and were subiect to their husbands.

6 As Sara obeyed Abraham, and called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, whiles yee doe well, not being afraid of any terror.

7 Likewise ye husbands, dwell with them as men of knowledge, giuing honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker vessel, as enen as they which are heires together of the grace of life: that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 Finally, be ye all of one minde: one suffer with another: loue as brethren: bee pitifull: bee courteous,

9 Not rendering euill for euill, neither re-buke for rebuke: but contrariwise, blasse, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

10 For if any man long after life, and to be good dayes, let him reframe his tongue from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile.

11 Let him eschew euill, and doe good: let him seeke peace, and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lord are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the face of the Lorde is against them that doe euill.

13 And who is it that wil harme you, if yee follow that which is good?

14 Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness sake. 15 Yea, feare not their feare, neither be troubled.

16 But sanctifie the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready alwaies to giue an answer to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenesse and reuerence,

17 Having a good conscience, that when they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may bee ashamed, which flounder your good conuersation in Christ.

18 For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, then for euill doing.

19 For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, the iust for the vniust, that hee might things pertaine to the maintenance of peace and mutuall loue.

20 An argument taken of compenation: Seeing that we our selues are called of God whom we offe so often, so greata benefit do faare is hee from reuenging the injuries which we doe vnto him, shall wee rather make our selues vnworthy of so great bounty, than forgive one anothers faults? And from this verbe to the end of the Chapter, there is a digression of going from the matter he is in hand with, to exhort vnto valiantly to beare afflictions.

21 A second obligation: But this our patience shall bee nothing else but a resisting and hardening of the wicked in their wickednesse, to make them to set vpon vs more boldly and to destroy vs.

22 Nay (saith the Apostle by the words of David) to liue without doing hurt, and to follow after peace when it fleeth away, is the way to that happy and quiet peace.

23 And if so be any man be afflicted for doing iustly, the Lord marketh all things, and will in his time deliuer the godly, which cry vnto him, and will destroy the wicked.

24 A third argument: when the wicked are provoked they are more wayward: therefore they must rather be overcome with goodnes: And if they cannot bee gotten by that means also, yet notwithstanding we shall bee blessed, if we suffer for righteousness sake.

25 A most certaine counsell in afflictions, bee they neuer so terrible, to be of a constant minde, and to stand fast. But how shall we attaine vnto this? If we sanctifie God in our mindes and hearts, that is to say, if wee rest vpon him, as one that is Almighty, that loetheth makinge that is good and true in deede.

26 A fourth argument: we shall bee blessed, if we will haue vnto vs, when we are afflicted, for righteousness sake, to be careful not for redeeming of our life, yther with denying or reconouring the truth, or with like violence, or any such means: but rather to giue an account of our faith boldly, and yet with a meeke spirit, and full of godly reuerence, than the enemies may not haue any thing iustly to chide, but may rather bee ashamed of themselves.

27 A reason which standeth vpon two generall rules of Christianitie, which notwithstanding all men allow not of. The one is, if we must needs suffer a affliction, it is better to suffer wrongfully then rightfully: the other is this, because we are so afflicted, not by happe, but by the will of our God.

28 A proofe of either of the rules, by the example of Christ himselfe our chiefe parent, who was afflicted not for his owne finnes (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers decrees.

29 An argument taken of compenation: Christ the iust suffered for vs that are vniust, and shall it grieue vs which are vniust to suffer for the iusts cause? 30 An other argument being partly taken of things coupled together, so, vnto, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father, that same way that he went himselfe, and partly from the cause of suffering: so, vnto, because Christ is not only set before vs for an example to follow, but also he holdeth vs vp by his vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntill he bring vs to his Father.

7 The woman is called a vessel after the manner of the vessels, because the husband vseth her as his fellow and helper to line faithfully before God.

8 The third argument: for that they are equal in that which is chief (that is to say, in the benefit of eternal life) which otherwise are unequal as touching the governance and conuersion at home, and therefore they are not to be despised although they be weaker.

9 Of that gracious and free benefit, whereby we haue everlasting life giuen vs.

10 The fourth argument: All brawling and chiding must be eschewed, because they hinder prayers and the whole seruice of God when both the husband and the wife are equally called.

11 He returneth to common exhortations, & commendeth concord and whatsoeuer.

13 An argument taken of compenation: Seeing that we our selues are called of God whom we offe so often, so greata benefit do faare is hee from reuenging the injuries which we doe vnto him, shall wee rather make our selues vnworthy of so great bounty, than forgive one anothers faults? where shall the vngodly and the sinner appeare?
19 Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

God, they ought not to despaire, but god forward not; minding the way of holinesse and we doing, commending themselves to God their faith-full Creator, that is to say their Father.

CHAP. V.

1 We wane b the Elders not to vsurpe authoritie ouer the Church, 5 willing the yonger first to bee willing to be taught, and to see models. 8 to be sober and watchfull to resist the cruel aduersary.

He 1 elders which are among you, 1 beseech
I which am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shalbe reuelled.

2 3 Feed the flocke of God, which dependeth vpon you, caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde:

3 Not as though ye were lords ouer Gods heritage, but that ye may be ensamples to the flock.

4 And when that chiefe shepheard shal ap-peare, ye shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glory.

5 Likewise yee yonger submit your selues vnto the elders, and submit your selues every man, one to another: decke your selues inwardly in death, but that which he himselfe hath suffered before them, and death shal take the same paines, and also hath one selfe same hope together with them.

3 The first rule: He that is a shepheard, let him feede the flocke. 4 He shepheard, offer for the quickes, and fuyr patched fuyres in a strange tongue, b p (fide) 4

The second: Let the shepheard consider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. 5 The third: Let not shepherds in made other mens flockes, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them. 6 Let the shepheard, gouern the Church with the word and example of godly and vnable life, not by con-straine, but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde, not as lordes ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as ministers. 6 Which is the Christian people.

7 That the shepherds minde bee not overcome either with the wickednesse of others, or their craftes, they warneth them to cast their eyes continually vpon that chiefe shepheard, and the crowne which is layd vp for them in heauen. 8 He commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie, which admonition is alwaies in neede of, but especially the yonger sort by reason of the vngodly world and pride of that age. 4 Rom. 12. 10.

fulnesse and faith. 8 Luke 22. 31. 10 The pretensions which Satan sheweth vp, are either new not proper to any one man, but from olde and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore we must suffer that patiently, wherein wee haue such and so many fellowes of our conflicts and combates. c Amongst brethren which are dispersed throughout the world. 13 Hee sealeth vp as it were with a seale, the former exhortation with a solemn prayer, againe, willing them to aske encreas of strength at his handes, of whom they had the beginning, and hope to haue the accomplishment: to wit, of God the Father in Christ Iesus, in whom lowlinesse of minde: for God resisteth the proud, and giueth grace to the humble.

6 Humble your selues therefore vnder the mightie hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.

7 Cast all your care on him: for hee careth for you.

8 Be sober, and watch, for your aduersary

you as brethren which are in the world.

10 And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternall glory by Christ Iesus, after that ye haue suffered a litle, make you per-

11 To him be glory and dominion for euer

12 By Siluanus a faithfull brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.

13 The Church that is at Babylon elected

14 Greete ye one another with the kisse of loue, Peace be with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

3 Having spoken of the bonnyfaynes of God, 5. and of the ver-tues of faith, 6. He exhorteth them to holynesse of life. 12 And that this counsel may bee the more effectually, 14. He sheweth that his death is at hand, 16. and that himselfe did see the power of Christ which he opened vnto them.

Simon Peter a seruant, & an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obtained like precious faith with vs by the righteoufnesse of our God and Sauour Iesus Christ:

2 Grace and peace bee multiplied to you, through the acknowledging of God, and of Ie-sus our Lord,

3 According as his diuine power hath gi-uen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto life and godlinesse, through the acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them ye should be partakers of the diuine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the world through lust.

5 Therefore giue euen all diligence therevnto: 6 Ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith:
and with vertue, knowledge:

6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

9 Because pride is meet to many,
to be the way vnto
the glory of this life, the Apo-

reward of pride,

of God against the vanitie of proud men, and to hang wholly vpon his providence.

7 As these fruits doe spring from the true knowledge of Christ, so is like for the knowledge it selfe is fostered and groweth by bringing forth such fruits, in so much that he that is vnto the old either neuer knoweth the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of justification which he hath received.

8 He that hath not an effectual knowledge of Christ in him, is blinde as touching the knowledge of God, for he cannot see things that are farre off, that is to say heavenly things.

9 The conclusion therefore being our calling and election is approved by those fruits, and confirmed in vs, and moreover seeing this is the only way to the everlasting kingdome of Christ, it remaineth that we call our minds wholly that way.

10 As amplifying of the conclusion joynd with a modest excuse, wherein he declineth his loue towards them, and foretelleth them of his death which is at hand.

11 In this body. John 51.18. 1 Cor. 17. and 2.1.

12 Another implication taken both of the great certaintie and also excellencie of this doctrine as when our Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of God is author, whose glory the Apostles himselfe both saw and heard. Math. 17.5. 13 The truth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets. 14 The doctrine of the Apostles doth so: that out of the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme eche other by eche others testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gave light vnto the blinde, until the brightnesse of the Gospel beganne to shine. 15 A more full and open knowledge then was vnder the shadowes of the Lawe. 16 That clearer doctrine of the Gospel. 20 a Tim 3.16. 17 The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation: for hee that is the Author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them. 18 He seyneth the Scripture and prophesie together, to distinguish true Prophets from false. 19 For all interpretation cometh from God. 20 The godly interpreters and messengers. 21 Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were speculations of the prophane foolish men, and foretellers of things to come.

7 And with godlines, brotherly kindnes: and with brotherly kindnes, loue.

8 7For if these things bee among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shall be idle, nor vnfuitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blinde, and cannot see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sinnes.

10 Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if yee doe these things yee shall neuer fall.

11 For by this meane an entering shall be ministered vnto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdome of our Lorde and Saniour Iesus Christ.

12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things though that ye haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present truth.

13 For I thinke it meet as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance,

14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath shewed me.

15 I will endeavour therefore alwayes, that yee also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 10 For we followed not deceivable fables when wee opened vnto you the power, and commanding of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his Maiestie:

17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from that excellent glory. This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

18 And this voyce we heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount.

19 Wee haue also a most sure worde of the Prophets, to the which ye doe well that ye take heed, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntill the day dawne, and the day starre arise in your hearts.

20 13 So that ye first know this, that no prophesie of the Scriptures is of any priuate interpretation.

21 For the prophesie came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the holy Ghost.

22 Our Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of God is author, whose glory the Apostles himselfe both saw and heard. Math. 17.5. 23 The truth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets. 24 The doctrine of the Apostles doth so: that out of the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme eche other by eche others testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gave light vnto the blinde, until the brightnesse of the Gospel beganne to shine. 25 A more full and open knowledge then was vnder the shadowes of the Lawe. 26 That clearer doctrine of the Gospel. 30 a Tim 3.16. 31 The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation: for hee that is the Author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them. 32 He seyneth the Scripture and prophesie together, to distinguish true Prophets from false. 33 For all interpretation cometh from God. 34 The godly interpreters and messengers. 35 Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were speculations of the prophane foolish men, and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

18 He foretelleth them of false teachers, 3 whose wicked lightnes and destruction hee declaib. 19 Hee compareth them to braue beasts, 17 and to wither without water, 20 because they seek to withdraue men from Gods true old shewings.

But there were false prophets also among the people, euen as there shall be false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lord, that hath bought them, and bring vpon themselves swift damnation.

2 And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall be euill spoken of,

3 And through couetousnesse shall they with fained words make merchandise of you: whose condemnation long since resteth not, & their destruction slumbereth not.

4 For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into hell, and deliuered them into chaines of darkenesse, to bee kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared he the old world, but saved Noe the eighth person a preacher of righteousness, & brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly,

6 And turned the cities of Sodome and Gomorreh into ashes, condemned them and overthrew them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly,

7 And deliuered iust Lot vexed with the vncleanly conuersation of the wicked:

8 (For hee being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vnlawfull deedes.)

9 The Lord knoweth to deliner the godly out of temptation, & to reserve the vniust vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment:

10 And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and despise gouernement, which are bold, & stand in their owne conceit, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in dignity.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 But these, as naturall bruite beasts, led with sensualitye and 1 made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they knowe not, and shall perishe through their owne corruption,

13 And shall receiue the wages of vnrightheousnesse, as they which count it pleasure dayly to liue deliciouly. Spots they are and blots, delighting themselves in their deceiuings, in feasting with you.

14 Bound them with darkenesse, as it were with chains, and by darkness they knoweth that such miserable state of life that is full of horror. 15 Which was before the flood: not that God made a new world, but because the world seemed newe. 16 For hee created out of the space of an hundred and twentie yeres: to warn the world both by word and deed, what wrath of God bringeth vpon their heads. 17 Gen 1.2. 18 Which way faster be looked and turned by eares. 19 He had a troubled iudgement being vncleanly grained, lived a painful life. 20 He hath bene long practising in sinning and deliuering the righteous. 21 Rise goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosome of the Church, which are wickedly gaily, and doe sediciously speake euill of the authoritie of Magistrates, (which the Angels themselves that minister before God, do not dispraise.) A true and lively deliuerance of the Romish cleargie (as they call it.) 22 Princes, and great men, be they are high in authoritie. 23 A lively painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared as beasts which are made, to snare themselves into destruction, which they giue themselves to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance then in these men, although they most impudently finde fault with the things which they knowe not: and it shall come to passe that they shall destroy themselves as beasts with their pleasures wherewith they are delighted, and dishonour and defile the company of the godly. 24 Made to this end to be a pray to others: So doe these men willingly cast themselves into Sarcas iudges. 25 Their vane wicked manners shall bring them to destruction. 26 Or like rackets. 27 When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy Sacraments which the Church keepeth, they would seeme by that meane to be true members of the Church, yet they are in deed but blots of the Church.

1 As in times past there were vncleane kindes of people, the one among the other false, in their way of teaching, they shall be found in the Church, in so much that Christ himselfe shall be despised of some, which notwithstanding shall call him a deceiver. 2 Peter the Tenth, while the first and police of the Letter was yet standing. 3 There shall not only be heretics, but also many followers of them. 4 Countenances for the most part is a composition of heresie, and much matche with the enemies of iustice. 5 They will charge you and call you as they fall out in a strife. 6 A comfort to the godly, God who call the Angels: that fell away from him long into the darkness of hell, lengthen to be iudged, and who shall destroy the whole world with the flood, and yet saved Noe the eighth person, not vnto burned Sodome, and saved Lot, will deliuer his elect from these cruelties, and will vnto destroy the vnrightheous. 7 Iob 4.18. 8 Iust 6. 9 So the Grecians called the deeps dangerous rather than earth, which should be appointed to torment the soules of the wicked men.

CHAP. I.

8 He testifieth that hee bringeth the eternall worde abruin in life, & light. 9 God will be mercifull vnto the faithfull, if growing vnder the burden of their finnes, they learne to flee vnto his mercie.

r He beginmeth with the description of the person of Christ whom he maketh one and not two: and him both God from everlasting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life)
and also made true man, whom John himselfe and his companions, both heard,
and beheld, and handled.

a I heard him
speake, I saw him
my selfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine hands him that is very God, being made very man, and not I alone, but others also that were with me.

6 That same everlasting Word, by whom all things are made, and in whom onely there is life.

c. Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly
sayd to be shewed, for no man could so much as haue thought of it, if it had not bene
thus shewed.

2 The wife of this doct ine is this, that all of vs being coupled a:d ioyed together with Christ by faith, might become the sonnes of God: in which thing only consisteth all happinesse. 3 Nowe hee entereth into a question, whereby wee may vnderstand that we are toyed together with Christ, to wit: i. wee be gouerned by his light, which is perceiued by the ordering of our life. And thus hee reasoneth. God is in him selfe most pure light, therefore hee agerth well wth them which are lightnesse, but with them which are darknesse hee hath no fellowship. ¶ John 8.12. 4 God is sayd to bee light: of his owne nature, and so bee in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessednesse; and we are sayd to walke in light, in that the beames of that light do shine vnto vs in the Word. 4. A: If diuine or giuing from the matter he is in hand with, to the remission of sinnes; for this our sanctification which walke in the light, is a testimony of our ioyning and haiting together with Christ: but because this our light is very darke, wee must needs obtaine another benefit in Christ, to wit, e: at our sinnes may bee forgiven vs being sprinkled with his bloods, and this in conclusion is the prope and stay of our consolation. ¶ Hebrewes 9.18. 1. Peter 1. 19. reuel. 5. 5 The is none but needeth this benefit: becausethis is none that is a true sinner. ¶ 1. Kings 8. 46. 1. cor. 6. 36. pro. 30. 9. 6 This plate doeth fully testify that perfectiue and worker of supererogation which the Papists dream of. f. So then, John speaketh not thus for modesties sake, as some say, but because it is faim deede. 6 Therefore the beginning of saluation is to acknowledge our wickednesse, and to require pardon of him who freely forgiveth all sinnes because hee hath promised. Io. to doe, and hee is faithful and iust. g. So then our saluation hangeth vpon the free promise of God: who because hee is faithful and iust, will performe that which hee hath promised. b. Where are then our merites; for this is our true faith. 7. A reuerfall of the former sentence, wherein hee condemneth all of sinne without exception: in so much that if any man perfwade himselfe otherwise, he doeth as much as in him lieth make the worde of God himselfe vaine and to no purpose; hee maketh God a liar: for so what end, either in times past needed facience, or now Christ and the Gospel, if wee be not sinners? i. They do not onely deceiue themselves, but also are blasphemous against God. k. His doctrine shall haue no place in vs: shew vs in our hearts.

That which was from the beginning, which wee haue heard, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these hands of ours haue handled of that word of life.

2. (For that life was made manifest, and wee haue scene it, and beare witnesse, and shew vnto you that eternall life, which was from the Father, and was made manifest vnto vs)

3 That, I say, which wee haue seene and heard, declare wee vnto you, * that yee may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne Iesus Christ.

4 And these things write wee vnto you, that that your ioy may be full.

5 ¶ This then is the message which we haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkenesse.

6 If wee say that wee haue fellowship with him, and walke in darkenesse, we lie, and doe not truely.

7 But if we walke in the <sup>d</sup> light as he is in the light, we haue fellowship one with another, <sup>4</sup> and the <sup>4</sup> blood of Iesus Christ his sonne clenseth vs from all sinne.

8 5: If we say that wee haue no sinne, we<sup>e</sup> de-ceiue our selues, and t<sup>r</sup>ueth is not in vs.

9 <sup>6</sup>If we acknowledge our sinnes, he is faithful and iust, to <sup>h</sup>forgiue vs our sinnes, & to cleanse vs from all vnrighteousnesse.

10 7 If we say, we haue not sinned, wee make him i a liar, and his <sup>k</sup> word is not in vs.

CHAP. II.

¶ Hee declareth that Christ is our mediator and advocate, 3 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holiness of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then having exhorted them to consume the world, 18 Hee warneth against Antichristes hee avoided, 24 and that the known truth be flood unto.

MY little children, these things write I vnto you, that ye sinne not: and if any man sinne, wee haue an<sup>a</sup> Aduocate with the Father, Iesus Christ the Iust.

2 And he is the <sup>b</sup>reconciliation for our sinnes:
and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the <sup>c</sup>whole world.

2 And hereby wee are sure that we knowe him,* if we keepe his commandements.

4 <sup>3</sup> He that sayth, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

5 ¶ But he that keepeth his word, in him is the loue of God perfect in deede: hereby wee know that are in g him.

6 He that faith he remaineth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 *Brethren, I write no new comaundement vnto you: but an olde commaundement, which yee haue had from the beginning: this old commaundement is that word, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 7 Againe, a new commandement I write vnto you, that <sup>h</sup> which is true in him, & also in you: for the darknes is past, & that true light now shineth.

9 <sup>8</sup> He that saith that hee is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darknesse, vntil this time.

10 ♣ Hee that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, & there is none occasion of euil in him.

11 But he that hateth his brother, is in darknesse, and walketh in darknesse, and knoweth not whither hee goeth; because that darknesse hath blinded his eyes.

10 <sup>8</sup> Little children, I write vnto you, because your finnes are forgiven you for his<sup>k</sup> Names sake.

7 He addeth that the doctrine in deede is olde, but it is now after in respect of Christ, and also of vs, in whom he shone through the Gospel Law effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our mindes. g Wh that the doctrine is newe which I write vnto you, it is true in him, and be cometh to the second table, that is, to charitie: we sawe as doe that that man hath true light in him, or is in deede regenerate, and which hateth his brother, and such an one wandereth miserably in of the newe: sit great knowledge of God, or, that wittingly and will plication to remission of sinnes, because that free reconciliation in Ch of our saluation, whereupon afterwards sanctification must be a buidation. i Therefore I write vnto you, because you are of their number that reconciled to himselfe. k For his own sake: And in that he blusheth out all others, whether they be in heauen or earth.

13 <sup>10</sup> I write vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him that is from the beginning. <sup>11</sup> I write vnto you, young men, because yee haue overcome that wicked one. <sup>12</sup> I write vnto you, little children, because ye haue knowen the Father.

14 <sup>31</sup> I haue written vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye haue overcome that wicked one.

15 <sup>14</sup> Loue not this world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world, (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.

17 <sup>15</sup> And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the wil of God, abideth euer.

18 <sup>16</sup> Little children, <sup>17</sup> it is the last time, and as ye haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 <sup>19</sup> They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, they should haue continued with vs. <sup>20</sup> But this cometh to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 <sup>21</sup> But yee haue an oyntment from that holy one, and know all things.

21 <sup>22</sup> I haue not written vnto you, because ye know not the truth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

22 <sup>23</sup> Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Iesus is <sup>24</sup> that Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Sonne.

23 <sup>25</sup> Whosoever denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 <sup>26</sup> Let therefore abide in you that same which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, ye also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that hee hath promised vs, euen that eternall life.

26 <sup>27</sup> These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.

27 But that anointing which ye receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and ye neede not that any man teach you: but as the same <sup>28</sup> Anointing teacheth you of all things, and it is true, & is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 <sup>29</sup> And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appeare, we may be bolde, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.

29 <sup>30</sup> If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doth righteously, is borne of him.

<sup>31</sup> The same Spirit which lodgeth in the elect with the knowledge of the truth and sanctifieth them, giveth them there-withall the gift of perseuerance, to continue to the end. <sup>32</sup> The Spirit which you haue receiued of Christ, and which bath leide you into all truth. <sup>33</sup> You that are not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe know. <sup>34</sup> He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost. <sup>35</sup> The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise. <sup>36</sup> A passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to goe vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, hee goeth downe from the causes to the effects. And this is the summe of this argument: God is the fountaine of all righteousness, and therefore they that giue themselves to righteousness, are known to be borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

C H A P. III.

Behold, <sup>1</sup> a what lone the Father hath giuen to vs, that we should bee called the sonnes of God: <sup>2</sup> for this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

3 <sup>3</sup> Dearely beloved, now are we the sonnes of God, but yet is it not made manifest what wee shall be: and we know that when he shall be made manifest, we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is.

4 <sup>4</sup> And every man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen as he is pure.

5 <sup>5</sup> Whosoever committeth sinne, transgresseth also the Law: for sinne is the transgression of the Law.

6 <sup>6</sup> And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

7 <sup>7</sup> Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath known him.

8 <sup>8</sup> Little children, let no man deceiue you: he that doeth righteounesse, is righteous, as hee

known to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himselfe. <sup>9</sup> The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest to our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, inasmuch that wee shall bee like the Sonne of God himselfe, and shall enioy his sight in deede, such as hee is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntill his next coming. <sup>10</sup> Like, but not equall. <sup>11</sup> For now wee see as in a glasse, 1 Cor. 13. 12. <sup>12</sup> Nowe hee describeth this adoption, (the glorie whereof as yet consisteth in hope,) by the effects, to wit, because that whosoever is made the sonne of God, endeuor eth to resemble the Father in pietie. <sup>13</sup> This word signifieth a likeness, but not an equalitie. <sup>14</sup> The rule of this pietie is: from whence els he taken but from the Lawe of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne. <sup>15</sup> Guest not himselfe to purue. <sup>16</sup> A short definition of sinne. <sup>17</sup> An argument taken from the materiall cause of our salvation: Christ in himselfe is most pure, and hee came to take away our sinnes, by sanctifying vs with the holy Ghost. Therefore, whosoever is truly partaker of Christ, doth not giue himselfe to sinne, and contrariwise hee that giueth himselfe to sinne, knoweth not Christ. <sup>18</sup> 1 Jo. 3. 6, 9, 11. 1 Pet. 2. 2, 24. <sup>19</sup> He is said to dwell in the faithful, and not to reigne in them. <sup>20</sup> Another argument of things coupled together: He that liueth iustly, is iust, and resembleth Christ that is iust, and by that is knowne, to be the sonne of God.

<sup>36</sup> The Spirit which you haue receiued of Christ, and which bath leide you into all truth.

not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe know. <sup>38</sup> He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost. <sup>39</sup> The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise. <sup>40</sup> A passing over to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to goe vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, hee goeth downe from the causes to the effects. And this is the summe of this argument: God is the fountaine of all righteousness, and therefore they that giue themselves to righteousness, are known to be borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

<sup>1</sup> He beginneth to declare this agreement of the Father and the Sonne at the highest cause, to wit at that free lone of God toward vs, wherewith he fo louneth vs that also he adopteth vs to be his children.

<sup>3</sup> That we should be the sonnes of God, and that all the world may perceive we are so.

<sup>4</sup> Before he declareth this adoption, he faith two things: the one, that this is great a dignitie is not to be esteemed according to the iudgement of the flesh because it is vnto

known to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himselfe. <sup>5</sup> The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest to our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, inasmuch that wee shall bee like the Sonne of God himselfe, and shall enioy his sight in deede, such as hee is now: but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntill his next coming. <sup>6</sup> Like, but not equall. <sup>7</sup> For now wee see as in a glasse, 1 Cor. 13. 12. <sup>8</sup> Nowe hee describeth this adoption, (the glorie whereof as yet consisteth in hope,) by the effects, to wit, because that whosoever is made the sonne of God, endeuor eth to resemble the Father in pietie. <sup>9</sup> This word signifieth a likeness, but not an equalitie. <sup>10</sup> The rule of this pietie is: from whence els he taken but from the Lawe of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne. <sup>11</sup> Guest not himselfe to purue. <sup>12</sup> A short definition of sinne. <sup>13</sup> An argument taken from the materiall cause of our salvation: Christ in himselfe is most pure, and hee came to take away our sinnes, by sanctifying vs with the holy Ghost. that beleue in the Name of that Sonne of God, that ye may know that ye haue eternall life, and that ye may beleue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 And this is that assurance that we haue in him, & that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if we know that he heareth vs, whatsoever we aske, we know that we haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.

16 If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him aske, and he shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death.

There is a sinne vnto death. I say not that thou shouldst pray for it.

14 Because we do not yet in effect obiect that which we hope for, the Apostle joyntly inuocation of prayer with faith, which he will haue to proceede from faith, and moreo- uer to be concei- ued in such sort, that nothing be asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers cannot be vaine. Chap. 3.22. 15 We are to make prayers not onely for our selues but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their finnes be not vnto them, to death, and yet he excepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiven, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vniuersall and willfull falling away from the knowne cōfession of the Gospel. 1 This is as much as if he sayd, Let him desire the Lord to forgive him, and be willing to forgive him being so defiled. Mass. 12.31. Marke 3.29.

17 All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.

18 We know whoſoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: but he is begotten of God keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 Wee know that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But wee knowe that that Sonne of God is come, and hath giuen vs a mind to know him, which is true; and we are in him that is true, that in that his Sonne Iesus Christ: this same is that very God and that eternall life.

21 Little children, keepe your selues from idoles. Amen.

Sonnes of God in Christ, and being indured with his Spirit, they neither are deadly wounded of Satan. 18 Every man must particularly apply to himselfe the generall promises, that we may certainly perceiue our selues, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, wee are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Iesus Christ his Sonne vnto vs, of whom wee are lightened with the knowledge of the true God and euerslasting life. Luke 24.45. The doctrine of Christ is most plainly prooued by this place. 19 Hee expresse a plaine precept of taking heed of idoles: which he setteth against the onely true God, that with this scale as it were he might scale vp all the former doctrine.

16 The taking away of an obiect of ledged. I inuoyte is comprehended vnder the name of faith: yet we must not despise there- fore, because every sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remission. 17 A reason why we call any rather why no sin is mortal to our eternall life, because they be borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God, that doe not sinne: they particularly apply to themselves, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, wee are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Iesus Christ his Sonne vnto vs, of whom wee are lightened with the knowledge of the true God and euerslasting life. Luke 24.45. The doctrine of Christ is most plainly prooued by this place. 19 Hee expresse a plaine precept of taking heed of idoles: which he setteth against the onely true God, that with this scale as it were he might scale vp all the former doctrine.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

This Epistle is written to a woman of great renowne, & who brought up her children in the feare of God: & be exhorted her to continue in Christian charitie, & that shee accompany not with Antichrists, to but auoide them.

ELDER to the elect Lady, and her children, whom I loue in the truth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the truth.

2 For the truths sake which dwelleth in vs, and shall be with vs for euer.

3 Grace be with you, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with cōtruth and loue.

4 I reioyced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in cōtruth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father.

5 And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandement vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we loue one another.

6 And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandement vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we loue one another.

a This is no proper name, but to be taken as the words jointed, that is to say, to the worthy and noble Lady, b Excellent and honorable Dame. 1 The bond of Christian communion or talking together is the true and constant profession of the truth. c With true knowledge which hath alwayes loue ioy- ned with it, and following it. 2 This is profession consisteth both in loue one towards another which the Lorde hath commanded, and also especially in wholefome and sound doctrine, which also is deliuered vnto vs for the commandement of God is a sound and sure founda- tion both of the rule of maner, and of doctrine, and these cannot be separated the one from the other. d According as the truth dwelleth in them. 1 Iohn 1.5.12.

6 And this is that loue, that we should walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, yee should walke in it.

7 For many deceiuers are entred into this worlde, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

8 Looke to your selues, that wee lose not the things which we haue done, but that we may receiue a full reward.

9 Whoſoeuer transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, & receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede.

11 For he that biddeth him God speed, is partaker of his euil deeds. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet would I not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The sonnes of thine elect sister greeete thee, Amen.

7 Antichrists fighting againe the people, and of the Church, were already crept into the Church in the time of the Apostles. 8 He that maketh shipwrecke of doctrine, loseth all. c Demerit and sake good forde. 9 We ought to haue nothing to doe with them that defend peruerse doctrine. 10 Rom. 16.17.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

Hee commendeth Gaius for hospitality, & reprehendeth Diotrephes for vainglory: hee exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrium.

ELDER vnto the beloued Gaius whom I loue in the truth.

2 Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and farest well as thy soule prospereth.

3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

4 I have no greater ioy then these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie.

5 Beloued, thou doest faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers,

6 Which bare witness of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou bringest on their iour-ney, as it becometh according to God, thou shalt doe well.

7 Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

8 We therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be helpers to the truth.

9 I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiue vs not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deedes which he doeth, prattling against vs with malicious wordes, and not therewith content, neither hee himselfe receiue the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, follow not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doeth well, is of God: but he that doeth euill, hath not seene God.

12 Demetrium

1 An example of a Christian gratulation. a Then these ioyes. b As becometh a believer and a Christian. c He commendeth to Gaius either who telleth him men whom he had entertained before, returning now to againe to him, about the affaires of the Church, or else some other which had like business.

d That we our selues may help somewhat to the preaching of the truth. e Ambition and contentions, and peccant plagues, especially in the Church, which haue any Ecclesiastical function are condemned in Diotrephes person. f He that loveth God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth it selfe: yea, and wee our selues beare record, and ye know that our record is true.
13 I haue many things to write: but I wil not with ynke and pen write vnto thee:

14 For I trust I shal shortly see thee, & we shal speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete the friends by name.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF IUDE.

3 Hee warneth the godly to take heed of such men, & that make the grace of God a cloke for their wantonnesse: & that they shall not escape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace, 6. 7 he proueth by three examples: 14. and allegeth the prophesie of ierem: 20. Finally hee sheweth the godly a meane to ouercome all the snares of those deceiuers.

Vde a seruant of Iesus Christ, and a brother of Iames, to the which are called and sanctified of God the Father, and referred to Iesus Christ:

2 Mercy vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied.

3 Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was needfull for me to write vnto you, to exhort you, that ye should earnestly contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was once giuen vnto the Saints.

4 For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: 3. vngodly men they are, which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as yee once knew this, how that the Lord, after that hee had deliuered the people out of Egypt, & destroyed them afterward which beleued not.

6 The Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, he hath referred in euerlasting chaines vnder darknesse vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As Sodom and Gomorrhie, and the cities about them, which in like manner as they did, committed fornication, and followed strange flesh, are set forth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding these sleepers also defile the flesh, & despise gouernement, and speake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 Yet Michael the Archangel, when hee strove against the deuill, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 But these speake euill of those things, which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally as beafts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 Wo be vnto them: for they haue followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceit of Balaams wages, and perish in the gainsaying of Core.

12 These are rockes in your feasts of charitie when they feast with you, without all feare, feeding themselves: * cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruite, twice dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.

13 They are the raging waues of the sea, forming out their owne shame: they are wandring starres, to whom is referred the blacknesse of darkenesse for euer.

14 And Enoch also, the seuenth from Adam, prophesied of such, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with thousands of his Saints,

15 To giue iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deeds, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: * whose mouthes speake proud things, hauing mens persons in admiration, because of aduantage.

17 But, yee beloued, remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ:

18 How that they tolde you that there should bee mockers in the last time, which should walke after their owne vngodly lusts.

19 These are they that separate themselves from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirit.

20 But, yee beloued, edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost,

21 And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lord Iesus Christ, vnto eternall life.

22 And haue compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And other saue with feare, pulling them out of the fire, & hate euen that garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 Now vnto him that is able to keepe you, that yee fall not, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glory with ioy,

25 That is, to God onely wise, our Sauour, be glorie, and maiestie, and dominion, and power, both now and for euer, Amen.

9 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble or shew forth Cains shamelesse maice, Balaams filthy counsel, and to be short, Ceres tedious and ambitious head.

10 He rebuketh most sharply with many other notes and makes, both their dishonestie or filthine, and their fauouritisme, but especially their vaine brauerie of wordes, and most vaine pride, toyning therewithall a most grace and because threatening out of a most ancient prophesie of Enoch touching the iudgement to come.

11 The fafts of charitie, were certaine bankers, which the brethren that were member of the Church, kept all together, as Tertullian testifieth them forth in his Apolog chap. 39. Impudently, without all reverence either to God or man.

12 The present time, for the time to come.

13 The rising vp of such monsters was spoken of before, that we should not be troubled at the newnesse of the matter.

14 Hee commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God onely that can give vs that confluence which he requirith of vs.

a This is put to make a difference betweene him and Iudas Iscariot. b By Gods Father. c Set apart by the euerlasting counsel of God, to be deliuered to Christ to be kept. d The end and make whereat the sheweth in this Epistle, is that he comforteth the godly against certaine wicked men, both in whole some doctrine and good manners. e Of those things that pertaine to the saluation of all of vs. f That ye should defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine and good example of life. g Which was once a giuings, but it may now be charged. h It is by Gods providence and not by chance, that many wicked men crepe into the Church. i He condemneth this fault in them, that they take a pretence or occasion to wake warre, by the grace of God, which can not be, but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men giue vp themselves to Satan: as at this time the sect of the Anabaptistes doeth, which they call Libertines. k 2 Pet. 2. 1. l Hee setteth forth the horrible punishment of them which haue abused the grace of God to follow their owne lustes. m Numb. 14. 37. n The fall of the Angels was most severely punished, howe much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithlesse men. o 2 Pet. 2. 4. p Gen. 19. 24. q Following the sinners of Sodom and Gomorrhie. r Thus hee couerly testifieth forth their horrible and monstrous lustes. s Which are so blackish and vnde of reason, as if all their sense and wits were in a most dead sleepe. t Another most pernicious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authoritie of Magistrates, and speake euill of them, as at this day the Anabaptistes doe. u It is a greater matter to despise gouernement then the gouernours, that is to say, the matter is lesse then the persons. v An argument of comparison: Michael one of the chiefe Angels, was content to deliuer Saron, although a most cursed enemy, to the iudgement of God to be punished: and these perurient men are not ashamed to speake euill of the powers which are ordained of God. w The conclusion. These men are in a double fault, to wit, both for their rash fallie in condemning some, and for their impudent and shamelesse contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they used as brutes beasts, serving their bellies.

11 Timothee 4. 1. 2. timoth. 3. 1. 2. peter 3. 3. 12 It is the properie of Antichrists to separate themselves from the godly, because they are not gouerned by the Spirit of God: and contrariwise it is the properie of Christians to edifie one another through godly prayers both in faith and also in loue, vntill the mercie of Christ appeare to their full saluation. 13 Among them which wander and goe astray, the godly haue to vie this choise, that they handle some of them gently, and that other some bring euen in the very flame, they endeavour to lye with liuere and shew the instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they doe in such sort abhorre the wicked and dishonest, that they shew euen the least cogitation that may bee. p By fearing them, and holding them backe with godly seruitie. q An amplification taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile. 14 Hee commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God onely that can give vs that confluence which he requirith of vs.

1 This Chapter hath two principal parts: the first, the inscription, which sheweth in briefe of an exhortation and a narrative going before the whole prophesie. The inscription is divided into three parts: the first, the general and particular. The particular containeth the kind of prophesie, the author, the manner, the manner of communication, the time, in the first verse: the most religious and faithful of the Apostles, the public witnes, verse 2. and the use of communication, the time, taken from the pen of God, and from the circumference of the time, verse 3. 2. *An opening of secrets and hid things. 3. Which the same opened to vs out of his Fathers booke by Angels. 4. This is the particular or singular inscription, wherein salutation is written vnto certain Churches by name, which represent the Church Catholike: and the celestial and earth of the same is declared, from the Author thereof, vnto the eight verses. 5. This is, from God the Father, eternall, immovable: whose vnderstandings, S. Iohn declareth by a foule of speache which is vnderstood. For there is no incongruities in this place, where, of necessity the words must bee interpreted vnto the mysteries, and not the mysteries corrupted or impaired by the wordes. 6. *By these three times, Jr, Was, and shall, is signified this word: Iohn, which is the proper name of God. 7. Exod. 3. 14. 4. That is, from the holy Ghost which proceedeth from the Father and the Sonne. This Spirit is one in person according to his substance: but in communication of his vertue, and in demonstration of his diuine workes in these three Churches, doeth he perfectly manifest himselfe, as if there were three diuine Spirits, euen our perfectly working in his owne Church. Wherefore after Chapter 5. 6. they are called the seuen homes and seuen eyes of the Lambe, as much to say, as his most absolute power and wisdom: and Chas. 1. 1. Chas. 1. 1. to haue those seuen Spirites of God, and Chap. 4. 5. it is sayde, that those lampes doe burne before his throne, which also are those seuen Spirites of God. That this place ought to bee so vnderstood, it is thus proued. For first, grace and peace is asked by prayer of this Spirit, which is a diuine worke, and an action incommunicable in respect of the most high Deitie. Secondly, hee is placed between the Father and the Sonne, as set in the same degree of dignitie and operation with them. Besides, hee is before the throne, as of the same substance with the Father and the Sonne: as the seuen eyes and seuen homes of the Lambe. Moreover, these Spirites are neuer sayd to adore God, as all other things are. Finally, hee is the power wherby the Lambe opened the booke, and loosed the seuen liues thereof, when none could be found amongst all creatures by whom the booke might be opened, Chap. 5. Of these things long agoe Master Iohn Laide of Oxford hath learnedly vnto me. Now the holy Ghost is set in order of wordes before Christ, because there was in that which followeth, a long prole of speech to bee said concerning Christ. 4. *These are the seuen spirites, which are afterward Chap. 5. 6. called the homes and eyes of the Lambe, and are now made as a garde waiting vnto God. 5. A most ample and grane commendation of Christ, first from his office, the Priesthood and kingdome: secondly from his benefices, as his lone consolation, and walking vs with his blood, in this verse, and communication of the kingdome and Priesthood with vs: thirdly from his eternall glory and power, which is alwayes to be celebrated vs, verse 6. Finally from the accomplishment of his mission: once to bee effected by vs, at his second coming: what time hee shall destroy the wicked, and shall comfort the godly in the t'reth, verse 7. 1. Cor. 15. 21. coloss. 1. 18. 2. Hebr. 9. 14. 1. pet. 1. 19. 1. Iohn 1. 9. 2. 1. pet. 3. 14. math. 24. 30. iude 14.

Every one of these seven places hath three principal members, an Exordium taken fro the perfon of the Author: a Proposition, on which is traile and commendation of that which is good, reprehension of that which is euill: and instruction, containing either an exhortation alone, or withall a dissway by diuine promises, as thus, a The Exordium of this Proposition first cometh verse 4. after instruction to another place, verse 6. of correction, calling vpon the Lord God neuer leaue them vpon the 12. verse. of commendement of the pure, of which Gen. 1. 31. ## CHAP. II.

John is commanded to write those things which the Lord knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus, 8 Of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 and of Thyatira, 25 that they keepe those things which they receiued of the Apostles.

VNto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seven starrs in his right hand, and walketh in the mids of the seven golden candlesticks.

2. <sup>3</sup> I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apokles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

3 And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

4 Neuertheſſe, I haue ſomewhat againſt thee, becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt loue.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or else I will come againſt thee ſhortly, and will remooue thy candleſticke out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou haſt, that thou hateſt the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I alſo hate.

7 ¶ Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches: To him that ouercometh, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the mids of the Paradise of God.

8 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Smyrnians write, These things sayth he that is first, and last, which was dead and is aliue.

9 I know thy workes and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemie of them, which say they are Jewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuill shall cast some of you into prison, that yee may be tryed, and yee shall haue tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I wil giue thee the crowne of life.

11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercometh shall not be hurt <sup>1o</sup> of the second death.

12 " And to the Angel of the Church, which is at <sup>d</sup> Pergamus write, This saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges.

13 12 I knowe thy workes, and where thou dwellest, even where Satans throne is, & thou keepst my Name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

14 But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintain the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling block before the children of Israel, that they should eat of things sacrificed unto Idols, and commit fornication.

15 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of <sup>v</sup> 13 Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy selfe, or else I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against thee with the sword of my mouth.

17. 14 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit faith unto the Churches. To him that overcometh, will I give to eat 15 of the Manna that is hid, and will give him a <sup>b</sup> 16 white stone, and in the stone a newe 17 name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that receiueth it.

18 ¶ And vnto <sup>18</sup> the Angell of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.

19 I knowe 19 thy workes and thy loue, and service, and faith, and thy patience, & thy works, and that they are more at the last, then at the first.

20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Izabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach and to deceiue my seruants, to make them commit <sup>h</sup> fornication, and to eate meate sacrificed vnnication, but she repented not.

The ſix Epistle ſent to the Paſtors of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 and of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not like waine, 20 but endeouore to further Gods glory.

And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at a Sardis, These things ſayth he that hath the ſeuē Spirits of God, and the ſeuē ſtarres, I know thy works: for thou haſt a name that thou liueſt, but thou art dead.

2 Be awake, and ſtrengthen the things which remaine, that are ready to die: for I haue not found thy works perfit before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou haſt receiued and heard, and holde fast and repent: vif therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou ſhalt not know what houre I will come vpon thee.

4 Notwithſtanding thou haſt a few names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they ſhall walke with me in white: for they are worthy.

5 Hee that ouercommeth, ſhall be clothed in white aray, and I will not put out his name out of the booke of life, but I will confeſſe his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſayth vnto the Churches.

And write vnto the Angel of the Church, which is of Philadelphia, These things ſayth he that is Holy, and True, which hath the key of David, which openeth, and no man ſhutteth, and ſhutteth, and no man openeth.

8 I know thy works: behold, I haue ſet before thee an open doore, and no man can ſhut it:

for thou haſt a little ſtrength, and haſt kept my word, and haſt not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themſelues Iewes, & are not, but doe lie: behold, I ſay, I will make them, that they ſhall come and worſhip before thy feet, and ſhall know that I haue loued thee.

10 Because thou haſt kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliuer thee from the houre of tentation, which will come vpon all the world, to trie them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Behold, I come ſhortly: holde that which thou haſt, that no man take thy crowne.

12 Him that ouercommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he ſhall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the name of the citie of my God, which is, the newe Hieruſalem, which cometh downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit ſayth vnto the Churches.

14 And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, These things ſayth Amen, the faithfull and true witneſſe, that beginning of the creatures of God.

15 I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hote: I would thou werest cold or hote.

16 Therefore, because thou art luke warme, and neither colde nor hote, it will come to paſſe, that I ſhall ſpue thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou ſayeſt, I am rich, and increaſed with goods, & haue need of nothing, and knoweſt not howe thou art wretched and miſerable, and poore, and blinde, and naked.

18 I counſell thee to buy of me gold tryed by the fire, that thou mayeſt be made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayeſt be clothed, and that thy filthy nakedneſſe doe not appeare: and anyoynt thine eyes with eye ſalue, that thou mayeſt ſee.

19 As many as I loue, I rebuke and chaſtise: be zealous therefore and amend.

20 Beholde, I ſtand at the doore, and knocke. If any man heare my voice, and open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will ſup with him, and he with me.

21 To him that ouercommeth, will I grant to ſit with me in my throne, euen as I ouercame, and ſit with my Father in his throne.

The firſt hiſtorie hath two parts: one of the cauſes of things done, and of this whole Revelation, in this and the next chapter. Another of the act done, in the next four chapters. The principall cauſes according to the diſtinction of perſons in the vntie of the diuine eſſence, and according to the oeconomie or diſpenſation thereof, are two. One the beginning, which none can approach vnto, that is, God the Father, of whom is ſpoken in this chapter. The other, the Sonne, who is the meane cauſe, caſe to be approached, vnto, in reſpect that he is God and man in one perſon: of whom, Chap. 5. heard,

The master of revelation, as be fore, 1. 10.
A Look Chap. 1. 10
A description of God the Father, and of his glory in the heaven, described into the maner of men, by his office, nature, company, standing,
effect, instruments,
and events that follow after wards.
In this verse, he is presented in office as judge, as Abraham sayd, Gen. 18.
which is declared
by his throne, as an enigne of iudge-ment, and his sitting thereupon.
By his name, in that hee is the Father, most glorious in his owne person, and with his glory overshin-ning all other things.
By the company standing about him in that, as that most high Iudge,
he is accompanied with them. It honourable attendants of Prophets and Apostles, both of the old and new Church, whom Christ hath made to be Priests and Kings, Chap. 1. 6.
By effects, in that most mightily he speaketh all things by his voice and words, as Psalm 79. 3. and with the light of his spirit and promise perseth and posseth through all. 7 By instruments used, in that he both hath a most ready creature, and as it were a workhouse excellently furnished with all things, unto the executing of his will, which things flow from his commandment, as repeated, Chap. 1. 2. And hath also the Angels most ready ministers of his counsels and pleasure unto all parts of the world, continually watching. (In this verse) working by reason otherwise than the instruments without life last mentioned, contrarious as hoies, mighty as bats, wise as men, swift as eagles, verse 7. most apt unto all purposes, as furnished with wings on every part, most piercing of sight, and finally, pure and holy spirits, always in continuall motion, verse 8. Every beast had six wings. 8 By names, in that for all the causes before mentioned, God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Iudge, omnipotent, eternal, and immutable, verse 8. and also after their example he is glorified of holy men (verse 9) in figure and in speech, verse 10. 11. c God is said to have glory, because, kingdome, and subtile give unto him, when we godly and reverently set forth that which is properly and onely his. 9 Three figures of divine honour given unto God, prostration defelling downe, adoration, and calling their crowne before God: in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, doe willingly ascribe themselves of all glory, asposed with a religious respect of the maiesty of God. 10 The summe of their speech that all glory must be given unto God: the reason, because he is the eternal beginning of all things, from whose onely will they have their being, and are governed and finally in all respects are that which they are. 11 That is that thou shouldest challenge the same to thy selfe alone. But as for vs, we are unworthy that such by thy goodnes we should be made partakers of this glory. And hitherto hath bene handled the principall cause vnappreciable, which is God.

heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come vp higher, and I will shew thee things which must be done hereafter.
2 And immediately I was raised: in the spirit, 3 and behold, a throne was set in heauen, and one late vpon the throne.
3 And he that sat there, was to looke vpon, like vnto a iasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in fight like to an emeraud.
4 And round about the throne were foure and twenty seates, and vpon the seates I saw foure and twenty Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of gold.
5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voyces, and there were seuen lampes of fire burning before the throne, which are the seuen spirits of God.
6 And before the throne there was a sea of glasse like vnto chrysell: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were foure beasts full of eyes before and behinde.
7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calfe, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying egle.
8 And the foure beasts had each one of them sixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God almighty, Which Was, and Which is, and Which Is to come.
9 And when those beasts gaue glory, and honour, & thanks to him that sat on the throne, which liueth for ever and euer, 10 The foure and twentie Elders fell downe before him that sat on the throne, and worshipped him that liueth for euermore, and cast their crownes before the throne, saying, 11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receiue glory, and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy willes sake they are, and haue bene created.

upon the throne, 1 a booke written within, and on the backside sealed with seuen seales.
2 And I saw a strong Angel which preached with a loude voyce, Who is worthy to open the booke, and to loope the seales thereof?
3 And no man in heauen nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the booke, neither to looke thereon.
4 Then I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, & to reade the booke, neither to looke thereon.
5 And one of the Elders said vnto me, Weep not: behold, that 4 Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, that root of Dauid, hath obtained to open the booke, and to open the seuen seales thereof.
6 Then I beheld, and loe, 7 in the midst of the throne, and of the foure beasts, and in the midst of the Elders stood a Lambe, as though hee had bene killed, which had seuen homes, and seuen eyes, which are the seuen spirits of God, sent into all the world.
8 And he came, and tooke the booke out of the right hand of him that sat vpon the throne.
9 And when hee had taken the booke, the foure beasts, and the foure and twenty Elders fell down before the Lambe, hauing euery one harps and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of the Saints, 9 And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthie to take the booke, and to open the seales thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed vs to God by thy blood out of euery kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation, 10 And hast made vs vnto our God 4 Kings, and Priests, and we shall reigne on the earth.
11 Then I beheld, 12 I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beasts & the Elders, 13 and there were: ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands, 14 Saying with a loud voyce, Worthie is the Lambe that was killed, to receiue power, and ri-

tion of S. Iohn

that it was a thing

verse.
4. Thus neither of them that are in heauen, nor of them, which are in the earth, see this like better. Nowe this enumeration of parts is sufficient to the denying of the whole. For of the creatures, one sort is in heauen, another in the earth: and another vnder the earth in the sea, as is after declared, verse 15. 5 The second part of this chapter, in which is set downe the Reuelation of the Sonne, as before was sayd. This part containeth 11. 12 an historie of the manner how God prepared
S. Iohn to vnderstand this Reuelation in this verse. Secondly, the Reuelation of the Sonne himselfe vnto the 7. verse. Thirdly, the accidents of this Reuelation, in the middle of the chapter. The manner how is here described in two sorts, one from without him by speech in this verse. Another within, by opening the eyes of S. Iohn (which before was held) that he might see in the verse following. 6 The 4th and most mighty and most approued Prince: according to the visit of the Hebrew people.
7 The summe of this Reuelation: Christ the mediator takeh and openeth the booke, verse 6. 7. Therefore in this Reuelation is described the person of Christ in this verse.
His last, in the next verse. The person is thus described: Christ the mediator betweene God, Angels and men: the steall word of God, and our redeemer: as the Lambe of God, standing as laide, and making intercession for vs by the virtue and merit of his everlasting sacrifice, as armed with the Spirit of God in his owne person, this is, with the power and wisdom of God eternally vnto the gouernment of this whole world. 8 The fact of Christ the Mediator, that hee cometh vnto the throne of the Father, of which chap. 4. maketh the booke out of his hand to open it. For that he opened it, it is first expressed, chap. 4. 1. 2. Now follow in this chapter the accidents of the Reuelation last spoken of: that all this holy Angel, and did sing vnto him: both the chiefe, verse 9. 10. and common order of Angels, verse 11. 12. and of all things created, verse 13. the prince of both sorts agreeing thereto, verse 14. 10 The symbols or signes of praise, sweet in flavour, and acceptable vnto God, see chap. 5. 3. 4 Look chap. 8. 3. 5 No common song. 11 That he com-fessed according to the present matter the Lambe hauing receiued the booke, as it were with his feet, and opened it with his hornes, as it is said in the Canticle. 12 The song of the Wisdome of Princes standing by the throne, consisting of a publication of the praise of Christ, and a confirmation of the same from his benefices, both which we haue remained of him: he is the suffering of his death, our redemption vpon that cross by his blood, in this verse: and our communion with him in Kingdome & Priesthood, which long agoe he hath granted vnto vs with himselfe) and which we hereafter hope to obtaine, as our Kingdome to come, in Christ, in the verse following. 13 Chap. 1. 1.
1 Peter 2. 9. 14 The confesse of the common order of Angels, following in Latin vnto their Princes that stand by the throne. 15 A number finite, but infinite for aye, infinite in degree, as Dan. 7. 10. 16 Daniel 7. 10. c By this a great number. d Take all praise glorie to him, as the mightiest and wisest of ches,

CHAP. V.

1 The looke sealed with seuen seales, 3 which none could open, 6 that Lambe of God 9 is thought worthy to open, 12 sung by the consist of all the company of beuies.

And I saw in the right hand of him that sat
vnto a iasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in fight like to an emeraud.

1 Appling vnto
the second principall cause, which is the Sonne of God, God and man, the mediator of all, as the eternal word of God the Father, manifested in the flesh. This chapter hath two parts: one that prepareth the way vnto the Reuelation, by rehearsing of the accidents that did occur in the first sonne, and the history of the Reuelation of Christ, thence vnto the end of the chapter. 2 This is in the very right hand of God,

ches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and praise.

13 And all the creatures which are in heaven, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I, saying, Praise, and honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that sitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.

14 And the foure beasts said, Amen, and the foure and twenty Elders fell downe and worshipped him that liueth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the first scale of the booke, 2 the second, 3 the third, 4 the fourth, 5 the fifth, 6 the sixth, 7 the seventh, 8 the eighth, 9 the ninth, 10 the tenth, 11 the eleventh, 12 the twelfth, 13 the thirteenth, 14 the fourteenth, 15 the fifteenth, 16 the sixteenth, 17 the seventeenth, 18 the eighteenth, 19 the nineteenth, 20 the twentieth, 21 the twentyfirst, 22 the twentysecond, 23 the twentythird, 24 the twentyfourth, 25 the twentyfifth, 26 the twentysixth, 27 the twentyseventh, 28 the twentyeighth, 29 the twentyninth, 30 the thirtieth, 31 the thirtyfirst, 32 the thirtysecond, 33 the thirtythird, 34 the thirtyfourth, 35 the thirtyfifth, 36 the thirty-sixth, 37 the thirtyseventh, 38 the thirtyeighth, 39 the thirtiyninth, 40 the fortieth, 41 the fortyfirst, 42 the fortysecond, 43 the fortythird, 44 the fortyfourth, 45 the fortyfifth, 46 the forty-sixth, 47 the fortyseventh, 48 the fortyeighth, 49 the forty-ninth, 50 the fiftieth, 51 the fiftyfirst, 52 the fiftysecond, 53 the fiftythird, 54 the fiftyfourth, 55 the fiftyfifth, 56 the fifty-sixth, 57 the fiftyseventh, 58 the fiftyeighth, 59 the fifty-ninth, 60 the sixtieth, 61 the sixtyfirst, 62 the sixtysecond, 63 the sixtythird, 64 the sixtyfourth, 65 the sixtyfifth, 66 the sixty-sixth, 67 the sixtyseventh, 68 the sixtyeighth, 69 the sixty-ninth, 70 the seventieth, 71 the seventyfirst, 72 the seventysecond, 73 the seventythird, 74 the seventyfourth, 75 the seventyfifth, 76 the seventy-sixth, 77 the seventyseventh, 78 the seventyeighth, 79 the seventy-ninth, 80 the eightieth, 81 the eightyfirst, 82 the eightysecond, 83 the eightythird, 84 the eightyfourth, 85 the eightyfifth, 86 the eighty-sixth, 87 the eightyseventh, 88 the eightyeighth, 89 the eighty-ninth, 90 the ninetieth, 91 the ninetyfirst, 92 the ninetysecond, 93 the ninetythird, 94 the ninetyfourth, 95 the ninetyfifth, 96 the ninety-sixth, 97 the ninetyseventh, 98 the ninetyeighth, 99 the ninety-ninth, 100 the hundredth.

After, I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the scales, and I heard one of the foure beasts say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore I behelde, and lo, there was a white horse, and hee that sate on him, had a bow, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and hee went forth conquering that he might overcome.

3 And when he had opened the second scale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was red, and power was giuen to him that sate thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great sword.

5 And when he had opened the third scale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, and hee that sate on him had balances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beasts say, A measure of wheate for a peny, and threemeasures of barley for a peny, and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

7 And when he had opened the fourth scale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.

9 And when he had opened the fifth scale, I saw vnder the altar the soules of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimony which they maintained.

10 And they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! dost thou not iudge and auenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?

11 And long white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was said vnto them, that they shoulde rest for a little season vntill their fellow seruants, and their brethren that should bee killed euen as they were, were fulfilled.

12 And I behelde when he had opened the sixth scale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the Sunne was as blacke as a sackcloth of haire, and the Moone was like blood.

13 And the starres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge tree casteth her greene figs, when it is shaken of a mightie winde.

14 And heauen departed away, as a scroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were moued out of their places.

15 And the Kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mighty men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselves in dennes, and among the rocks of the mountaines,

16 And saide to the mountaines and rocks, Fall on vs, and hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

maner, and loosing their sight, in this verse falling from on high, verse 3. withdrawing themselves and flying away for the greatnesse of the trouble, verse 14. So holily doe all creatures depend vpon the will of God, and content themselves in his glory. c So they called in oldtime those women works that were of haire. 10 The event of the figure foregoing: that there is no man that shall not be astonished at that general commotion, die away for feare, and hide himselfe in this verse, and with vnto himselfe most bitter death, for exceeding horror of the wrath of God, and of the Lambe, at which before he was astonished. Now this perplexitie is not of the godly but of the wicked, whose portion is in this life, as the Psalmist speaketh. Psal. 17. 12. Not that sorrow which is according vnto God, which worketh repentance vnto salvation, whereof a man shall neuer repent him, but that worldly sorrow that bringeth death, 2 Cor. 7. 9. As their wishings doe declare: for this historie is whole world, learned from the historie of the Church, as I have shewed before. Ch. 4. 1. 11 These are wordes of such as despaire of their escape: of which despaire there are two arguments, the presence of God and the Lambe prouoked to wrath against the world, in this verse: and the confidence of their owne weaknesse, whereby men feele, that they are no way able to stand in the day of the wrath of God, verse 17. as it is said, Eze. 14. 27. * Eze. 1. 19. 20. 10. 8. Luke 23. 30.

CHAP. VII.

1 The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 2 are stayed until the third of the Lord, 3 of all tribes were sealed, 4 such as suffered persecution for Christs sake, 5 have great felicitie, 6 and joy.

And after that, I sawe foure Angels stand on the foure corners of the earth, holding the foure winds of the earth, that the windes should

This whole place is a certaine interlocation and bringing in for this whole Chap by occasion of the prediction and argument of the first scale. For first that euill is pronounced in the sixth, vnto the 9. verse. Then iudgements are giuen by the elect for that cause, verse 10. 11. 12. Lastly, the accomplishment of the thing is set forth vnto the end of the Chap. The first verse is a transition, speaking of the Angels which keepe the infection parts from all euill, vntill God doe command. For (as it is excellently figured by Ezech. chap. 1. 12.) their faces and their wings are reached upwards, continually waiting vpon and beholding the countenance of God for their direction, & every of them goeth into that part that is right before his face: whither soeuer the Spirit shall go, they go, they step not out of the way, that is they depart not so much as a foote bredth from the path commanded them of God. * On the four quarters or coasts of the earth.

7 The fifth signe is that the holy martyrs which are vnder the altar, whereby they are sanctified, that is, received into the trust and tani. n of Christ (into whose hands they are committed) shall cry out for the iudice of God, in a holy zeale to aduance his kingdom, and not of any private perturbation of the minde, in this and the next verse, and that God will, in deed, signe, and word comfort them, verse. 1. 8 As before, 3. 4. 6 Until their number be fulfilled. 9 The sixth signe, the notation whereof hath two parts, the figure, and the event. The figure is, that the earth, heauen, and the things that are in them, for horror of the finnes of the world vpon those most heauie foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints shall be shaken most vehemently, trembling in horrible

Whether thou take him for Christ, who hath the keyes of hell of himselfe, and by Princely authoritie, Chapter 1. verse 18. or whether for some other Angel, who hath the same key permitted vnto him, and occupieth it ministerially, or by office of his ministry, here and Chapter 21. so the word falling is taken Gen. 22. 10. and 24. 46. and Hebr. 6. 6. The key was given to this starre. For those powers of wickednesse are thrust downe into hell, and bound with chaines of darkness: and are there kept vnto damnation, vntill God for a time do let them loose. For 2. 4. Jude 6. and of this booke Chapter 2. 20. the historie of which chapter is an agreement of time with this present Chapter. By the bottomlesse pit, he meaneth the deepest darknesse of hell. Vnto this is added, the smoke of the fire, and infernal spinites, all darke, and darkening all things in leuen and in earth. The spiritual darknesse are the causes of all disorder and confusion. For as it will at a time certaine (whereof verse the first) sent these darknesse into his kingdom, that he might at once, and with one impression overthrow all things, and present if it were possible the elect themselves. By this darknesse all spiritual light, both as the Sunne, and as the fire which is lightened by the Sunne, is taken away: and this is that which goeth before the spirits: it followeth of the spirits themselves. A description of the malignant spirits invading the world, from their nature, power, forme and order. From their nature, for that they are like vnto ceruine locusts, in quicknesse, subtilty, hurtfulnesse, number, and such like, in this verse. From their power, for that they are, as the Scorpions of the earth, of a secret force to doe hurt. For our battell is not here with flesh and blood, but with powers, &c. Ephesians 6. 12. This place of the power of the Devils, generally noted in this verse, is particularly declared after wards. In the three next verses.

and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 7 Then the third Angel blew his trumpet, and their fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the star is called worme-wood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 9 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the funne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I beheld, and heard one angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the founds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

14 And the fourth execution vpon the lighte me bodies of heauen, which minister vnto this inferior world. 10 A lamenable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the diuine execution which yet are behind: which also is a passage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himselfe expressly foretold in the 21. chapter of S. Luke, verse 24. &c. and they are generally denounced, without particular note of time.

CHAP. IX.

1 The first Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoyleth locusts come out. 13 The first Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth borsermen, 20 to destroy mankind.

1 And the first Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a star fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was given the key of the bottomlesse pit.

2 4 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the funne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 5 And there came out of the smoke Locusts vpon the earth, and vnto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power.

14 And the fourth execution vpon the lighte me bodies of heauen, which minister vnto this inferior world. 10 A lamenable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the diuine execution which yet are behind: which also is a passage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himselfe expressly foretold in the 21. chapter of S. Luke, verse 24. &c. and they are generally denounced, without particular note of time.

4 6 And it was commanded them, they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but only those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed five moneths, and that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a scorpion, when hee hath stung a man.

6 4 Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not find it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them.

7 7 And the forme of the locusts was like vnto horses prepared vnto battell, and on their heads were as it were crownes, like vnto gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of Lyons.

9 And they had habbergions, like vnto habbergions of yron, and the found of their wings was like the found of charrets when many horses runne vnto battell.

10 And they had tailles like vnto scorpions, & there were stings in their tailles, and their power was to hurt five moneths.

11 8 And they haue a king ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 9 One wo is past, and behold, yet two woes come after this.

Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand yeres mentioned chap. 20. 3. and that is from the Pope domine of that Gregory the seventh, a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senensis: for this man being made altogether of impiety & wickednesse, as a slave of the deuill, whom he serued, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperour Henry the fourth: went about by all manner of treachery to set vp and put downe Empires and kingdoms, as liked him selfe: and doubted not to sit Rodolph the Swedon ouer the Empire in stead of Henry before named, sending vnto him a Crowne with this verse annexed vnto it, Petrus dei Petrus, Petrus diadema Rodolpho, that is, The Rocke to Peter gave the Crowne, and Peter Rodolphus doth renoune. Finally, he so finely bestowed his life in his affairs, as he miserably let all Christendome on fire, and consumed ouer vnto his successors the burning brand of vsurage, who enragged with like ambition, neuer ceased to nourish that flame, and to enkindle it more and more, whereby Cities, Common-weales, and whole kingdoms set together by the eares amongst themselves by most expert cutthroates came to ruine, whilst they miserably wounded one another. This termes of an hundred and fifty yeeres, taketh end in the time of Gregorie the ninth, or Hugolinus Augustinus (as he was before called) who caused to be compell'd by one Raymond his Chaplaine & confessor, the body of Decretals, and by suffrage of the Kings and Princes, to be published in the Christian world, & established for a law. For by this sleight at length the Popes arrogated vnto themselves licence to kill whom they would, whilst others were warres: and without feare established a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the first Angel had expressly forbidden, and had hindered vntill this time. The effects of these bloody actions are declared vpon the first verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together vnto death, and preferre the same before life, by reason of the grieuousnesse of the miseries that oppressed them. 4 Chap. 6. 16. Eja. 2. 22. Hofe. 10. 8. 7 The forme of these hellish spirits & administrators, is shadowed out by signes and visible figures in this sort: that they are verie expert and swift: that where so ever they are in the world, the kingdom is theirs: that they manage all their affaires with cunning and skill, in this verse, that making shew of mildnesse and tender affection to drawe on men withall, they most impudently rage in all mischief: that they are most mightie to doe hurt, verie the eighth, that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the colour of religion & sacred authoritie of papalised, that they fill all things with horror, verie 9, that they are frandlens: that they are vresumous and extremely noysome, though their power be limited, verie 10. All which things are properly in the infernal powers, & communicated by them vnto their ministers and vassals. 8 The order of powers of malignitie: that they are subiect to one infernal King, whom thou mayest call in English the Destroyer: he driueth the whole world both Iewes and Gentiles into the destruction: that belongeth vnto himselfe. And I cannot tel whether this name haue respect vnto the Eymological in interpretation of Hildebrand, by a figure often vied in Holy Scripture: which albeit it may otherwise be turned of the Germaner (as the sense of compounding words is commonly ambiguous) yet in very deed it signifieth as much as if thou shouldst call him the firebrand, that is, hee that setteth on fire those that be faithfull vnto him. 9 A passage vnto the next point, and the historie of the time following.

6 Here that power of the deuils is particularly described according to their actions & the effects of the same. Their actions are said to be bounded by the counsell of God: both because they hurt not all men, but onely the reprobate (for the godly and elect, in whom there is any part of a better life, God guardeth by his decree) who Christ shall not haue feared, in this verie: and also because they neither had all power nor at all times, no not over those that are their owne, but limited in manner and time, by the precept of God, verie 5. So their power to afflict the godly is none, and let the wicked be limited in size & in effect, by the will of God: for the manner was prescribed vnto them that they should not slay but torment the wretched world. The time is, or five moneths, or for an hundred and fifty dayes, that is, for so many yeeres, in which the deuils haue indeed mightily persecuted all things in the world: and yet without that publike and unpunished licence of killing, which afterwards they vsurped when the first Angel had blowen his trumpet, as hath been said vpon the thirteenth verse. Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand yeres mentioned chap. 20. 3. and that is from the Pope domine of that Gregory the seventh, a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senensis: for this man being made altogether of impiety & wickednesse, as a slave of the deuill, whom he serued, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperour Henry the fourth: went about by all manner of treachery to set vp and put downe Empires and kingdoms, as liked him selfe: and doubted not to sit Rodolph the Swedon ouer the Empire in stead of Henry before named, sending vnto him a Crowne with this verse annexed vnto it, Petrus dei Petrus, Petrus diadema Rodolpho, that is, The Rocke to Peter gave the Crowne, and Peter Rodolphus doth renoune. 10 The first execution done vpon the world by the y<sup>e</sup> raticall powers thereof, working in the foure parts of the earth, that is, in most cruell manner executing their tyrannous domination through the whole world, and killing the miserable people with out punishment, which before was not lawfull for them to doe in that sort, as I shewed vpon y<sup>e</sup> fourth vers. This narration hath two parts: a commandement from God, in the 14. vers. and an execution of the commandement, in the vers. follow. ag.

11 The commandement given by Christ himselfe, who is gouernour our all. He alludeth to the altar of incense, which stood in the Court which the Priests were in power against the Arke of the Couenant, hauing a vail betwixt them.

12 As if he should haue said, these hitherto haue bene so bound by power of God, that they could not freely run vpon all men as themselves lust, but were stayed and restrained at that great flood of: Supbrates, that is, in their spirituall Babylon (or this is a Periphrasis of the spiri<sup>t</sup>ual Babylon, by the limits of the visible Babylon long since ouerthrowne) that they might not commit those horrible slaughters, which they long breasted after. Now go to, let loose those foure Angels, that is, administrators of y<sup>e</sup> wrath of God, in that number that is convenient to the slaughtering of the foure quarters of the world: first them vp, and give them the bridle, that rulling out of that Babylon of theirs, which is the seate of the wicked ones, they may sle vpon all the world, therein to rage, and most licentious to practise their tyranny, as God hath ordeined. This was done when Gregorie the ninth by publike authoritie established for law, his owne Decretals, by which he might freely lay traines for the life of simple men. For who init that feeth not that the lawes Decretall most of them are snares to catch foules withall? Since that time (O good God!) how great slaughters haue there bene? how great massacres? All histories are full of them: and this our age aboundeth with most horrible and monstrous examples of the same. 13 The execution of the commandement, is in two points one, that those butchers are let loose, that out of their tower of the spirituall Babylon that might with furie ronne abroad through all the world, as well the thiefe of that crew which are most prompt vnto all assayes, in this vers: as their multitudes, both most copious, of which a number certaine is named for a number infinite, vers. 16. and in themselves by all meanes fully furnished to hide and to hurt, vers. the fourteenth, as being armed with fire, smoke and brimstone, as appeareth in the colour of this armour, which dazeleth the eyes of all men: & haue the strength of Lyons to hurt withall, from which (as out of their mouth) the fire, smoke, and sinking darts of the Pope are shot out, vers. 18. The other points, that these butchers haue effected the commandement of God by fraud and violence, in the two vers. following. 14 That is, they are harmefull euery way: on what part soeuer thou put thine hand vnto them, or they touch thee, they doo hurt. So the former are called Scorpions, vers. 15. Now remaineth the euent (as I said vpon the first vers.) which followed of so many and so grievous iudgements in the most wicked world namely an impenitent obfirmatio<sup>n</sup> of the vngodly in their impietie and variegat<sup>i</sup>onnesse, though they feele themselves most vehemently pressed with the hand of God: for their obstinate vngodlinesse is the wed in this vers: and their variegat<sup>i</sup>onnesse in the vers. following. Witherto hath bene the generall historie of things to be done vniuersally in the whole world: which because it doth not so much belong to the Church of Christ, is there not so expressly distinguished by certaintie of time and other circumstances, but is wouen, as they say, with a slight hand. Also there is none other cause why the historie of the seventh Angel is passed over in this place, then for that the same more properly apperteyneth vnto the historie of the Church. But this is more diligently set out according to the timet be of, Chapter 11 and 16, as shall appaere vpon those places. ¶ Psal. 115. 4. and 135. 15.

CHAP. X.

1 Another Angel appereth clothed with a cloude, & holding a booke open, 3 and cryeth out. 8 A voyce from heauen commaundeth John to take the booke. 10 He eateth it.

1 And I sawe another mightie Angel come downe from heauen, clothed with a cloude, and the raine bowe vpon his head, and his face was as the sunne, and his feete as pillars of fire.

2 And hee had in his hand a little booke open, and he put his right foot vpon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loude voice, as when a lion roareth: & when he had cried, seven thunders vttered their voyces.

4 And when the seven thunders had vttered their voyces, I was about to write: but I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto me, a Seale vp those things which the seven thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I sawe stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, li<sup>ft</sup> vp his hand to heauen,

6 And sware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, & the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things that therein are, that a time should be no more.

7 But in the dayes of the voyces of the seventh Angel, when he shall begin to blowe the trumpet, euen the myserie of God shall be finished, as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets.

8 And the voyce which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and said, Goe, and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and faide vnto him, Giue me the little booke. And hee said vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweete as honey.

10 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.

11 And hee said vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

ly, that hee brought not by chance, but out of a booke, this open Reuelation, fit fourth vnto the eye, to signifie the same vnto the sea, and land, as the Lord said all, vers. the second. Thirdly that hee offered the same not whispering or muttering in a corner (as false prophets do) but crying out with a loude voyce vnto them which heepe, and with a Lyonish and terrible noyce rouse d vp the secure: the very thunders themselves giuing testimonies thereunto, vers. the third. Lastly, for that hee confirmed all by an oath, vers. 5, 6, 7. 2 Christ Iesus, see the seventh Chapter and the second vers. 3 Namely, a speciall booke of the affaires of Gods Church. For the booke that containeth things belonging vnto the whole world, is said to be kept with the Creator, the first Chapter & the first vers., but the booke of the Church, with the Redeemer: and out of this booke is taken the rest of the historie of this Apocalyp<sup>t</sup>. 4 A godly care is laudable, but must be ioynd with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to be taken in hand but by calling; which most bee expected and waited for of the godly. a Keep them close. b This was a gesture of one that sweareth, which men doe now a dayes vs. 5 Neither time it selfe put the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand, which is altogether of eternitie & beyond all times. c There shall neuer be any more time. 6 When of Chap. 11. 15 and 16. 17. 7 The other part of this Chapter, concerning the particular calling of Saint Iohn to the receiuing of the Prophecie following which is enioyned him, first by signe in three verses, then in plaine wordes in the last vers. Vnto the sitting fourth of the signe belong the things: That Saint Iohn is sent from heauen to demand the booke of the Prophecie in this lastly: for these motions and desires God doeth inspire: that demanding the booke, hee is charged to take it in a figurative manner, the vs. whereof is expounded vers. the ninth, (as in the second Chapter of Ezechiel, and the ninth vers.) whence this simile is borrowed: lastly, for that Saint Iohn at the commandement of Christ tooke the booke and found by experience that the same as proceeding from Christ was most sweete, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church, it was most bitter vnto his spirit. 8 A simple and plaine declaration of the signe before going, witnessing the double calling of Saint Iohn, and lying vpon him the necessity thereof.

CHAP.

18 The third place as I noted before, is of the rising againe of the Prophets from the dead, and their carying vp into heauen, in the resurrection in this verse: their calling and lifting vp into heauen, in the verses following.

19 That is, what time God shall destroy that wicked Boniface.

20 That is, the Prophets of God shall in a sort rise againe, not the same in prison, (as they say) but in spirit: that is, in the power and efficacy of their ministry, which Saint Iohn expressed before. vs. 9. and 6. And lo the prophecy that is spoken of of Elias, is interpreted by the Angels to be vnderstood of Iohn the Baptist, Luk. 1. 17. For the same Boniface himselfe, who fought to kill and destroy them, was by the fire of Gods mouth (which the holy ministry sheweth and exhibiteth) deuoured and died miserably in prison, by the endnor of Satra Columensis, & Nagaretus a French knight whom Philip the faire king of France sent into Italy but with a very small power.

21 That is, the most grievous heat of afflictions and persecution shall stay for a while, for the great amaze that shall arise vpon that sudden and vlooked for iudgement of God. 22 They were called by God into heauen, and taken out of this malignant world, into the heavenly Church, which also lieth hidden here in the earth, to exercise their calling secretly: as of whom this wicked world was vworship. Heb. 11. 38. For the Church of the wicked is by comparison called the earth of the world: and the Church of the godly, heauen. So in ancient time amongst the godly Israelites: so amongst the lawes in the daies of Manasses & other kings, when the earth refused the heires of heauen, wee read that they lay hidden as heauen in the earth. 23 Yet could they not hinder the secret ones of the Lord (as the psalmist called them, Psal. 134.) but that they went on forward in his worke. 24 Bergomensis saith, in the yere of our Lord 1301. this yere a blasing flaxe soterrelling great calamitie to come, appeared in heauen: in which yere vpon the feast of S. Andrew, so great an earthquake arose, as neuer before: which also continuing by times, for many dayes, ouerthrew many flaxely houses. This saith hee of the yere next following, the Iubile: which Iohn to many ages before, expressed word for word. 25 They were indeed broken with present affliction of mind, but did not earnestly repent as they ought to haue done. 26 Glorified God by confessing his Name. 27 He passeth vnto the second historie: which is the second part of this Chapter. 28 Iohn calleth these the second & third wo, hauing respect vnto Chap. 9. 12. 29 Of whose sounding the trumpet Christ expresseth foretold, Chap. 10. 7. and this is the second part of this Chapter, containing a general history of the Christian Church from the time of Boniface 8. vnto the consummation of the victory declared by voice from heauen. In this historie there are three branches: a preparation by the sound of the Angels trumpets: a narration by the voyces of heavenly Angels and Elders: and a confirmation by signe. 28 The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heavenly creatures, in this verse, & both an adoration by all the Elders, ver. 16. and also a most ample thanks giuing, ver. 17. 18. The fence of the acclamation is, Now the Lord is entred on his kingdom, and hath restored his Church in which most mightily recovered from the persecution of the Gentiles, he may glorifie himselfe. Namely that, which the Lord ordained when first he ordained his Church, that faith of the Saints doth now behold as accomplished. 29 As before 7. 11. This giuing of thanks is altogether of the same content with the wordes going before. 30 A speech of the Hebrew language, as much to say, as Gentiles being angry thine inflamed wrath came vpon them & shewed it selfe from heauen, occasioned by their anger & iurie. 31 This is the confirmation of the next prophecy before going by signes exhibited in heauen, and that of two sorts, whereof some are visible, as the passing away of the heauen, the opening of the Temple, the Arke of the covenant appearing in the Temple, & testifying the glorious presence of God, and the lightnings others apprehended by eare and such dull sense, which beare witness in heauen and in earth to the truth of the iudgements of God,

11 But after 10 three daies & an halfe, 12 the spirit of life comming from God, shall enter into them, and they 13 shall stand vp vpon their feet: and great feare shall come vpon them which law them.

12 And they shall heare a great voyce from heauen, saying vnto them, 13 Come vp higher. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloude, 14 And their enemies shall see them.

13 14 And the same houre shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slaine in number seuen thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, 15 and gaue glory to the God of heauen.

14 16 The second wo is past, and behold, the third wo will come anon.

15 17 And the seuenth Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, saying, 18 The kingdoms of the world are our Lords, and his Christs, and he shall reigne for euermore.

26 19 Then the foure & twenty Elders, which sate before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God, 27 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lord God almighty, Which art, & Which wast, and Which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdome.

18 30 And the Gentiles were angry, & thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be iudged, & that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saints, & to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them, which destroy the earth.

19 Then the Temple of God was 31 opened in heauen, and there was seene in his Temple the Arke of his covenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

1 A woman 2 appeareth traussiling with child, 4 who of child the dragon would deuoure, 7 but Michael ouercommeth him, 9 and casteth him out, 13 and she more bet a cast deuore and vanquish & she more fiercely be a sacrifice his subtilties.

C H A P. XII.

1 And there appeared a great wonder in heauen: 2 A woman clothed with the sun, and the moone was vnder her feet, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.

2 And 3 she was with child, and cried traueiling in birth, & was pained ready to be deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heauen: 4 for behold a great red dragon hauing 5 seuen heads, and ten 6 hornes, and seuen crowns vpon his heads:

4 7 And his taile drew the third part of the starres of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon 8 stood before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, 9 to deuoure her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 10 So she brought forth a man 11 child, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: & that her child was taken vp vnto God & to his throne.

6 12 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that 13 they should feede her there a thousand, two the Chap. following. The beginning of the Christian Church we define to be from the first moment of the conception of Christ, vntil that time when in this Church was as it were weined and taken away from the breast or milke of her mother: which is the time when the church of the lawes with their citie and Temple was ouerthrowne by the iudgement of God. So we haue in this chapter the story of 69 yeres and vponwards. The parts of this chap. are three. The first is, the history of the conception and bearing in wombe, in 4. verses. The second, an historie of the birth from the 5. verse vnto the 12. The third is, of the woman that had brought forth, vnto the end of the chap. And these severall parts haue every one their conflicts. Therefore in this first part are two things contained, one, the conception and bearing in wombe, in two verses: and another of the lying in waite of the Dragon against that should be brought forth, in the next 7. verses. In the first point are these things, the description of the mother, verse 1: and the dolours of childbirth, verse 2. all shewed vnto Iohn from Iacob. 2. A type of the true holy Church which then was in the nation of the lawes. This Church (as is the state of the holy Church Catholike) did in it selfe floure about with glory giuene of God, & rode vnder lette mutabilitie and changeableness, and possessed the kingdome of heauen as the heire thereof. 3. For this is that barren woman that brought not forth of which Esa. 45. 1. & Gal. 4. 27. she cried out for good cause, and was tormented at that time, when in the iudgement of all she seemed nere vnto death, and in manner ready to giue vp the ghost for reason of her weakness and povertrie. 4. That is the deuil or Satan (as is declared, ver. 9.) mightie, angry and full of wrath. 5. The aby to withstand & oyle Iacob Church broken off, but is, the Catholike Church, and that with kingly furniture and y rannical magnificence signified by the crowne set vpon his head, as if the same without contumelie belonged vnto him by the proper right: as also he boasted vnto Christ, Matth. 4. 9. So after, vpon chap. 13. 1. 6. More then are the hornes of the Lambe, or ten after, Churches are: so well furnished doth the tyrant brag himselfe to be, vnto all manner of mischief. 7. After the description of Satan followeth this action, that is, his battell offered vnto the Church partly to that which is visible, where in the wheat is mingled with the chaffe, and the good fish with that which is euill: a good part thereof, though in appearance it shined as the starres shine in heauen, he is said to thrust down out of heauen, and to persecute: for if it were possible he would pervert even the elect, Mat. 24. 24. & partly to the elect members of the holy Catholike Church inake break from this verse. Many therefore of the members of this visible Church (saith S. Iohn) he ouerthrew & triumphed vpon them. 8. He with flood that eld Church of the lawes which was now ready to bring forth the Christian Church, & matched for that she should bring forth. For the whole Church & whole body is compared vnto a woman and a part of the Church vnto that which is brought forth, as we haue noted at large vpon Cant. 7. 6. 9. Christ mystically (as they call him) that is, the whole Church, consisteth of the person of Christ as the head, & of the body vntoed thereto by the Spirit, so is the name of Christ taken 1. Cor. 12. 12. 10. The 2. historie of this Church deliuered of child: in which first the consideration of the child borne, & of the mother, is described in 2. verses secondly the battell of the dragon against the young child, and the victorie obtained against him, in 3. verses following: last of all is sung a song of victorie, vnto the 12. verse. Now S. Iohn in consideration of the child borne, noteth two things: or he describeth him, & his station or place in this verse. 11 That is Christ the head of the Church ioyned with his Church (the beginning 10. 22. and foundation whereof is the same Christ) indowd with kingly power, and taken vp into heauen out of the lawes of Satra (who as a Serpent did bite him vpon the crosse) that sitting vpon the celestial throne, he might reigne ouer all. 12 The Church of Christ which was of the lawes, after his assumption into heauen, hid it selfe in the world as in a wilderness, trusting in the early defence of God, as witnesseth S. Luke in the Acts of the Apostles. 13 Namely the Apostles and seruants of God ordained to feed with the word of life, the Church collected both of the lawes & Gentiles: so that any man will take the word, & earnestly imperiously, after 7. vs. of the Hebrews, in stead of deuore: but I like the first better. For he hath respect vnto those two Prophets, of whom chap. 11. 3. as for the meaning of the 12. 50. daies, looke the same place.

hundredth

hundred and threescore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, <sup>14</sup> Michael and his Angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 <sup>15</sup> But they prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in heauen.

9 And the great dragon, that olde serpent, called the deuill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: hee was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loud voice in heauen, saying, <sup>16</sup> Now is saluation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their testimonie, and they loued not their liues vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when <sup>17</sup> the dragon sawe that hee was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man childe.

14 <sup>18</sup> But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that she might flee into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished for a <sup>19</sup> time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 <sup>20</sup> And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cause her to bee carried away of the flood.

16 <sup>21</sup> But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 <sup>22</sup> Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the commandments of God, and haue the testimonie of Iesus Christ.

18 <sup>23</sup> And I stood on the sea sand.

of the it with remnant was come to nought, he refused to fall vpon her seede, that is, the Church as heied also by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the same. And this is that other branch, as I sayd vpon the thirteenth verse, in which the purpose of Satan is shewed verse 17. and his attempt, verse 18. <sup>23</sup> That is, a most mightie tempest that he rushed vpon the whole world (whose Prince he is) to raise the floods & prooue the nations, that they might with their furious bellows to rise vp and downe, drive he re and there, and finally destroy the Church of Christ with the holy members of the same. But the providence of God resisted his attempt, that he might raise the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were gentle. The rest of this storie of the Dragon is excellently profecuted by the Apostle S. Iohn hereafter in the twentieth chapter. For here the Dragon endeauouring to doe mischief, was by God cast into prison.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beast with many heads is decribed. 12 which draweth the most part of the world to idolatrie. 14 The other beastring out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him.

1 And I saw a beast rise out of the sea, having seven heads, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his head the name of blasphemie.

2 And the beast which I sawe, was her beginning, doth now passe vnto the storie of the progresse thereof, as I shewed in the interce of the forme. Chapter. And this historie of the progresse of the Church and the battell thereof, is set downe in this Chapter, but divided in two parts, one is of the euill Roman Empire, vnto the tenth verse. Another of the bodie Ecclesiasticall or prophetically, thence vnto the end of the Chapter. In the former part are shewed three things: First the state of that Empire, in foure verses: then the aduersities thereof, in three verses: after the effects which is exceeding great glorie, verse the eighth. And last of all is commended the vnto the infirmitie of the godly against the evils that shall come from the same, verse 9. 10 The historie of the state, containeth a most ample description of the beast, first in verse 1. and then restated after hurs, verse 2. 3 On the sand whereof stood the deuill practicing new tempests against the Church, in the verse next before going: what time the Empire of Rome was endangered by donesticall dissensions, and was mightily troubled, hauing new and new heads, and new Emperours. See in the tenth Chapter and the eighth verse.

3 Having the same instruments of power, providence, and most expert government, which the Dragon is said to haue had, in the twelfth Chapter and in the third verse. 4 Wee reade in the twelfth Chapter and third verse, that the dragon had seven crownes set vpon seven heads: because the these avoucheth himselfe to bee proper Lord and Prince of the world, but this beast is sayde to haue ten crownes, set vpon ten heads: not heads but hornes: because the beast is beheld for all vnto the Dragon, verse 2. and doth not otherwise raise, then by lawe of subiection giuen by him, namely, that hee employ his hornes against the Church of God. The speech is taken from the ancient custome a dorne of dealing in such case: by which they that were absolute kings did wear the diademe vpon their heads: but their vassals and such as raygned by grace from them, wore the same vpon their hoodens, for they might commodiously lay downe the diademes when they came into the presence of their Soueraignes, as also the Elders are said, when they adored God which late vpon their throne, haue cast downe their crownes before him. Chapter 4. verse 10.

5 Contrary to that which God of old commanded should be written in the head piece of the hie Priest, that is, Sauethas Iehoue, Holiness vnto the Lord. The name of blasphemie imposed by the Dragon, is (as I thinke) that which Saint Paul saith in the second Chapter of his second Epistle to the Thessalonians, the fourth verse. Hee fitteth as God, & boasteth himselfe to be God. For this name of blasphemie both the Roman Emperours did then chalenge vnto themselves, as Suetonius and Dion doe report of Caligula and Domitian: & after them the Popes of Rome did: which al mouth professe the same of themselves, when they chalenged vnto themselves soveraigntie in holy things: of which kind of sayings the first booke of the Decretals, the Clementines, and the Extravagants, are very full. For these men were not content with that which Angliens wrote in his Poetria (the beginning of the eolis. Papa super mundi The Pope is the wonder of the world) Nec Deus est homo, sed neuter est inter utrumque. Thou art not God ne art thou man, but neither mixt of both: as the glossa writeth vpon the first booke. But they were bold to take vnto themselves the very name of God, & to accept it giuen of other according as almost an hundred & twentie yeres since, there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he should first enter into Rome in his dignitie Popall, a Pageant of triumph, and comingly fixed vpon the gate of the citie he should enter at, hauing written vpon it this blasphemous verse:

Oraclo vocis mundi moderaris habenas,
Et merito in terris crederis esse Deus.

By oracle of thine owne voice the world thou governest all,
And worthily a God on earth men thinke, and do thee call.

The six and six hundred like the like who can impute vnto that modestie whereby good men of old would haue themselves called the seruants of the seruants of God? Vnto either this is a name of blasphemie, or there is none at all.

The beast

6 Swift as the Leopard, easily clapping all things, as the Beare doeth with his foot, and tearing and devouring all things with the mouth as doth the Lion.

7 That is, hee lent the same vnto the beast to vie, when he perceived that himselfe could not escape, but must needs be taken by the hand of the Angell, and cast into the bottomlesse pit, Chapter 20, yet did not hee abandon the same utterly from himselfe, but that hee might vie it in as long as he could.

8 This is the other place that appertaineth to the description of the beast of Rome: that besides that naturall dignitie, and amplitude of the Romane Empire, which was shadowed in the two former verses, there was added this also as miraculous, that one head was wounded as it were, vnto death, and was healed againe, as from heauen, in the sight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperour, in whom the race of the Cæsars fell from the imperiall dignitie, & the gouernement of the Common weale was translated vnto others: in whose hands the Empire was so cured and recovered vnto health, as hee seemed vnto all so much the more deeply rooted and grounded last, then euer before. And hence followed those effects, which are next spoken of: First an admiration of certaine power, as it were, sacred and diuine, sustaining the Empire and gouerning it: Secondly, the obedience and submission of the whole earth, in this verse: Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, and most wicked worshipping of deuils, confirmed by the Romane Emperours: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himselfe, which grew into so great estimation, as that both the name and worship of a God was giuen vnto him, verse the fourth. Now there were two causes which brought in the mindes of men this Religion: the shew of excellence, which bringeth with it reuerence: and the shew of power insinuable, which bringeth feare. Who is like (say they) vnto the beast? Who shall bee able to fight with him?

9 The second member containing an historic of the actes of the beast as I sayde verse 1. The historic of them is concluded in two pointes, the beginning and the manner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impietie against God, and his inimitie and iniustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the household of faith, verse the sixt. The manner of the actes or actions done, is of two sortes both impious in minde, and blasphemous in speech against God, his Church and the godly, verse the first: and also most cruell and iniurious in deedes, even such as were done of most raging enemies, and of most insolent and proud conquerours, verse the seventh. 10 Namely his actions, and manner of dealing. As concerning those two and fourtie moneths, I haue spoken of them before Chapter 12.2. 11 That is, the holy Church, the true house of the liuing God. 12 That is, the godly in generall who hid themselves from his crueltie. For this bloodie beast furcharged those holie soules most falsly with innumerable accusations for the Name of Christ as wee reade in Iosime Martyr, Tertullian, Arabinus, Minutius, Eusebius, Augustine, and others: which examples the latter times followed most diligently, in destroying the flocke of Christ: and wee in our owne memorie haue founde by experience, to our incredible griefe. Concerning heauen, See Chapter 11.12. 13 That is, such as are not from euill-lusting elected in Christ Iesus. For this is that Lambe slaine, of which Chapter the first, verse the sixt. These wordes I doe with Arctas, distinguish in this manner: Whose names are not written from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the booke of life, of the Lambe slaine. And this distinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, Chapter 17.8. 14 The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two partes, An exhortation to attentive audience, in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatnings against the wicked and partly comfortes for those which in patience and faith shall waite for that glorious coming of our Lord and Saviour Christ; verse the tenth. Genes 9.6. matthew 26 55.

15 And I beheld another beast coming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon. 16 And hee did all that the first beast could doe before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed. 17 And he did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men, 18 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted him to do in the sight of the beast, saying, to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the 21st beast which had the wound of a sword, and did liue. 19 And it was permitted to him to giue a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

Reuelation

is described

11 The second member of the description, concerning the ecclesiasticall dominion, which in Rome is recorded that which was papallique, & is in the power of composition off all the Prophets, & of the figures of false doctrine. Wherefore the same beast, & body or corporation is called of S. Iohn by the name of false Prophet, Chapter 6. vers. 13, and 19. vers. 20.

The forme of this beast is first described in this verbe, then his actes in the verse following: and the whole speech is concluded in the last verbe. This beast is by his breede, a sonne of the earth (as they say) obscurely borne, & by little & litle creeping vp out of his abject estate. 12 This is in shew he resembled the Lambe (for what is more milde or more humble then to be the servant of the servants of God) but in deede hee played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolfe, Matthew 7. 15. For euen Satan changeth him selfe into an Angell of light, 2. Cor. 11. 14. and what should his honest disciples and seruants doe? 13 The historic of the actes of this beast, containeth in summe three things, bypositie, the witnesse of miracles, and tyrannie: of which the first is noted in this verbe, the second in the three verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses. His bypositie is most full of leasing, whereby hee abuseth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit he hath by his cunning, as it were by liue, made of the former beast a most miserable στυγερὸν or ananionie, vsurped all his authoritie vnto himselfe: and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and viewe of men, yet hee carrieth himselfe so, as if hee honoured him with most high honour, and did in very good truth cause him to be reuerenced of all men. 18 For vnto this head of Rome, which of a ciuill Empire is made an Ecclesiasticall hierarchie, are giuen diuine honors, & diuine authority: so farre, as hee is beleeued to be aboue the Scriptures, which the glosse vpon the Decretales de clauis by this deuillish verbe: Articulos soluit, synodumque facit generalem.

That is, Hee changeth the Articles of faith, and giueth authoritie to generall Councils. Which is spoken of the Papall power. So the beast is by birth, foundation, substance, and finally substance, one: onely the Pope hath altered the forme and manner thereof, being himselfe the head both of that tyrannicall Empire, and also of the false Prophet: for the Empire hath been taken vnto himselfe, and therewith hath added this cunning deuise. Now these wordes, whose deadly wound was cured, are put here for distinction sake, as also sometimes afterwards: that euen at that time the godly members of this prophesie might by this figure be brought to see the thing as present: as it were said, that they might adore this very Empire that now is, whose head wee haue seene in our owne memorie to haue bene cut off, and to be cured againe. 19 The second point of the things done by the beast, is the credite of great wonders or miracles, and appertaining to the strengthening of this impietie: of which figures hee were giuen from aboue, as it is said, that fire was sent downe from heauen by false forerunners, in this verse. Others were shewed here below in the sight of the beast, to establish idolatrie, and decciue soules: which part S. Iohn setteth forth, beginning (as they say) at that which is last, in this manner: First the effect is declared in these wordes, He deceiveth the inhabitants of the earth. Secondly, the common maner of working, in two sorts: one of miracles, for the figures which were giuen him to doe in the presence of the beast: the other of the words added to the signes, and teaching the idolatrie by those signes, saying vnto the inhabitants of the earth, that they should make an image vnto the beast, which &c. Thirdly, a speciall manner is declared, that it is giuen vnto him to put life into the image of the beast: and that such a kind of quickening, that the same both speaketh by answere vnto those that see the counsel of it, & also procureth death against all those that do not obey nor worship it: all which things offend vnto false miracles through the procurement and inspiration of the Deuill, haue bin effected & wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of the fayned, many also done by the deuill in images, as of olde in the Setym, Gen. 31. By which examples is confirmed, not the authoritie of the beast, but the truth of God and these propheties. 20 That is, images, by challenge or change of the number: for the worship of them euer since the second Council of Nice, hath bin ordeined in the Church by publike credite and authoritie, contrary vnto the Law of God. 21 In the Greeke the word is of the Datine case, as much to say, as vnto the worship, honour and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images, this pseudo-prophetical beast doth mightily profit the beast of Rome, of whom I long ago he receiued them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fully called the image of the beast, for that images haue their beginning from the beast, & haue their forme or manner from the will of the beast, and haue their end & vie fixed in the profit & commodity of the beast. 22 And of this miracle of the images of the beast, (that is, which the beast hath ordeined to establish idolatrie) which miraculously speake, & giue judgement, or rather marvellously, by the fraud of the false Prophets, the Papists booke and full fraught. 4 To giue life, as lawnes and dambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

15 And it was permitted to him to giue a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

16 And hee did all that the first beast could doe before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

17 And he did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men,

18 And deceived them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted him to do in the sight of the beast, saying, to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the 21st beast which had the wound of a sword, and did liue.

19 And it was permitted to him to giue a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

20 That is, images, by challenge or change of the number: for the worship of them euer since the second Council of Nice, hath bin ordeined in the Church by publike credite and authoritie, contrary vnto the Law of God. 21 In the Greeke the word is of the Datine case, as much to say, as vnto the worship, honour and obeying of the beast: for by this maintenance of images, this pseudo-prophetical beast doth mightily profit the beast of Rome, of whom I long ago he receiued them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fully called the image of the beast, for that images haue their beginning from the beast, & haue their forme or manner from the will of the beast, and haue their end & vie fixed in the profit & commodity of the beast. 22 And of this miracle of the images of the beast, (that is, which the beast hath ordeined to establish idolatrie) which miraculously speake, & giue judgement, or rather marvellously, by the fraud of the false Prophets, the Papists booke and full fraught. 4 To giue life, as lawnes and dambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

place is a most wicked and most intolerant tyranny, as was sayd be-

CHAP. XIII.

¶ The 7th ambe standeth on mount Sion, 4 with his chafte worshippers. 6 One angel preacheth the Gospel: 8 another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be awaked. 13 A voice from heauen pronounceth them happy, who die in the Lord. 16 The Lords sickle is thrust into the bar-nec, 18 and into the vintage.

THen I looked, and loe, a Lambe stood on mount Sion, and with him an hundredth, fourtie and foure thousand, hauing his Fathers Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice frō heauen as ſound of many waters, & as the ſound of a great thūder: & I heard ſ voice of harpers, harping w̄ their harpes.

3 And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the foure beastes, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song, but the hundreth, fourtie and foure thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled w women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lambe whither soeuer he goeth: these are bought frō men, being the first fruits vnto God, and to the Lambe.

5 And in their mouths was found no guile: for they are wout spot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ Then I saw another Angel fly in my mids of heauē, hauing an euerlasting Gospel, to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people.

7 * Saying with a loud voice, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: & worship him that made & heauen and earth, and the sea, and the fountaines of waters.

8 And there followed another Angel, saying, Babylon that great city is fallen, it is fallen: for she made all nations to drinke of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loud voyce, 7 If any man worship the attendance: for the rest are expounded in the former visions, especially vpon this chapter. 3 As ready gift to do his office: As Act. 5. 56 in the midst of 7 Churches, which aforetime mount Sion did prescribe. 3 As before 7.3 This retinue of the Lamb is described first by diuine marks (as before 7.1) in this vers. Then by diuine operations, in that all eury one in his retinue most vehemently and sweetly (vers. 7.) do glorifie the Lamb with aspecial song before God and his elect Angels: which song both and blood cannot here nor vnderstand, vers. 3 Lastly by their deede done before God, and their sanctification in that they were virgins, pure from spiritual and bodily fornication, that is, from impiety and vniuerse uncleannes, that they followed the Lamb as a guide vnto all goodnesse, and cleaued vnto him: that they are holy vnto him, as of grace redeemed by him: that in trust & in simplicity of Christ, they haue exercised all these things, sanctimony of life, the direction of the Lamb as thankfull remembrance of redemption by him: Finally (to conclude in a word) that they are blamelesse before the Lord, vers. 4 and 5.

The other part (as I haide on the first verse) is of the actes of the Lamb, the manner wherof is deliuered in two sorts, of his speech & of his facts. His speeches are first forth vnto the 13. verse of this chapter, and his facts vnto the 16. chapter. In the speech of the Lamb, which is the word of the Gospel, are taught in this place these things: The seruice of the godly consistiug inwardly of reuerence towards God, & outwardly of the glorifying of him: the visible signe of which is adoration, vers. 7 The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, vers. 8 and the fall of eury one of the vngodly which worship the beast, vers. 9. to 11. Finally, the fate of the holy seruants of God both present vers. 12. and to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, vers. 13. 5 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithful seruants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the eight, hath raised vp to the publishing of the Gospel of Christ, both by preaching and by writing. So God first, decreed vnto the time of the same soueraine, vied Peter Celsidorus an Italian, after, Arnold de villa noua, a Frenchman, when Ocklam, Dante, Petrarch after that, Iohannes de rupe cala a FranciCane: after a while, Iohn Wickliffe an Englishman, and so continually one or another vnto the reuoring of the trowth, and enlarging of his Church. 6 That is, Babylon is destroyed, by the sentence and iudgement of God: the execution wherof S. Iohn describeth, chapter 18. And this voyce of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsell and manifest malice oppressed the light of the Gospel offered from God. ¶ Psal. 145. 6. Acts 24. 15. 7 Psal. 31. 9. ierem. 51. 8. chap. 18.2. A Of her fornication, whereby God was provoked to wrath. 7 That is, shall not worshippe God alone, but will transferre his diuine honour vnto this beast, wherfore hee doe it with his heart, or counterfeiting in shew. For hee (sayeth Christ) that denyethe mee before men, him will I denye before my Father and his Angels, Matth. 10. 32. And this is that voyce of the holy ministerie, which at this time is very much vied of the holy and faithful seruants of God. For hauing nowe sufficiently founde out the publique obliuiscence of Babylon, they labour not any longer to thunder out against the same; but to saine some particular members by terror (as S. Iohn Iude speaketh) and to plucke them out of the publique flame: or else by vehement commendation of their estate, to leade them away, they set before them their example, into which they rush vnto, valeile in good time they returne vnto God: but the godly which are of their owne flocke, they exhort vnto patience, obedience, and faith in the Lord Iesus, and charge them to giue light by their good example, of good life vnto others.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seven Angels having the seven last plagues. 2 They that conquered the beast pray for God. 3 To the seven Angels, 7 seven vials full of Gods wrath, are delivered.

1 And I saw another signe in heaven, great and marueilous, seven Angels, hauing the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I saw 4 as it were a glasse sea, mingled with fire, and 5 them that had gotten victorie of the beast, & of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, 6 stand at the glasse sea, hauing the harpes of God.

3 And they sung 7 the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, 8 Great and marueilous are thy works, Lord God Almighty: iust and true are thy 4 wayes, King of Saints.

4 Who shal not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

5 And after that, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimony was open in heaven.

6 And the seven Angels came out of the Temple, which had the 10 seven plagues, clothed in 11 pure and bright linnen, and hauing their breasts 12 girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the 3 foure beasts gaue vnto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, which lieth for euermore.

8 And the Temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and 4 no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

preparation of the iudgements of God, vnto the 4 verse. another the vocation, instruction, and confirmation of those instruments which God hath ordained for the execution of his iudgements, in 4 other verses. 4 This part of the vision addeth vnto that sea or large vessel of brasse, in which the Priests washed themselves in the entrance of the Temple: for in the entrance of the heavenly Temple (as it is called verse 5) is said to haue bene a sea of glasse, most light some and cleare, vnto the commoditie of chiefe mixt with fire, that is, as containing the treasure of the iudgements of God, which hee bringeth forth and dispenseth according to his owne pleasure: for out of the former, the Priests were cleansed of old: and out of this the vngodly are defiled now, chap. 4. 6. 5 That is, the godly members of Christ, who shall not giue place euen in miracles vnto that beast of the sea before Chap. 13. 17. and 14. 9. 10. 6 Glorifying God: from the particular resurrection of the weapons and instruments of Gods wrath, standing in the sea of glasse. 7 The song of triumph which is Exod. 15. 2. a So is Moses called, for humbles sake, as it is set forth, Deuter. 34. 10. 8 This song hath two parts: one a confession, both particular, in this verse, and general: all in the beginning of the next verse another. a narration of causes belonging to the confession, whereof one kinde is eternall in it selfe, and most present vnto the godly, in that God is both holy, and alone God: another kinde is future and to come. in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones and vnderstanding: as Chap. 11. 2.) were to bee brought vnto the same state of happinesse, by the magnificence of the iudgement of God, in the next verse. 9 Psalm 145. 17. b Thy doings. 10 7. 10 7. The seconde part of the narration (as was noted verse 2.) wherein first the authoritie of the whole argument and matter thereof is figured by a running type of a Temple opened in heauen, as Chap. 11. 19. namely that all those things are diuine and of God, that proceede from thence in this verse. Secondly, the administrators or executors, come forth out of the Temple, verse 6. Thirdly they are furnished with instruments of the iudgements of God, and weapon: fit for the manner of the same iudgements, verse 7. Finally they are confirmed by testimony of the vialle glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimony whereunto was exhibited of old in the law, Exo. 40. 34. 10 That is, commandment to iust at those seven plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymia. 10 Which was in olde times a signe of the Kingly or Princely estate. 12 This girding was a signe of diligence, and the girdle of golde was a signe of sinceritie, and trustworthie in taking in charge the commandments of God. 13 Of these before Chapter 4. 7. 14 None of the seven Angels might returne, till hee had performed fully the charge committed vnto him, according to the decree of God.

CHAP. XVI.

2 and 17 The Angels pour out the seven vials of Gods wrath given vnto them, and so diuers plagues arise in the world, 18 so terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great city.

3 And beast and his image, and receiue his marks in his forehead, or on his hand,

10 The same shall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: and they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worshippinge the beast and his image, and whosoever receiueth the print of his name.

12 Here are the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commandements of God, and the faith of Iesus.

13 Then I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto mee, Write, The dead which die in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so sayeth the Spirit: for they rest from their labours, and their works follow them.

14 And I looked, and behold, 10 a white cloud, and vpon the cloude one sitting like vnto the Sonne of man, 11 hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a 12 sharpe sickle.

15 And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loude voyce to him that sate on the cloude, 4 Thrust in thy sickle and reape: for the time is come to reape: for the 4 harvest of the earth is ripe.

16 And he that sate on the cloude, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cryed with a loude cry to him that had the sharpe sickle, and sayd, Thrust in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyarde of the earth: for her grapes are ripe

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharpe sickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepresse of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepresse was troden without the citie, 13 and blood came out of the winepresse vnto the horse bridle, by the space of a thousand and fixe hundred furlongs.

8 The patience, sanctification and justification by faith: the consequence whereof are, rest, felicity, and glory eternall, in the heavenly iellow. ship of God and his Angels. 9 The seven last part of this Chapter, as I sayde verbe. Of the actes and doings of Christ in overthrowing of Antichrist and his Church by the Spirit of his diuine mouth: seeing that hauing bene called backe by words both publicly and privately vnto his doeing, and aduised of his most certaine ruine: hee yet ceaseth not to maintaine and protect his owne adherents, that they may doe him seruice: and to afflict the godly with most barbarous persecutions. Of those things which Christ doeth: there are two kinde: one common or general in the rest of this chapter, another particular against that savage and rebellious beast and his worshippers in the 9. and 16. chapters.

Tat common kinde, is the calamitie of warres, spread abroad through the whole earth, and killing all things with blood, and that without respect of any person. This is figured or shadowed out in two types, of the harvest and vintage. Since the time that the light of the Gospel beganne to shene out, and since prophetic or preaching by the grace of God was rised up againe, how horrible warres haue bene kindled in the world? how much humane flesh hath bene throwen to the earth by this diuine reaping? how much blood (also for wee) hath been shed for these hundred yeeres almost? all histories doe crye out, and this our age (if euer before) is now in horror, by reason of the rage of that sickle which Antichrist calleth for: in this place is the first type, that is, of the harvest. 10 Declaring his fiercenesse by his colour, like vnto that which is in the white or milke circle of heauen. b That is, for the Lord. c By works, it means the reward which followeth good works. 11 As one that shall reigne from God, and occupie the place of Christ in this miserable execution. 12 That is, a most fitte and commodious instrument of execution, destroying all, by blowing and thrusting through: for who may stande against God? 13 Joel 3. 13. 14 Math. 13. 39. 15 Christ giueth a commandement in this verse, and the Angel executeth it in the next verse. 16 The other type (as I sayde verse 14.) is the vintage: the manner whereof is one with that which went before, if thou except this, that the grape gathering is more exact in seeking out every thing, that is the harvest labour. This is therefore a more grievous iudgement, both because it succeedeth the other, and because it is vnderstood to bee executed with great diligence. 17 That is, it is overshadowed very deepe, and very farre and wider the speech is hyperbolicall or exsistive, to signifye the greatnesse of the slaughter. And these be those pleasant fruites forsooth, of the contempt of Christ, and despising of Antichrist if rather than him, which the miserable, madde, and blinde world doeth at this time reape.

In the former Chapter was set downe the preparation vnto the vials of Gods wrath: here is described the execution thereof. And in this discourse of the execution, is a general commendation: in this veritiesh a particular recital in order of the execution done by euery of the seven Angels, in the left of the chapter. This special execution against Antichrist and his crew, doth in manner agree vnto that which was generally done vpon the whole world, chap. 8. & 9. and belongeth (if my conscience faile me not) vnto the same time. Yet herein they do differ one from another, that this was particularly inflicted vpon the Princes and ring-leaders of the wickednesse of the world; he other generally against the whole world being wicked. And therefore these iudgements are signified more grieuously then the first. The historie of the first Angel, whose plague vpon the earth is described almost in the same words with the first plague of the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9. But it doeth signifie a spiritual vicer, and that torture or banishment: of conscience feared with an hote vnto, which accueth the vngodly within, and both by the light of Gods word, and by the sword of Gods wrath. 3 See chap. 17. 16. 4 The story of the second Angel, who troubleth and molesteeth the seas, that he may flit vp the conscience of men sleeping in their wickednes: See Chap. 8. 12. 5 The story of the third Angel striking the riuers, in this verse, who proclaiming the iustice of God, commendeth the same by a most graue comparison of the finnes of men, with the punishment of God: which is common to this place, and that which went before. Wherefore also this praying is attributed to the Angel of the waters, a name common to the second and third Angels, according as both of them are said to be sent against the waters, albeit the one of the sea, the other of the riuers, in two verses. 6 A confirmation of the prayer before going out of the Sanctuary of God, whether immediately by Christ, or by some one of his Angels, for Christ also is called another Angel, Chap. 7. 23. 8 and 11. 7 The story of the fourth Angel, who throweth the plague vpon the heauen and vpon the Sun, of which Luke 21. 26. the effects whereof are noted vnto. The one peculiar, that it shall scorche men with heat, in this verse. The other proceeding accidentally from the former, that their lusts shall so much the more be entangled against God in the next verse, when yet (O wonderfull mercy and patience of God) all other creatures are first stricken often and grievously by the hand of God before mankind, by whom he is provoked: as if things before going do declare. 8 The story of the first Angel, who striketh the kingdom of the beast: two plagues abroad with darkness, with bites and deuolous most grievous, throughout his whole kingdom, that thereby he might wound the conscience of the wicked: and punish that most peruerse obduracy of the Idolaters: whereof arose perurbation, and thence a furious indignation and desperate madness, raging against God, and hurtful vnto it selfe. 9 The story of the first Angel, who diuided into his act, & the euents thereof. The act is, that the Angel did cast out of his mouth the plague of a most glowing heate, where with euen the greatest floods, and which most were wont to swel & overflow (as Euphrates) were dried vp, by the outflow of God in this ver. The euent is, that the meere madnes where with the wicked are entangled, that they may come the iudgements of God, & abuse them furiously to serue their own turne, & to executing on their own wicked outrage. 10 The bound of the spiritual Babylon, & (o the sufferers of it) same, chap. 17. 11 So the church of the vngodly, & kingdom of the beast is said to be left naked, all the defences thereof, in which they put their trust, being take away fro it. 12 That is, euen they which dwell further off, may in more comodity make haste vnto the sacrifice, which the Lord hath appointed.

And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seven Angels, Goe your wayes, & powre out the seven vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 And the first went and powred out his vial vpon the earth: and there fell a noisome and a grievous sore vpon the men, which had the marke of the beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image.

3 And the second Angel powred out his vial vpon the sea, & it became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing died in the sea.

4 And the third Angel powred out his vial vpon the riuers and fountains of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, Thou art iust, Which art, and Which wast: and Holy, because thou hast iudged these things.

6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, & therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.

7 And I heard another out of the Sanctuary say, Euen so, Lord God almighty, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 And the fourth Angel powred out his vial on the sunne, and it was giuen to him to torment men with heate of fire.

9 And men boyled in great heate, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not to giue him glory.

10 And the fifth Angel powred out his vial vpon the throne of the beast, and his kingdome waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow.

11 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their works.

12 And the sixth Angel powred out his vial vpon the great riuier Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I sawe three vncleane spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to go vnto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almighty.

15 Behold, I come as a thiefe. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walke nakedly, and men see his filthinesse.

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew, Armagedon.

17 And the seventh Angel powred out his vial into the aire: and there came a loud voice out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done.

18 And there were voices, & thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mighty an earthquake.

19 And the great city was diuided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.

20 And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines were not found.

21 And there fell a great haile, like talents, out of heauen, vpon the men, and men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

13 And I sawe three vncleane spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to go vnto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almighty.

15 Behold, I come as a thiefe. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walke nakedly, and men see his filthinesse.

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew, Armagedon.

17 And the seventh Angel powred out his vial into the aire: and there came a loud voice out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done.

18 And there were voices, & thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mighty an earthquake.

19 And the great city was diuided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.

20 And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines were not found.

21 And there fell a great haile, like talents, out of heauen, vpon the men, and men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

22 A Parenthesis for admonition, in which God warneth his holy seruants who rest in the expectation of Christ, alwayes to addresse their minds vnto his coming, & to looke vnto themselves, that they be not shamefully made naked & circumcised of these vncleane spirits, and so they be miserably prepared at the coming of the Lord, Mat. 24. 29 & 35. 12. 35. Chap. 3. 3. Mar. 24. 44. Luk. 12. 39. 19. Namely the Angel who holily accordeth to the commandement of God, was so do sacrifice notwithstanding that the impure spirits do so fame wickedly, as seruants not vnto God, but vnto the beast, that hath seven heads. 20 That is, (to say nothing of other expostions) the mountaine it selfe, or mountain places of Megiddon. Now it is certaine by the holy Scriptures, that Megiddon is a city and territory in the tribe of Manasse, bordering vpon Issachar and Aser, & was made famous by that lameable overthrow of king Iohar, whereof 2. Reg. 23. 30. & 2. Chr. 35. 22. and Zach. 12. 11. In this mountain countrey God faith by figure or type, the kings of the peoples which serue the beast, shall meet together: because the Gentiles did alwayes cast that lamenable overthrow in the teeth of the Church of the lowly, vnto their great reproch: and therefore were perswaded, that place should be most fortunate vnto them (as they speake) and vnsortune vnto the godly: But God here pronounceth, that that reproch of the Church, and confidence of the vngodly, shall by himselfe be taken away, in the selfe same place where the nations perswaded themselves, they should mightily exult and triumph against God and his Church. 21 The story of the fourth Angel vnto the end of the chapter, in which first is shewed by figure and speech, the argument of this plague, in this verse: and then is declared the execution thereof in the verses following.

22 From whence hee might moue the heauen above, and the earth beneath. 23 That is, from him sitting on the throne, by the figure called Metonymia. 24 That is, Babylon is vndone, as is shewed verse 19, and in the chapters following. For the first onler (as I might say) of this denunciation, is described in this chapter: and the last containing a perfect victory is described in those that follow. 25 Now is declared the execution (as is said in verse 27.) and the things that shall last come to passe in heauen and in earth, before the overthrow of the beast of Babylon both generally, verse 18. and particularly in the cursed Citie, and such as haue any familiaritie therewith, in the last verses. 26 The feste or standing place of Antichrist. 27 Of all such as cleaue vnto Antichrist, and fight against Christ. 28 That harlot, of whom in the Chapter next following Now this phrase, to come into remembrance, is after the common vse of the Hebrew speech, borrowed from men, and attributed vnto God, 1. Cor. 13. 13. 29 That is, were scene no more, & were no more extant. A borrowed Hebrewisme. 30 Appeared not, which the Hebrewes vnto after this sort, were not, Genes. 5. 24. 31 The manner of the particular execution, most evidently testifying the wrath of God by the original and greatness thereof: the euent whereof is the same with that which is Chap. 9. 12. and that which hath bene mentioned in this chapter, from the execution of the fourth Angel hitherto, that is to say, an accorgible pertinacie of the world in their rebellion, and an heart that cannot reape tuerie y, and 11. c. As it were about the weight of a talent, and a talent was therefore pound, that is, six hundredth groates, whereby is signified a marvellous and strange weight.

13 That great whore is described, & with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication. 14 She is drunken with the blood of saints. 15 The mystery of the woman, and the beast that carried her, expounded. 16 Their destruction. 17 The Lambes victory.

18 And

1 The state of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the state of the Church overcoming and reigning victorie, as I shewed before in the beginning of the 10. chapter. This state is set forth in 4 chapters. As in the place before going I noted, that in this history, that it is distinguished according to the persons of which it treateth, and that in the several stories of the persons is severally observed in the time thereof. For first is delivered the story of Babylon destroyed in this and the next chapter (for this Babylon out of all doubt, shall perish before the two beasts and the Dragon. Secondly, is delivered the destruction of both the two beasts, Chap. 19. And lastly of the Dragon, Chap. 18. in the story of the spirituall Babylon, are distinctly set forth the state thereof in this chapter, and the overthrow done from God, chap. 18. In this verse & that which followeth, is a transition or passage vnto the first argument, consisting of the particular calling of the Prophet (as often heretofore) and a generall proposition. 2 That is, that damnable harlot, by a figure called hypallage. For S. Iohn as yet had not ferre her. Although another interpretation may bee borne, yet I like this better. a The sentence that is pronounced against this harlot. 3 Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon, and the state thereof, in 4 verses. After, a declaration of the type, in 7 vers of this chap. in the type are described two things, the beast of whom chap. 13. in the 3. vers & the woman that sitteth vpon the beast, vers 4, 5, 6. The beast in process of time, hath gotten somewhat more then was expressed in y former vision. First in that it is not read before that he was apparelled in scarlet, a robe imperial and of triumph. Secondly, in that this is full of names of blasphemie: the other carried the name of blasphemie only in his head. So God did teach that this beast is much increased in impiety and in iniquity, and doth in this last age, triumph in both these more infernally and proudly then ever before. b A scarlet colour, that is, with a red & purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergy were so much delighted with this colour. 4 That harlot, the spirituall Babylon, which is Rome. She is described by her attire, profession, and deeds. 5 In attire most glorious, triumphant, most rich, & most gorgeous. 6 In profession: the nourisher of all, in this verse: and teaching her myriades vnto all, vers 7. setting forth all things most magnificently: but indeed most pernicious, besetting miserable men with her cup, and bringeth vpon them a deadly giddiness. 7 Deceiving with the title of religion, and publike inscription of mystrie: which the beast in times past did not beare. 8 An exposition: in which S. Iohn declareth what manner of woman this is. 9 In manner of deeds: She is red with blood, and sheddeth it most licentiously, and therefore is coloured with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part, Christ is set forth imbued with the blood of his enemies, Ely 63. 1. 10 A passage vnto the second part of this chapter, by occasion given of S. Iohn, as the words of the Angel do shew in the next verse. 11 The second part or place, as I sayd vers 1. The enairation of the vision, promised in the verse following. Nowe there is declared first an enairation of the beast and his state, vnto the 14. vers. After, of the harlot, vnto the end of the chap. 12 The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of this beast from all that ever have bene at any time: which distinction is contained in this verse: The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which hee might euen at that time bee knowne of the godly: and this delineation is according to his heads, vers 12, 13, 14. This beast is that Empire of Rome, of which I spake, chap. 13. 11. according to the mutations and changes whereof, which then had already happened, the holy Ghost hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apollie distinguisheth this beast from all others in the 3 words: The beast which thou sawest, was and is not. For so I expound the words of the Apollie for the euidentie sake, as I will further declare in the notes following. 12 The meaning is, that beast which thou sawest before (chap. 13. 1.) and which yet thou hast now ferre, was, (as I say) euen from Iulius Cæsar in respect of beginning, rising vp, nation, glory, dominion, manner and stocke, from the house of Iulius: and yet is not now the same, if thou looke vnto the house and stocke: for the dominion of this familie was translated vnto another, after the death of Nero, from that other vnto a third, from a third vnto a fourth, and so fourth, was varied and altered by innumerable changes. Finally, the Empire is one, as it were one beast: but exceedingly varied by kinreds, families, and persons. It was therefore (sayeth S. Iohn) in the kinred or house of Iulius: and now it is not in that kinred, but translated vnto another,

Then there came one of the seven Angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shew thee the damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters,

With whom haue committed fornication the kings of the earth, & the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

So he carried me away into the wilderness in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit vpon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seven heads, and ten hornes.

And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles, and had a cup of golde in her hand full of abomination, and filthinesse of her fornication.

And in her forehead was a name written, A myserie, that great Babylon that mother of whoredomes, and abominations of the earth.

And I sawe the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of Iesus. and when I saw her, I wondered with great maruell.

Then the Angel said vnto me, Wherefore maruellest thou? I will shew thee the myserie of that woman, and of that beast that beareth her, which hath seven heads, and ten hornes.

The beast that thou hast seene, was,

and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomlesse pit, and shall go into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the world) when they beholde the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

Here is the mind that hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountaines, whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seven kings.

Five are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he cometh, hee must continue a long space.

And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seven, and shall goe into destruction.

And the ten hornes which thou sawest,

dy of the beast remaining still, but tossed with so many and often alterations, as no man can but marvell that this beast was able to stand and hold out, in so many mutations. Verely no Empire that euer was tossed with so many changes, and as it were with so many tempests of the sea, euer continued so long. That is, as many as have not learned the providence of God, according to the faith of S. Iohn, shall come at these grievous and often changes: when they shall consider the felle same beast, which is the Romane Empire, to have bene, and not to be, and to be, and still to stand, with perpetual mutation, and yet in the same to stand and continue. This is in mine opinion, is the most simple exposition of this place, confirmed by the euent of the things themselves. Although the last change also, by which the Empire, that before was called Eccliesiasticall, is not obscurely signified in these words, of which two the first exercised cruelty vpon the bodies of the Saints: the other also vpon their soules, the first by humane order & policy, the other vnder the colour of the law of God, and of Religion, rag'd and imbued it selfe with the blood of the godly. 16 An exhortation preparing vnto audience, by the same argument, with that of Christ: He that hath eare to heare, let him heare. Wherefore, for mine owne part, I had rather read in this place, Let there be here a mind, &c. So the Angel passeth fully vnto the second place of this description. Very children know what the seven billed citie is, which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgil thus reporteth. And compasseth seven towres in one wall: that citie it is, which when Iohn wrote these things, had rul'd over the kings of the earth: It was & is not, and yet it remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction. 17 This is the painting out of the beast by things present, (as I sayd before) wherby S. Iohn endeavored to describe the same, that he might be both knowne of y godly in that age, and be further observed & marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent, from the nature it selfe, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse: the other that steeeth, is from the seven kings, vers 10, 11. And here it is worthy to be observed, that one type hath sometimes two or more applications, as seemeth good vnto the holy Ghost to expresse, either one thing by diuers types, or diuers things by one type. So I noted before of the seven spirits, chap. 1. 4. Now this woman that sitteth vpon seven hills, is the citie of Rome, called in times past of the Grecians, ἐν ἑπτὰ ὄρεσιν, of seven tops or crests, and of Vatro Septiceps, i. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, & of others, Septem collis, standing vpon seven hills. 18 The beginning of these Kings or Emperours is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I shewed before, Chapter 11. 1. Namely from the yeere 25. after the passion of Christ, what time the Temple and Church of the Iewes was overthrowen. In which yeere it came to passe by the providence of God, that that saying, The beast was, and is not, and yet it is, was fulfilled before that the destruction of the Iewes immediately following, came to passe. That was the yeere from the building of the citie of Rome, 809. from which yeere S. Iohn both numbred the Emperours: which hitherto had bene, when he wrote these things, and foretelleth of two others next to come: and with this purpose, that when this particular prediction or foretelling of things to come, should take effect, the truth of all other predictions in the Church, might bee the more confirmed. Which signe God of olde mentioned in the Lawe, Deuteronomie 18. and Ieremie confirmeth, Chapter 28. 8. 19 Whole names are these: the first, Servius Sulpicius Galba, who was the seventh Emperour of the people of Rome, the second Neruius Salustius Ottho, the third, Aulus Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flavius Vespasianus, the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his sonne, of his owne name. 20 Flavius Domitian sonne of the first Vespasianus. For in the latter ende of his dayes Saint Iohn wrote these things, as witnesseth Irenæus lib. 5. adversus hæreses. 21 Nerva, The Empire being now translated from the familie of Flavianus. This man reigned only one yeere, foure monthes and nine dayes, as the history writers doe tell. 22 This is spoken by the figure Synecdoche, as much to say, as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerva in so short time extinguished. How many heads there were, so many beastes: there seemed to bee in one. See the like speech in the third verse of the thirteenth chapter. 23 Nerva Traianus, who himselfe in diuers respects is called here the ninth and the eight. 24 Though in number and order of succession hee be the eighth, yet hee is reckoned together with one of these heads, because Nerva and hee were one head. For this man obtained authority together with Nerva, and was Consul with him, when Nerva left his life. 25 Namely, to molest with persecutions the Churches of Christ, as the histories doe accord, and I have briefly noted, chapter 2. 10. 26 The third place of this description, as I sayd vers 8. is a propheticall prediction of things to come, which the beast should doe, as in the words: following Saint Iohn doeth not obscurely signify, saying, which have not yet received the kingdom, &c. For there is an Antichrist or opposition betwene these kings, and those that went before. And first the persons are described in this verse, then their doings, in the two verses following.

As I have said before, also this same thing is, that thereby is not to be understood, but the ascension out of the depth, or out of the sea (as was said, Chap. 13. 1.) that is, shall be a new stocke from among the nations without difference, and shall in the same state goe vnto destruction, or runne and perish: and so shall successively nowe Princes or Emperours come and goe, arise and fall: the 13 That is arising with their kingdoms out of that same beast:

at such time as that political Empire beganne
by the craft of the Popes greatly to fall.

14 Manly, with that second beast, whom we called before a false Prophet, which bestowed out of the earth, got va-to himselfe all the authoritie and power of the first beast, and exercised the same before his face, as was said Chapter 14. 11. 12. For when the political Empire of the West beganne to show downwards,
there both arose
the ten kings, and the second beast took the opportunitie offered, to vnterpise himselfe all the power of the former beast. These king-long agoe, many have remembered and desired to be teane, and a great part of the euens plainly testifieth the same in this our age. 15 That is, by content and agreement, that they may conspire with the beast, and depend vpon his becke. Their store is diuided into three partes, counsels, adices, and euents. The counsellers some of them consist in communicating of iudgements and affections: and some in communicating of power, which they are sayd to haue giuen vnto this beast, in this verse. 16 With Christ and his Church, as the reason following doeth declare; and here are mentioned the fates and euents which followed for Christ his sake, and for the grace of God the Father towards those that are called, elected, and are his faithfull ones in Christ.
17 Chap. 19. 16. 1. time. 6. 15. 31 This is the other member of the enarration, as I saye verse 7. belonging vnto the harlot, shewed in the vision, verse 3. In this history of the harlot, these three things are distinctly propounded, what is her magnificence, in this verse, what is her fall, and by whom it shall happen vnto her, in the two verses following; and lastly, who that harlot is, in the last verse. This place which by order of nature should haue beene the first, is therefore made the last, because it was more fite to bee ioyned with the next Chapter. 32 That is, as vnconstant and variable as are the waters. Vpon this foundation sitteth this harlot as Queene, a vaine person, vpon hat which is vaine. 33 The ten Kings, as verse 12. The accomplishment of this fact and euent is dayly increased in this our age by the singular providence and most mightie gouernement of God. Wherefore the fables are provided in this verse, and the cause of them in the verses following. 34 A reason rendered from the chiefe efficient cause, which is the providence of God, by which alone Saint Iohn by inuersion of order assemeth to haue come to passe, both that the Kings should execute vpon the harlot (that which pleased God; and which he declared in the verse next before going; and also that by one consene and counsell, they should giue their kingdom vnto the beast, &c. verse 13. 4. for as these being blinded haue before depended vpon the becke of the beast that listeth vp the harlot, so it is sayd, that afterward it shall come to passe, that they shall turne backe, and shall fall away from her, when their hearts shall be turned into better state by the grace and mercie of God. 35 That is. Rome that great Citie, or onely Citie (as Iohann called it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperour, but now the Pope, since that the condition of the beast was changed are 27 ten Kings, which yet haue not receiued a kingdome, but shall receive power, as Kings 28 at one houre with the beast.

13 29 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power, and authoritie vnto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the 30 Lambes, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithfull.

15 31 And he sayd vnto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, 32 are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten 33 hornes which thou sawest
vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate, and naked, and shall eate her flesh, and burne her with fire.

17 34 For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to doe with one consent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that 35 great citie which reigned ouer the kings of the earth.

voice, saying, 4 It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great city, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the hold of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vnclane and hatefull bird.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 4 And I heard another voice fro heauen say,
5 Go out of her, my people, 6 ye 6 be not partakers of her sinnes, & that ye receiue not of her plagues:

5 For her sinnes are a come vp into heauen, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 7 Reward her, euen as shee hath rewarded you, & giue her double according to her workes:
and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 In asmuch as she glorified her self, & liued in pleasure, so much giue ye to her torment & sorow:
for shee faith b in her heart, I sit being a queene, and am c no widow, and shall d see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at e one day, death, and sorow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord.

9 And 8 the kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand as farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mighty citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 9 And the merchants of the earth shall weepe and waile ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more.

12 The ware of gold, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of filke, and of skarlet, and of al maner of Thynne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasie,
and of yron, and of marble,

13 And of cinamom, and odours, and oynt-ments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beafts, and sheepe, and hories, & charets, and seruants, and foules of men.

14 10 And the f apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more)

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wayling, and the commandement of executing the iudgement of God, stand vpon three causes which are here expounded: the vniuersall wickednesse of the whore of Babylon, in this verse, her cursed pride opposing it selfe against God, which is the fountaine of all euil actions, verse 7, and her most iust damnation by the sentence of God, verse 8. 6 With her selfe. e I am full of people and mightie. d I shall taste of one. e Shortly, and at one instant. 8 The circumstances following the fall of Babylon, or the consequents thereof (as I distinguished them, verse 4.) are two. Namely the lamentation of the wicked, vnto the 19. verse: and the reioicing of the godly, verse 20. This most sorrowfull lamentation, according to the persons of them that lament, hath three members: the first whereof is the mourning of the kings and mighty men of the earth, in two verses: The second is the lamentation of the merchants that tra-dique by land, thence vnto the 16. verse: The third is, the wayling of those that merchandize by sea, verse 16. 17. 18. In euery of these the cause and maner of their mourning is described in order, according to the conditions of those that mourn, with obseruation of that which best agreeeth vnto them. 9 The lamentation of those that trade by land, as I distinguished immediately before. 10 An apostrophe, or turning of the speech by imitation, vnto more vehemencie, as if those merchants, after the maner of mourners, should in passionate speech speake vnto Babylon, though now vnto fallen and overthrowen. So Eia 12. 9. and in many other places. f This is meant that season which is next before the fall of the leafe, as what season fruites ripen, and the word signifieth such fruites as are longed for.

16 And

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The horrible destruction of Babylon is set out. 11. 16. 18. The merchants of this earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousse of it, weepe and waile: 20 But all the elect re-ioice for that iust vengeance of God.

1 And after these things, I saw another 2 Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory,

3 And hee cryed out mightily with a loude

1 The second Angel (as I said before 17. 1.) of the tribes of Baby-lons, of the worall fall and ruine of that whore of Babylon. This

historical prediction concerning her, is threefold. The first a plaine and simple foretelling of her ruine, in three verses, the second a figurative prediction by the circumstances, thence vnto the 10. verse. The third, a confirmation of the same by signe or wonder, vnto the end of the Chapter. 3 Either Christ the eternall word of God the Father (as often elsewhere) or a created Angel, and one departed vnto this seruice, but thoroughly furnished with greatnesse of power, & with light of glory, as the ensigne of power. 4 The prediction or foretelling of her ruine, containing both the fall of Babylon, in this verse, and the cause thereof vnto the way of allegorie concerning her sinfull and carnall wickednes, that is, her most great impiety and vniustice, in the next verse. Her fall is first simply declared of the Angel, and then the greatness thereof is showed hereby by the euens: when he sayth it shall be the feare and habitation of deuils, of wilde beafts, and of cursed foules, as of olde Eia 32. 1. and often elsewhere.

The Lambes marriage.

12 The manner of mourning used by them that trade by sea
13 The other consequence upon the other ruins of Babylon, is the emulation or reioycing of the godly in heauen and in earth, as was noted verse 2 14 The third prediction, as I said verse 1, standing of a signe, and the interpretation thereof: the interpretation thereof is in two sorts, first by a simple propounding of the thing it selfe, in this verse, and then by declaration of the events, in the verses following.

Jerem. 51.63.
15 The events are two, and one of them opposite vnto the other for simplification sake. These shall be, saith he, in Babylon no mirth nor ioy at all, in this and the next verse, but all beaue and lamentable things, from the bloody slaughters of the righteous and the vengeance of God coming vpon it for the same.

16 That is, pronounced and found out, as if God had appointed a iust enquire concerning the impietie, vnnaturalnesse, and vniustice of these men.

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great city <sup>1</sup> was clothed in fine linen & purple, & skarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles.

17 For in one houre so great riches are come to defolation. And every shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships, and shipmen, and whosoever traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off.

18 And cry, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had shippes on the sea by her coslinesse: for in one houre she is made defolate.

20 O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 Then a mighty Angel tooke vp a stone like a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great citie Babylon be cast, and shall be found no more.

22 And the voice of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters shall bee heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whatsoever craft he be, shall be found any more in thee; and the found of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee.

23 And light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegrome & of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine enchantment were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The brauenly company praise God for auenging the blood of his seruants on the whore. 2 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 3 The Angel will not bee worshipped. 4 The mightie King of kings appeareth from heauen. 5 The battell, 6 where the beast is taken, 7 and cast into the burning lake.

And after these things I heard a great voice of a great multitude in heauen, saying, Allelu-iah, saluation, and glory, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for he hath condemned <sup>1</sup> great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shedde by her hand.

3 And againe they saide, Allelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

4 And the foure and twentie Elders, and the

2 This chapter hath in summe two parts, one transaction, or of passage vnto the things that follow, vnto the 10. verse, another historicall of the victorie of Christ gotten against both the beasts, vnto the end of the chapter, which I said was the second historie of this argument, chapter 17.1.

The transition hath two places, one of praying God for the overthrow done vnto Babylon in 4. verses: and another likewise of praye, and Prophetically, for the coming of Christ vnto his kingdome, and his most royall marriage with his Church, thence vnto the tenth verse. The former praye hath three branches, distinguished after the ancient manner of those that sing: anaphorice, that is, an invocation or proouocation in two verses, dyptichon, a response or answer in the third verse: and strophon, a close or offering together in harmonie: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguish in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogges, obiekt vnto Saint Iohn or the brauenly Church, a childish and idle repetition of speech. a. Prayse the Lord. 2. The proposition of praye with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse. 3. The song of the Antiphon: or response, containing an amplification of the praye of God, from the perpetuall and most certaine testimonie of his diuine iudgement as was done at Sodome and Gomorrah, Gen. 19.

Reuelation.

four beasts fell downe, and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

4 Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Prayse our God, all ye his seruants, and ye that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard like a voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of strong thundrings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs be glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made her selfe ready.

8 And to her was graunted, that she should be arrayed with pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine linnen is the righteousness of Saints.

9 Then he said vnto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambes supper. And he said vnto me, These words of God are true.

10 And I fell before his feete, to worship him, but he said vnto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellow seruant, & one of thy brethren, which haue the testimony of Iesus, Worship God: for the testimony of Iesus is the Spirit of prophesie.

11 And I saw heauen open, and behold a white horse, and he that sat vpon him, was called faithful and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and hee had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name was called THE WORD OF GOD.

14 And the hosts which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall rule them with a rod of yron: for he it is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenesse and wrath of Almighty God.

16 And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, THE KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 And I saw an Angel stand in the sunne, who tryed with a loude voyce, saying to all the fowles that did flie by the mids of heauē, Come, floweth vpon vs, as vpon his spouse. b Good works which are liuely testimonies of faith. c Math. 22.2. d Namely the Angell, as appeareth by the next verse. e The particular historie of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that Saint Iohn might make a publike example of his owne infirmite, and of the modest simplicitie of the Angel, who both reuenced for himselfe the diuine honours, and recalled all the seruants of God, vnto the worship of him alone: as also 22.8. f Chap. 22.8. g Which are commanded to beare witness of Iesus. h For Iesus is the marke that all the prophetes shew at.

18 The second place of this Chapter (as I said verse 1.) is of the victorie gotten by Christ against both the beasts: in which first Christ is described as one ready to fight, vnto the 16. verse, then is shewed the battell to bee begunne, thence vnto the 18. verse: lastly is set forth the victorie, vnto the end of the Chapter. In this place doe shine forth most excellent properties of Christ as our heauenly iudge and reuenger, according to his person, company, estate and names. 12. Properties belonging to his person, that hee is heauenly, iudge, faithful, true, iust, in this verse, fetching out all things, ruling over all, to bee feared out of none, verse 13. then triumpher, and the very essentiall wordes of God, verse 13. 14. The company or retinue of Christ, holy, innumerable, brauenly, iudiciall, royall and pure. 15. The effects of Christ prepared vnto battell, that with his mouth he smiteth the Gentiles, ruleth and destroyeth. Psa. 3.9. 16. The name given vnto Christ according to the former properties, expressed after the manner of the Hebrewes. Chap. 17.14. 1. Tim. 6.15. 17. The second member, and fight verse 11. A reprochfull calling forth of his enemies vnto battell, in which not themselves (for why should they bee called looth of the King of the world, or provoked being his subiects? for that were not comely) but in their hearing the birdes of the ayre are called to eat their carcases. 18 That is, openly, and in sight of all, as Numb. 32.4 and 2. Sam. 12.11. 19 That is, through this indubitable heauen, and which is next vnto vs: as an Hebrew phrase.

4 The second place of praye, as I said verse 1, which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample manner pronounced of the creatures, both because they see that kingdome of Christ, to come, which most they desire, verse 10. because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home into the house of her husband by holy marriage, vnto the fellowship of his kingdome, verse 7.2. Wherefore Saint Iohn is commanded to write into a booke the Epiphonema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine testimonie, verse 9.

18 That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of high capitaines, and the flesh of mightie men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all free men, and bond men, and of small and great.

19 And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hosts gathered together to make battell against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that receiued the beastes marke, & them that worshipped his image. These both were alieue cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slaine with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the fowles were filled full with their flesh.

22 And I saw the dead, both great and small, standing before him, and the bookes were opened, and the iudgement was made.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thousand yeeres. 3 Bring loosed, hee stirreth up Gog and Magog, that is, priue and open enemies against the Saints. 11 But the vengeance of the Lord cometh off their impolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

And I saw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomlesse pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And he tooke the dragon that old serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bound him a thousand yeeres:

3 And cast him into the bottomlesse pit, and he shut him vp, & sealed the doore vpon him, that he should deceiue the people no more, till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that hee must be loosed for a little season.

4 And I sawe a 7 seates: and they sate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I saw the soules of them that were beheaded for the witnesse of Iesus, and for the word of God, and which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads or on their hands: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeeres.

5 But the rest of the dead men shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shall bee the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yeeres.

7 And when the thousand yeeres are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

8 And shall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: & woe to Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is as the sand of the Sea.

9 And they went vp into the plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, & the beloued citie: but fire came down from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

10 And the deuill that deceiued them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall bee tormented euery day and night for euermore.

11 And I saw a great white throne, and one that sate on it, from whose face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I sawe the dead, both great and small stand before God: and the bookes were opened, and another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.

13 And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.

14 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

15 And whosoever was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

for the finnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull shall haue associated themselves more then was meete, tasting with them of their impuritie of doctrine and life. 16 The works or acte of Satan (which is the first member, as I distinguished in the verse before going) to deceiue the whole world, euen vnto the vtermost nations thereof: to arme them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppresse the Church, with his whole strength, in the verse following. 17 The wrath of God, consuming the adulterers, and overthrowing all their enuies, Hebr. 10. 27. And this is the second member mentioned verse 7, the overthrow of Satan. 18 The third member, eternall destruction against those that are ouercome: as I noted in the same place. 19 The second part of this Chapter, in which is described the iudge, in this verse, and the last iudgement in the verse following. 20 That is, a tribuna! seat most Princelike and glorious: for so doth the Greeke word also signifie. 21 That is, Christ, before whom when he cometh vnto iudgment, heauen & earth shall perish for the greatness of his maiesty, 1. Pet. 3. 7, 10, &c. 22 That is, Christ the iudge, 1. Cor. 5. 10. 23 As it were, his bookes of reckoning or accompts, that is, the testimony of our conscience, and of our workes, which by no means can be auoyded. This is spoken after the manner of men. 24 The booke of the eternall decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall bee heires of life. This also is spoken according to the manner of men. 25 This is a pre-nation or an answer to an obiection for haply some may say, But they are dead, whom the sea, death, and the graue hath consumed, how shall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn answereth, By resurrection from death, where vnto all things (howsoever repugnant) shall minister and serue at the commandement of God, as Daniel 12. 26 The last enemy which is death, shall be abolished by Christ (that he may no more make any attempt against vs.) 1. Cor. 15. 26. and death shall lier vpon the reprobate in hell for euermore, according to the righteous iudgement of God, in the next verse.

CHAP. XXI.

2 Hee describeth new Hierusalem descending from heauen, 9 the bride the Lambes wife, 12 and the glorious building of the citie, 19 garnished with precious stones, 22 whose Temple the Lambes is.

And

20 The third member (as was said verse 11.) of the vitorie obtained by Christ. Vnto their appertineth two things: his beeking with the beast and his for-ces, in this verse: and the euent most magnificent, de-fused after the manner of men, in the verses follow-ing. All these things are plaine. 21 Namely, that hee with seven hea-ds, with two hea-

1. Now followeth the third place of the propheticall historie, which is of the vitorie whereby Christ ouercome the dragon, as I noted Chap. 7. 1. This place must neces-sarily be ioynd with the end of the 12. chapter and be applied vnto the last vnderstand-ing thereof. This chapter hath two parts, one of the dragon ouercome, vnto the 10. verses the other of the re-surrection and last iudgement, vnto the end of 3. chapter. The storie of the dragon is doob'ed: First of the first victory, after which he was bound by Christ, vnto the 6. verse. The second is of the last victory, whereby hee was downe downe into euertlasting punishment, thence vnto the 16. verse. This first history happened in the first time of the Christian Church, when the dragon thrown downe from heauen by Christ, went about to molest the new birth of the Church in the earth. Chap. 12. 17, 18. For which cause I gave warning, that this storie of the Dragon must bee annexed vnto that place. 2 That is, of hell, whether God threw downe the Angels which had sinned, and bound them in chaine of darkenesse to bee kept vnto damnation, 2. Peter 2. 4. Iude 6. 3 The first wherof (continuing this historie with the end of the second chapter) in the 36. yeere from the passion of Christ, when the Church of the Iewes being ouerthrowen, Satan assayed to invade the Christian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to destroy part of her seed, Chap. 12. 17. The thousandth yeere falleth precisely vpon the times of that wicked Hierusalem, who was called Gregorie the seventh, a most damnable Necromancer and sorcerer, whom Satan vsed as an instrument when hee was loosed out of bonds; thenceforth to annoy the Saintes of God with most cruell persecutions, and the whole world with diffentions, and most bloodie warres: as Benno the Cardinall re-ported at large. And this is the first violence gotten ouer the Dragon in the earth. 4. Namely, with that publike and violent deceite which he attempted before, Chap. 12. and which after a thousand yeeres (alacke for woe) hee most mightily procured in the Christian world. 5 Which being once expired, the second battell and vitorie shall bee, of which verse 7, 8. 6 A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth in that space of a thousand yeeres, for which the diuell was in bonds: in which first the authoritie, life, and common honour of the godly, is declared, verse 4. Secondly, newnesse of life is preached vnto others by the Gospel, after that space, verse 5. Finally, hee conclude h with promises, verse 6. 7 For iudgement was committed to them, as 10 members ioynd to the head: not that Christs of-fering was giuen out to them. 8 This was a type of the authoritie of the good & faith-ful ministers of God in the Church, taken from the manner of men. 9 Of the Mar-tyrs, which suffered in those first times. 10 Of the Martyrs which suffered after that time the beastes were now risen vp, Chap. 15. for three these things are expounded.

Now followeth the second part of the history propheticke (as I said chap. 1. and 11. 1.) of the future estate of the Church in heaven after the last judgement, vnto the first verse of the next chapter. In this are two things briefly declared, The first, the state, or place thereof, verse 1. Then her state and condition, in the verses following. Before the state of the Church described, it is set downe the state of the whole world, that there shall be a new heaven, and a new earth, as Esay 65. 7. and 66. 12. and 2. Pet. 3. 13. and this is the seat or place of the Church, in which righteousnes shall dwell. ¶ Esay 65. 17. and 66. 22. ¶ 2. Pet. 3. 13. The state of this glorious Church, is first described generally, vnto the 8. verse, and then specially & by parts, in 7 verses following. The generall description consisteth in a vision shewed as afore off, verse 2. & in speech spoken, from heaven. In the general these things are common, that the Church is holy, new, the workmanship of God, heavenly, most glorious, the spouse of Christ, and partaker of his glory in this verse.

The Church is described by speech, first of an Angel, in two verses, then of God himselfe, in foure verses. The Angels speech describeth the glory of the Church, by the most familiar collocation of God therewith, by communication of all manner good things: according to the command, in this verse: and by removing or putting farre away of all euill things, in the verse following. ¶ Chap. 7. 17. ¶ Esay 25. 8. 4. In the speech of God himselfe describing the Church, is first a certaine exordium, or entrance, verse 5. Then followeth a magnificent description of the Church, by the present and future good things of the same, in three verses following. In the exordium God challengeth vnto himselfe the restoring of all the creatures, of which verse 2. and witnesseth the calling of S. Iohn vnto the writing of these things, in this verse. ¶ Esay 43. 19. ¶ 2. Corin. 5. 17. ¶ Chap. 1. 8. and 22. 13. 5. The description of the Church is of three sorts, by abolishing of olde things: by the being of present things in God, that is, of things eternall: and by the communication of all good things with the godly, verse 6. If so be they shall sit downe together, verse 7. But the reprobrates are excluded from thence, verse 8. ¶ Their lot, and inheritance as it were. 6. A transition vnto the particular describing of the heavenly Church, by the expresse calling of Saint Iohn in this verse, and his rapturing vp by the Spirit, in confirmation of the truth of God in the verse following. 7. Hee meaneth the place and stately seat of the Church, shadowed out in a mountaine. 8. A type of that Church which is one, ample, or Catholike, holy, celestiall, built of God, in this verse: and glorious in the verse following. This type propounded generally, is after particular y declared, verse 12. &c. 9. A particular description (as I noted verse 3.) of the celestiall Church. First, by the essentiall parts of the same, vnder the similitude of a city, vnto verse 22. Secondly, by the foreine accidents, vnto the ende of the chapter. Thirdly, by the effects. In the beginning of the next chapter, the essentiall parts are noted the matter and the forme in the whole worke: of these the superficies and foundation of the wall are entrie parts (as they are so be called) which parts are first described in figure, vnto the 14. verse afterwards more exactly. 10. According to the number of the tribes, of which chap. 7. For beca the outward part is attributed vnto the old Testament, and the foundation of the new Testament. 11. Hee nameth the Prophets, who are the messengers of God, and watchmen of the Church,

And I saw a new heauen, and a new earth: for the first heauen, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

2 And I Iohn saw the holy citie new Hierusalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voyce out of heauen, saying, Beholde, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwel with them: and they shalbe his people, and God himselfe shall bee their God with them.

4 And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shall be no more death, neither sorow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed.

5 And hee that sat vpon the throne, sayd, Behold, I make all things new: and he said vnto me, Write: for these words are faithful & true.

6 And hee sayd vnto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will giue to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

7 He that overcometh, shal inherite all things, and I will be his God, and he shalbe my sonne.

8 But the fearefull and the vnbeleeuing, and the abominable and murtherers, and whoremongers, and forcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall haue their part in the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

9 And there came vnto me one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will shew thee the bride, the Lambes wife.

10 And hee caried me away in the spirit to a great and an high mountaine, and he shewed me that great city, that holy Hierusalem, descending out of heauen from God,

11 Hauing the glory of God: and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a iasper stone cleare as chrystall.

12 And had a great wall and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve Angels; and the names writte which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:

13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

14 And the wall of the citie had twelve foundations, & in them the names of the Lambes twelve Apostles.

15 And he that talked with me, had a golden reede, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 And the citie lay fouresquare, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he measured the citie with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, and the height of it are equall.

17 And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred fourtie and foure cubites, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angel.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleare glasse.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of a Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraud:

20 The fift of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chrysolite: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearles, and euery gate was of one pearle, and the street of the citie was pure gold, as shining glasse.

22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

23 And this citie hath no neede of the sunne, neither of the moone to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

24 And the people which are saved, shall walke in the light of it: and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour vnto it.

25 And the gates of it shall not bee shut by day: for there shall be no night there.

26 And the glory and honour of the Gentiles shalbe brought vnto it.

27 And there shall enter into it none vnclane thing, neither whatsoeuer worketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in the Lambes booke of life.

the last. ¶ Esay 60. 3. ¶ Esay 60. 11. ¶ Chap. 3. 3. and 20. 11.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The river of the water of life is shewed, 2 and the tree of life: 3. 7 Then followeth the conclusion of this propheticke, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein contained, are most true: 13 And now the third time repeateth these words, All things come from him who is the beginning and the end.

And he shewed mee a pure river of water of life, cleare as cristall, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

2 In the midst of the streete of it, and of either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bare twelve maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shall bee no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shalbe in it, and his seruants shall serue him.

these: the euertlasting grace of God, in this verse, the eternall liuing of the godly, in Chap. 3. 7. the eternall fruits which the godly bring forth vnto God, themselves and others, verse 2. freedom and immunitie from all euil, God himselfe taking pleasure in his seruants, & they likewise in their God, verse 3. The beholding and sight of God, and hisiding of the faithfull from all eternitie, verse 4. the light of God and an euertlasting kingdome and glory, verse 5.

13 That is, foundation stones, according to the number of the gates, as is shewed, verse 9.

13 A transition vnto a more exquisite description of the parts of the Church, by finding out of the measure of the same, by the Angel that measured them.

14 The measure and forme most equall, in a verse.

16 A fouresquare figure both in equal sides, and in right corners, and therefore the Grecians call by this name those things that are steady, and of continuance, and perfect.

17 He addeth this, because the Angel had the shape of a man.

19 The matter most precious and glittering, which the presence of God maketh most glorious.

21 By street, he meaneth the broadest place of the citie.

22 Esay 60. 19.

26 The second forme of particular description (as I said verse 12.) from torments and outward accidents which are these, Light from God himselfe, in this verse: glory from men, verse 24. perfect security from all harmes, verse 25. Finally, such truth and incorruption of glory, verse 26, as can deare and abide with it, touching that is glorious, verse 27.

1 Here is abolished and finished the description of the celestiall Church, as I shewed before, chap. 21. 22. by the effects in 5 verses, & then this booke is concluded in the rest of the chapters. The effects proceeding from God, who dwelleth in the Church, are:

¶ Chap. 19.
This whole
booke is confirmed and made vp by a confirmation and a salutation.
The confirmation
hath three places.
The wordes of the Angel vnto the 13. vers. the word of Christ verse
14. 17. and the ob-testation made by
S. Iohn from di-uine authoritie thence vnto the 20. vers. By the speech of the Angel this prophecie is confirmed vnto
the 8. vers. and then he speaketh of the vse of this booke in the verses following. The prophecie is first confirmed by the Angel from the authoritie thereof
that it is faithfull and true: Secondly from the nature of the effi-cacie cause, both principall, which is God, and instrumentall, which is the Angel, in this verse.

4 And they shall see his face, and his Name shall be in their foreheads.

5 ¶ And there shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the Sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, & they shall reigne for euermore.

6 ¶ And hee said vnto mee, These wordes are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Beholde, I come shortly. Blessed is hee that keepeth the wordes of the prophecie of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn, which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seene, & I fell downe to worship before the feete of the Angel which shewed me these things.

9 But he said vnto me, See thou doe it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the wordes of this booke: worship God.

10 ¶ And he said vnto me, ¶ Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 ¶ He that is vniust, let him be vniust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 ¶ And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with mee, & to giue to euery man according as his worke shall be.

13 I am ¶ Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that doe his Commandments, that their right may be in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the Citie.

15 For without shall be dogs and enchanterers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loueth or maketh lies.

16 ¶ I Iesus haue sent mine Angel, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning Starre.

17 And the Spirit & the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth, say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and ¶ let whosoever will, take of the water of life freely.

18 ¶ For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the wordes of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues that are written in this booke:

19 And if any man shall diminish of the wordes of the booke of this prophecie, God shall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy City, and from those things which are written in this booke.

20 ¶ Hee which testifieth these things, faith, Surely I come quickly. Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus.

21 ¶ The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ bee with you all, A MEN.

THE END.

Thirdly, from the promises of God concerning his coming to effect all these things, and concerning our saluation, verse 7. Fourthly from the testification of S. Iohn himselfe, vers 8. The rest of the speech of the Angel tending to the same ende, S. Iohn interrupted or brake off by his vnauided act of worshipping him, in the same verse which the Angel forbid. teacheth him that adoration must be giuen not to him, but onely to God, as for himselfe, that hee is of such nature and office, as he may not be adored: which thing also was in like manner done, chap. 16.
10. ¶ Chap. 19. 10. 3. The Angel returneth vnto his former speech: in which he teacheth the vse of this booke, both towards our selues, in this and the next verse: and in respect of God for declaration of his truth, thence vnto the 5. verse.
4. That it, preponnd this prophecie openly vnto all, and conceale no part of it.
The contrary whereunto is commanded Efa. 8. 6. and Dan 8. 26. 5. An obiection proposed. But there will bee some that will abuse this occasion vnto euill, and will vnjustly this Scripture vnto their owne destruction, as Peter saith. What then? faith the Angel, the mysteries of God must not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleased him to communicate vnto vs. Let them be hurtfull vnto others, let such bee more and more vile in themselves, whom this Scripture doeth not please: yet others shall be further conformed thereby vnto righteousness, and true holinesse. The care and reformation of these may not be neglected, because of the voluntary and malicious offence of others. 6. The second place belonging vnto the vse of this booke, as I saide verse 10. Also (saith God by the Angel) though there should bee no vse of this booke vnto men: yet it shall be of this vse vnto me, that it is a witnesse of my Trueth vnto my glory, who will come shortly, to glorie and execute iust iudgement, in this verse: who haue taught that all these things haue their being in me, in the 13. verse, and haue denounced blessing vnto my seruants in the Church, verse 14. and repulsion vnto the vngodly, verse 15.

good things of God, verse 17. ¶ Efa 55. 1. 9 The obtestation of S. Iohn (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted verse 6.) Ioynd with a curse of execration, to preferre the truth of this booke entire and vncorrupted two verses. 10 A diuine confirmation or sealing of the obtestation first from Christ anouching the same, and denouncing his coming against all those that shall put their sacrilegious handes hereunto: then from S. Iohn himselfe, who by a most holy prayer calleth Christ to take vengeance of them. 11 The salutation Apostolical, which is the other place of the conclusion, as I saide verse 6. and it is the ende almost of euery Epistle: which we wish vnto the Church, and to all the holy and left members thereof, in Christ Iesus our Lord, vntill his coming to iudgement, Come Lord Iesus and doe it. Amen, againe Amen.

place of confir-

is the speech of Christ first singing the vocation of
S. Iohn, and the authoritie of his mony, both from

A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Olde

Testament, where the first number signifieth
the Chapter, the second the verse.

VV Here as the wickedness of time, and the blindness of the former age hath bene such, that all things altogether haue bene abused and corrupted, so that the very right names of diuers of the holy men named in the Scriptures, haue bene forgotten, and now seeme strange vnto vs, and the names of infants that should euer haue some godly aduertisements in them, and should be memorials and markes of the children of God received into his household, haue bene hereby also changed, & made the signes and badges of idolatrie and heathenish impietie: wee haue now set forth this Table of the names that be most used in the Olde Testament, with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly from the abuse, when they shall know the true names of the godly Fathers, and what they signifie, that their children now named after them, may haue testimonies by their verie names, that they are within that faithfull family that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, and that they are bound by these their names to serue God from their infancie, and haue occasion to praise him for his workes wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to restore their names to their integrity, whereby many places of the Scriptures and secret mysteries of the holy Ghost shall better bee understood. We haue mingled rarely with the Greeke names, because their interpretation is vncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their originall, as we may also see these Hebrew names set in the margin of this Table, which haue bene corrupted by the Grecians. Now for the other Hebrew names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent Reader be carefull: for he shall finde them in places most conuenient amongst the annotations: at least so many as may seeme to make for any edification, and understanding of the Scriptures.
